STATE COST LOWERED

Economy Budget Vindicated

Unexpected Outlay in Cattle Disease and Forest Fires Discounted

Record Compared to Increase High as 33 Per Cent in Previous Regime

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 27.—Reflecting the smallest increase in the cost of State government in eight years, a report showing the total expenditures for State functions during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1924, the first in which Gov. Richardson's famous "economy budget" has operated, was made public here today by State Controller Riley.

The total cost of State government during the last year was $57,944,154.63, or 2.1 per cent greater than the cost of government under the final year of the Stephens administration.

This increase, however, is less than the unforeseen expenses in connection with the extermination of the foot-and-mouth disease in California and the emergency appropriations for forest-fire control made necessary by the unprecedented dry season.

TREMENDOUS DECREASE

The tremendous decrease in State costs under Gov. Richardson is further shown in Riley's report on the increase for each of the four years preceding the present regime, the Controllers' figures showing that during the first year of the Stephens administration the increase was 18 per cent; during the second year was 9 per cent; during the third year was 33 per cent, and during the fourth year was 9 per cent.

Riley's report indicates a total cost of State government for the biennium ending June 30, 1925, of $116,000,000, but deducts certain items from current expenses, such as bond funds, sinking funds and funds apportioned to the several counties, such deductions for the last fiscal year totaling $43,000,000.

Controller Riley was not in Sacramento when his table of expenditures was made public and no statement or explanation by him accompanied it. The political supporters of Gov. Richardson are pleased with the report because, while showing a relatively small increase, it clearly sustains the Governor's contention that if he were elected he would stop the tremendous expansion in State costs which, with the exception of three years, have jumped several millions of dollars annually since 1910.

RAIN FALLS GENERALLY OVER NORTH

Agriculturists Welcome Moisture as Planting is Near With Harvest Over

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—Rain that started falling Sunday evening in the San Francisco Bay region was general throughout the northern half of the State, according to reports to the Weather Bureau here today.

The bureau's forecast is rain tonight and probably Tuesday, light southerly winds.

With virtually all of this year's crops already gathered the rain was generally welcomed by agriculturists, who now are preparing for fall and winter planting.

The bureau's reports indicate that not much rain, if any, fell south of San Jose and Mt. Hamilton. No snow was reported at Summit in the high Sierras.

Following are figures on the rainfall today:

FATHER OF DICKIE LOEB SUCCUMBS

Doctors Had Feared Son's Confession Would Prove Fatal Shock

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—Albert Loeb, vice-president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., and the father of Richard Loeb who, with Nathan Leopold, Jr., kidnaped and killed Robert Franks, died shortly after 9 o'clock tonight at the family home here. Mr. Loeb had been ill for many months. His doctors had feared that the shock of his son's confession in the Franks case and the subsequent court proceedings which resulted in life sentences for the two youths would prove more than Mr. Loeb's weakened constitution could stand and he was taken to the family's summer home at Charlevoix, Mich. He had returned from Charlevoix about two weeks ago.

DRAW IN TURK-BRITISH ROW

Looseness of Lausanne Treaty is Problem at League Parley to Settle Mosul-Irak Line Dispute

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BRUSSELS, Oct. 27.—The wisdom of saying precisely what one means, especially when it comes to treaties and other diplomatic documents, was driven home to statesmen today when they gathered in Brussels for the opening of the special session of the Council of the League of Nations.

The first round in the Mosul status quo frontier dispute between Great Britain and Turkey, which the Council was convoked to settle, ended in a draw with both sides looking as if they wished to shake hands and call off the fighting.

However, everybody present was convinced of one thing, namely, that the Lausanne Treaty was loosely drawn, not only regarding Mosul, but probably also in the case of its special annex convention which is quite vague in its terms touching the manner in which the compulsory exchange of populations between Greece and Turkey should be carried out.

OPINIONS CONFLICT

Fethi Rey, for Turkey, in a spirit of compromise, agreed to accept the English contention that the status quo of the frontier should be that which existed on July 23, 1923, the date on which the Lausanne Treaty was signed, but he entirely differed from Great Britain as to just what that frontier was. He charged that England had occupied territory which was not administered by England when the Lausanne Treaty was signed and cited particularly the town of Suleymanie as a new acquisition to Great Britain.

The Turkish leader accused England of seeking to influence the Mosul inhabitants with a view to advancing the British case for the final possession of Mosul.

Lord Parmoor, for England, was just as harsh on Turkey for violating the Lausanne line, saying that she had not only systematically pushed forward her troops on the Irak or Mosul side of the Lausanne line, but had actually advanced since the last meeting of the Council in Geneva at the end of September.

CHARGES PERSECUTION

Lord Parmoor charged the Turks with mistreating Assyrian Christians and of driving them from what should be regarded as no man's land, pending final settlement of the problem as to what

HUGHES SCORES HYPOCRISY

Secretary of State Attacks Democrats for "Petting" La Follette in Hope of Blocking Election at Polls

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 27.—An appeal to the voters of the nation to forestall "confusion and disaster" by making sure of the election of Calvin Coolidge at the polls November 4 was made by Secretary of State Hughes in an address at Convention Hall here tonight.

Mr. Hughes declared there is no hope of the election of John W. Davis, the Democratic Presidential candidate and charged that the aim of Senator Robert M. La Follette is to prevent an election November 4 so that he may "control" the selection of a President in Congress.

In urging voters of all parties to unite behind Mr. Coolidge, Secretary Hughes said:

"Every American who has not lost his common sense in the confusion of partisan tongues must realize that this is the way to safeguard his interests."

"The question is simply whether or not there shall be an election November 4," Mr. Hughes said. "If there is an election on that day there cannot be the slightest doubt but what it will be the election of President Coolidge. If there is not an election on that day you will have uncertainty and confusion; you will have a halting of enterprise and business depression because of impaired confidence."

PERIOD OF STAGNATION

Secretary Hughes pointed out that Congress does not meet until February 11 to canvass the electoral vote and declared that if after November 4, it was found there had been no election, the country would face "stagnation" awaiting action by Congress.

Asserting that La Follette "has never had any hope of election," Mr. Hughes declared the Wisconsin Senator "has sought to establish a balance of power for himself."

"He wants to be 'master of his own government,'" the speaker continued. "He wishes to prevent an election on November 4 to throw the election into the House of Representatives and defeating an election there, to control the election of a Vice-President by the Senate, a Vice-President who would thus become President."

The program of the La Follette-wheeler forces was described by Mr. Hughes as "fruitful of agitation and disorder."

POINCARE LAYS DUPLICITY AT DOOR OF M'DONALD

Says Labor Chief Attacks French Reparations Demands After Britain Reaps Benefits

BY RAYMOND POINCARE

[Copyright, 1924, Public Ledger]

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Oct. 27.—In the very moving book which he once wrote in memory of his wife and which shows him in the light of a poet and a mystic, Ramsay MacDonald complacently describes beautiful sunsets which he and she liked to gaze at during their travels throughout the world.

It seems that in recent days the British Prime Minister has felt the same dreaming melancholy before the dusk of the Labor Cabinet. In his various speeches in the election campaign rather to justify himself before his own party or to glorify himself before his opponents, he has made many digressions—some times sentimental and some times philanthropic and religious—as he did in his harangue at Geneva. All these proofs of soft-heartedness and elevation of spirit are certainly of a nature to secure for him general esteem and sympathy. But we are indeed, obliged to admit that they do not exclude, in the discussion of political subjects, a certain measure of cleverness and even of artfulness.

The day before he was beaten in the House of Commons he tried to make of France the scapegoat for all the sins for which he, himself, was blamed by his opponents. If in England there were workmen out of jobs and a certain slackening of industrial production it was, he said, because France demanded an increase in economic activity in Germany in payment of reparations, and because the agreements passed between our mission of engineers "the micum" and the metallurgists and proprietors of German mines were the cause of increased working hours for German workmen.

ACCUSATION UNFOUNDED

Thus, in spite of proofs of affection that Premier Herriot gave Mr. MacDonald, in spite of the insistence with which he (Herriot) called him his "very dear friend" Ramsay MacDonald did not hesitate to bring against France an entirely unfounded accusation. Already in two or three other circumstances, both at Geneva and in the House of Commons, he had pronounced words which seemed ungrateful after the extreme courtesy of the French Premier.

But he now has shown himself to be lacking in fairness. Indeed, it is sufficient to consult the official statistics of the British Government to establish that unemployment was much greater in England during the years 1921 and 1922 than in 1923, and the occupation of the Ruhr only commenced in January, 1923. The number of English unemployed diminished by several hundred thousand after our soldiers and our engineers were installed in the mining basin. We do not assert that it was our occupation which was the cause of this diminution of unemployment in England, but at any rate it did not impede it, and it is, therefore, incorrect to state that France was in any way responsibe for the economic disquietude in England.

We even took care in the reparation agreements which the "micum" made with manufacturers from the Ruhr to spare British interests. First, we plainly stated that all sums which we collected would be shared between the Allies according to the proportions fixed by the Spa protocol, and the day it became established that we had effectively turned over a considerable quantity of gold marks to the common fund, England did not disdain to accept her share. It was her right, and it was quite fair that she should exercise it.

GERMAN LABOR AIDED

But from then on her Prime Minister should not have imputed to us as a crime the agreements from which his country derived profit.

Furthermore, we had taken the precaution of defending the German workmen themselves against the exigencies of their employers. The latter took advantage of the pretext provided by the supplementary effort which the payment of reparations would impose on them, to pretend that they were obligated to ask their employees to work a greater number of hours. A few months ago, as soon as I learned of those pretensions, I gave

'Plot' Now Issue of Campaign

Premier Sees Significance in Conservatives Getting Red Letter First

Leaves Veil of Mystery on Russian Incident But Pledges Real Quiz

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The so-called "Russian plot" has produced a complete revolution in British campaign oratory, little else now being talked of in election speeches and newspaper comment.

Premier MacDonald's speech at Cardiff today still leaves the affair of the Zinovieff letter in a certain air of mystery. The Premier, however, said he was determined to investigate thoroughly the matter and especially to unravel the suspicious circumstances that a London daily paper and Conservative headquarters got copies of the alleged soviet communication simultaneously with the Foreign Office.

Mr. MacDonald guaranteed them that immediately all facts were ascertained he would publish them. He referred to the whole affair as another "Guy Fawkes and gunpowder plot."

The Premier also characterized as "lies" reports that the Zinovieff letter had been intercepted in the post and photographed, or that it came before the Cabinet. By inference, he indicated that the Foreign Office had never had the original of the letter. In his speech today he was inviting the Daily Mail to inform him how it came into possession of the letter when a voice interjected:

"They have the original."

The Premier thereupon observed:

CITES CIRCUMSTANCES

"Well, they have had more than we have had." He said the letter was not received until the 10th inst. and not officially put into the department of the Foreign Office until the 14th inst. Owing to delays in communicating with London while he was moving about the country, Mr. MacDonald said that the trial draft of the note to Christian Rakovsky, the soviet representative, was dispatched from London, the 21st inst., but did not reach him until the 23rd inst.

Then describing how the draft of the Foreign Office note was sent to Rakovsky without his further perusal, the Premier said the whole Foreign Office knew he would not stand for propaganda. He added:

"On account of my known determination to stand by agreements and treat them as holy writ, once my signature had been attached, they (the Foreign Office) assumed they were carrying out my wishes in taking immediate steps to publish the whole affair. They honestly believed the document was authentic and upon that belief they acted. If they acted too precipitately what is the accusation against us?"

He contended that the whole thing had been dealt with in the spirit of promptitude quite foreign to the diplomacy of older parties and reiterated that he would handle with firmness and determination every attempt by an outside power to interfere in Great Britain's internal affairs.

ANSWERS CRITICS

At other meetings today the Premier repeated the explanation he gave at Cardiff and, replying to reproaches levelled against him that he had been talking about the Russian treaty while the Zinovieff affair was going on, said:

"Certainly and we will continue to talk about it. It is all very well for people to indulge in emotional extravagance about Russia, but if you are out for the consolidation of European peace you cannot afford to leave Russia out of the consolidation.

"If you gather European nations at a round-table to construct upon a solid foundation a system to produce peace and Russia is out, then you had better pack your baggage and go home because there can be no consolidation of European peace with Russia as a parish state. You may detest the Russian state, but you cannot adopt better methods than we can. God made Russia for good or ill and man cannot overlook that creation."

At one of the meetings the Prime Minister declared that the people criticising the Russian policy of the Labor government were going to pay heavily in their reputation in a year or two.

"An American firm," he went on, "has secured the whole manganese field in the Caucasus—one of the richest fields in the whole world. Our opportunities go; the MANILA, Oct. 27.—The Japanese government has advanced Gen. Chang Tso Lin more than $50,000,000 in cash and munitions.

In addition to this, the Japanese War Minister placed an order for 10,000 machine guns for Gen. Chang with Vickers in England six months ago. The guns are now being delivered by way of Japan.

The agreement between Gen. Chang and Japan was that Japan would pay for the upkeep of Gen. Chang's army and allow him to use the North Oriental Railroad, while Gen. Chang promised Japan that when he took the Peking government he would prevent America from making strategic bases on the Chinese coast, and would favor Japanese economic supremacy in China at the expense of America and Europe. Gen. Chang who, in collaboration with Japan, began the war of 1895, received a large personal subsidy.

The Japanese War Minister had secretly given Gen. Chang permission to use the North Oriental Railway long before it was renounced by Parliament when Gen. Chang had requested permission.

When the relations between Japan and America became strained over the immigration question, the Japanese War Minister gave orders to hasten the attack because Japan feared Peking would give America air and naval bases on the Chinese coast opposite Japan.

Japanese strategic experts consider their country entirely safe from an American naval or air attack unless America procures bases in China. They assume that Japan will immediately occupy the Philippines and wage war.

PEKING AMERICANS ARE TAKEN TO TIEN-TSIN

WU PLANS DRIVE TO RECAPTURE PEKING

By John Powell

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1924, by the Chicago Tribune]

SHANGHAI, Oct. 27, 11 p.m.—Marshal Chi Hsieh Yuan this afternoon received a cablegram from Gen. Wu Pei Fu at Tien-tsin stating Gen. Wu's intention of personally leading an expidition back to Peking with the purpose of completely eliminating the Christian general, Feng Yu Hsiang, from Chinese political and military affairs.

Chi stated that the Yangtse provinces are solid for Gen. Wu, and that the defection of the Christian general is the basest sort of treachery, but is bound to have no effect on the ultimate outcome.

Gen. Wu stated in the telegram that he was leaving 100,000 troops on the Shanhaikwan front to hold Gen. Chang Tao Lin while he personally was leading the expeditionary forces against the Christian general in the capital.

Gen. Wu has sent out a general appeal for help to the loyal troops in Chihli, Shantung, Honan, Hupeh, Anhwei, Kiangsu and Chekiang and says all are bound to rally to his banner to punish the traitorous Christian general.

MASK BALL IS HELD UP

Guests Capture Youth Who Took Money From Cashier Amid Shooting as 300 Looked on

Unexpected thrills were promised 300 members and guests of the Code of Honor, a fraternal benefit insurance society, at its mask ball given last night at Flower Auditorium.

So when a neatly dressed young man appeared at the masquerade without a mask it gave rise to no suspicion on the part of the dancers. When he flourished a gun and asked J. D. White, the doorman, to hand over the cash admissions, White thought it was part of the game and proceeded to comply. But he failed to count out the money fast enough for the unmasked guest, who fired two shots into the floor by way of emphasis.

As the music stopped and the masqueraders turned to witness one of the promised unexpected thrills, the young man hastily grabbed what money had been counted out to him. As several dancers started for him, he sent two bullets into the ceiling of the ballroom. It was then that the masqueraders knew they were witnessing a real hold-up.

Frank Stephens managed to grab the bandit, while several husky dominoes, clowns, kings and couriers rushed to his assistance. Mary Queen of Scots, two of her ladies in waiting and the Spanish senorita fainted during the excitement.

At University Station, where the unmasked masquerader was taken by Officer Curtis, he gave his name as Fred Wells and his age as 27 years. He had in his pocket $46 of the proceeds of the mask ball.

Seeking Stolen Jewels Worth Ten Thousand

Police were continuing their efforts yesterday to trace $10,000 worth of jewelry stolen last week from a secret vault in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Bosburgh at 619 South Normandie avenue. The robbery took place between Monday and Wednesday of last week but was not revealed until yesterday, owing to desire on the part of police to trace the stolen gems.

Held in the City Jail on suspicion of grand larceny in connection with the robbery is Herman Harper, years of age, chauffeur to the wealthy couple. Harper was arrested Wednesday by Detective Lieutenants Williams and Ryan of Wilshire police, when the Bosburghs declared he was the only one outside of the family who knew the location of the gem vault, according to the report, $330 in was taken also. Harper denies guilt and declares he is a victim of circumstances. He asserts that others have had access to the house and says he is sure he will be cleared in the investigation.

The Bosburghs formerly lived in New York. They are wealthy. Harper is said to have been employed as a chauffeur by them for months. His mother lives here, he told police.

COLLECTOR OF STAMPS FACES FINE

Must Explain Today Why He Gathered Quantities of Used Postage

Sixty-eight-year-old Walter Davenport Card was scheduled to United States Commissioner today just how and why he to collect thousands of stamped envelopes from containers in back of office buildings, the possession which caused his arrest days ago by United States office inspectors. Card will before the commissioner for preliminary hearing.

The aged man was arrested in a tent in the rear of 1034 W. Fourth street, and inside the van, say the postal inspectors, they found thousands of the envelopes, many with the cancellation marks removed and asserted to have been arranged in boxes for sale by Card at reduced prices. When he was arraigned before Commissioner Long, Card denied the charge against him, but he has been in the County Jail in lieu of bail. A heavy penalty or fine, imprisonment or both, is provided by Federal law for eradicating cancellation marks on used stamps.

STATE COST LOWERED

Economy Budget Vindicated

Unexpected Outlay in Cattle Disease and Forest Fires Discounted

Record Compared to Increase High as 33 Per Cent in Previous Regime

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 27.—Reflecting the smallest increase in the cost of State government in eight years, a report showing the total expenditures for State functions during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1924, the first in which Gov. Richardson's famous "economy budget" has operated, was made public here today by State Controller Riley.

The total cost of State government during the last year was $57,944,154.63, or 2.1 per cent greater than the cost of government under the final year of the Stephens administration.

This increase, however, is less than the unforeseen expenses in connection with the extermination of the foot-and-mouth disease in California and the emergency appropriations for forest-fire control made necessary by the unprecedented dry season.

TREMENDOUS DECREASE

The tremendous decrease in State costs under Gov. Richardson is further shown in Riley's report on the increase for each of the four years preceding the present regime, the Controllers' figures showing that during the first year of the Stephens administration the increase was 18 per cent; during the second year was 9 per cent; during the third year was 33 per cent, and during the fourth year was 9 per cent.

Riley's report indicates a total cost of State government for the biennium ending June 30, 1925, of $116,000,000, but deducts certain items from current expenses, such as bond funds, sinking funds and funds apportioned to the several counties, such deductions for the last fiscal year totaling $43,000,000.

Controller Riley was not in Sacramento when his table of expenditures was made public and no statement or explanation by him accompanied it. The political supporters of Gov. Richardson are pleased with the report because, while showing a relatively small increase, it clearly sustains the Governor's contention that if he were elected he would stop the tremendous expansion in State costs which, with the exception of three years, have jumped several millions of dollars annually since 1910.

The bureau's reports indicate that not much rain, if any, fell south of San Jose and Mt. Hamilton. No snow was reported at Summit in the high Sierras.

Following are figures on the rainfall today:

Mr. Loeb had been ill for many months. His doctors had feared that the shock of his son's confession in the Franks case and the subsequent court proceedings which resulted in life sentences for the two youths would prove more than Mr. Loeb's weakened constitution could stand and he was taken to the family's summer home at Charlevoix, Mich. He had returned from Charlevoix about two weeks ago.

DRAW IN TURK-BRITISH ROW

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BRUSSELS, Oct. 27.—The wisdom of saying precisely what one means, especially when it comes to treaties and other diplomatic documents, was driven home to statesmen today when they gathered in Brussels for the opening of the special session of the Council of the League of Nations.

The first round in the Mosul status quo frontier dispute between Great Britain and Turkey, which the Council was convoked to settle, ended in a draw with both sides looking as if they wished to shake hands and call off the fighting.

However, everybody present was convinced of one thing, namely, that the Lausanne Treaty was loosely drawn, not only regarding Mosul, but probably also in the case of its special annex convention which is quite vague in its terms touching the manner in which the compulsory exchange of populations between Greece and Turkey should be carried out.

OPINIONS CONFLICT

Fethi Rey, for Turkey, in a spirit of compromise, agreed to accept the English contention that the status quo of the frontier should be that which existed on July 23, 1923, the date on which the Lausanne Treaty was signed, but he entirely differed from Great Britain as to just what that frontier was. He charged that England had occupied territory which was not administered by England when the Lausanne Treaty was signed and cited particularly the town of Suleymanie as a new acquisition to Great Britain.

The Turkish leader accused England of seeking to influence the Mosul inhabitants with a view to advancing the British case for the final possession of Mosul.

Lord Parmoor, for England, was just as harsh on Turkey for violating the Lausanne line, saying that she had not only systematically pushed forward her troops on the Irak or Mosul side of the Lausanne line, but had actually advanced since the last meeting of the Council in Geneva at the end of September.

CHARGES PERSECUTION

Lord Parmoor charged the Turks with mistreating Assyrian Christians and of driving them from what should be regarded as no man's land, pending final settlement of the problem as to what

HUGHES SCORES HYPOCRISY

Secretary of State Attacks Democrats for "Petting" La Follette in Hope of Blocking Election at Polls

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 27.—An appeal to the voters of the nation to forestall "confusion and disaster" by making sure of the election of Calvin Coolidge at the polls November 4 was made by Secretary of State Hughes in an address at Convention Hall here tonight.

Mr. Hughes declared there is no hope of the election of John W. Davis, the Democratic Presidential candidate and charged that the aim of Senator Robert M. La Follette is to prevent an election November 4 so that he may "control" the selection of a President in Congress.

In urging voters of all parties to unite behind Mr. Coolidge, Secretary Hughes said:

"Every American who has not lost his common sense in the confusion of partisan tongues must realize that this is the way to safeguard his interests."

"The question is simply whether or not there shall be an election November 4," Mr. Hughes said. "If there is an election on that day there cannot be the slightest doubt but what it will be the election of President Coolidge. If there is not an election on that day you will have uncertainty and confusion; you will have a halting of enterprise and business depression because of impaired confidence."

PERIOD OF STAGNATION

Secretary Hughes pointed out that Congress does not meet until February 11 to canvass the electoral vote and declared that if after November 4, it was found there had been no election, the country would face "stagnation" awaiting action by Congress.

Asserting that La Follette "has never had any hope of election," Mr. Hughes declared the Wisconsin Senator "has sought to establish a balance of power for himself."

"He wants to be 'master of his own government,'" the speaker continued. "He wishes to prevent an election on November 4 to throw the election into the House of Representatives and defeating an election there, to control the election of a Vice-President by the Senate, a Vice-President who would thus become President."

The program of the La Follette-Wheeler forces was described by Mr. Hughes as "fruitful of agitation and disorder."

POINCARE LAYS DUPLICITY AT DOOR OF M'DONALD

Says Labor Chief Attacks French Reparations Demands After Britain Reaps Benefits

BY RAYMOND POINCARE

[Copyright, 1924, Public Ledger]

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Oct. 27.—In the very moving book which he once wrote in memory of his wife and which shows him in the light of a poet and a mystic, Ramsay MacDonald complacently describes beautiful sunsets which he and she liked to gaze at during their travels throughout the world.

It seems that in recent days the British Prime Minister has felt the same dreaming melancholy before the dusk of the Labor Cabinet. In his various speeches in the election campaign rather to justify himself before his own party or to glorify himself before his opponents, he has made many digressions—some times sentimental and some times philanthropic and religious—as he did in his harangue at Geneva. All these proofs of soft-heartedness and elevation of spirit are certainly of a nature to secure for him general esteem and sympathy. But we are indeed, obliged to admit that they do not exclude, in the discussion of political subjects, a certain measure of cleverness and even of artfulness.

The day before he was beaten in the House of Commons he tried to make of France the scapegoat for all the sins for which he, himself, was blamed by his opponents. If in England there were workmen out of jobs and a certain slackening of industrial production it was, he said, because France demanded an increase in economic activity in Germany in payment of reparations, and because the agreements passed between our mission of engineers "the micum" and the metallurgists and proprietors of German mines were the cause of increased working hours for German workmen.

ACCUSATION UNFOUNDED

Thus, in spite of proofs of affection that Premier Herriot gave Mr. MacDonald, in spite of the insistence with which he (Herriot) called him his "very dear friend" Ramsay MacDonald did not hesitate to bring against France an entirely unfounded accusation. Already in two or three other circumstances, both at Geneva and in the House of Commons, he had pronounced words which seemed ungrateful after the extreme courtesy of the French Premier.

But he now has shown himself to be lacking in fairness. Indeed, it is sufficient to consult the official statistics of the British Government to establish that unemployment was much greater in England during the years 1921 and 1922 than in 1923, and the occupation of the Ruhr only commenced in January, 1923. The number of English unemployed diminished by several hundred thousand after our soldiers and our engineers were installed in the mining basin. We do not assert that it was our occupation which was the cause of this diminution of unemployment in England, but at any rate it did not impede it, and it is, therefore, incorrect to state that France was in any way responsibe for the economic disquietude in England.

We even took care in the reparation agreements which the "micum" made with manufacturers from the Ruhr to spare British interests. First, we plainly stated that all sums which we collected would be shared between the Allies according to the proportions fixed by the Spa protocol, and the day it became established that we had effectively turned over a considerable quantity of gold marks to the common fund, England did not disdain to accept her share. It was her right, and it was quite fair that she should exercise it.

But from then on her Prime Minister should not have imputed to us as a crime the agreements from which his country derived profit.

Furthermore, we had taken the precaution of defending the German workmen themselves against the exigencies of their employers. The latter took advantage of the pretext provided by the supplementary effort which the payment of reparations would impose on them, to pretend that they were obligated to ask their employees to work a greater number of hours. A few months ago, as soon as I learned of those pretensions, I gave

Premier Sees Significance in Conservatives Getting Red Letter First

Leaves Veil of Mystery on Russian Incident But Pledges Real Quiz

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The so-called "Russian plot" has produced a complete revolution in British campaign oratory, little else now being talked of in election speeches and newspaper comment.

Premier MacDonald's speech at Cardiff today still leaves the affair of the Zinovieff letter in a certain air of mystery. The Premier, however, said he was determined to investigate thoroughly the matter and especially to unravel the suspicious circumstances that a London daily paper and Conservative headquarters got copies of the alleged soviet communication simultaneously with the Foreign Office.

Mr. MacDonald guaranteed them that immediately all facts were ascertained he would publish them. He referred to the whole affair as another "Guy Fawkes and gunpowder plot."

The Premier also characterized as "lies" reports that the Zinovieff letter had been intercepted in the post and photographed, or that it came before the Cabinet. By inference, he indicated that the Foreign Office had never had the original of the letter. In his speech today he was inviting the Daily Mail to inform him how it came into possession of the letter when a voice interjected:

"They have the original."

The Premier thereupon observed:

CITES CIRCUMSTANCES

"Well, they have had more than we have had." He said the letter was not received until the 10th inst. and not officially put into the department of the Foreign Office until the 14th inst. Owing to delays in communicating with London while he was moving about the country, Mr. MacDonald said that the trial draft of the note to Christian Rakovsky, the soviet representative, was dispatched from London, the 21st inst., but did not reach him until the 23rd inst.

Then describing how the draft of the Foreign Office note was sent to Rakovsky without his further perusal, the Premier said the whole Foreign Office knew he would not stand for propaganda. He added:

"On account of my known determination to stand by agreements and treat them as holy writ, once my signature had been attached, they (the Foreign Office) assumed they were carrying out my wishes in taking immediate steps to publish the whole affair. They honestly believed the document was authentic and upon that belief they acted. If they acted too precipitately what is the accusation against us?"

He contended that the whole thing had been dealt with in the spirit of promptitude quite foreign to the diplomacy of older parties and reiterated that he would handle with firmness and determination every attempt by an outside power to interfere in Great Britain's internal affairs.

ANSWERS CRITICS

At other meetings today the Premier repeated the explanation he gave at Cardiff and, replying to reproaches levelled against him that he had been talking about the Russian treaty while the Zinovieff affair was going on, said:

"Certainly and we will continue to talk about it. It is all very well for people to indulge in emotional extravagance about Russia, but if you are out for the consolidation of European peace you cannot afford to leave Russia out of the consolidation.

"If you gather European nations at a round-table to construct upon a solid foundation a system to produce peace and Russia is out, then you had better pack your baggage and go home because there can be no consolidation of European peace with Russia as a parish state. You may detest the Russian state, but you cannot adopt better methods than we can. God made Russia for good or ill and man cannot overlook that creation."

At one of the meetings the Prime Minister declared that the people criticising the Russian policy of the Labor government were going to pay heavily in their reputation in a year or two.

"An American firm," he went on, "has secured the whole manganese field in the Caucasus—one of the richest fields in the whole world. Our opportunities go; the MANILA, Oct. 27.—The Japanese government has advanced Gen. Chang Tso Lin more than $50,000,000 in cash and munitions.

In addition to this, the Japanese War Minister placed an order for 10,000 machine guns for Gen. Chang with Vickers in England six months ago. The guns are now being delivered by way of Japan.

The agreement between Gen. Chang and Japan was that Japan would pay for the upkeep of Gen. Chang's army and allow him to use the North Oriental Railroad, while Gen. Chang promised Japan that when he took the Peking government he would prevent America from making strategic bases on the Chinese coast, and would favor Japanese economic supremacy in China at the expense of America and Europe. Gen. Chang who, in collaboration with Japan, began the war of 1895, received a large personal subsidy.

The Japanese War Minister had secretly given Gen. Chang permission to use the North Oriental Railway long before it was renounced by Parliament when Gen. Chang had requested permission.

When the relations between Japan and America became strained over the immigration question, the Japanese War Minister gave orders to hasten the attack because Japan feared Peking would give America air and naval bases on the Chinese coast opposite Japan.

Japanese strategic experts consider their country entirely safe from an American naval or air attack unless America procures bases in China. They assume that Japan will immediately occupy the Philippines and wage war.

WU PLANS DRIVE TO RECAPTURE PEKING

By John Powell

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1924, by the Chicago Tribune]

SHANGHAI, Oct. 27, 11 p.m.—Marshal Chi Hsieh Yuan this afternoon received a cablegram from Gen. Wu Pei Fu at Tien-tsin stating Gen. Wu's intention of personally leading an expidition back to Peking with the purpose of completely eliminating the Christian general, Feng Yu Hsiang, from Chinese political and military affairs.

Chi stated that the Yangtse provinces are solid for Gen. Wu, and that the defection of the Christian general is the basest sort of treachery, but is bound to have no effect on the ultimate outcome.

Gen. Wu stated in the telegram that he was leaving 100,000 troops on the Shanhaikwan front to hold Gen. Chang Tso Lin while he personally was leading the expeditionary forces against the Christian general in the capital.

Gen. Wu has sent out a general appeal for help to the loyal troops in Chihli, Shantung, Honan, Hupeh, Anhwei, Kiangsu and Chekiang and says all are bound to rally to his banner to punish the traitorous Christian general.

MASK BALL IS HELD UP

Unexpected thrills were promised 300 members and guests of the Code of Honor, a fraternal benefit insurance society, at its mask ball given last night at Flower Auditorium.

So when a neatly dressed young man appeared at the masquerade without a mask it gave rise to no suspicion on the part of the dancers. When he flourished a gun and asked J. D. White, the doorman, to hand over the cash admissions, White thought it was part of the game and proceeded to comply. But he failed to count out the money fast enough for the unmasked guest, who fired two shots into the floor by way of emphasis.

As the music stopped and the masqueraders turned to witness one of the promised unexpected thrills, the young man hastily grabbed what money had been counted out to him. As several dancers started for him, he sent two bullets into the ceiling of the ballroom. It was then that the masqueraders knew they were witnessing a real hold-up.

Frank Stephens managed to grab the bandit, while several husky dominoes, clowns, kings and couriers rushed to his assistance. Mary Queen of Scots, two of her ladies in waiting and the Spanish senorita fainted during the excitement.

At University Station, where the unmasked masquerader was taken by Officer Curtis, he gave his name as Fred Wells and his age as 27 years. He had in his pocket $46 of the proceeds of the mask ball.

Full Vote Means Coolidge Election, G.O.P. Chief Declares

BUTLER URGES DUTY AT POLLS

Republican Chairman Calls on All to Cast Ballots

Says Stay-at-Homes in Past Have Decided Elections

Emphasizes Importance of Exercise of Franchise

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—Chairman William M. Butler of the Republican National Committee issued a statement tonight urging all voters to go to the polls November 4.

Mr. Butler said:

"In years past stay-at-home voters through negligence have decided elections. It is important this year, more than ever before, that all of the men and women of America who have the right to vote go to the polls and exercise that privilege.

"If a full vote is cast there can be no question about the outcome. Calvin Coolidge will be elected President one week from tomorrow by an overwhelming majority.

"In 1920 the total vote for all Presidential candidates was 26,718,872, the largest vote ever cast. It is significant, however, that that same year there were 25,705,063 persons having the right to vote who did not go to the polls. In other words, for every 100 votes cast for President in 1920 there were ninety-six stay-at-homes.

"In some States the number of stay-at-homes exceeded voters. The percentage of vote slackers has been growing.

"In 1896 it has been figured that 80 per cent of the qualified citizens voted. In 1900 the percentage was 73. In 1912 it had dropped to 62 per cent. In 1920 it was about 55 per cent. This is enough to alarm every American who believes in our institutions.

"I make this appeal to every man and woman in the country who believes in Calvin Coolidge and in Republican principles to do everything in his or her power between now and election day to see that a full vote is cast. Registration in many of our large cities indicates a tremendous interest. But registration is only the first step."

fight between Alfred E. Smith and Theodore Roosevelt, but he made no mention of that contest in any of his speeches.

The address here tonight at a Republican rally closed Mr. Dawes's eastern tour, involving twelve speeches in five States, and 2500 miles of travel. He left shortly before midnight for Chicago, where he will pause tomorrow night and then open a two-day Missouri tour.

Describing President Coolidge as one who "stands for what he thinks is right and trusts to that eventual vindication of the people," Mr. Dawes in his Albany speech added:

"The mistake that our demagogic politicians are making in their estimate of the temper and fiber of American citizenship is in thinking that the average man does not respect the political leader he believes is devoted to his interests and who at times finds it necessary to differ with him. It is the very kind of man the American people want.

"We are at the culmination of an era of the most dangerous sort of demagogism that we have ever had in this country. That is why you have lax law enforcement. These political cowards lie down before aggressive minority organizations when they march on the scene of legislation—when they are elected to office they lie down before aggressive minority organizations who don't help enforce the law—because they are afraid of them and the votes which a lot of these bluffers claim they control.

"Stand up for the right! We have got a man whom we are going to elect President of the United States who has been doing exactly that sort of thing—taking the gaff when the crowd is against him, knowing that eventually the judgment of the mass of the people will be with him. Government is not safe in these days without that kind of leadership."

"Joker" Asserted in One and Legion Opposes Other

The County Board of Supervisors yesterday adopted resolutions opposing Propositions Nos. 1 and 5 on the November ballot and urging all citizens to vote against them.

Opposition to Proposition No. 1, which provides for a 4 per cent tax on gross revenue of motor vehicles operated on State highways, is based on an asserted "joker" in the amendment, which it is declared will deprive the State and county road funds of revenue. The proposition, it was stated by Supervisor Cogswell, provides that money raised by the gross revenue tax will go to the State general fund. At the present time, he said, money raised by taxation of motor vehicles goes to the State highway fund and the county road fund.

If the proposition were adopted, Supervisor Cogswell said, the ad valorem and State license taxes would be dropped. He asserted that the proposition is backed by railroads and public service corporations who, at present, pay taxes into the general fund.

Proposition No. 5 is opposed by the board, at Supervisor Bean's suggestion, because it is declared by the American Legion and other veterans' organizations to mean a repeal of the Veterans' Home and Farm Act. Mr. Bean stated that representatives of the American Legion had informed him that since it was discovered that this proposition would repeal the veterans' aid measure, the original supporters of the proposition have withdrawn their support and are working for its defeat. This proposition would require treasurers in cities and counties of the State to make temporary transfer of funds to such political subdivisions as they collect taxes before the last Monday in April of each year, so that the political subdivisions may meet maintenance expenses.

Former Backer of La Follette Hits Candidacy

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 27.—Three Republican campaign meetings were conducted in Kern county by the Coolidge-Dawes League on Saturday evening and meetings to be addressed by members of the Southern California Coolidge "flying squadron" are scheduled for tomorrow and Wednesday.

Charles A. McGee of Oakland was principal speaker at a meeting held in Castle Hall in McKittrick Saturday when he spoke on La Follette as he knew him when he studied law in La Follette's office at Madison, Wis. The speaker said that he had supported La Follette for President in 1908, but that at the present time he regretted to see such a brilliant mind swayed more and more by "wild vagaries of Socialism and soviet propaganda."

Mr. McGee said that La Follette helped tariff measures that aided his home State, Wisconsin, but that he had shown no interest in providing an adequate tariff in the interest of California.

Wheeler Says La Follette is Like Lincoln

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) Oct. 27.—Twice today before Springfield audiences Senator Wheeler of Montana, independent Vice-Presidential candidate, dealt with charges he has made concerning corruption in the Republican administration.

He likewise visited Abraham Lincoln's tomb and in the formal presentation of a wreath to the grave, hailed the dead President as the "greatest progressive the nation has known."

"If the men who today are calling La Follette a demagogue had been alive when Lincoln led the nation through the crisis," he declared, "they would have assailed him, too. For Lincoln was assailed as no other man while he struggled to wipe the shame of slavery from the republic."

ROAD PLAN SUPPORTED AT HARBOR

San Pedro and Wilmington Districts Urge Vote for Highway Traffic Measures

Many civic organizations of the harbor district are lining up strongly as advocates of the major highway traffic plan and the proposed bond issue for the improvement of a number of major thoroughfares of the city. At an informal meeting in San Pedro recently a committee from the Los Angeles Traffic Commission met a number of the leading business men of the harbor district.

It was pointed out at the meeting that the rapid growth of the harbor necessitated a highway system over which the merchandise that is now coming into the port could be distributed. The sentiment was that unless the neck of the traffic bottle in Los Angeles could be properly opened that the stream of traffic would be dammed up until it would affect the harbor facilities.

One of the advocates of the major highway traffic plan who expressed himself in favor of the bond issue stressed the moral obligation that the harbor district owed the municipality as a whole because of the immense sums that had been invested in harbor improvements, which sums had been raised almost entirely through bond issues of the city.

"As a district," he said, "we have profited greatly by the city's investment at the harbor, an investment that we, as local property owners, have contributed to but slightly. The major highway plan is vital to the future growth of the harbor just as it is to every other section of Los Angeles and we as a local community have much at stake and need to do our full share in carrying it through."

San Pedro and Wilmington have each watched the increase of business that came through harbor activities and have seen that activity speeded up through road improvements. Just what street improvement will be made on the first part of the program is a matter that is now being discussed by the committee, but the sentiment of the harbor district is for both propositions, "A" and "B."

HUGHES SCORES FOES' STRATEGY

the Constitution and its endeavor to make Congress supreme," he said.

Mr. Hughes coupled with his declaration that there is "no hope" for election of John W. Davis, the charge that Mr. Davis was "encouraging La Follette to defeat an election at the polls."

"We find the Democratic leaders petting La Follette," he said. "Mr. McAdoo from his sick room issues a statement to praise La Follette's 'vibrant and wholesome movement,' a movement which happens to have the aim of overthrowing the Constitution of the United States. Mr. Davis, the eminent lawyer, who knows something of the Constitution, raises his voice to belittle the growing opposition to La Follette. Then somewhat fatigued by the monotony of his own attacks, Mr. Davis looks for some unfortunate victim to defend, and discovers Senator Wheeler. What is the import of these friendly offices? They are the outward and visible sign of an attempt, not to win, but by encouraging La Follette, to defeat an election on November 4."

NOT TO BE HELD UP

Considering the possibility of the election being thrown into the House of Representatives, Mr. Hughes declared that any Democrats who "think they can hold up the Republicans by fear of the choice of a Democratic Vice-President, fail in their reckoning."

"If the Democratic party desires to make an appeal to save the country from its own Vice-President," he said, "then it will have to support the choice of the people, Calvin Coolidge."

Mr. Hughes reviewed at length the tax reduction program of the Republican administration, charged the last Democratic administration with responsibility for the deflation of 1920, which particularly struck at the farmers of the Middle West and declared that the Harding-Coolidge administration had restored sound business conditions and prosperity.

The Secretary devoted much of his speech to foreign affairs, declaring the Washington armament conference and the Dawes plan to be the "greatest contributions in the interest of peace in the recent difficult years."

BASIS OF HOPE

"If today there is a new hope in Europe, if industrious peoples at last have the promise of the economic satisfaction without which there can be no lasting peace, it is due to the Dawes plan," he said.

Discussing international co-operation through "unofficial observers" appointed by Washington to attend European conferences, Mr. Hughes said:

"When we appoint what are called unofficial observers and limit our participation in particular meetings, it does not mean that we are not represented. These observers are our representatives. We are represented as fully as we think we ought to be. . . ."

President Coolidge was described by the Secretary as "a man of con- [illegible] or bent by ambition, but conscientious, determined, deliberate with the caution of long experience, calm in the midst of vexations, the sort of a man this nation needs as President."

UNION LEADER FOR COOLIDGE

Federation Department Head Reports Strong Support

Says Thousands in Building Trades Favor President

Indorsement by Telegraph Operators Announced

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Out of the official ranks of the American Federation of Labor, there came today one of the strongest and whole-hearted indorsements of the candidacy of President Coolidge and of the Republican party that the campaign has produced.

John H. Donlin, president of the Building Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor called on Mr. Coolidge at the White House and assured the chief executive of his earnest desire to see him elected on November 4.

He told the President that he and others in the building trades—many thousands of them—regarded the President as a sincere friend of union labor and that they further felt that in the continuation of his leadership lies the best guarantee of prosperity in their own trade as well as for the rest of the country. He said:

"I simply told the President that I came over to see him to give him assurance of my personal support. I have been all over the country and know how labor men feel. Like myself, there are thousands of them in the building trades who are friendly to the President for personal reasons and for reasons of principle as well. We feel that he has shown himself to be a sincere friend of union labor and we believe that his program and the platform of the Republican party assures continued prosperity. The laboring men who take this view, and there are large numbers of them, cannot see why there should be a change. Conditions are satisfactory and things are looking upward.

EMPLOYMENT THE RULE

"I told the President that with a Republican administration, employment activity was the general rule, and that wages have been maintained.

"I also told the President that the laboring men of this country are perfectly capable of doing their own thinking. I know they have been thinking. I am equally certain that no labor leader can deliver or hope to deliver the votes of those men. They vote as they see fit after determining for themselves what the issues are and reaching their own conclusion as to the effect a given candidate or a given set of policies will have on them as laboring men and on the country as a whole.

"With President Coolidge in the White House they know that they have a friend there who will give a square deal at all times. They have looked into his record and reached their own conclusions as to his attitude. This is the reason why many Democrats will vote for President Coolidge. They do not like the personnel of the Democratic ticket while the third party ticket does not appeal to the serious-minded laboring man who realizes that his material prosperity is linked up with the prosperity of all the people."

RESENT RADICALISM

Mr. Donlin said that the message he carried to the President was on his own behalf and did not indicate a formal indorsement by the trades of which he is the head. At the same time his statement that thousands of laboring men resent the attempt to throw them into the radical camp is borne out by reports reaching Republican headquarters in Chicago, New York and Washington as well as by personal assurances from laboring men and from labor leaders that are reaching the White House as the campaign draws to a close.

The eastern brokerage division of the Commercial Telegraphers Union of America announced today, through its secretary, J. A. Hickey of New York, that it has indorsed the candidacy of President Coolidge.

It is understood that practically the entire membership will vote for Coolidge and Dawes on election day.

The indorsement of the Coolidge-Dawes ticket came at the close of a largely attended meeting of the union in New York recently when the resolution was adopted unanimously. During the meeting there had been a lively discussion relative to the labor record of the three leading party candidates. Soon after this the membership went on record in the indorsement of President Coolidge.

The telegraphers, according to Mr. Hickey, are of the expressed opinion and belief that with the maintenance of President Coolidge in office, an era of prosperity will ensue the equal of which has never been seen in this country in many years.

With the Presidential campaign entering on its last week reports reaching President Coolidge at the White House today continue the uniform favorable trend manifested ever since the campaign got under way after the Republican convention finished its business in Cleveland.

"Victory is in the offing," runs the general tenor of the reports reaching the President from every sector of the political battle ground and from every Republican leader actively engaged in the contest.

Atty.-Gen. Stone, who has just returned from the West where he made a series of addresses, told the President today that he was more than pleased with the outlook, adding that his visit confirmed his belief that President Coolidge will receive an overwhelming indorsement from the country.

"I just told the President of the impressions I received in the course of my visit to Iowa," Atty.-Gen. Stone said. "Sentiment for the Republican cause has crystalized. The people have already made up their minds. In fact, I think that the decision to support President Coolidge was made earlier this year than is usual in a Presidential campaign. All the meetings I spoke at were well attended and the audiences were composed of serious-minded people.

"I was impressed with the fact that what they desired to hear discussed were serious questions. They are not interested in barnstorming or in vague and theoretical discussions of isms. Regarding Iowa, I left the State feeling confident that there will be enough Republican votes to spare to give the State to President Coolidge."

LA FOLLETTE WROTH OVER SUGAR DUTY

Radical Candidate Says Trust is Seeking to Delay Action on Tariff

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BALTIMORE, Oct. 27.—Senator Robert M. La Follette in an address here tonight declared that failure of President Coolidge to put into effect the reduction in sugar duties which he said had been recommended by the Tariff Commission is costing American housewives $1,000,000 a week.

The sugar trust, Mr. La Follette charged, has been seeking in every conceivable way to delay action and exerted pressure on at least one member of the Tariff Commission, Vice-Chairman Culbertson, to prevent submission of a report on its sugar investigation to the President.

In the course of his speech, the first of six he will deliver during his final week of campaigning, the Wisconsin Senator declared that it is "not Calvin Coolidge, but the silent servant of the private monopoly system that heads the Republican ticket."

"On July 31, by a vote of three to two the final report of the sugar investigation was submitted to President Coolidge," said Senator La Follette. "The majority report signed by Vice-Chairman Culbertson and Commissioners Costigan and Lewis, recommended that the President make a reduction in the sugar tariff. The amount of reduction is not known.

"For three months President Coolidge has had this report and recommendation of the Tariff Commission. He took it with him to Plymouth, Vt. It was stated that he would make his decision immediately after his return. But he has not yet made it. He evidently does not intend to make it until after November 4. That is what the sugar trust wants."

Negro Society Pledges Aid to G.O.P. Ticket

Members of the Universal Negro Improvement Association will give the Republican ticket their undivided support at the elections in November, declared J. W. Coleman, vice-president, and former president of the local division of the organization yesterday.

The association has a total membership of 7,000,000 colored people, of whom 4,000,000 reside in the United States. Of these 4,000,000, Mr. Coleman estimates that 400,000 to 800,000 will vote next month, and the support of the entire organization has been pledged to the Republican party.

Marcus Garvey of New York, president-general of the organization, recently issued a statement to the members of the association, urging them to give their unqualified support to President Coolidge and Gen. Dawes, and the members, Mr. Coleman said yesterday, have pledged themselves to render that support at the polls on November 4.

BACK WILSHIRE ORDINANCE

Members of Boulevard Association Urge Affirmative Vote for Proposition to Permit Business Buildings

The Wilshire-Boulevard Association is urging an affirmative vote in the coming election on Proposition C, which provides that business buildings may be constructed on Wilshire Boulevard from Westlake Park to Western [illegible]

Reasons for the adoption of the measure, which has already been passed by the City Council and approved by the Mayor, are given as follows:

That a plan has been practically agreed upon between property owners, the representatives of the city, the Traffic Commission and the Automobile Club of Southern California whereby the roadway on Wilshire Boulevard is to be increased from its present width of fifty-six feet between the curb-lines to seventy feet, thereby relieving traffic on this artery. In order that this plan shall be carried out, the adoption of this ordinance is necessary, it is said. The expense of the widening will be borne entirely by the property owners on the property in question, it is promised.

That if the ordinance is not passed property owners will not [illegible] their own expense, and are subject to the will of outsiders, thus tending to a general reduction of property values.

That the opposition to the ordinance is by persons on another street, who have circulated a referendum petition because of fear that property values on that street will be lowered by the improvement of Wilshire Boulevard.

That if Wilshire Boulevard is defeated at this time at the polls, it is reasonable to assume that all other improvements may be stopped by referendum petitions.

That there is a $25,000,000 building program planned for Wilshire Boulevard, but this depends on the adoption of the ordinance.

The proponents of the measure have gotten out literature containing these and other arguments which is available for voters. The election at which the ordinance comes up is on November 4.

RADICAL FUND INQUIRY ASKED

Republicans Take Hand in Borah Investigation

Promise Evidence of Huge Concealed Outlays

La Follette Attorneys Fight to Delay Disclosures

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Through counsel, the Republican National Committee laid before the Senate campaign investigating committee today a counter-charge of the expenditure of "enormous sums" on behalf of the La Follette-Wheeler Presidential ticket and not accounted for through the La Follette national political organization.

Frank P. Walsh, counsel for Senator La Follette, author of the charge of the use of a Republican "slush" fund in this campaign, said he would be glad to have this matter aired, but he interposed an objection to the interruption of the present inquiry into the La Follette charges, saying that his witnesses already had been summoned and should have "priority" on the witness stand.

The committee did not rule formally on the issue, which was the subject of an interchange between counsel, but it did decide to conduct two inquiries simultaneously, one here and the other in Chicago, beginning Wednesday. Chairman Borah and Senator Shipstead, Farmer-Labor, Minnesota, will leave tomorrow for Chicago, while Senators Caraway, Arkansas, and Bayard, Delaware, Democrats, will conduct the Washington end of the investigation.

UNTERMYER TAGS ALONG

Samuel Untermyer of New York, a Democrat, who has been associated with Mr. Walsh in the hearings here, will accompany Senators Borah and Shipstead to cross-question witnesses, who will include William M. Butler, chairman and William V. Hodges, treasurer of the Republican National Committee, and probably the Republican State chairmen of Illinois and Ohio.

Mr. Walsh will remain here to prosecute the case before the other section of the committee.

There were two controlling factors in the decision to conduct two inquiries at the same time. One was the brief time left before the election, and the other a desire to interfere as little as might be with the work of the campaign managers, who necessarily are extremely busy in this, the last week of the campaign.

While in Chicago Senators Borah and Shipstead expect to make further efforts to get at the truth of the circumstantial and as yet secret stories said to have been told by two Chicago men regarding campaign expenditures.

PROMISES EVIDENCE

In presenting his counter-charge to the investigators today Weymouth Kirkland, a Chicago lawyer, did not go into details other than to say that the Republican National Committee had evidence "showing the coercion of labor unions with regard to how their members shall vote on November 4." Later he made reference incidentally to the sending out of "3,000,000 pamphlets by the American Federation of Labor" on behalf of the La Follette Presidential ticket.

Replying to the objection raised by Walsh to an interruption to the present line of inquiry, Kirkland said he thought the time should be divided.

"It does seem to me," he said, "that some of these things should be laid before the voters before election day."

Chairman Borah cut short the argument and told counsel to proceed with the presentation of evidence. However, Senator Caraway first put into the record a portion of a letter written by Grafton D. Cushing, chairman of the Republican city committee at Boston, appealing for additional funds with the explanation that the Massachusetts Coolidge campaign finance committee would be unable to devote its funds to the work in Massachusetts as the money had been sent out for use in doubtful western States.

Louis M. Liggett of Boston, who is chairman of the Massachusetts committee and counsel for La Follette, has asked he be summoned. He and nearly two-score other witnesses may be brought to Washington for examination within the next few days.

A formal request was made of the committee today that a subpoena be issued for W. L. Mellon, head of the Republican campaign fund committee in the Pittsburg district.

BANKER ON STAND

Guy D. Emerson, a vice-president of the Bankers' Trust Company of New York, and head of a group of men who have supervised the organization of Republican collection committees in New York, Massachusetts, Vermont, Connecticut, Minnesota, Missouri, Iowa and many other States, was the only witness heard today. He was on the stand approximately four hours, and was subjected to a long cross-examination by Walsh and Untermyer.

Several times Senator Borah sought to get at the point of some of the cross-examination and at the conclusion of the day he had a sharp tilt with Untermyer. The New York lawyer was seeking to develop that some "inducement" had been held out to contributors to the Republican fund. Emerson had denied this so far as his own organization was [illegible] enactment" of the Mellon tax plan might benefit some supporters of the Republican party.

Henry Ford was cited as an example. Untermyer pointed out that Ford had paid a heavy income tax in 1923 as shown by published records, and that if the Mellon plan for reducing surtaxes should become operative his tax would be reduced about 40 per cent.

"Might not that have something to do with his being a Republican now?" asked Untermyer.

Chairman Borah interrupted before the witness answered by saying that the reply could only be a matter of inference or conjecture and that this was not proper in the present inquiry. Untermyer insisted on his question.

BORAH LAYS DOWN LAW

"Now, Mr. Untermyer, the committee is conducting this investigation," said Chairman Borah pounding the table. "That might just as well be understood right now."

"I assumed so," the lawyer replied, "but I am trying to show that there is inducement."

However, the line of questioning was dropped.

Untermyer called attention that there were no committees for the steel, oil and sugar trades, and said that what he wanted to know was why there was no organized effort to collect from the "protected industries."

Emerson said there was a committee for the sugar trade under the title of "foodstuff" and that efforts had been made to organize in the steel industry, but without success.

The New York banker insisted that there had been no "concealment" on contributions, and that in agreements with National Treasurer Hodges it had been sought to have the contributions as representative as possible — a large number of small gifts rather than a comparatively small number of large ones.

At the finish Emerson had a tilt with Senator Caraway when he asserted under examination by Kirkland that the Democrats had paid solicitors in New York. He was asked to name some and he said William F. Payson had told him that he was paid for soliciting for the Democratic campaign.

"Name another one," demanded Senator Caraway.

"Manny Strauss."

"How do you know he is paid?"

"It is my understanding."

Although insisting that Strauss was in the business of soliciting funds for pay, the witness said finally that he had no knowledge that the Democratic organization was paying him for his work.

In making up his budget Gov. Richardson used the term "net budget" for the first time. This "net" was arrived at by deducting from appropriations the State's revenues. The contention of his political opponents always has been that these revenues, amounting to something like $37,000,000, during the biennium should have been counted in the budget total.

PERSIA TO SEND SPECIAL ENVOY

Government's Imbrie Murder Stand to be Explained

Seen as Move to End Tension Between Two Nations

Discussion Success Doubted in Washington Circles

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The Persian government will soon send an "extraordinary envoy" to the United States to explain and elucidate to the State Department that government's attitude regarding the murder of Vice-Consul Robert W. Imbrie by a fanatical mob in Teheran, and to relieve any tension between the two governments due to the apparent failure of the Persian authorities to carry out sentence of death against all the chief instigators of the crime.

Bagher M. Kazemi, charge d'affaires of the Persian Legation here, tonight informed Acting Secretary of State Joseph C. Crew of this decision of his government and issued a statement declaring that Persia had done its utmost to satisfy and indemnify the United States and Mrs. Imbrie and that friendship between the two countries was one of the "essential policies" of the present Persian government.

RESULT DOUBTFUL

Although the State Department had no comment to make on the latest Persian move, doubt was expressed in some competent circles that the situation could be cleared up to the entire satisfaction of the American government through discussion with the special envoys. It is anticipated that the United States will contend that the controversy is based on Persian procrastination in executing the two mob leaders whose guilt is held to have been established beyond doubt by Persion military and other courts and that the Persian government's only possible course of action is to apply the penalties which its own tribunals sanctioned.

In view of the opinion here that on the firmness with which the United States acts in this case will depend the safety of other diplomats and Christian nationals in various Near Eastern countries, it is expected that the American government will ask for a rigid application of the law and will consider discussion of the matter of little use unless it tends toward full satisfaction of this country's position.

APPOINTMENT DELAY

Appointment of a Minister to Persia to succeed J. S. Kornfeld, who recently retired from the diplomatic service, will be postponed, competent circles here believe, until there has been a satisfactory settlement of the pending matter.

ARRESTS PENDING IN SCUTTLED SHIP CASE

SECRET FEDERAL WARRANTS CHARGE VIOLATION OF VOLSTEAD LAW

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—Secret warrants of arrest, said to contain the names of several members of the crew of the recently scuttled big steam yacht Guilia, were issued today by a Federal commission. Federal officers hinted that the vessel, which had a rich cargo of contrabrand liquor on board, might have been sunk in a mutiny. The warrants charged the men with violations of the Volstead Act.

Thirteen members of the crew of the Guilia were picked up in two lifeboats by the steamer Brookings and brought here. When taken from the sea off the coast of San Luis Obispo county, the men asserted they had scuttled the Guilia because she had no fuel for her engines and had liquor aboard. The fact that they were all armed, however, caused considerable speculation, increased by the assertion that the Guilia when sunk had fuel for twenty-four hours' steaming.

Resolve That Christians May Engage in Conflicts of Such Nature

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Oct. 27. — The United Lutheran Church in America, in biennial convention today adopted a resolution declaring that Christians should work for the promotion "through some agency" of international good will, but "may engage in just wars."

A number of delegates subsequently signed a statement dissenting fro mthe resolution on the ground of its alleged "emphasis of the right of war."

"I speak not as an extreme pacifist," said Dr. J. A. W. Haas, president of Muhlenberg College, Allentown, Pa., one of the dissenting group, "but as one who attempts to read the signs of the times. The fundamental need today is not to declare that there are just wars, but to fight against the fundamental evils that cause wars."

The convention voted down a substitute submitted by the ministerium of Pennsylvania calling upon the leaders of the nations "to resist political, economic and commercial incitements to war" and to "suppress militarism and national selfishness."

A resolution "to outlaw war" offered by Dr. W. J. Showalter of Washington, editor of the National Geographic Magazine, did not come to a vote.

The convention unanimously adopted a resolution protesting against "suggestive and indecent moving pictures."

HIS WIFE'S PROSPERITY TOO GREAT

Newark Tailor Deserts Spouse Through Jealousy of Superior Ability

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Mrs. Elias Cowan of 699 High street, Newark, N. J., suing Vice-Chancellor Church at Newark for divorce, charged her husband with deserting her because she was too prosperous.

Mrs. Cowan said that he wouldn't speak to her because she was amassing a fortune of $200,000 while he was earning but $40 a week. To keep peace in the family, she added, she sold one of her houses, gave him $10,000, whereupon, she added, he quit work altogether.

When she was still Miss Fanny Galinkin she met Cowan, who she said was then earning but $13 a week as a tailor. So she took in sewing and soon earned $50 a week, while hubby got $20. About this time, she related further he became jealous, and the more jealous he grew, the more money she made from her business, which soon netted her enough profits to buy several apartment-houses.

Woman Killed as Auto Misses Bridge in Dark

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONG BEACH, Oct. 27. — Mrs. Louise Stich, 36 years of age, of Santa Ana, was killed before daylight this morning when an automobile in which she was riding ran off the East Anaheim Road bridge at the Bixby ranch, near here. She was crushed beneath the car. The body was brought to Mottell's undertaking rooms in this city. The woman lived at 2025 South Orange street in Santa Ana and is survived by her husband and three sons.

W. J. Ross, 615 East Fourth street, Santa Ana, with whom she was riding at the time of the accident, told police that the lights on his car were so poor that he could not see the bridge clearly and mistook it for a dark place in the road. His car tore through the guard rail and turned over, pinning Mrs. Stich beneath it.

She was dead when passing motorists pulled the car off her body.

FLYERS LEAVE HOME BASE

Globe Girdlers Start for Los Angeles Soon After Reaching San Diego; to Head East Week Hence

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 27.—The world flyers headed by Lieut. Lowell H. Smith returned to their home base shortly after noon today, having flown to Rockwell Field from Santa Monica, and barely two hours later they were in the air headed for Los Angeles.

Upon the return Wednesday from Los Angeles, the airmen will remain here probably a week before taking to air lanes for the national capital and Dayton, O. The route will be via Tucson, El Paso and New Orleans. A thorough overhauling will be given the world cruisers by Rockwell Field mechanics. New motors will be installed in the planes of Lieuts. Smith and Wade. Final checking for structural defects will be made by aeronautical engineers at McCook Field, Dayton. The planes, Lieut. Smith said will be dissembled and every wing, strut, wire and part will be subjected to tests, to ascertain how each part stood up under the strain of the trip around the globe.

The planes will then be reassembled and, according to present plans, Lieut. Smith's flag plane will be placed in the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, alongside the famous monoplane T-2, which Lieuts. Kelley and MacReady piloted from New York City to San Diego last year without a stop. Lieut. Nelson's plane, the only other one of the original four which finished the gruelling trip, probably will go to a museum in New Orleans.

Upon arriving here today Lieut. Smith was presented with a book of clippings, mostly from local newspapers, chronicling every stage of the world flight. The clippings were arranged by Warrant Officer George Scott of Rockwell Field. Appended was a map detailing every hop of the flight with time and date of each hop.

On the trip east Lieut. Smith said he and Lieut. Nelson would spend some time in Washington, making out a complete report of the epochal flight, after which they expect to be granted extended leave of absence.

RADICALS SEEN IN VOTE DEALS

Barter for Democrats' Aid in States Lost to Davis

Many Trades Reported Made in Congress Fights

Independents to Back Some from Both Old Parties

BY LOUIS SEIBOLD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLEVELAND, Oct. 26.—La Follette and Democratic leaders in several States are thinking of some things that neither dares to openly propose to the other. Cleveland, which is the clearinghouse for both organized and irregular union labor agencies lined up back of the Wisconsin radical, privately hears much of these things.

Some of the leaders in both groups think it wholly probable that before next Tuesday reciprocal proposals will be exchanged, and to some extent accepted, by the managers of La Follette and Davis. These proposals, which have been pretty comprehensively outlined to the leaders of organized labor supporting Mr. La Follette are three in number.

The first contemplates an agreement between the Davis and La Follette managers which will insure the latter the support of the Democratic organization in Northwestern States where the latter party is at present in a hopeless minority. This suggestion comes from La Follette's most active lieutenants, is indorsed by some of the officials of the American Federation of Labor of the railroad section headed by Warren S. Stone, and is not wholly offensive to Democratic leaders in Ohio and several other Midwestern and Northwestern States.

OUT TO BEAT PRESIDENT

The sponsors of the suggestion have convinced themselves that the logic of the situation justifies any combination that will prevent President Coolidge from receiving a majority of the 531 votes in the Electoral College, and insure La Follette sufficient votes in States where he now is conceded to have the advantage over Davis. The votes of such States combined with those of the South will accomplish the desired result.

Much as Democratic leaders desire to prevent Coolidge from winning few of them, according to information reaching labor headquarters here, are willing to contribute to the further demoralization of their party in the country. Therefore, it is quite probable that no serious consideration will be given the scheme for a combination of Democratic and La Follette forces as affecting the Presidential contest.

The second proposal, which finds favor with most of the labor units organized and outlaw, stands a much better chance of succeeding. The one objection that important Democratic leaders urge to it is that it will commit their party permanently to support the radical policies of La Follette in Congress and perhaps in future political undertakings outside of Washington.

This proposal, briefly, is that individual candidates for the Senate and House of Representatives pledge themselves to support the La Follette program in return for votes which some of the Democratic and a few Republican Senate and House candidates will need to win next week. The fact is that tentative agreements between the La Follette managers and Democratic as well as Republican candidates for Congress already have been consummated and undoubtedly will be carried out.

REPUBLICANS SUPPORTED

For instance, Senator Couzens, Republican candidate in Michigan, and Senator Brookhart, nominated as a Republican in Iowa, will receive the vote of all of La Follette sympathizers in their respective States. To balance this Senators Walsh of Massachusetts, Walsh of Montana and Adams in Colorado, all Democrats, will be supported by La Follette sympathizers, according to reliable information.

If the information reaching labor headquarters in Cleveland is correct thirty-two Republican and fifty-seven Democratic candidates for the House of Representatives will be "helped out" by the La Follette managers in their respective districts. Whether these candidates have committed themselves definitely to the support of La Follette's policies is, of course, known only to themselves.

It is quite probable that obligations in this respect have taken the form of agreement to support legislative measures favorable to the labor cause and which La Follette naturally will espouse. In Ohio the labor units supporting the La Follette ticket in the Presidential campaign have indorsed nineteen out of twenty-two candidates for the House.

The third proposal which the labor organizations supporting La Follette are sponsoring contemplates agreements with Democratic State leaders in contests for State and local offices. There is little question in the minds of spokesmen for the labor cause that La Follette and labor leaders acting jointly will throw their support to State candidates of both the regular parties in exchange for votes for their Presidential candidate and advantages of more immediate consequences to themselves.

MANY DISSENSIONS

Up to date the troubles of the La Follette and labor combination have been concealed from the public eye. There is ample evidence that there have been a great many causes for dissensions over questions involving the provision and disbursement of money raised by labor and regarding the extent to which labor committments to La Follette shall be carried out. All efforts to reach a mutual basis of agreement as to how the money contributed or raised from the assessment of labor organizations shall be expended have failed.

The managers of La Follette's campaign have not been able to date to induce the trade units affiliated with the American Federation of Labor or the sympathetic section of the railway brotherhoods to turn over to them any of the funds collected to help the La Follette cause. The American Federation of Labor is spending its own money in its own way to promote the political ambitions of the Wisconsin radical. This also is the case with the railroad brotherhoods.

A certain amount has been turned over by both to the La Follette managers, but the bulk of the contributions of the labor war chest has been expended in a manner entirely independent of the plans of the La Follette managers. The result has been that in some sections of the country the La Follette campaign has ample funds to finance the campaign while in other sections La Follette managers have been almost entirely without means.

The result has been that tons of La Follette literature has been distributed in some sections and none in others. This is the case in Ohio. In Cleveland, which, next to Milwaukee, is supposed to be the most sympathetic industrial center of the La Follette cause, the 225,000 voters of Cuyahoga county have been submerged with La Follette propaganda. Thirty miles away such literature is unknown.

STRATEGY CAUSES RIFT

There also has been a marked division of opinion between the straight goods La Follette managers and the leaders of the labor groups supporting him regarding the line of strategy adopted by the former.

La Follette's personal renunciation of the Socialists in his speech in Illinois last week has displeased adherents of the Socialist cause in all the Middle Western States.

The radical Presidential candidate has been openly accused by spellbinders for the regular labor units of trying to curry favor with the Democrats, who are more interested in bringing about the defeat of President Coolidge than in promoting the personal candidacy of Davis. That La Follette's attack upon the Socialists has been received favorably by Democrats of this type is clearly evidenced by reports to the La Follette labor headquarters here. But the general effect of it in labor circles has not been so gratifying. One of the most important chieftains in the railroad group declared to the writer today that "there is a limit of endurance." By this, he explained, organized labor has more important objects of permanent character to attain than the promotion of La Follette's personal ambitions.

"One of these objects," he said, "is to prevent the La Follette or any other party from taking over organized labor; the other is to preserve the independence of labor of Mr. La Follette or any other professional politician."

DUPLICITY LAID TO M'DONALD

Poincare Charges Labor Chief Unfair to France

Says Ruhr Policy Attacked After Britain Benefits

Own Nation Declared Also Hurt by German Industry

strict orders to Gen. Degoutte and to the engineers placed under his authority to do everything possible in the negotiations to thwart these moves and to prevent the lengthening of the workmen's day. I took this step, in the first place, so as not to favor the avarice and greed of the magnates of German industry and to protect the threatened workmen.

But at the same time, I was inspired by the thought of safeguarding the legitimate interests of industry in countries such as England and France, where the eight-hour law is regularly enforced. I had no desire to encourage competition against our production, no more than against British production. Mr. MacDonald's reproach is, therefore, groundless. What is true is that, in spite of the measures taken by the French government, in spite of those taken by our engineers, the German manufacturers were powerfully supported by the Berlin government in their efforts to increase, for their own benefit, the duration of the day's work. But that result, far from being due to France, is on the contrary directed against France as much as it is against England. Germany is, indeed, haunted by the idea of rapidly regaining her prewar commercial supremacy, and she is making prodigious efforts to succeed.

PROPAGANDA ISSUED

The French chambers of commerce are now receiving daily a multitude of letters and circulars from German chambers of commerce and firms asking for the renewal of business relations. The president of the Chamber of Commerce of the Meuse Department, who lives at Verdun, recently called to my attention a few of these prospectuses, which are often accompanied by the most peculiar propaganda. I am in possession of one of the documents sent to Verdun by persons who, a few years ago, showered the town with incendiary bombs. This printed paper is lyingly signed "A Poilu" and it contains a supposed resume of abominations said to have been committed by the French in occupied territory, murders of peaceful citizens, destruction of private property, organized robbery of homes, torments inflicted upon prisoners, and so forth. All this imaginary story, which smells of stupidity and calumny, is attributed to a French soldier (who is, of course, not named) and it ends as follows:

"Everybody has known for a long time that the Entente governments, and especially Paris, Brussels, London (the author writes 'London' instead of 'Londres,' although the tract is written in French and supposedly the type was set by a Frenchman, and that is a proof of the imposture) and St. Petersburg, directed a war to the bitter end of annihilation against Germany to wrest from her by force her colonies, her warships and merchant ships, her flourishing commerce, her frontier provinces. But in the end all our enormous sacrifices and all our efforts have brought neither a true success nor joy to any of these and the reason for this is simply that France and Belgium will not and cannot liquidate the war, for their crimes which are borne from nationalism and from imperialism. It is not Germany that shows ill will or that fails to carry out the promises it made at Versailles. On the contrary, it is our own governments whose consciences cannot absolve them of the responsibility and culpability which weighs upon them.

"And so it is that Dawes's famous report cannot be referred to otherwise than as the work of a lunatic, since it is impossible to ever carry it out to the letter. Germany must produce, but we interfere with her work. Germany must pay, but we brutally disturb her peaceful development. Germany must be free, but everywhere we enter into her administrations. Dawes's expose is but another link in the chain of misfortunes of the countries of Europe."

REPLY TO WEAKNESS

In forwarding this tract and the envelope in which it was sent to Verdun the president of the Chamber of Commerce writes to me:

"Here is the beginning of the reply to our weakness. Here is what proves, Mr. President, how right you were and are now."

Whether such writings are or are not encouraged by the concessions the Allies have made to Germany in the last few weeks is something which I do not wish to look into here. But, at least, it is permissible to resent the fact that such propaganda is being sent to French chambers of commerce at the very time when they are being pressed to renew relations with German manufacturers. Such insolence proves that Germany already has returned to the sort of commercial megiomania with which she was affected before she started the war.

As a matter of fact, when that tract accuses us of interfering with German work it is no less incorrect than Mr. MacDonald when he blames us for stimulating it at England's expense. German work is not being interfered with. It is developing every day with extraordinary rapidity, and that without our being in any way responsible for it. The truth is that in the Reich no legal text has thus far limited the liberty of employers and workmen to themselves fix by means of an agreement or otherwise the duration of the day's work.

LONG HOURS IN GERMANY

After the revolution the German office of demobilization issued temporary ordinances which were to determine this duration. The validity of these ordinances, which were dated, respectively, November 23, 1918, for the workmen, and March 18, 1919, for employers, was extended several times and for the last time up to November 17, 1923. A new ordinance dated December 21, 1923, suppressed as a matter of fact all limitation. It starts by saying "in principle, that in manufacturing concerns, mines included, the normal duration of daily work should not exceed eight hours." But immediately afterward it enumerates in terms of extreme elasticity a series of cases in which exceptions to the rule are permitted, ether by means of collective agreements or by decision of the administrating authority.

The last word of the ordinance is contained in this paragraph: "The duration of wor kmust not exceed ten hours." And even this paragragh itself carries with it an exception for it provides a further increase above this limit of ten hours in urgent cases and where general interests are concerned.

One can guess what advantages the potentates of Germany were able to derive from these facilities. Not only was it in the zone which was occupied by our troops, but throughout all Germany that the working day was lengthened, being affected neither by us nor by reparations. For the mines, it is now eight and a half hours underground and ten hours in the daylight in Upper Silesia, Bavaria and Central Germany. For metal and building industries the extension is the same.

If Mr. MacDonald is mistaken about the reason for these increases he makes no mistake concerning the facts. They are grave symptoms for British industry. It is unquestionable that the industrial production of Germany is increasing with marvelous speed, that the quantities of lignite, coke and coal available are formidable. One could almost see the power of the electrical centers develop within the last few years and the capacity of the metallurgical factories has increased in a corresponding measure.

MENACE TO ENGLAND

I recently had occasion to show—with conclusive figures to prove it—in the London Daily Mail that at the rate things are going German coal will soton supersede English coal in the most important markets of the world, and that soon German metal products will victoriously fight against the products of the imperial colonies, and even of England. But what is inconceivable is that men of the intellectual attainments of Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. MacDonald have not realized that Germany has arrived at this power of economic expansion, which was seen perfectly by Gen. Dawes and the other experts, because for the last five years she was relieved of the reparations burden and that, not having been weakened in her industries, nor by invasion nor by battles she was easily able to rise again, even faster than the victorious nations.

Instead of maintaining in an audacious paradox that Germany threatened England with competition because we imposed a few payments toward reparations on her. Mr. MacDonald would have shown much more clear sightedness and practical sense in saying, "The big German manufacturers abuse their workmen in order to make more profits (which are often scandalous) on the outside. Let us do as Gen. Dawes asked, and see that a part of these profits goes toward the payment of reparations and thereby not only protect British industry against enterprising rivals, but at the same time perform an act of justice toward the countries which were invaded and devastated."

But when he spoke Mr. MacDonald sought, above all, to impress British public opinion on the eve of a parliamentary battle, which he knew would be a dreadful one. The Campbell "sedition" affair was indeed an incident seized upon by the Conservatives and the Liberals to put an end to a regime which they were beginning to find dangerous. The Labor Cabinet, which since its birth had governed with a minority, was naturally at the mercy of those opponents the day it suited them to overthrow Mr. MacDonald.

SEES LABOR CHANCE POOR

In France a ministry which is defeated by 364 votes to 198 would have nothing left to do but to retire. The right of dissolution is, it is true, provided for by our Constitution, but since the adventure of May 16, 1877, and the baleful consequences which followed for Marshal De MacMahon, then President of the republic, this Presidential or governmental prerogative has, in fact, fallen into disuse. In England, on the contrary, dissolution is the ordinary means for putting an end to the mandate of an Assembly.

Both regimes have their advantages and inconvenience. This is not the place to debate their merits.

But even in England, when the government which resorts to dissolution has never had, either in Parliament or in the electorate, any majority it is evident that it does not start the fight under very favorable conditions. The Laborites may gain a few seats by pretending that they followed a resolutely pacific policy; that they succeeded in bringing France to the essential ideas of England, and that Commons did not grant them a long enough tenure; but, as for obtaining a majority over the two other parties, it is an ambition which will no doubt be difficult to realize.

It is, therefore, to be feared that England is not through with political instability. We Frenchmen sincerely hope that she will soon escape these uncertainties, but we have no preference to show in the direction of her internal affairs. Conservatives, Liberals, Laborites, we do not care; the party which comes into power tomorrow will, as far as we are concerned, represent Great Britain in its entirety.

PATRIOT, FIRST OF ALL

At Geneva certain orators, even French ones, asserted that if a new era was going to open up before humanity, it would be due to the socialistic spirit which was gaining a foothold throughout the world. Those were slightly imprudent words.

I remain before anything else, a patriot, and if I am not a Nationalist in the French sense of the word, I do not agree that internationalism should be allowed to destroy or weaken the idea of the fatherland or to affect national sovereignty. I am convinced that the United States, which has a very high and noble conception of her independence and her destiny, serves the cause of mankind all the better because she feels her own nationality more clearly.

There is no antipathy whatsoever between the fatherland and humanity. One encircles the other without choking it.

It would, therefore, in my opinion, be unfortunate that anyone should attempt to reconstitute Europe by exclusively internationalistic methods. One would unfailingly move toward ringing defeat.

BLOW FOR 'HOUSE OF DAVID'

Supreme Court Refuses to Review $80,000 Award Against 'King Ben' Purnell's Colony

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—"King Ben" Purnell's House of David at Benton Harbor today received the most damaging blow it has encountered since the "king" himself fled under charges that he had used young girls in his so-called religious rites.

The Supreme Court of the United States refused to review a decision of a Federal court in Michigan under which the House of David must restore $80,000 to John W. Hansell and his wife, Margaret.

The Hansells formerly were members of the cult. They sued for the restitution of money and for wages which were due for services which they performed up to the time their eyes were opened to the asserted immoral conditions under which young girls were forced to live in the colony.

In finding in favor of the Hansells the lower court declared that the House of David was a "fraud from its inception." Refusal of the Supreme Court to review the case makes this the final judgment of the Federal judiciary.

Following the sensational story of Mrs. Hansell, a deposed favorite of the sovereign who called himself "the younger brother of God," others went to the courts and told their stories of wrongs perpetrated by the whiskered angel in his "heaven."

Several attempts were made to obtain valid evidence on which to indict him, but the members of the cult were so anxious to shield "King Ben" that it was months before any of them could be persuaded to talk. Mrs. Hansell's strange story of how he and his consort, "Queen Mary," persuaded the young girls of his choice to go through strange rites was found not valid evidence in the Michigan courts. The incidents she related took place more than six years before and the Michigan statutes made prosecution impossible.

But with the "king" in hiding and his still loyal followers frightened at what had befallen him, two young Australian girls, Ruth Bamford Reed and Gladys Bamford Rubel, emerged from the shadows of his harem and added their testimony.

This led to the issuance of a warrant for his arrest. His wife, "Queen Mary," is managing the colony in his absence.

raw material goes. America gets in. Goodness knows who are going to get the concessions tomorrow.

La Follette Seen Talking Himself Out of Running

If the election were two weeks further off than it is La Follette would talk himself completely out of the race, said J. A. Daley, chain-store grocer, yesterday when he returned from a six weeks' business trip through the East and Middle West. The Wisconsin man is losing strength daily, in his opinion.

Mr. Daley said the whitest spot from a business standpoint he found outside of California is West Virginia, where the mines are operating on open-shop basis and the whole State is prosperous as a result. Many of the operators who signed up with the union in other States have had to close down their mines.

VENETIANS TRIUMPH IN SWIMFEST

Mercury Club Tank Stars Are Forced to Take Second Honors at Seaside

The Venice Swimming Association swam away with the major portion of the honors at the second indoor winter swimming meet in the Venice Plunge last night. With Wallace O'Connor winning the 220 free-style and the Venetian victory in the 200-yard relay, Coach Elmer Orr was more than pleased with his cohorts. The Los Angeles Athletic Club got plenty of glory also.

Olive Hatch, wearing Mercury colors, pulled a big surprise when she defeated Dodie Blewett of Casa Del Mar, in the 100-yard free-style for women. Marian Himmelstein of Casa Del Mar was third. Olive crawled over the century in the rapid time of 1m. 10s. flat.

Wally O'Connor started Venice off with his victory on the 220 free-style. George Leach evened it up with a victory for the L.A.A.C. in the same event for 15-year-olds. Reggie Harrison came back with a fast finish to take the 100-yard free-style for Venice. Olive Hatch again evened it for L.A.A.C. in the next event. Paul Nelson won the breast-stroke for the Mercury team and Bleyer of Venice galloped across the line first in the relay. The time of 1m. 40s. was announced as an official Southern California record. The results:

220-yard free style for men—Won by Wally O'Connor (V.;) George Wolf (V.,) second; Cliff Viale (Alhambra,) third. Time 2m. 55 3-5s.

100-yard free style for boys—Won by George Leach (L.A.A.C.;) Hal Phillips (V.,) second; Fred. Windley (V.,) third. Time 1m.

TONIGHT'S CARD

Jimmy McLarnin vs. Fidel La Barba, 118.
Johnny Lamar vs. Larry Murphy, 133.
Ernie Owens vs. Charlie Regan, 158.
Harry Lee vs. Cliff Ramies, 165.
Johnny Fiske vs. Billy Hogan, 128.
Kid Martin vs. Joe Burns, 136.
Sailor Muratt vs. Pete Nelson, 118.

Turning folks away is getting to be an ordinary, rather than an unusual condition at Jack Doyle's Vernon arena and tonight will be no exception, according to club officials. The main event between Jimmy McLarnin and Fidel La Barba is backed up by an attractive card of preliminaries and boxing fans will again mill and stampede in an effort to stretch the walls of the coliseum to accommodate the crowd.

The main event promises to be a reversal of general dope which has intimated that left hands would be the most effective weapons of both the little fellows. It now appears that George Blake has made La Barba start shooting his right muscle, while reports from up north where McLarnin made many battles say that the "Belfast Spider" has a right that is just as heavy as needed and it will be displayed for the first time when he meets the international and national Olympic champion.

The weight will not bother either of the boys according to reports from the camps where they are training. The required 118 pounds is virtually catchweights for them both and they are not worried about the poundage.

A mill that is attracting almost as much attention as the feature is the Johnny Lamar-Larry Murphy melee that is scheduled for the semi-windup. Both are hard hitters and aggressive battlers. It should be a whale of a fight and may not go the entire four rounds.

Ernie Owens will take on Charlie Regan in the special preliminary which on its face doesn't mean much. Getting down to details, though, it is learned that Regan is a recent arrival from the effete East where he fought himself into the New York State amateur championship of the middleweights. Owens will try to prevent a repetition of the stunt in California.

The rest of the card promises the Vernon standard of milling. Harry Lee will referee the card.

Enters Two Cars in Opening Race Turkey Day

A. M. Young Predicts a New World's Record

Fengler Also Has Brace of Autos for Event

BY PAUL LOWRY

Not to be outdone by Harlan Fengler, former holder of the world's speed record for 250 miles, who has entered two cars for the big Thanksgiving Day race at Culver City, Tommy Milton, new world's speed champ by virtue of his sensational efforts in Saturday's race at Charlotte, N. C., yesterday wired his entry of two cars for the Turkey Day motor festivities.

Elated over his marvelous record of 118.17 miles per hour on the new Charlotte board bowl which eclipses Fengler's mark of 116 miles per hour, established at Beverly Hills last February, Milton, who is the only two-time winner of the great Indianapolis 500-mile classic and national champion of 1921, hopped to the telegraph offices bright and early. When A. M. Young, president of the speedway corporation, reached his palatial offices yesterday morning the first thing that greeted him was Milton's entry.

McDONOUGH AT WHEEL

In the Thanksgiving Day race on the new bowl, which is being rushed to completion at Culver City, Milton will drive the car which on Saturday he wheeled to the new world's record. The second car he has entered will be driven by Bob McDonough.

The McDonough car like the one Milton drives is a product of the Miller shops in this city, and it is the car which Milton drove into the fence in the last Thanksgiving Day race at Beverly. The car has quite a history. It was the first one-man car turned out by the Miller shops, and it was the car which, later christened the H.C.S. Special, Milton drove to his second victory on the Indianapolis bricks.

However, this car has never lived up to the standard it set for itself by winning the Indianapolis classic and during the remainder of 1923 was pursued by bad luck, culminating in the smash at Beverly, which, luckily, did not result in any injury to Milton. Refusing to flirt with fate any longer, Milton ordered a new car from Miller and turned the Indianapolis winner over to McDonough.

PREDICTS NEW MARK

Prediction that Milton's remarkable record will be broken on the Culver City track was made yesterday by Andy Young. The speed-

RUTH CAVORTS FOR FANS

Bambino Gets Four Hits in Benefit Game at Local Park; Essick's Team Beats Krug's, 4 to 3

George Herman Ruth, alias Babe, alias Battering Bambino, alias Sultan of Swat and a few other hefty, hitting nicknames, was the feature attraction in yesterday's big Knights of Columbus benefit game at Washington Park and although he did not smash any home runs, the husky New York Yankee slugger came through with four hits in five times up and demonstrated for the benefit of the 8000 fans present why he led the American League in hitting the past season.

The Babe, on his third time at bat, hit one of the longest drives ever seen at Washington Park, the ball going about nineteen miles high and just missed going over the back center-field fence by a few feet. Bob Meusel scored from first on the drive, which was good for a double.

The team on which Ruth played, which was called Essick's club, won the ball game from Marty Krug's outfit, 4 to 3, a three-run rally in the ninth turning the trick. Babe, himself, drove in two of those three runs, while "Chicken" Hawks drove in the winning marker.

THREE PITCHERS

Essick's team used three pitchers, Bob McGraw starting, Lefty Thomas finishing, and Dick Bonnelly toiling in between. McGraw held the opposition scoreless in the five innings he hurled, while the Krugmen got all three of their runs off Bonnelly. Thomas received credit for the victory, giving him two in two days as he also won the Johnson game.

Tom Sheehan, Cincinnati star, and Doc Crandall attended to the hurling for the losers. Sheehan yielded one run, while Crandall eased up in the ninth in order to let Ruth bat once more and was charged with the defeat for his charitable act.

The game itself was not so much, the athletes rather contenting themselves with just going through the motions.

Before the game Meusel and Ruth spent about ten minutes in batting practice, aiming for homers. Meusel put three over the left-field wall, while the best the Bambino could do was to hit one against the apartment-house in back of the right-field bleachers.

Ruth was unable to do his best at the plate, for he is bothered with a couple of cuts on his hands and numerous blisters, the result of his ten-minute batting exhibitions the past few days.

BABE PLAYS FIRST

In the game the big Bambino played first base, where he turned in a number of sensational plays. Earl McNeely, the hero of Washington's first world's series victory, easily carried away fielding honors.

RAIN SPOILS SEATTLE GAME

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SEATTLE, Oct. 27.—The rain which started to fall here last night just as the Seattle-St. Paul game ended, continued through today, forcing the two minor league champions to postpone further hostilities until tomorrow.

St. Paul showed a world of strength in the contest yesterday, which they won by a 13-to-4 score. From the way they slammed Vean Gregg, the Pacific Coast League's leading pitcher, around the lot, it would seem that the Twin City outfit has better batters than most Coast League teams. The Indians seemed to be rather nervous on the field yesterday and made several costly bungles. Overcoming this they will probably make a better showing in the future.

CUBS, PIRATES IN TRADE

Biggest Swap of Winter Season; Aldridge Goes to Pittsburg; Maranville to Chicago

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—The Chicago National League club today acquired Walter Maranville, second baseman, Charley Grimm, first baseman, and Wilbur Cooper, left-hand pitcher, all of the Pittsburg Nationals, in exchange for Vic Aldridge, right-hand pitcher; George Grantham, second baseman, and Albert Niehaus, first baseman, the latter recently purchased by the Cubs from Chattanooga. No money was involved in the deal.

The trade is the biggest of the winter season, and, according to President William Veeck of the Cubs, one of the largest ever put through in the National League. Aldridge had been a member of the Cubs for three years, coming from the Los Angeles Pacific Coast League club.

George Grantham came to the Cubs two years ago from the Omaha Western League club and was field captain during 1923. Niehaus was one of the leading first basemen of the Southern Association, and was to have reported to the Cubs next spring. He is a right-hand hitter.

In Cooper the Cubs have obtained one of the best left-hand pitchers in baseball. Cooper during the last season was one of four pitchers in the National League who was credited with winning twenty games. Grantham hit .315 for 127 games and was one of the best base stealers in the league. Aldridge won fifteen games for the Cubs and lost twelve, pitching in thirty-two contests.

SWITCHED OVER

Maranville formerly played shortstop on the Boston Braves. He went to Pittsburg and played shortstop for a time, but after the acquisition of Glenn Wright by the Pirates from the Kansas City American Association club Maranville was switched over to the keystone sack, at which position he made good at once, his work around the middle station being one of the outstanding features in the Pirates' pennant race during the past season.

Charley Grimm is rated as one of the best first basemen in the National League. During the past season his unofficial batting average for 151 games was .289.

PITTSBURG (Pa.) Oct. 27.—More hitting strength to carry the Pirates through tough places in late season pennant drives was the chief consideration of the Pittsburg Nationals in trading Walter "Rabbit" Maranville, Charlie Grimm and Wilbur Cooper for Vic Aldridge, George Grantham and Albert Niehaus of the Chicago Nationals, Sam Dreyfuss, treasurer of the club, announced tonight.

FAIL IN PINCH

"For four years now we have been in the pennant race right up to the last ditch," said Mr. Dreyfuss, "and each year we have failed to pull through in a pinch. Lack of hitting power, it seems, has been the chief cause of our failure and it was to overcome this weakness that we have made the changes just announced."

Mr. Dreyfuss said that Eddie Moore, Atlanta infielder, who joined the Pirates last season, would replace Maranville at second base, while Grantham, a heavy hitter, would appear in right field. Near the end of the last season Moore played in right field, having been kept in the line-up on account of his hitting ability.

Niehaus will take care of the initial bag with Barnes, a rookie, in reserve.

Walker Faces Malone for World Title

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The experts disagree on the likely outcome of the Mickey Walker-Jock Malone twelve-round battle at the First Regiment Armory, Newark, N. J., on Wednesday night. Some of them think Malone will be up there pegging away when it all over; others that Walker is too stiff a puncher for the St. Paul man.

In any event, it should prove one of the first real tests for Walker since he beat Jack Britton for the welterweight title.

Irish Johnny Curtin and Billy Levine are to hook up for ten rounds at the Lenox Sports Club tomorrow night.

Jack Delaney, the Bridgeport walloper, known best for his knockout of Paul Berlenbach, will tackle George Mulholland for twelve rounds at the Rink Sporting Club Thursday night.

January 23—Manual Arts at Los Angeles; Lincoln at Hollywood; Polytechnic at Jefferson; Franklin, bye.

January 30—Los Angeles at Jefferson; Manual Arts at Polytechnic; Hollywood at Franklin; Lincoln, bye.

City League basketball squads will open the 1925 season January 2 and close their program on January 30, according to the schedule given out last night by Vice-Principal Sniffen of Franklin High. In an effort to complete the entire high school season before the end of the winter, Tuesday, January 13, has been set as the third round for play. The extra round is the measure that makes possible the new time limit.

At a meeting of City League officials, the new time limit was proposed and passed upon by practically a unanimous vote. In former years the season opened three weeks before the close of the winter term and the C.I.F. nine-term rule made many athletes ineligible, thus breaking up the squad and disrupting the season.

Last year Hollywood, Manual Arts and Lincoln High teams tied for the championship, but each lost two or three of their mainstays in midseason. Hollywood was particularly hard hit, with the loss of two forwards.

GAME SHORTENED

Another important change was made when the time of play was shortened by eight minutes. Formerly the game was divided into four ten-minute quarters. Each quarter has been shortened two minutes. It was believed that the standard time was too long for the average high school athlete.

The schedule, itself, is exactly the reverse of last year's in the matter of home games. Schools that played many games on their own courts last year do a lot of traveling this year, and vice versa. Los Angeles plays four games away this year, having staged the majority of their tussles on their own floor last year. Polytechnic plays three games at home, having played three at other schools last year.

LIGHTWEIGHTS SAME

The lightweight schedule is exactly the same as the unlimited program, lightweight games preceding the unlimited struggles as in the past. Athletes who complied with the lightweight eligibility rules for football, will be eligible for basketball without an additional test. Lightweight sport is not a major sport so is not affected by the one-winter-sport change.

Referee's and umpire's fees will be raised.

Since high school athletes who are now playing football will be on the side lines when basketball is being played, practically all City League teams will be made up of fewer veterans.

Los Angeles High and Polytechnic will have a chance to get it all over in the first week this year. The Pioneers journey down to Washington street for their opening game.

Poly defeated L.A. by a big score last year, and thereby broke a two years' string of major-league defeats at the hands of the Romans so the Blue and White quintet will be out for blood this time. The Mechanics have a tough game for a starter and a hard contest to finish their schedule. Manual Arts is the last team on their list.

The Artisan quintet is another squad that will do a lot of wandering, with three of its five games on other grounds. Lincoln and Jefferson play the majority of their games at home.

way mogul declared that the Culver City track will be faster than Charlotte's because of its longer straightaways and steeper banking. In addition it is a matter of expert knowledge that the atmosphere is conducive to greater motor speed here than anywhere else in the country, all other things being equal. In other words Brother Young expects a new world's record to be hung up at Culver City.

JUDGE AND KELLY PICKED

Washington and Giant Stars Get Call Over Blue of Detroit and Fournier of Brooklyn

[Copyright, 1924, in United States and Canada by North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved.]

Editor's Note—This is the sixth of a series of articles analyzing a vote by the players of the two big leagues to pick all-league teams. The vote was taken for exclusive publication in this city by The Times, the ballots being secured by the North American Newspaper Alliance, of which this paper is a member. Daily articles on this page tell how and why the players voted.

Jacques Fournier of Brooklyn was the leading home-run hitter of the National League this season and also had the highest batting average of any first baseman in his circuit, yet the vote of the players who favored him as first sacker on the All-National League team ran far behind that given to Kelly of the Giants.

The count of ballots for All-American League first baseman showed a much closer race between Judge of Washington and Blue of Detroit, with Judge winning out by a comfortable margin.

The National League vote was: Kelly, 73; Fournier, 18; Bottomley, St. Louis, 10; Grimm, Pittsburg, 7; McInnis, Boston, 3.

The American League vote: Judge, 56; Blue, 33; Sheely, Chicago, 16; Pipp, New York, 11.

Christy Mathewson chose Fournier for his All-American team because of his hitting, but the averages show that he only had a 9-point margin over the Giant. The players' vote indicates that they consider the latter's superiority in taking care of the first base assignment, and his great throwing arm—one of the best in the business, making him invaluable as a relay and cut-off man—more than offset his slight disadvantage at the bat. They do not forget, either, that Kelly's bat broke up many a game for the Giants the past season, or has feat of three home runs in a single game.

Kelly's record as a slugger, in fact, does not compare unfavorably with that of Fournier. Here are the figures for the two of them:

	G.	AB.	R.	H.	HR.	SB.	Pct.
Kelly	144	571	91	185	21	7	.324
Fournier	154	563	93	187	27	7	.333

These show that although the Giant played in eleven less games than the Brooklyn star the latter scored only two more runs, made only two more hits and batted out but six more home runs than he did. McGraw picked Kelly for his All-American team.

While Judge got less than half the votes cast in the American League, his lead over Blue, his nearest competitor, was convincing. Those who placed their faith in him were justified by his showing in the World Series, when, with the exception of Roger Peckinpaugh, who played in but four games, he led his team at the bat with an average of .385.

Judge played a fine part in the Senators' final dash for the pennant. With not a great deal to pick between him and Blue on the defense, he showed a margin of superiority on the offense. The figures:

	G.	AB.	R.	H.	HR.	SB.	Pct.
Judge	140	516	72	167	3	11	.324
Blue	108	394	81	123	2	9	.311

Babe Ruth probably sized up the sentiment of a majority of the players in the American League, when he said, "It's generally admitted—at least on our club—that Judge has been one of Washington's three strongest players this season."

That being the case, Joe contributed heavily toward taking the American League pennant to Washington, proving his value beyond a doubt. And he also played a big part in bringing home the world's championship.

MIRACULOUS CURES

Article CXXII

People are constantly looking for some miraculous cure. The clever patent-medicine merchants have taken advantage of this human weakness, spending thousands of dollars yearly in advertisements, and through their wonderful imagination pictures induce millions to purchase their cure-all drugs, with the foolish idea that they are going to be cured in some miraculous way overnight from a disease that has taken many years to reach its present condition.

It is more astonishing that the average person will allow his physical body to deteriorate for years until he reaches a state where he is more dead than alive; then suddenly decides that he will have some specialist bring him back to perfect health overnight by feeling his pulse and looking at this tongue. Of course, this is necessary in conjunction with listening to the heart. But mother nature must do the curing. But nature takes her time; for the reason that whatever mother does, she does right, and her work is slow but perfect when completed.

TIME FO RREPAIRS

If it takes several years of misuse of the body and vital organs before a breakdown occurs, how can a sane person expect any human being to repair that damage in a few hours? There are those who believe because they are sick, they can have some person who they think has sufficient dynamic mind drive out the old belief by suggesting opposite ideas. But new ideas do not annihilate the possibility of obstructing the functioning of the various organs of the body, which cause discomfort, pain, disease and death.

When the natural laws that governs the physical body are disobeyed for years, millions of insective cells accumulate, and every vital organ in the body is affected. The blood becomes impure, the system becomes poisoned, and one has prepared a breeding-place for disease germs.

Nature is very kind to us, in fact, too kind, in giving us warnings long before we reach this final stage, but we are too busy with material things to heed these warnings until we are down on the broad of our back. Then we look for some miraculous cure.

There are thousands on the market if you choose to believe the flowery advertisements; but a person with an ounce of common sense should know better than to believe such foolish statements. If one has been foolish enough to neglect one's health, it ought instead bring one to one's senses, and make one realize one's mistake; therefore, correcting that mistake by eliminating the cause.

The miraculous part is that we can go along for years abusing our body in so many ways before it becomes weakened. When we realize that the body depends upon the material we furnish through the food we eat to rebuild an ever-changing cell formation; then considering the lack of intelligence used by the average person in his eating, is it not a mystery that we live as long as we do? I should say exist; because most of us do not live, we merely exist, as far as our health is concerned.

REFUSES TO EAT

We use the expression "dumb animal!" But let anything happen to that animal in the way of sickness or injury, does it look for some miraculous cure? No! It goes off by itself if left to its own inclinations, refusing to eat, allowing nature to take her own good time to repair the damage, and if nature is given this opportunity it seldom fails in its work. But none of these conditions are brought on deliberately by the animal, they are purely accidental and are rare exceptions.

The study of animals will convince you why sickness is an exception. I have spent hours studying wild animals. The lion will stretch every muscle in his body, then relax entirely and take a nap—wake up and repeat. I have watched the panther lying on a board flat on his stomach, all four legs dangling limp over the side of the board, absolute relaxation. The position was one that the human animal would consider ungainly and vulgar, but that was nature's method of keeping him fit.

NAME BEEFY HEATH AS BASKETBALL COACH

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLAREMONT, Oct. 27.—"Beefy" Heath, the man who has coached Pomona football lines for the last three years, has been selected by Director of Physical Education and Athletics Eugene Nixon, to coach varsity basketball for the coming season. Short workouts on Pomona's court will begin November 1, but Heath will not assume full charge of his basket tossers until after the Occidental grid classic.

Capt. Jack Jessen will be in charge of the early training period for the Sagehen tossers. Heath will be remembered as Pomona's basketball coach two years ago.

POLY WANTS A GAME

Coach Voyle Brennan of the Polytechnic High School says that Poly's immediate need, rather than a cracker, is a practice game of football for this week-end. The Mechanic mentor is having a hard time lining up practice tilts, being unable to fill last week's bye, and having so far, nothing lined up for this Friday.

GOLF GOSSIP

By CHARLES WEST

Interclub team matches are not new to the golfing public of Southern California, but a novel idea has been evolved by members of the Hillcrest Country Club and the Beresford Country Club of San Francisco, by which golf and football have been combined very seasonably. A home-and-home team match has been arranged in which ten men from each club will compete, the first match occurring November 9 at Hillcrest, and the second November 22 at Beresford.

The day preceding the first match the team representing Beresford will be the guest of the local team at the U.S.C.-Stanford football game at the Coliseum, while on the trip north the Hillcrest golfers will attend the California-Stanford "Big Game" as the guests of Beresford.

With intercity rivalry added to interclub competition, the matches should bring out some strenuous battling.

TOURNEY TODAY

Forsaking the diamond for the fairway, some five dozen assorted baseball stars of present and past generations will compete today in the qualifying round of the Almont Country Club's professional baseball players' golf tournament. The competition will be staged on the municipal links at Griffith Park, match play opening tomorrow.

Babe Ruth's participation in the tourney is not assured, as the Bambino is so popular that the demands on his time are great. However, Arnold Statz of the Chicago Cubs, Art Shafer, formerly of the Giants, and Frank Deleot, who played with Brooklyn in his palmy days, will compete, and are the class of the tournament as far as golfing ability is concerned. In addition to these low-handicap men, Cap Dillon, former manager of the Angels; Hi West, another Coast Leaguer; Pete Daley and Rube Ellis, both of whom starred for Vernon in former seasons, and many others will be in the running. Flights of sixteen will be drawn for all present or former professional baseball players who care to compete, according to A. H. Painter, who is attending to starting and scoring.

WILSHIRE

A Calcutta pool dinner will be held by the women members of the Southern California Golf Association next Monday night at the Wilshire Country Club in preparation for the annual invitation tournament for feminine players, which opens the following morning. The auction will be held on the eventual winner of the tournament, not the qualifying round as in most men's tournaments. As Mrs. W. W. Campbell, women's State champion, Miss Mary K. Browne, finalist in the women's national championships, Miss Margaret Cameron, defending Wilshire champion, and Miss Kathleen Wright of the Pasadena Golf Club, are among the more prominent players entered, the bids will undoubtedly run high.

Women wishing to attend the pool and dinner should make reservations at the club not later than Friday night, according to Mrs. A. E. D. Trabue, chairman of the women's auxiliary, S.C.G.A. Wilshire's course will be open for practice Thursday and Friday of this week.

EL CABALLERO

Things are moving along with a flourish at the new El Caballero Country Club. Contracts for eleven miles of standard pipe were let yesterday through which the water supply for its 18-hole golf course will be supplied.

The main water line will require almost a mile of six-inch pipe, which will furnish direct water connections for more than 100 lodges, which will be built by El Caballero life members around the rim of the golf bowl. In equipping the golf links, two and one-fifth miles of four-inch pipe, four and one-half miles of two-inch and two and one-half miles of one and one-half-inch pipe will be used.

Chairman Merritt H. Adamson of El Caballero Golf Committee said yesterday that with the eleven miles of pipe installed, El Caballero course would have the most extensive water equipment of any golf course in the country and the abundant water supply would make it possible to give the members of El Caballero a wonderful all-grass course that would be green every day in the year.

PRESS SWEEPSTAKES

Members of the Newspapermen's Golf Association will compete Thursday in their weekly tournament. This week competition of a turf-scorching variety is anticipated, as Reed Huestis, par annihilator, is quite at home on the Flintridge links, and is already working on his acceptance speech on the occasion of the presentation of the trophy. It will be in verse.

McTIGUE WILL SUE RING COMMISSION

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Mike McTigue, light-heavyweight fistic champion is going to fight it out with the New York Boxing Commission who recently suspended him from the ring in this State for one year.

Alexander Tendler, attorney representing McTigue, today announced that he was filing suit for $250,000 damages against the commission, declaring the latter had no case whatever against McTigue to support their orders barring him in this State. The New York Boxing Commission had no knowledge of the affair. The regular meeting of the commission will be tomorrow.

PILOTS IN MATINEE AT ASCOT

Crack Eastern Drivers to Perform for Public Free Tomorrow

A "professional matinee," as they say in theatrical circles, will be held at Ascot Speedway on Wednesday afternoon. Deciding that the bunch of star eastern drivers who were not able to strut their stuff at Ascot on last Sunday afternoon through the nonarrivals of two carloads of racing cars, should be injected into the limelight before next Sunday's Ascot meet, President George Bentel issued invitations last night to the racing fans on the speedway mailing list and to the general public through the press to visit Ascot on Wednesday from 2:30 to 4:30 to glimpse the visiting pilots as they go through their practice stunts. There will be no charges of any nature.

Nearly all the drivers, using borrowed cars, worked out the latter part of last week, but did not have their own fast cars at Ascot until yesterday morning. A freight wreck ahead of the train on which the cars were shipped upset the plans to present the speed combinations at Ascot as advertised last Sunday. Bentel, however, announced that the rain checks on Sunday's tickets will be good for the same accommodations next Sunday.

Ralph Ormsby, "Les" Allen, "Curley" Young, Ernie Fausnaught, Harry Kelley, George Beck, Al Watters, Fred Leckilder, Al Cotey, George Saunders and others of the eastern contingent began yesterday afternoon to accustom themselves to the peculiarities of the Ascot track.

The eastern motorbikers, also victims of the railroad delay, will work out on Wednesday afternoon with their four-wheel motored bretheren.

CROWN CITY SLAPS SANTA ANA OUTFIT

After battling along for five innings with the score tied at two-all the Crown City sandlotters bunched three hits for a run in the sixth that gave them a 3-to-2 victory over Santa Ana Sunday, at Brookside Park. The game was a pitchers' duel all the way. Duffy, who pitched for the winners, had better control than Hoover, who held the mound for the losers, and was never in danger at any time. Santa Ana tried to tie the score in the seventh, but their rally died with two men on.

Both Duffy and Hamilton looked good for the winners, while Clements, keystone sacker, showed well for Santa Ana. Score:

Marines Lose Grid Game to Fleet Eleven

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The scouting fleet eleven defeated the Quantico marines here this afternoon in a red-hot battle, which was witnessed by more than 10,000 spectators. The game was a splendid exhibition of clean, hard fighting football, many former players of note taking part.

In the first period a loose ball rolled over the navy's goal line and several of the marine players fell on it for a touchdown. The try for goal failed.

Half way through the second period Goodall of the marines, fumbled on the navy's one-yard line and Deak, the scouting fleet fullback, pounced on the leather and ran like a scared deer for ninety yards for a touchdown. Rooney kicked the goal.

WALTER JOHNSON IS IN SAN FRANCISCO

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—Walter Johnson, whose pitching arm hoisted the pennant of world supremacy for the Washington baseball club, arrived in San Francisco today to "look over" the Oakland club in the Pacific Coast Baseball League as a possible buy. Johnson said that he would like to own a big share in the trans-Bay outfit and the Oakland owners, J. Cal Ewing, and others, admitted that they might sell if Johnson's bank roll were large enough.

"I'm getting along in years," the big pitcher remarked. "I have not reached the point yet where the boss says, 'You're through.' If I can help it, I am never going to hear those words."

AS TOLD BY GLENN WARNER,
Head Coach, Leland Stanford, Jr., University

Of course, Lubo couldn't play end or tackle. I decided to switch Beaver, the right guard, who had done some playing at end, to Exendine's old position, and use Lubo in his place.

News of this decision soon got me into trouble. All the cripples around the place asked for harness that would enable them to play. But the biggest shock I got came when Wheelock showed up at my house. He had been in the infirmary three weeks, but in the last few days had been allowed to take the air a bit. Still he was in such pain he couldn't bear to have anyone lay a hand on him.

"Now look here, coach," he said, "if you can fix Lubo you can fix me. There's nothing wrong with my arms or legs; all I've got is pleurisy."

I didn't argue with him. Arguments didn't seem to count much with those Indians. We went up to the engineering school and asked for help. Some one dug up two wide sheets of aluminum, resembling, as I said before, the metal portion of a washboard.

There was left but one vacancy on the team. That was center. Fortunately this would be the one position where Wheelock would suffer a minimum of pain, although he was bound to have plenty of it no matter where he was placed. I assigned him to it.

It seemed all wrong, putting these cripples at the very spot where they would have to bear the brunt of Cornell's attacks. Little Lubo would play right opposite my brother, Big Bill, while Wheelock must face the husky Davitt. I had it reasoned out this way, though. Both Wheelock and Lubo were quick as cats and they would make this speed count to the limit. Also, I had in Williams, our fullback, one of the best defensive men that ever stepped on a field. I knew he would back them up to the limit and he was instructed to station himself right back of them on defense.

The game hardly had started when Cornell called the guards-back formation. Following instructions, Wheelock and Lubo hit Center Davitt so hard they knocked him into Quarterback Brewster's hands before the latter could pass the ball to Right Guard Hunt, who had shifted behind Brother Bill. Cornell lost two yards, but decided to try again, with Bill back of Hunt. Again the Indians hurled themselves against Davitt with such fierceness that he in turn knocked the pigskin out of Brewster's hands. Luckily for Cornell, its right halfback, Coffin, recovered the ball, but he barely beat Wheelock to it. This time the Ithacans were thrown back four yards.

WRONGLY SUSPECTED

Someone appealed to the officials that the Indians must be guilty of offside. They had been watching closely, however, and declared that such was not the case. Consternation spread among Cornell rooters. The offensive value of the guards-back formation had been materially lowered.

I won't go into details of the game, except in one instance, and that merely for the purpose of showing the fury with which Wheelock and Lubo played that day. With the ball on Cornell's 40-yard line, Burns, Ithacan fullback, dropped back for a punt. Now, because of the supposedly impregnable combination of Hunt, Davitt and Warner, the Cornell punter always stood three yards nearer to his line than others did. On this play the practice proved disastrous. Wheelock and Lubo swept through Hunt, Davitt and Bill and almost blocked the kick. Burns hurried so much that the ball went almost straight up. Our quarterback, Johnson, caught it on our 50-yard line, while dashing forward at full speed, and ran it back to Cornell's 30-yard line. Cornell actually had lost 10 yards on a punt.

We carried the ball to the 3-yard line on two runs by Johnson. There we lost it on downs. Cornell punted, Burns kicking a high one upon which Johnson signaled for a fair catch on the 35-yard line. Tydeman, the overzealous Ithacan right end, tackled him, and a 10-yard penalty brought the ball 25 yards from Cornell's line. The suffering Wheelock was called back to kick. Without bluff or preliminary he booted a perfect one squarely between the posts. The score was 5 to 0 in our favor.

After the next kick-off, Cornell proceeded to go through our line as if it were paper. "Lubo and Wheelock are through," I told myself, and it surely looked to be the case. Finally, with the ball in our possession on our 10-yard line, we were compelled to punt. This resulted in a bad break. Hunt, Brother Bill and Smith, the Cornell right tackle, broke through our line and Smith blocked with his chest the kick which Fullback Williams, who was now booting for us, attempted. The ball rolled over our line and Luder, the Ithacans' left tackle, fell on it for a touchdown. Coffin kicked goal, making the score 6 to 5 against the Indians.

The second half got under way, with Cornell rushing us off our feet. And yet, just when it seemed that she was about to score, an Indian would appear from nowhere and throw the man carrying the ball for a loss on third down. Mostly it was Lubo and Wheelock.

How Lubo did it with his lame arm I don't know. And time after time Wheelock winced in pain as he came in contact with his opponents. But always they are on the job, diving over or under interference and bringing down the man with the ball. Williams backed up both. Johnson was wonderful in running back punts. The lame Exendine, at tackle, more than held his own.

BREAK CAME

Well into the second half we got a break which repaid our cripples for their devotion to the team. Williams, standing on Carlisle's 20-yard line, delivered the best punt of the day. It was a wonderful kick that carried the ball a full 50 yards before it touched earth on Cornell's 30-yard line.

Brewster, the Cornell quarter, apparently figured that the ball would roll clear to the line. He decided to let it pass, so that it could be brought out again on the 20-yard line. But after one high bound, the ball took a backward instead of forward leap, and struck the leg of Tydeman, right end, who had run back to give Brewster interference. This made a free ball of it and Bradley, Carlisle right end, who had charged down the field, grabbed it.

It was Carlisle's ball on Cornell's 15-yard line, and Quarterback Johnson immediately proceeded to the most brilliant strategy of the game. This consisted in using the same formation, with variations, four times in succession.

Here was the formation: For a right end run, left guard was shifted to a position between center and right guard; the left halfback stood directly behind right end; right half was just to the right of left half; quarterback in usual position; fullback five yards behind left guard; when the ball was put in play the fullback swept past quarter, who faked a pass to him, and continued through the line between center and the shifted left guard. Quarter kept the ball and circled right end.

The formation for a left-end run was the same except that the backs and right guard went to the left side. Fullback stood five yards behind right guard and charged between center and the shifted right guard. Quarter faked a pass to fullback but kept the ball and ran around left end.

On the first play, Johnson carried the ball in a left-end run designed to place the ball before the posts in position for a kick if one were necessary. Instead, by fairly crawling with the pigskin after he had been tackled, he gained ten yards and made it first down on Carlisle's 5-yard line. A kick seemed unnecessary and he followed with a right-end run that gained two yards. A left-end run netted only one yard but brought the ball back in front of the posts. And here the supreme play developed.

Calling the same formation as before, Johnson did not keep the ball this time, but handed it to Williams. The latter made a wild dive above the backs of Wheelock and Lubo and over the Cornell line at its very strongest point, Davitt and Bill Warner. Simultaneously Lubo and Wheelock hit the pair so hard they fairly lifted them off their feet. Coffin, at right half, leaped over to throw back Williams, but was too late. The Indian came down behind the Cornell line. His hurdle had succeeded and Carlisle had another touchdown.

GIVES UP

Lubo was able to continue after this play, but Wheelock's outraged body could endure no more. He fell in an agony of pain and had to be taken from the field. This necessitated the only substitution of the game. We missed the goal after touchdown and the score was Carlisle, 10; Cornell, 6.

But the game was won. Williams played center on defense and we held the Ithacans until the whistle blew.

Standard Oil Drops Lead in Bowling Loop

By taking three games from the Standard Oil bowling team last Wednesday night the Pan-American boys toppled their rivals from first into a tie with the Associated Oilers for second. Incidentally the win served to advance the Pan oilers onto the same percentage plane as the Zerolene dispensers and the Associated teams now occupy. The General Petroleum team advanced into first place with seven wins and two defeats.

A lot o' credit is due to the Pan boys who came out and supported their team in force last week. This undoubtedly accounts for the fact that the Panners were able to cop high team series. Brown of the Julian forces was high man last Wednesday with a 253 score, while Carey holds down high average honors with 191.

Four teams, General Pet, Standard, Pan and Associated are now fighting it out for first place with Associated Supply and Shell hanging on their heels. This Wednesday all the four leaders are in competition and the outcome is bound to juggle their positions.

DODGER PLAYERS ARE FINED FOR CONDUCT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WENATCHEE (Wash.) Oct. 27.—Barney Neiss, Johnny Mitchell, Milton Stock and Elmer Brown, Brooklyn National baseball players, paid a total of $1750 here today in settling charges of assault and disorderly conduct administered to William Weaver, 16 years of age, a local bellboy, the 19th inst.

When arraigned the players changed their pleas to guilty and were each fined $200. They paid the hotel $200 and Weaver $750. The assault was said to have happened as the players were leaving the hotel for Seattle, where they played the Seattle Indians.

PROFESSIONAL BALL PLAYERS HOLD FEED

Professional baseball players who are sojourning in Los Angeles for the winter season will hold a banquet at the Elite next Wednesday night at 6:30 p.m. The feed promises to be a swell affair as all the "big timers," including Babe Ruth, king of swat; Walter Johnson, the Senator pitching ace; Earl McNeely and many other celebrities, will be present.

Those wishing to attend can procure tickets from Elmer Thorsen, Atlantic 9081, or from "Pop" Dillon at the Home Plate Lunch.

FISH FROM KLAMATH SEEK VOTE

Salmon and Trout Appear as Their Own Advocates for Save the Fish District

Although the sportsmen's State Fish and Game Commission is by law the duly constituted attorney for the fish of California, the splendid king salmon and sea-run rainbow trout of Klamath River are appearing in numerous sporting-goods show windows this week as their own advocates in behalf of a "yes" vote on the "Fish Initiative"—Measure No. 11—which aims to protect these species from certain destruction of projected high dams far down that still primitively wild river.

Louie Breer, Henry Nelson and a number of other leading local sportsmen have been up on the Klamath, enjoying what all concede to be the most wonderful fly-fishing ever known even on that most consistent of all trout waters. There is over 200 miles of the finest water outdoors awaiting the angler on the Klamath and its larger tributaries, and at present the spawning "run" of the king salmon is in full progress. Breer shipped several old males for exhibition which were painted up like red Indians on the warpath hooked of jaw, malevolent of eye, and as "striking" in appearance as they are on the hook—for in this premier stream the salmon at the right time and in the right place, will take the fly as freely as the trout regularly do.

The Klamath trout are attracting much attention and universally favorable comment, coupled with regret that it is necessary for the people to put through an initiative measure to protect such naturally perfect creatures from extermination by the building of impassably high dams.

RUTH PERFORMS FOR LOCAL FANS

making two sensational catches in center that robbed the drivers of three-base hits.

The usual battery of cameramen and publicity men were on hand, cluttering up the field until game time. As Ruth stepped to the bat in the first inning he was presented with a bouquet of flowers by one of the beauties from Harry Carroll's "Pickings." After handing him the posies the beauty danced about and then uncorked a kick over Babe's head, surprising all present.

On his first time at bat Ruth beat out a hot one to McDowell. The next time up the Bambino grounded to McDowell once more and was out. In his third attempt Babe hit his long one against the fence. In Ruth's final two appearances at the plate, he singled to right, driving in two men with the last bingle.

The Essickmen scored in the fifth when Meusel singled to left and came home on Ruth's long double to center.

McNEELY HOMES

Earl McNeely put Krug's squad out in front in the sixth when he hit a homer over the left-field fence, scoring Red Smith, who had walked, ahead of him. McDowell's double down the left-field line, a wild pitch by Bonelly and Crandall's single gave the Krugmen their final score in the seventh.

Walks to Hannah and Thomas, Gorman's infield hit, filling the bases, Ruth's single and Hawks's hit gave the Essickmen their three runs in the ninth.

Before the game Sheriff Bill Traeger tossed over the first ball, with Ruth as the batter. After letting two go by the Babe caught one for a safety to center and Traeger went into retirement.

Boxing Champs to be Named by National Body

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CINCINNATI (O.) Oct. 27.—Boxing champions of the United States, as recognized by the National Boxing Association, will be named tomorrow in a report of a special committee, Richard T. Burke, president, announced here tonight during a banquet of delegates, which followed a brief opening business session today.

"The class or division champions will be named according to their contests and performances shown in the ring," Mr. Burke declared, "and not according to rulings made in a boxing commission's office."

No intimation of any conflict of any prevailing claim of championship honors was made by him, although other delegates said some difference of ruling by certain State commissions, who have named champions, might not prove consistent with the report of the committee tomorrow.

A report of Secretary W. H. Shaw, New Orleans, made today, showed suspension for the past year to total forty-eight as compared with eighty-four a year ago. Suspensions were highest in Wisconsin, which led with 14; Nebraska, 4; Maryland, 6; Louisiana, 5; Kentucky, 4; South Dakota, 4; Cuba, 4, and Ohio, 3.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—The Dutch motorship Dintsldyk and the British steamer Narenta, sailing from here this week, will take 220,000 boxes of California and Oregon apples to the British Isles and continental Europe for the Christmas trade. It is estimated that there will be 45,000,000 apples of various kinds on the two ships. Both the Narenta and Dintsldyk took on part of their apple cargoes at Astoria, receiving the remainder here.

The T.K.K. liner Taiyo Maru, which arrived here today from the Orient, brought 2190 bales of raw silk, valued at $2,190,000. The silk was put on a waiting express train to be rushed as soon as the vessel docked.

Three liners, carrying approximately 750 passengers, will sail from here Wednesday. They are the Siberia Maru for Hongkong, the Ventura for Sydney, and the Colombia for New York, via Havana.

SEATTLE, Oct. 27.—The steamship President Jefferson of the Admiral Oriental Line departed today on her eighteenth trans-Pacific voyage in the Seattle oriental service, according to cable advices received here from the Orient. The cable stated she carried a $5,000,000 cargo of raw silk.

The liner President Jackson, which has been undergoing boiler and machinery repairs at Bremerton, Wash., is to return here tomorrow to start loading for the return voyage to the Orient.

Under charter to Mitsui & Co., the Norwegian steamship Hallgyn was loading lumber and general cargo here today for the Orient, and the Japanese steamship Horaisan Maru, another Mitsui craft, shifted to Tacoma. Tonight the Japanese steamship Reiyo Maru of the Yamashita fleet arrived to load lumber and general cargo for Japanese ports.

On her tenth voyage to Puget Sound in the intercoastal service of the American-Hawaiian Line, the motorship Missourian was in port today discharging 1000 tons of cargo from Atlantic ports.

Southeast storm warnings were ordered displayed by the local United States Weather Bureau today at all Washington and Oregon stations. The storm was off Vancouver Island and moving slowly eastward. It was stated that it is to result in southerly winds, increasing rapidly in velocity.

The steamship Alameda of the Alaska Steamship Company departed yesterday from Nome, Alaska, with mining men and merchants from the Seward Peninsula district, according to word received here. The Alameda is the last merchant ship to leave Nome this year and her departure marked the close of the summer navigation season to that port.

After a fine voyage reported across the Pacific for this time of the year, the N.Y.K. liner Kaga Maru arrived today from Japan. There were large shipments of bamboo ware, Christmas goods, Far Eastern furs, general merchandise and $1,300,000 worth of raw silk.

PORT ANGELES (Wash.) Oct. 27.—Capt. W. L. Stetson of the Merrill & Ring tug Wanderer was here today suffering from a stroke of paralysis which affected the left side of his body. Capt. Stetson was stricken while aboard the tug off Pysht, west of here. A wireless message was broadcast for assistance. An Everett station picked up the call and telephoned a Port Angeles doctor, who met the tug on her arrival here.

The body of a man, believed to be that of Gustav Ericksen, member of the crew of the Union Oil tanker La Purisima, who was drowned in Port Angeles Bay September 20 when a lifeboat fell from the davits, was found floating in the bay near Ediz Hook light Sunday by a fisherman. There was nothing on the body of the man to identify him except a watch which stopped at 11:13 p.m. Capt. Erick G. Ebelin of the La Purisima reported the accident happened at 11:15 p.m.

PORTLAND (Or.) Oct. 27.—On its last voyage to Portland under the house flag of the San Francisco and Portland Steamship Company, the Rose City arrived here tonight. Actual transfer of operation was scheduled for today, although ceremonies in connection with it will not take place until Thursday.

A luncheon will be held aboard the steamer Thursday noon, when Capt. T. J. Macdonn is scheduled to haul down the steamer's banner of many years and Hillman Luddemann, local manager for the McCormick Steamship Company, will haul up his company's ensign.

The Rose City will sail from here Friday and thereafter every two weeks, adding Los Angeles to its call list.

Sharp increases in the amount of flour which has been moving to United Kingdom ports is expected by local steamship agents during November. Inquiries for space are being received in considerable volume following recent sales. Most of the movement will be for London discharge.

The demand from German markets for Oregon flour is also resulting in expanding seeking steamship space.

Wheat shipments for foreign ports for the month to date total 3,347,424 bushels with a valuation in excess of $4,500,000. Exports of this commodity last week totaled more than 1,250,000 bushels. October will likely be the largest month of the year in wheat exports, and also from the standpoint of general business.

The British steamer Benlawers left the harbor this morning with a cargo of wheat for the United Kingdom. She sails via the east coast.

DEMOCRATS TO COOLIDGE SIDE

Say Vote for Davis is Vote to La Follette in State

Party Differences Are Buried for Good of Nation

President and Dawes Termed Best American Type

Leading business and professional men of both the Republican and Democratic parties are rallying to the support of President Coolidge and Gen. Dawes, according to statements being received daily at local campaign headquarters. These indicate growing enthusiasm among men and women identified with both parties.

"I believe it is to the best business interests of the country to elect Calvin Coolidge," said C. C. Vance, vice-president of the Los Angeles Gas & Electric Company, and for many years a leading Democrat in Southern California.

"Although I am a strong Democrat, I am supporting Coolidge and Dawes. I don't say that President Coolidge will give a better business administration than would Mr. Davis, but the situation in this State is such that the support of Davis might jeopardize the future of the country by throwing the balance of power into the hands of radicals. Division of the vote among the three candidates might throw the election into Congress, and the position of the country would then be uncertain."

DIFFERENCES BURIED

Equally strong indorsement comes from Col. Herbert R. Fay, secretary of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce. "Without entering into the merits or demerits of the other candidates for President or Vice-President, or treating this as a matter of party politics, I am firmly convinced that it is to the best interests of our country and our people, from a local, national and international standpoint that Coolidge and Dawes should be our standard bearers for the next few years.

"There is great need for leadership in America which will command the respect of foreign countries, retain the confidence of our people and tend to stabilize and make secure prosperity for ourselves and our posterity.

"Although we, as individuals, may differ with either or both Coolidge and Dawes in details, or in certain separate instances, yet we must admit that both these candidates have in the conduct of their public careers proven their intellectual initiative, their constructive activity, and their successful accomplishment in matters entrusted to them, individually, in their several problems; and, with their difference in temperament and characteristics, they should be a good working team for us Americans to get back of.

BOTH REAL AMERICANS

"Both Coolidge and Dawes have stood upright as true Americans; they have never wavered in their faith in their country or its Constitution; they have always been the personification of American manliness; they do not fear to fight for their American ideals.

"Coolidge and Dawes are big men. They are not of the faultfinding or nagging types. They are men of great capacity, sound judgment and conservative viewpoint, yet aggressive when required, but not tools of either 'big business' or "hectic hecklers.' To my mind they typify the true American spirit we need to carry our government onward and forward to our proper place in the affairs of the world, yet without jeopardy to our own safety or welfare."

Convictions in Santa Fe Rail Strike to Stand

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The Supreme Court again refused today to review the case of former employees of the Santa Fe system convicted of a criminal conspiracy when they quit work at Needles, during the shopmen's strike of 1922.

On the 13th inst. the court announced that it would not review the case, but the convicted men filed a petition insisting that the Clayton Act should have protected them against conviction.

The court recessed today until November 17.

RUSSIA FACES MORE CHAOS

Stoppage of Exports Endangers Soviet's Currency; Famine Impends and Revolts Flourish

BY RAYMOND FENDRICK

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1924, by the Chicago Tribune.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 26.—The stoppage of Russian exports has suddenly assumed grave proportions. The State export of oil, wheat and manganese from Black Sea ports, which is the backbone of the Russian State finances today is falling to such a low point that German, Italian, British and Greek ships which went to Russia for cargoes are returning empty.

Diplomatic agents of at least two foreign governments in Moscow have reported to their governments that the position of the soviet government would be imperiled this winter unless it obtained a large loan somewhere.

In face of a famine that will be almost as severe as in 1921, Moscow also finds itself short of money with which to equip the army and feed the 4,000,000 idle, restless city workmen. The resistance of peasants throughout Russia is becoming more stubborn and more dangerous. The Caucasus, from the soviet economic theories are Astrakhan, are in open revolt, and the soviet economic theories are becoming proven more and more false. In every corner of Russia the peasants are killing unprotected Communists.

The new Bolshevist currency, which is based on exports, is in instant danger of collapsing and plunging Russia into worse financial chaos than ever before.

Morgan Signs Agreement on Loan to French

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Oct. 27.—An agreement between J. Pierpont Morgan and the French government on a loan to be floated on the American market about November 10, was signed this morning.

The terms were not made public, but the amount is understood to be $150,000,000.

This loan, about which much talk has been current since Mr. Morgan's arrival here, will serve to repay the house of Morgan for its $100,000,000 credit first extended to former Premier Poincare and afterward extended for Premier Herriot. The object of both Mr. Morgan and the French government is to stabilize the franc during the coming year, if possible, at fifteen to a dollar.

IMPROVE ON GEOPHONE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PITTSBURG (Pa.) Oct. 27.—Tests made with a specially constructed electrical geophone by Walter T. Ackley, Jr., and Clifton M. Ralph, United States Interior Department workers at the Pittsburg experiment station of the Bureau of Mines, have resulted in raising the distance that earth sounds may be detected through coal and rock from 400 to 800 feet. Ackley and Vance performed these tests while working for degrees in electrical engineering at the University of Pittsburg school of engineering.

SKY STRANGER MAY BE COMET

Proximity of Orbit to Earth Interests Scientists

German's Discovery Draws Eyes All Over Globe

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—Discovery of a stranger in the sky, where all the suns, stars, planets and asteroids are named or numbered, was announced today by the Yerkes Observatory, Williams Bay, Wis., and the University of Hamburg Observatory at Copenhagen.

That the stranger is a comet was the first belief, but whether it is in fact a comet or merely an asteroid hasn't been determined, Prof. E. M. Frost, director of the Yerkes Observatory, said. There is a possibility that it is not a newcomer, but an unfamiliar asteroid forgotten by astronomers. Its course will be watched and checked against the courses of known asteroids.

CAUGHT BY CAMERAS

Cameras caught the stranger and showed it to be an object of the tenth magnitude. Prof. Baade, a German astronomer, was the first to photograph the tiny glowing fragment. He cabled news of his discovery around the world. Last night a two-second exposure was made at the Yerkes Observatory, and the plate showed the comet or asteroid clearly.

Should the object prove to be a comet, it would attract unusual scientific interest, astronomers say, because of the proximity of its orbit to the earth. If it is an asteroid the scientific world won't be so excited.

The photograph taken at Williams Bay indicates that the stranger is an asteroid, Prof. Frost said. No tail or coma was visible on the plate. Further observations, however, may reveal a coma.

"If the object is new to us, weeks of observation will be necessary before anything definite can be said," Prof. Frost declared. "It is impossible to do more than speculate now."

TRAVELING FAST

The object seems to be traveling at a rate of more than a degree a day, according to the Yerkes director. That is fast, but not too fast for an asteroid.

The position of the object, as given by Prof. Baade, is right ascension 21 hrs., 25 min. north, declination 12 deg. 50 min. It is not far from the star Epsilon, in the constellation Pegasus, which can be seen at 7 o'clock near the zenith.

A cablegram to Harvard College today announced that the Belgian astronomer, Delporte, saw the stranger last night after Prof. Baade had described it.

GREENWICH WATCHING

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The Royal Observatory at Greenwich announces the discovery of what appears to be a new comet of tenth magnitude. All recording instruments at the astronomers' disposal have been set for the next appearance of the stranger tonight or tomorrow night.

The new star, which is planetary in character, was first pointed out by Dr. Baade of Hamburg Observatory.

SALMON RUN HEAVY IN KLAMATH RIVER

PROSPECT FOR LARGE TAKE OF EGGS DECLARED BEST IN YEARS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 27. — A heavy run of Chinook salmon in the Klamath River presages a busy season ahead for the egg-collecting station of the State Fish and Game Commission at Klamathon. William P. Shebley, head of the department of fish culture of the commission, with headquarters in this city, announced today that prospects for a big take of eggs were more favorable this year than for a long time.

G. H. Lambson, superintendent of the egg-collecting station at Klamathon, has sent a report to Shebley in which he estimates the take of salmon eggs for the season will aggregate 20,000,000.

Lambson also reported there is a heavy run of steelhead and rainbow trout, presaging a large take of trout eggs during the coming spring.

TRADE COMMISSION DROPS LUMBER CASE

MONOPOLY COMPLAINT IS DISMISSED WITH ONE DISSENTING

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The Federal Trade Commission today dismissed its complaint against the Douglas Fir Exploitation and Export Company of San Francisco, and 107 other companies and individuals in the lumber business in the West and Northwest.

The complaint, which charged a combination to fix prices and conspiracy to hinder and obstruct competition in the sale and distribution of lumber in interstate and foreign commerce, was dismissed by the commission without prejudice after extensive hearings and arguments.

Huston Thompson, chairman of the commission, dissented from the dismissal, charging that the respondents are guilty, both on the law and facts, of unfair methods of competition, done in furtherance of a conspiracy contrary to the Federal Trade Commission Act.

The respondents were charged with having met together from time to time during the period from 1916 to 1922, and fixed prices and terms at which they agreed to sell lumber. They were also charged with affiliating with the West Coast Lumbermen's Association for the purpose of developing a monopoly in the manufacture and sale of lumber.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 27.—An inquest into the death of R. E. Cloud of Los Angeles, and R. E. Carmichael of Long Beach, who died Saturday as the result of an accident on the county highway near the Rio Bravo pump station when the car in which they were riding with Ed Mayhugh of Hollywood, overturned, was conducted this evening by Coroner N. C. Pouze, the verdict being an accidental death with cause unknown.

Mr. Cloud, who was crushed and instantly killed when the car overturned, was 32 years of age, and is survived by his widow, who arrived in Bakersfield Saturday evening from her home in Los Angeles.

Shortly after being brought to Bakersfield, Mr. Carmichael died. He was 40 years of age, and also leaves a widow who resides in Long Beach. Both men were prominent in the oil industry in the south.

In company with Mr. Mayhugh, also an oil man, they were on their way to McKittrick to close an oil deal at the time the accident occurred.

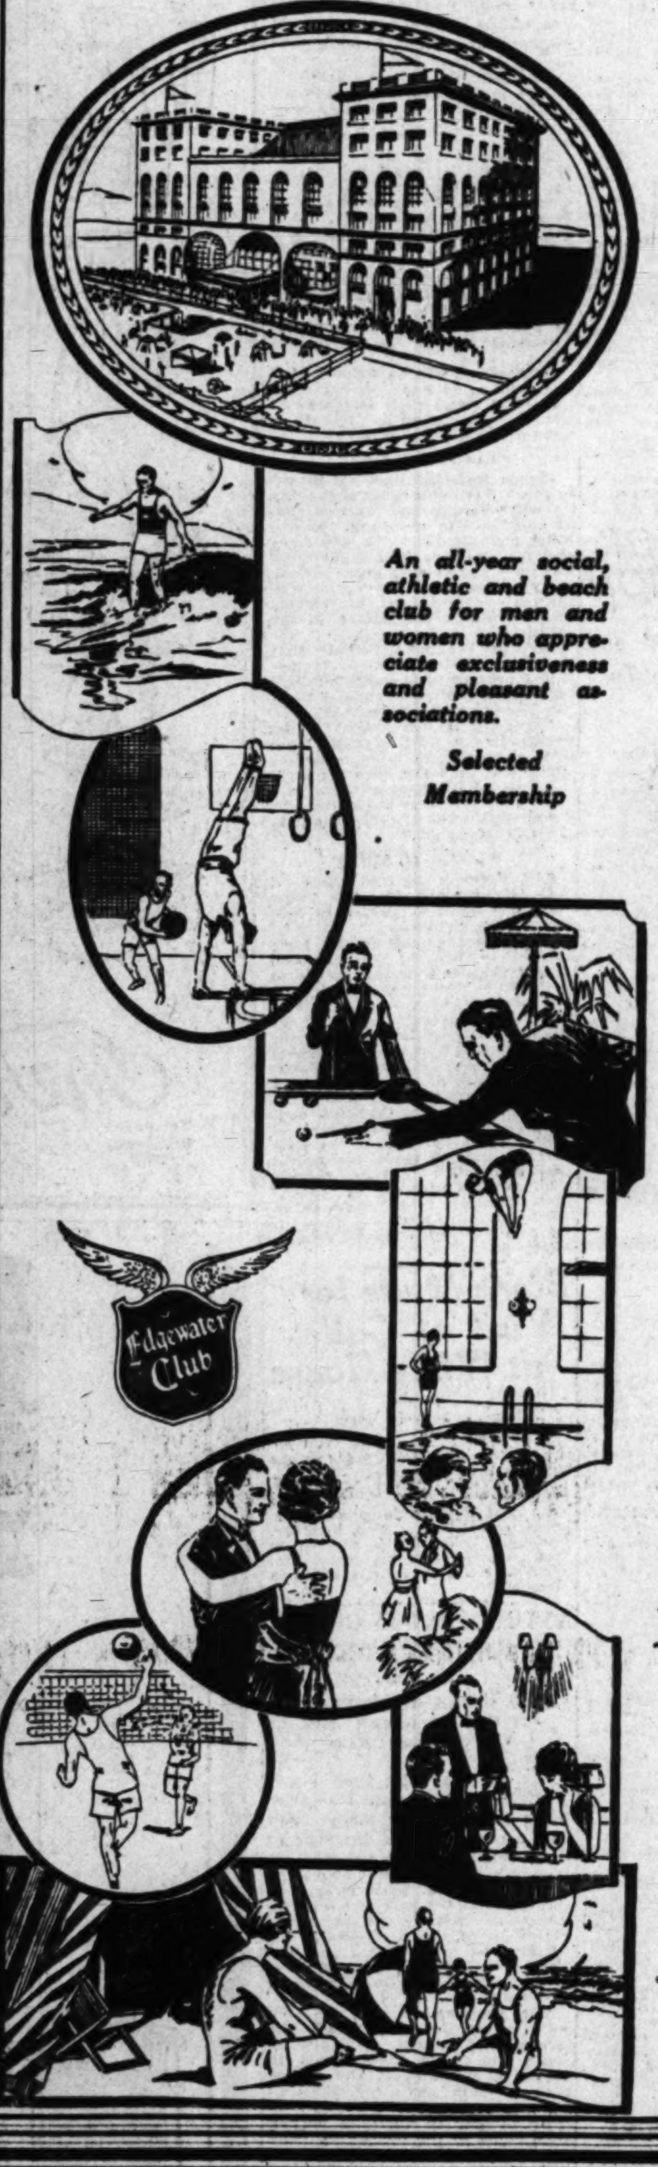
At Santa Monica the Edgewater Club offers—

A Beach which is really private—
A Clubhouse of which to be proud—
Members with whom you want to associate—



An all-year social, athletic and beach club for men and women who appreciate exclusiveness and pleasant associations.

Selected Membership

That, in short, is the story of the Edgewater Club.

But it must be gone into in much more detail before you can fully appreciate just what a membership in this Club will mean to you.

You know that it is only a matter of a short time until the beaches will offer few places where you can really enjoy beach sports in comfort. The only solution is privately owned beach. But these, too, are growing more scarce with the passing of time.

Edgewater Club is the Solution

Here at the Edgewater you not only have a private beach, but in a short time a magnificent Clubhouse offering all the additional pleasures of club life the year round. It is the only logical method you have of retaining your portion of beach for your enjoyment. The time is not far off when it will be the only way.

The Edgewater Club plans just this. Already many who appreciate the situation have become members. A glance through the partial list appearing to the right will convince you that the type of people who are now members of this Club are among Southern California's best citizens.

Note location and accessibility

Straight out the 100-foot Pico Boulevard, just thirty minutes from Seventh and Broadway, the Edgewater Club property is ready now—fenced in to the water's edge—212 feet along the ocean front.

Limited membership—to-day there are available only 72 Charter Life Memberships—at $400.00—and then there are

500 life memberships at $500.00 each
300 life memberships at $750.00 each
200 life memberships at $1000.00 each

As each allotment is completed, the price for the next increases as shown above. Memberships are transferable, non-liable, non-assessable, and pay no dues.

Each membership is required to pay $3.00 per month for private dressing room, bath linen and attendant service. This amount is due only when the Club is in operation—and is payable yearly in advance.

Applications are filed in the order received, and all applications must be approved.

The Edgewater offers you—

In addition to the private beach your membership will give you a seven-story building of steel and concrete; an indoor plunge 50x150, heated in winter; complete gymnasium; a garage for members only; separate floor and sleeping rooms for women; one floor of sleeping rooms for married members; one whole floor of sleeping rooms for bachelor members.

The Clubhouse includes Dining Rooms, Bathers' Grill, Assembly Room for Musicales, lectures and dancing, private Dining Rooms, Card, Billiard and Mah Jongg Rooms; Cigar, Confectionery and News Stands, Private Lockers, Beauty Parlors and Barber Shop, Sun Room, Lobbies and Turkish Baths.

In fact the building and grounds will be fully equipped for Sports and Club Amusement. Nothing has been omitted to make Edgewater the finest and most enjoyable Club on the Pacific Coast.

Memberships will be very valuable

You can see for yourself the opportunity of such a Club. You can easily see how the memberships will increase in value with the rapid disappearance of beach frontage. Think it all out—then send the coupon.

RUMANIAN OFFICIALS IN PASSPORT EXPOSE

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VIENNA, Oct. 27.—A dispatch from Bucharest states that Premier Brabanu, interpellated by the opposition in Parliament, declared that several personalities high in Rumanian society will be punished for the fabrication of false passports with American visés. Because of negligence Secretary of State Eranascovici was dismissed. When the examining magistrate made the announcement Gen. Alexander Valtoeanu tried to commit suicide. The general's brother is Minister of Communcation Arthur Valtoeanu.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

The latter has been Mayor for eighteen months, appointed to fill the place of J. F. Hightower, resigned.

WHITE FANG
by Jack London

Synopsis: Two men, Henry and Bill, [illegible] Each night the circle of pursuers comes nearer; each night a sled dog disappears, lured by a she-wolf that looks like a former sled dog. Bill sets out to drive away the pack. He never comes back. Henry builds a fire circle to keep off the wolves. Relief comes just as the wolf pack is about to devour him, and the wolf pack, headed by the she-wolf and old One Eye, starts out to run new game. Henry is explaining to the rescuers:

"The she ate the dogs . . . An' after that she ate Bill . . ."

"Where's Lord Alfred?" one of the men bellowed in his ear, shaking him roughly.

He shook his head slowly. "No, she didn't eat him . . . He's roostin' in a tree at the last camp."

"Dead?" the man shouted.

"An' in a box," Henry answered. He jerked his shoulder petulantly away from the grip of his questioner. "Say, you lemme alone . . . I'm jes' plumb tuckered out . . . Goo' night, everybody."

His eyes fluttered and went shut. His chin fell forward on his chest. And even as they eased him down upon the blankets his snores were rising on the frosty air.

But there was another sound. Far and faint it was, in the remote distance, the cry of the hungry wolf-pack as it took the trail of other meat than the man it had just missed.

It was the she-wolf who had first caught the sound of men's voices and the whining of the sled-dogs; and it was the she-wolf who was first to spring away from the cornered man in his circle of dying flame. The pack had been loath to forego the kill it had hunted down, and it lingered for several minutes, making sure of the sounds; and then it, too, sprang away on the trail made by the she-wolf.

Running at the forefront of the pack was a large gray wolf—one of its several leaders. It was he who directed the pack's course on the heels of the she-wolf. It was he who snarled warningly at the younger members of the pack or slashed at them with his fangs when they ambitiously tried to pass him. And it was he who increased the pace when he sighted the she-wolf, now trotting slowly across the snow.

She dropped in alongside by him, as though it were her appointed position, and took the pace of the pack. He did not snarl at her, nor show his teeth, when any leap of hers chanced to put her in advance of him. On the contrary, he seemed kindly disposed toward her—too kindly to suit her, for he was prone to run near to her, and when he ran too near it was she who snarled and showed her teeth. Nor was she above slashing his shoulder sharply on occasions. At such times he betrayed no anger. He merely sprang to the side and ran stiffly ahead for several awkward leaps, in carriage and conduct resembling an abashed country swain.

This was his one trouble in the running of the pack; but she had other troubles. On her other side ran a gaunt old wolf, grizzled and marked with the scars of many battles. He ran always on her right side. The fact that he had but one eye, and that the left eye, might account for this. He, also, was addicted to crowding her, to veering toward her till his scarred muzzle touched her body, or shoulder, or neck. As with the running mate on the left, she repelled these attentions with her teeth; but when both bestowed their attentions at the same time she was roughly jostled, being compelled, with quick snaps to either side, to drive both lovers away and at the same time to maintain her forward leap with the pack and see the way of her feet before her. At such times her running mates flashed their teeth and growled threateningly across at each other. They might have fought, but even wooing and its rivalry waited upon the more pressing hunger-need of the pack.

After each repulse, when the old wolf sheered abruptly away from the sharp-toothed object of his desire, he shouldered against a young 3-year-old that ran on his blind right side. This young wolf had attained his full size; and, considering the weak and famished condition of the pack, he possessed more than the average vigor and spirit. Nevertheless, he ran with his head even with the shoulder of his one-eyed elder. When he ventured to run abreast of the older wolf (which was seldom,) a snarl and a snap sent him back even with the shoulder again. Sometimes, however, he dropped cautiously and slowly behind and edged in between the old leader and the she-wolf. This was doubly resented, even triply resented. When she snarled her displeasure, the old leader would whirl on the 3-year-old. Sometimes she whirled with him. And sometimes the young leader on the left whirled, too.

At such times, confronted by three sets of savage teeth, the young wolf stopped precipitately, throwing himself back on his haunches, with forelegs stiff, mouth menacing, and mane bristling. This confusion in the front of the moving pack always caused confusion in the rear. The wolves behind collided with the young wolf and expressed their displeasure by administering sharp nips on his hind-legs and flanks. He was laying up trouble for himself, for lack of food and short tempers went together; but with the boundless faith of youth he persisted in repeating the maneuver every little while, though it never succeeded in gaining anything for him but discomfiture.

Had there been food, love-making and fighting would have gone on apace, and the pack-formation would have been broken up. But the situation of the pack was desperate. It was lean with long-standing hunger. It ran below its ordinary speed. At the rear limped the weak members, the very young and the very old. At the front were the strongest. Yet all were more like skeletons than full-bodied wolves. Nevertheless, with the exception of the ones that limped, the movements of the animals were effortless and tireless. Their stringy muscles seemed founts of inexhaustible energy. Behind every steel-like contraction of a muscle, lay another steel-like contraction, and another, and another, apparently without end.

They ran many miles that day. They ran through the night. And the next day found them still running. They were running over the surface of a world frozen and dead. No life stirred. They alone moved through the vast inertness. They alone were alive, and they sought for other things that were alive in order that they might devour them and continue to live.

TEXAS ASSESSMENT SHOWS HUGE GAIN

TAXABLE PROPERTY VALUES INCREASE $27,000,000 IN YEAR

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

AUSTIN (Tex.) Oct. 27.—It is estimated by John G. Willacy, State Tax Commissioner, that the total assessed valuation of property in Texas for the year 1924 is $3,450,000,000, which is an increase of $26,896,829 over the total assessed valuation for last year. He has fixed the intangible assets of the Texas railroads for 1924 at $74,930,922, an increase of $1,799,406 over 1923.

"In no event should the tax burden upon land and other physical property be increased," Mr. Willacy said, "and while it may be, and doubtless is true, that such property, taken as a whole throughout the State, is being assessed for ad valdorem taxes upon percentages of not to exceed 35 per cent of true value, we should keep in mind that it is against physical property, principally, that bonds are issued for constructing highways, building school houses and other public structures and for drainage, irrigation and other public purposes, and that the earnings of such physical property, the tax for interest and sinking fund is principally paid."

DEMOCRATS IN FRANTIC PLEAS

Attempt to Persuade Voters They Still Have Chance

Best They Hope for is to Win Through Congress

Reliable Forecasts Show Big Margin for Coolidge

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
"Times" Staff Correspondent
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—This, the last week of the campaign, opened with the Democratic management concentrating all of its forces, oratorical and journalistic, on an attempt to convince the country that it still thinks it has a chance to win the election. Nothing has injured the cause of Mr. Davis and Mr. Bryan in recent weeks so much as the growing belief throughout the forty-eight States that the defeat of their ticket is a foregone conclusion. Hence the output of predictions, claims and professions of confidence find no echo among the associates of the very men who are making them.

An unusual endeavor in this line comes today from Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, through a statement bearing his name put out by the Democratic National Committee. It is a review of the speech Senator Glass, who has been reported ill until this time, made tonight at Wilmington, Del. In it, Senator Glass attacked Secretary Hughes's recent speech on the Constitution and derided the thought that the La Follette proposals constitute any sort of a menace to the fundamental law of the land.

"The obvious truth," said the Senator, "is that the President and Secretary of State know perfectly well there is no imminent peril to constitutional government or to personal liberty or to property rights in this ineffective third-party gesture."

Senator Glass's plea was not to be frightened by the menace of La Follettism but to vote the Democratic ticket and be safe.

CHARACTERISTIC PLEA

This is characteristic of the speeches the Democratic orators are making generally this week. Their purpose is to prevent conservative Democrats voting for Coolidge, for their reports have told them of a heavy swing in that direction because of the possibility of La Follette otherwise gaining enough votes to throw the election into Congress.

No longer is there any real doubt that the best the Democratic management now hopes for is an election by Congress. The character of appeal made by Democratic orators this week and the character of the material put out by party headquarters indicates preparation for just such an emergency, with the hope that in the House enough Republican votes can be mustered to elect Davis rather than continue a deadlock.

A carefully checked-up appraisement of the situation throughout the country tonight, based on the reports of both partisan and nonpartisan observers of all kinds, indicates that the most Electoral College votes Davis can possibly obtain is 155.

NOTHING ELSE IN SIGHT

This gives him the solid South, that is, Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia and gives him also the border states of Kentucky and Missouri, both of which are claimed by Republicans. Actually he has nothing else in sight.

On the other hand, leaving Arizona, Maryland, Minnesota, Montana, Nevada, the two Dakotas and Oklahoma in the doubtful list, Coolidge adds up 311 electoral votes, with only the most ardent partisans to deny him any of them. For La Follette the only State that can be set down as certain for him is Wisconsin. A leading Democratic politician and former United States Senator has made up a table which denies La Follette even that and gives Davis less than this compilation does.

Inasmuch as only 266 electoral votes are needed to win, the margin in favor of Coolidge seems ample. There may yet be changes, but the professional political opinion at Washington is that there will be no changes disadvantageous to the President.

GLASS WANTS BORAH AND NORRIS DENOUNCED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WILMINGTON (Del.) Oct. 27.—Declaring he was seeking to "test the honesty" of Republican party leaders, Senator Carter Glass, Democrat of Virginia, challenged President Coolidge in a campaign speech here tonight to come out in opposition to the re-election of Senators Borah of Idaho, Norris of Nebraska, and other Republicans who favor changes in the status of the Supreme Court.

Unless the Republican managers do so, said the Virginia Senator, their "persistent efforts to project an issue of constitutional security" into the campaign must be regarded as "devoid of honest purpose."

The Senator declared he had no agreement with the policies advocated by Senator La Follette "except honest government," but added that "whatever his vagaries, some of the eminent Republican critics might with profit imitate his frankness."

TEXAS HAS ANOTHER OUTBREAK OF PLAGUE

FIX VALUE OF SENSE OF TASTE

Jurors Hand in Sealed Verdict in Case of Child Denied Joys of Lollypop

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Twelve men tonight placed in a sealed envelope their opinion as to what the sense of taste was worth to a child. They left the verdict to be opened by Justice Lewis, in Supreme Court, Brooklyn, when he comes down for business tomorrow.

Ella V. Read, 11 years of age, who could not tell the difference between lollypops and pickles, had sued Dr. Alexander A. Lavigne for $30,000 for having destroyed her sense of taste while performing an operation to remove her tonsils and adenoids.

Notwithstanding the old Romans had written that concerning the tastes there was no disputing, there was a long dispute today before the jury as to the question of taste.

At the end of the session, after the little girl had told her story, and Dr. Lavigne had denied that he was responsible for her loss of taste, the court ordered the jury to return a sealed verdict.

The chief interest in the lengthy fight came to the story of a child, who did not know the joys of the corner confectionery shop. The child testified lollypops, ice cream, salt and pickles all tasted alike to her, but she said she liked ice cream sodas because they are "cold and just like colored water and nice on a hot day."

Then the court heard several doctors who said another operation might restore the child's lost sense so that lollypops would be lollypops and not merely something attached to a stick.

REALTY MAN IS SUED BY SOCIETY WOMAN

ACCOUNTING AND RETURN OF INVESTMENT MONEY ARE SOUGHT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—John A. Williams, wealthy real estate broker, was sued in Superior Court today by Mrs. Dorothy Bush, society woman and proprietor of a woman's clothing shop, 127 Grant avenue, for an accounting and return of $11,453, which she sets forth, she gave him to invest for her.

Declaring that she trusted Williams because of his "great affection" for her and his announced intention to marry her, Mrs. Bush alleges that beginning with March 16, 1921, she gave Williams $33,453, with the understanding that he was to invest it in real estate in San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Upon her demand several months ago, Mrs. Bush contends, Williams returned $22,000 to her, "but no more, and has failed, refused and neglected to repay or to account for the balance of said sum, to-wit: $11,453."

Williams is married and has two children. He has an apartment at the Fairmont Hotel. Known to his intimates as Jack Williams, he is a member of the Bohemian, Family and Olympic clubs and of the Midwick and California clubs of Los Angeles.

With William Dunn he operates a large real estate and investment firm at 156 Montgomery street and has been identified in several important real estate transactions in San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Mrs. Bush is 35 years of age, the former wife of J. Bush, wholesale clothier, from whom she was divorced about five years ago.

Williams could not be reached tonight, but his business associate, William Dunn, declared Mrs. Bush's suit was "without foundation."

REPORT EXPENDITURE IN POWER ACT FIGHT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 27.—The Pacific Gas and Electric Company, has expended to date $13,855.58 in its campaign to defeat the water and power measure to be voted on at the general election in California on November 4.

The company's expenditure is shown in a statement filed today with Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan, in accordance with the law enacted by the last Legislature.

A statement was filed by the Southern California Edison Power Company of Los Angeles, showing an expenditure of $2442.72 against the measure. Practically the entire expenditures of both companies were for postage, stamped envelopes and printing.

The California State Water and Power League, chief proponent of the proposed measure, has expended $35,228.35 in behalf of the act and has collected from various contributors $35,452.21.

The Civic League of Improvement of San Francisco reported an expenditure of $2560 in behalf of all the measures to be voted on in November, while the highway transportation companies, which are for Proposition No. 1, have collected $32,504.05 and spent $27,560.33.

FASCISTI MASS TO CELEBRATE

Force of 300,000 Black Shirts to Mobilize

Today is Second Anniversary of March on City

Mussolini's Private Army to Take National Oath

BY LARRY RUE
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ROME, Oct. 27.—The mobilization of 300,000 black shirts is already under way for the celebration of the second anniversary of the Fascist march on Rome tomorrow, when the members of the unique body, known as Benito Mussolini's private army, will take the regular army oath, pledging obedience and allegiance to King and country.

Throughout the day units of black shirts, equipped with rifles and wearing daggers in their belts, have been crowding to the cities in all parts of the country. It is expected that 30,000 alone will take the oath in Rome, while there should be a similar number at Milan, where Premier Mussolini will personally participate in the ceremonies. Formidable numbers have been reported from Turin, Trieste, Genoa and other large centers.

Processions will be formed at 8 a.m., and at 10 a.m., the organizations will point their bayonets at the sky at attention as the oath is administered.

"GLORIOUS DAY"

Signor Mussolini does not intend to speak, but in an order of the day he will characterize the swearing of allegiance to the King, "as another glorious day." He will mention the fact that the regular army and navy and veteran organizations are participating in an "example of the united front of all the military and patriotic organizations of the country."

That the Premier anticipates that the demonstration will cow his political opponents is indicated in a talk he gave to railway members of the Fascisti wherein he said:

"All must be convinced that the government is solid and that I am even stronger and more secure in my power than the government."

He defied his opponents, saying: "If they refuse to work with me, I will work without them, fulfilling the task given me."

WORLD LEADER

The Premier asserted that "if they let us alone for five years, Italy will be in a position to lead the world's civilization."

Although the oath to the King brings members of the Fascisti within the orbit of the constitution, the opposition is still dissatisfied because the army will still be under the personal orders of the Premier, while it demands that the authority be given the Secretary of War. Semiofficial circles indicate that the Fascisti will be used as a training organization for the nation's youths before they are conscripted into the regular forces.

It is estimated that if the Fascisti are able to teach the youths the rudiments of army service, compulsory service can be reduced from eighteen to twelve months. This, it is calculated, will save the nation's war budget roughly $2,000,000 annually.

STONE RUINS OF DWELLINGS ON VIRGIN RIVER ARE BEING EXPLORED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

RENO (Nev.) Oct. 27.—After being forgotten for more than half a century, stone dwellings of early inhabitants of Nevada, extending along the banks above the Virgin River, a small stream in the southeastern part of the State, are being investigated by representatives of the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, and the New York Museum of Antiquities, at the suggestion of Gov. Scrugham of Nevada.

The remains extend for six miles along the banks of the stream and include markings on rocks similar to those found in many other parts of the United States, besides some carvings that the explorers say are superior in workmanship to anything heretofore found in the Southwest. Sand covers most of the ruins.

CONFEDERATE CHIEF IS DEAD

Gen. Haldeman Stricken at Louisville Races

Twice Elected Leader of Southern Veterans

Soldier-Editor's Funeral Set for Wednesday

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Oct. 27.—Gen. W. B. Haldeman, 78 years of age, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, wearing the honor of long, active years, tonight had answered the final roll call and gone to rejoin those comrades in gray whose cause he had served since it first called him from his school books, a boy of 16.

Gen. Haldeman, at one time part owner of the Courier-Journal, died late today from a heart attack in the emergency hospital at Churchill Downs. He had been stricken a half-hour before while watching the races, his favorite sport.

Seated in a box, surrounded by scenes and friends he loved, the white-haired old soldier complained of feeling ill and suggested he should go home. He was assisted from the box but before he could reach his automobile the attack had so overcome him it was necessary to call for a stretcher to carry him to the track hospital.

"I am nauseated," he murmured as he was borne into the hospital. Those were his last words.

STRICKEN AT MEETING

Gen. Haldeman, who had valiantly resisted the infirmities of age, suffered an attack about two weeks ago while addressing the United Daughters of the Confederacy at their State convention in Frankfort. He was similarly stricken last Thursday at Churchill Downs, but he had returned to the races apparently completely recovered.

He was at the Downs with Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Graham of Louisville; J. Frazier Bonnie, a son-in-law, and Mrs. Arthur Krock of New York, wife of a former editor of the Louisville Times.

Soon after Gen. Haldeman was stricken, his chauffeur brought the general's wife, Mrs. Lizzie Robards Haldeman, and his daughter, Mrs. Clara Bruce Haldeman Bonnie to the Downs, but he was dead before they arrived.

A telegram was sent from the track notifying Mrs. Anne Espenhain of Akron, O., another daughter.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the First Presbyterian Church, of which Gen. Haldeman was a trustee. Burial will be in Cave Hill Cemetery. Gen. Haldeman will be buried in his full uniform as commander of the Confederate Veterans.

William Birch Haldeman, soldier, editor and former Democratic National Committeeman, was born in Louisville, Ky., July 27, 1846, the son of Walter N. Haldeman, founder of the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Exiled with his father, during the Civil War, he fought for the South, but after the war returned to the city of his birth.

At the outbreak of the conflict the elder Haldeman was editor and publisher of the Journal. On account of his southern sympathies his paper was suppressed. The son succeeded in reaching the southern lines and was commissioned an ensign in the Confederate navy. He soon decided life in the field offered more excitement than on board a gunboat, so resigned to join the famous Orphan's Brigade, with which he fought throughout the war.

With the coming of peace the Haldemans, father and son, returned to Louisville and revived the Journal. Young Haldeman left a year later to attend college and on his return began his career as editor of the weekly edition of the Courier-Journal, which had been formed by the consolidation of the Journal and Courier and the absorption of the Democrat. Later it became a daily, and in May, 1884, the Times, an afternoon edition, was added to the property. Mr. Haldeman became editor, after the retirement of his father and with his brother, Bruce Haldeman, was principal owner of the property, from which he amassed a fortune.

DECLINED OFFICE

Although politics was Gen. Haldeman's chief interest, he repeatedly declined public office, it is said, with three exceptions. Through his interest in racing he accepted appointment to the State Racing Commission, and because of his military service was made Adjutant-General of Kentucky. The third office was that of Democratic National Committeeman.

His long service in the interest of the veterans of the South culminated when he was elected Commander-in-Chief of the United Confederate Veterans at the reunion in New Orleans in April, 1925.

He was re-elected at the reunion in Memphis in June of this year and immediately thereafter participated in the dedication of a memorial shaft at Fairview, Ky., to Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy. On that occasion Gen. Haldeman was master of ceremonies and he there visualized a dream that for several years had been sacred to his heart and to which he had devoted much of his time.

WORKED FOR SHAFT

When the idea of erecting a memorial at the birthplace of the Confederacy's leader was born at a reunion of the Orphan's Brigade, Gen. Haldeman immediately set about to bring the undertaking to a successful conclusion. He campaigned for funds for the shaft and conferred with those in charge of the work at frequent intervals.

It was said that he never missed a reunion of Confederate veterans. As commander of the veterans' association of the Orphan's Brigade and major-general in command of the Kentucky Division, United Confederate Veterans, he was widely known throughout the South. In recent years he chartered a special car to attend each veteran's reunion, taking from fifteen to thirty less-fortunate old soldiers along as his guests.

While owner of the Times and Courier-Journal he established a pension fund for old and disabled employees, and, when the property was sold to Robert Worth Bingham a few years ago, the latter continued the policy.

Gen. Haldeman married Miss Lizzie R. Offutt of Shelbyville, Ky., and to them were born four children, of whom Mrs. Clara Bruce Bonnie of Louisville and Mrs. Anne Espenhain of Milwaukee survive.

Los Japoneses le Proporcionan Fuerte Empréstito a Chang

MANILA (Islas Filipinas) Octubre 27.—El gobierno japonés le ha ministrado al general Chang Tso Lin más de 100,000,000 de yens ($50,000,000) en efectivo y en municiones. Además de esto, dícese que el ministro pajonés hizo hace seis meses a la casa Vickers, de Inglaterra, un pedido de 10,000 ametralladoras para el general Chang. Estas armas están llegando ahora a su destino, por la vía del Japón.

Se Complica aun más la Compleja Situación China

SHANGHAI, Octubre 27. — Ha venido a traer mayores complicaciones aún en la ya de suyo compleja situación política china, la toma de la capital gubernativa por el general cristiano Feng Yu Hsiang. Por indicaciones observadas hoy, se prevé que la guerra va a localizarse de nuevo en el valle del Yangtse.

Según noticias llegadas aquí, el general Wu Pei Fu está haciendo marchar sus tropas en dirección del sur, hacia Tientsin, y créese no tardará en efectuarse un combate entre sus tropas y las del general cristiano sobre la línea del ferrocarril, entre Pequín y Tientsin. Si no pudiere sostenerse allí, el general Wu se replegará probablemente hacia el sur para unirse con las fuerzas del general Chi Hsieh Yuan, de la provincia de Kiangsu, y con las de otras provincias del Yangtse que se han mantenido fieles al general Wu.

El general Lu Yung Hsiang, líder derrocado de Chekiang, que huyó hace pocos días de Shanghai al Japón, se dirige a Mukden para tener una conferencia con el general Chang Tso Lin, y va a reanudar la lucha, sea aquí o en Shanghai. El General Chi Hsieh Yuan, de Nanking, se halla aún en el pueblo de Chanju, cerca de las orillas de las colonias de aquí, y no puede regresar a su base de operaciones, porque teme estalle nueva revuelta en ésta. Unos 5000 soldados de Hupei, que militaban antes bajo las órdenes del general de Nanking, dominan ahora en el arsenal de ésta, y no quieren evacuarlo, a menos que se les paguen $100,000.

La Nota Rusa Produce Gran Impresión entre los Votantes

LONDRES, Octubre 27.—Todos lo votantes británicos esperaban hoy, en medio de la mayor expectación, que el Primer Ministro MacDonald diese su opinión personal sobre la carta de Zinoviev, que ha venido a destruir toda certidumbre respecto al resultado de las elecciones del miércoles. Hablando hoy en Cardiff, Wales, como treinta y seis horas antes de abrirse los comicios, el señor MacDonald negó terminantemente que el gobierno hubiera demorado la publicación de las revelaciones sobre el complot de los rojos, y retó a sus enemigos a que mostraran pruebas de lo contrario.

Tenía la sospecha, agregó, de que no fuera todo este escándalo sino un complot político, y declaró que tenía la intención de hacer la más completa averiguación de él, y de establecer cómo pudieron uno o dos periódicos de Londres tener la carta el mismo día que el Ministerio de Relaciones Extranjeras. Tanta el Primer Ministro, como dicho ministerio, reputan auténtica la carta.

A pesar de ello, la Rusia soviética, por conducto de su Engargado de Negocios Rakovsky, envió hoy al gobierno británico una nota mucho más dura que la entregada el sábado, la cual fue trasmitida directamente por el señor Litvinoff, desde Moscú. La nota exige inmediata satisfacción por lo que Rusia enfáticamente califica de "descarada" falsificación de un documento oficial, y exige igualmente la aprehensión y castigo de quienes la perpetraron, ya sean funcionarios de gobierno o simples particulares.

"Esta elección comenzó con un avispero—el asunto de Campbell—y va a terminar probablemente con otro." Tales fueron las palabras con que inició el señor MacDonald el mitin de hoy en el salón galés, que estaba atestado hasta sus puertas, y la gente rebosaba e invadía la calle. Una hora después de expedidos, fueron arrebatados todos los billetes.

Muchas Personas Salen a Perseguir al que Atacó a una Muchachita

Ayer a última hora andaban recorriendo los montes de Verdugo muchos tenientes sheriffs y buen número de particulares de esta región, en busca del presunto violador de una muchachita de seis años. El criminal se escapó en un tris de ser despedazado, por la indignada turba de ciudadanos, saliéndose por entre las filas de éstos.

Por informes recibidos en la oficina del sheriff se sabe que están custodiadas por particulares todas las vías de escape del sátiro, y que de un momento a otro se espera la captura de éste.

Caluroso Tributo a la Armada el Día de Ayer

Ayer fue el Día de la Armada, y los Estados Unidos, por medio de sus cien millones de almas, rindió tributo a sus fieles servidores, que han hecho de la bandera estrellada el sinónimo de la libertad de los mares, desde los días de Paul Jones. El homenaje tributado por la nación a su marina ha sido imponente y ha abarcado todos los mares del mundo; pero, si bien se considera, ningunas ceremonias debe de haber habido tan imponentes como las que se desarrollaron en el puerto de Los Angeles.

Baseball

George Herman Ruth, alias "Babe," alias "el bambino ariete", alias "Sultan del Estacazo", y que ostenta algunos apodos más, simbólicos todos del poder de su brazo para blandir la pala del pelotari, fue el clou del juego de beneficio que organizaron para ayer los Caballeros de Colón, y que tuvo lugar en el parque Washington. Aunque no realizó ningún "home-run" el robusto pelotario de los Yanquis de Nueva York, logró hacer cuatro tantos en cinco tiempos, y demostró de manera concluyente ante los 8000 aficionados que se hallaban presentes, que no podía ser otro que él quien estuvo a la cabeza de la Liga Americana en la temporada pasada, por lo que atañe a golpes de porra.

La tercera vez que "Babe" tuvo la pala en sus manos, lanzó la pelota a la mayor distancia que ha sido lanzada en el parque Washington, pues la esfera subió como a "diecinueve millas", y a punto estuvo de salvar la valla del campo central posterior. Este tiro le sirvió a Bob Meusel para apuntarse tanto doble.

El equipo en que jugó Ruth, al que se designó con el nombre de club de Essick, le ganó el partido a la brigada de Marty Krug por 4 a 3, mediante tres carreras efectuadas en el noveno turno. El mismo "Babe" efectuó dos de estas tres carreras, y "Chicken" Hawks realizó la tercera.

NAVY FLYER CRASHES IN FARM FIELD

Plane Turns Turtle When Wheels Strike Ground in Forced Landing

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OXNARD, Oct. 27.—Lieut. A. L. Adams, United States Naval aviator, had a close call this afternoon when, during a forced landing, his plane turned a complete somersault in a field here. Three aviators in navy planes roared over Oxnard shortly after noon today dropping circulars advertising Navy Day. They circled over the city traveling at a low altitude and at a fast rate of speed. The noise of the three motors had all Oxnard looking skyward. Just as one of the aviators started for Ventura his motor went dead on him and he was forced to land in a ploughed field. He soared to earth gracefully; but when the wheels of the ship struck the ploughed ground they stuck and the machine took a nose dive into the earth. The tail went up in the air and the plane fell to the ground upside down.

Lieut. Adams miraculously escaped injury. He crawled from under the plane with a fire extinguished ready to put out a blaze. But there was no fire. The propeller was broken and the motor slightly damaged. No other part of the machine was injured. The other two aviators, Lieuts. T. H. Fisher and W. G. Tomlinson landed in a field near by and assisted Lieut. Adams in repairing his plane. The three aviators who had started for Santa Barbara, returned south late this afternoon.

The fact that they carry an extra propeller and a wheel with them on extended flights, made it possible to repair the damaged ship here.

Last Saturday was the first day opening the ballots to those who could qualify under this law. Such voting will be closed the 30th inst. A five-day period being allotted for the voting.

WOMEN CONVICT

Calipatria Bootlegger Demands Trial by Jury

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CALIPATRIA, Oct. 27.—When J. W. Sullivan, restaurant proprietor, was caught with a supply of contrabrand liquor, he refused to plead guilty to a charge of Wright Act violation, and demanded a jury trial. A jury of women was provided and the accused man pleaded his own case, declaring that he required no attorney. The women found him guilty, as a test showed nearly 50 per cent of alcohol in the stuff Sullivan had on hand. Justice of the Peace Myers levied a fine of $500 against Sullivan, who immediately announced he would appeal the judgment.

It had been asserted that officers here were not trying to enforce the law. Several raids of liquor selling places followed. Then when it was known that a jury was desired, more than twenty well-known Calipatria women appeared at the courtroom and offered their services as jurors.

OLD MISSION DESECRATED

Vandals at San Fernando Dig Holes in Walls and Under Altar Seeking Legendary Treasure

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SAN FERNANDO, Oct. 27.—Unless corrective measures are soon resorted to, vandals may succeed in pulling down all that is left of the ancient San Fernando Mission here.

It has been disclosed that treasure seekers, incited by a legend which is absolutely without foundation, have done hundreds of dollars' worth of damage to the interior of the mission church, one of the finest of the chain of missions built by the old Franciscan padres a century and a half ago in California.

Three times in as many weeks vandals have entered the church, and with picks, trowels and shovels have hollowed out great holes in the brittle adobe walls, in a search for treasure and sacred relics which tradition says were hidden by the earliest of the mission's padres.

According to Father Siemus, the legend is most firm in the minds of the large Mexican population here.

VERSIONS OF LEGEND

There are two versions, the one maintaining that when the mission first was constructed, Father Fermin Lausen placed a box in the walls containing a golden crucifix, some golden candlesticks which were wrought by Aztec Indians, and a number of images of the Christ.

The other version holds that all the precious relics which the early priests brought from new Spain were secreted in the mission to save them from theft by hostile Indians.

There is another story of a missing rich "pious fund" which disappeared during the Mexican war. The Mexican Viceroy, sore pressed for funds, called on the mission's priests for a tribute to carry on the war. He got nothing for his pains, for the "pious fund" immediately vanished.

This great amount of wealth, however, was not hidden in the walls of the mission, for it is known it was buried near-by in the Simi Hills, where it still reposes, waiting for some treasure seeker of the future to stumble on it.

Father Siemus scoffs at either version of the legend. He points out that in the very earliest days of the mission the padres were so poor there was hardly sufficient to eat. There were golden crucifixes, but they were in New Spain. Later all were sent to Old Spain to grace the great cathedrals there, he states.

HOLE BENEATH ALTAR

Four holes have been drilled into the adobe of the mission. Two of these are six feet deep. Another is in the wall to the right of the entrance, and a fourth has been tunneled beneath what once was the altar.

Apparently nothing has been found by the vandals. Father Siemus has examined the excavations and states there are no signs that any sort of iron box or receptacle has been removed.

Father Siemus, for some time, has been engaged in the work of restoring the old mission, which dates back to the last quarter of the eighteenth century. In recent months he has expended about $1500 in repairing one room of the old edifice.

Will Close U.S. Radio Station at Inglewood

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

INGLEWOOD, Oct. 27. — The United States naval radio station here is to be sold to the highest bidder, it is announced, the bids to be in the hands of the authorities at Mare Island Navy Yard, San Francisco, by November 5 at 10 a.m. The Inglewood equipment will be in three lots: Building and masts; radio and electric equipment, and household and office equipment. There is an unusually extensive array of radio equipment, some of which has never been used.

The reason given for the discontinuance of the Inglewood station is that the San Diego radio station, with increased facilities, is now able to handle all the messages that formerly passed through here, as well as its own.

The news that the station is to be sold is hailed with joy by the radio fans of this section who have only crystal sets or other equipment of limited selectivity, as the high-powered sending from the naval station often interfered with their receiving.

COTTONSEED UP

Valley Crop Jumps $5 a Ton Almost Over Night

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CALEXICO, Oct. 27.—Cotton planters were smiling today with the announcement that mill buyers are paying $25 a ton for seed. This is a jump of $5 a ton almost overnight. Considerable seed has been bought by the mills and a tendency on the part of dairymen to feed a great amount of seed is asserted to have had something to do with the increase price offered. The price of seed is now about the same on the Lower California side of the border, the farmer, however, being forced to take less because a heavy export duty is required to be paid on seed shipped into the United States.

PORTERVILLE HAS PURCHASING AGENT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 27.—Perry Brown of Fresno, today assumes recently passed by the City Board duties of special purchasing agent for the city of Porterville. On December 1, when the ordinance, creating office of City Manager becomes effective, Brown will assume that office. Creation of this position formed basis of considerable local controversy, based chiefly on Brown's salary of $250 a month, which city officials declare will be saved through functioning of his office.

Brown has served as special engineer in Fresno for three years and was city engineer and superintendent of streets in Oakland prior to that.

The City Manager will have jurisdiction over all city employees but City Clerk, City Treasurer and City Attorney.

CHARGE OF POISONING IS DENIED

Pasadena Woman Asserts She is Innocent of Death of Cats and Dogs

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Oct. 27.—Charges that fourteen cats and dogs had been poisoned and that she was intent on exterminating all the small animals in her neighborhood were stoutly denied by Mrs. Elizabeth Altringer, 1124 Kesley avenue, today when she was arraigned before Justice J. Russell Morton on a complaint issued at the request of neighbors.

Mrs. Altringer, who is well known in Pasadena, not only pleaded not guilty to the charges, but branded them as false and intimated that some underlying cause for her arrest other than the asserted poisoning would be illuminated in court when the case is called the 30th inst.

Mrs. Lillian Mickey, 1115 [illegible] avenue, was the complaining witness. She charged that fourteen dogs and cats, many of them valuable animals, had met their death after eating strychnine placed on meat and dead chickens. Mrs. Altringer, on the other hand, declared that she had obtained poison only to exterminate rats that existed under her house.

The arrest of the Pasadena woman came as a result of an investigation carried on by Mrs. Rosamonde Wright of the Sheriff's office. Mrs. Altringer was released on her own recognizance.

DOBLE MUST APPEAR

Orange County Wants Him to Tell His Side In Speed Case

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SANTA ANA, Oct. 27.—Even if Abner Doble, son of a wealthy San Francisco steam automobile manufacturer, is detained in Superior Court at the Bay City, he must appear in person in Justice Jack Landell's court here to answer to a complaint based on his nonappearance on a speeding charge.

Justice Landell and Traffic Officer Henry Meyers, who made the arrest, made this decision today after they received a telegram from Doble at Berkeley, explaining his absence and adding he "hoped he would hear from the court."

Service of summons in the case had been delayed three days after officials of an Auto Club here received word from Doble that he would return to Santa Ana unsolicited.

Doble's case caused comment when Officers Meyers, who booked him at fifty-one miles an hour, said Doble protested he was not being given full credit—that his speed on the San Diego highway in reality was seventy-eight miles.

MILLION-DOLLAR BOND ISSUE IS PROPOSED

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Oct. 27.—Recommendation that the voters authorize a $1,000,000 bond issue with which to provide the city a high-pressure salt-water system for fire protection is contained in the annual report of Fire Chief G. C. Craw, submitted to City Manager Windham today. Plans and specifications for such a system have been completed and are ready for the consideration of the City Council. The Long Beach fire department cannot attain the highest degree of efficiency so long as it is dependent upon the domestic water system, the report declares. Investigations made by Chief Craw of the $10,000,000 fire at Berkeley revealed, he said, that the Berkeley department was badly handicapped by an insufficient supply of water.

MIKE AND NICK CAUGHT IN NET

Pasadena Druggists Accused of Fountain Bootlegging

One Begins Serving Sentence of 1200 Days in Jail

Downfall Comes After Four Months' Investigation

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Oct. 27.—Mike and Nick Economy, brothers, proprietors of a downtown drug store, were arrested here as asserted "soda fountain" bootleggers. Their arrest came as a result of a four-months' investigation on the part of Detective Sergeant Beal and his dry squad.

"Genuine" Scotch whisky was being dispensed at $5 a bottle, the detectives charged. Soon after his arrest Nick Economy pleaded guilty to three counts with which he was charged—illegal possession of liquor, selling and transportation of same. He drew a $1200 fine from Judge Frank Dunham. Unable to pay this amount Nick began serving a 1200-day sentence in jail as an alternate.

Charges of illegal possession and selling of liquor were also placed against Mike Economy, who promptly pleaded not guilty to both. He also demanded a jury trial, which was granted for November 26. He was then released on $700 bail.

The Economy brothers' downfall came when Detective Beal and assistants managed to be interested spectators at an attempted sale of a dozen bottles of Scotch. Charges of conspiracy to violate the Volstead Act may be lodged against the pair, it was further declared.

Windpipe Torn Loose in Crash of Automobile

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Oct. 27.—Edward Tate, 24-year-old Azusa youth, was probably fatally injured when his closed car struck a tree on East Washington street at a late hour last night. Tate's windpipe was torn loose in such a manner that he was unable to breathe. He was rushed to the operating table of Dr. E. M. Johnstone, where the yong man's throat was slashed to allow air into his lungs. It was one of the most unusual operations ever performed here, it is said, and rivals the famous Chicago penknife case.

Littlefield, charged with visiting a place where gambling was being conducted, each, paid fines of $10. A. H. French and B. L. Lowry forfeited their bail.

PAIR OF SIXES BEAT FULL HOUSE HAND

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Oct. 27.—A pair of sixes really do beat a full house, poker experts to the contrary notwithstanding, and the strange fact was most emphatically demonstrated within a stone's throw of police headquarters here last night to a dozen or so devotees of the national indoor sport who sat around a table. Just as one of the players was laying down a queen full hand, two bandits entered the room and commanded "Hands up." Each was armed with a six shooter, the pair of sixes taking precedence over every hand on the table. The unwelcome visitors departed with some $200 of the players' money, but up to a late hour this afternoon no complaint had been lodged at police headquarters.

SANTA MONICA NOW HAS PLENTY OF WATER

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Oct. 27.—This city's new water supply furnished from wells in the Charnock Road district brought forth such an abundant supply of water that surrounding lands were flooded and it was found necessary this morning to shut down the wells for a period. City Commissioners are confident the new wells will equal production of the first wells to be brought in on the property which are now supplying 172 inches of water. The new Mount Olivet reservoir and Arcadia reservoir, which will add 7,500,000 gallons additional storage capacity to the city's reserve supply, will be completed by November 20, it was announced this morning.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 27.—Two Los Angeles boys, John Kearney, 826 South Kenwood street, and E. V. Hall, 647 East Fifty-third street, narrowly escaped death about 4 p.m., Sunday near Lebec, when the car in which they were driving to Bakersfield skidded on a box of grapes that had dropped off a truck ahead, causing their car to overturn three times.

Both boys were badly bruised and Kearney is suffering from a broken left leg, while Hall's right foot was severely crushed. Hall also is suffering from injuries to his back that may develop to be more serious than is now apparent, according to Dr. Long, attending physician.

LOVE FINDS WAY

Damage Suit of Woman Against Prospective Son-in-Law Settled

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SANTA ANA, Oct. 27.—A romance that had developed between the daughter of a woman suing the parents of a youthful suitor stayed the machinery of legal process and all is peaceful between the two families, it was reported in court circles at Santa Ana today.

At this time Mrs. Ada Moore of Anaheim moved to dismiss a suit seeking $5000 damages from Mr. and Mrs. Archibald McFarland of Fullerton and their son, D. C. McFarland, she alleging she suffered permanent injuries to her face when she was bitten by a bulldog in the custody of young McFarland, who is said to be courting Mrs. Moore's daughter.

All the court records showed was the formal notice that the suit had been dismissed, on motion of the plaintiff, but friends of both families interested in the case declared among themselves that Miss Moore had successfully prevailed upon her mother to have the matter settled without the aid of Superior Judge Williams, who ordered the incident closed, so far as his court was concerned.

POLICE CHANGES AT LONG BEACH

Sergt. Dovey Advanced to Lieutenancy

Two New Traffic Posts in Banking Center

Additional Shotgun Squads to be Assigned

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Oct. 27.—William H. Dovey, police sergeant in charge of the traffic division here for more than a year, will become lieutenant of police November 1 and will be in command of the police department activities between the hours of 7 and 3 after that date. Announcement of his appointment was made today, the position having been created by the new salary ordinance through the efforts of City Manager Charles H. Windham.

Assignment schedules in the police department for November also show several other important changes in the department, including creation of two new traffic posts, one at Seventh and Pine and the other at First and Pine, both in the center of banking districts.

Additional shotgun squads are to be assigned to duty on the first of the coming month and bank patrols will be made during banking hours. A shotgun squad of two men will cover every part of the city every thirty minutes at night under the new schedule.

Promotion of Sergt. Dovey to a lieutenancy will place the traffic work directly under command of Capt. Robberson for the present, it was said today. It is not planned to appoint another sergeant to head the traffic division until after the first of next year.

Lieut. Dovey is one of the most popular officers in the Long Beach department and has made a record for administrative ability. He has been acting Chief of Police at various times and has filled other responsible positions on the force. He was appointed special officer January 13, 1917 and was made a regular patrolman in July of the same year. On October 1, 1917 he entered the Army and after serving overseas with the Ninety-first Division returned to the department in May, 1919. He was appointed sergeant of police in May, 1921.

SOUTHLAND BUYS RAIN INSURANCE

Policies Protect Outdoor Contest Receipts

Santa Fe Operating Revenue for September Gains

California Bank Establishes Lankershim Branch

Contrary to the majority of Southern Californians there are a few persons in Los Angeles who do not want rain, and insure against it. Most of them are interested in outdoor athletic contests, such as football and baseball, however, and not irrigation water and electrical energy, according to P. W. Gedney, special agent of the North British and Mercantile Insurance Company, Ltd.

Although the rules of Mr. Gedney's company permit various courses of taking out rain insurance, only a few are utilized in this section of the country because rain constitutes a menacing factor to business at but short intervals during the year.

In San Francisco many department stores make a practice of purchasing policies to be effective during a sale. This premium covers the advertising cost.

Several years ago a local insurance company paid $22,000 when a torrential downpour completely wrecked attendance hopes for a football game at San Diego. Bridges were washed out and hundreds of Angeleños were prevented from attending the event.

PROGRESS GREAT

The history of insurance is marked by many milestones of progress, particularly during the last century, during when innumerable forms of indemnity were devised and developed, so that now there is hardly any contingency involving financial loss against which insurance cannot be secured.

Of these many forms, rain insurance is comparatively new, the year 1919 witnessing the establishment in America of the first department of this kind by one of the British stock companies, although for a number of years before then coverage against loss caused by inclement weather had been granted by Lloyds of London, but only in comparatively few instances and under forms and rates that might be considered more of a gamble than in keeping with the principles of sound underwriting.

In 1921 two of the largest American companies began writing rain insurance, joining later with their British cousin in the formation of what is known as the Rain Association which, by a large amount of work in compiling rainfall data, has placed the rain insurance business on a sound, if not as yet profitable, underwriting basis.

Under its present form the rain policy indemnifies for loss of anticipated income or incurred or guaranteed expenses and does not cover property damage, as in the case of hail and frost insurance.

GAMBLE ELIMINATED

Paul A. Normand in commenting on rain insurance writes that: "Contrary to the belief held by many that rain insurance is no more or less than a gamble and that the company pays the face of the policy in case it rains over a certain amount during the hours which are specified in the policy, even though the insured has no insurable interest, the contract is one of indemnity and no payment is made without proof of actual loss."

The rates applying to rain insurance are based upon the records compiled by more than 6000 weather stations. Various percentages of deduction from the basis rate are granted for the use of certain forms where the insuring company receives the benefit of salvage.

A few of the enterprises that are subjects for rain insurance follow:

Baseball and football games, State and county fairs, civic celebrations, street fairs, pageants, picnics, home-coming events, park concessions, theater or opera attendance, transportation companies, penalties incurred by contractors for delays caused by rain and gasoline stations.

EXPENSES REDUCED

The railway operating revenue of the Santa Fe for September amounted to $23,539,701, as compared to $20,302,668 for the corresponding month last year, an increase of $3,237,033. The operating expenses were reduced $444,284. Gross operating expenses for September, 1924, were $14,347,322. The net operating income was $7,083,094, an increase of $3,187,932 over September, 1923.

The railway tax accruals for the month amounted to $2,081,029, an increase of $439,603 over September, 1923. The miles operated were 11,281, an increase of 74.35 miles over the same period last year.

For the nine months of the fiscal year including September, the railway operating revenues amounted to $167,450,422 as compared to $172,570,132 for the corresponding period 1923, a decrease of $5,119,709. For the same period the operating expenses were decreased $999,870. The net railway operating income for the nine months was $27,431,692, which is a decrease of $4,224,084 for the nine months period last year.

ECONOMIC BREACH CLOSING

Advance in Bread Prices an Indication; Baking Plants Comprise Important Industry Here

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Probably the housewives will dissent, but the economists and business analysts note with approval the gradual diffusion of higher agricultural prices among the retail consumers. The farmer's turn has come. He has been supplying his products to the city dweller at prewar prices since 1920, and has been paying for his clothes, his shoes, his implements and nearly everything entering into his life at prices which include wage rates from 100 to 200 per cent higher than 1913.

This disparity between the prices of manufactured and agricultural goods has been the deep-rooted evil in the business situation since the war, and was the genesis of the popular malady diagnosed as "unbalanced prosperity." The doctors of business health quietly prescribed one remedy, a return to price equilibrium, while the quack practicioners loudly advanced sundry legislative nostrums guaranteed to heal the farmers' ills, but generally at the cost of the government.

GAP CLOSES SLOWLY

The realignment of economic forces is proceeding slowly despite the spectacular advances in the commodity markets in the last few months. The retail food index of the Department of Agriculture has advanced from 3.11 in the early part of July to 3.28 at the end of September, but the increase has not been especially noticed by consumers. The worm is turning quietly, but unmistakably. The office workers and the wage earner are correspondingly paying to the farmer some of the money industry has extracted from him in the last few years.

An indication of the trend in the correction of economic maladjustment was announced in Los Angeles last week. The wholesale and retail bakers stated to the public that the wholesale price of bread has advanced 1 cent on one and one-half-pound loaves because of an increase of about 30 per cent in the cost of flour over a year ago. This advance is the final stage o fthe rise in wheat which, for example, jumped from a weekly average of $1.11 a bushel in the first quarter of 1924 on No. 2 red winter, to around $1.40 at the present time.

How far the readjustment in prices will go is debatable because of the determination of the Federal Reserve Board to rigorously restrain speculation in commodities. As prices advance, the consumption of some articles of food may be curtailed, but the bakers, for instance, have little fear on this score. Their product is one of the necessities. In the worst kind of times, the bakers know that bread will be eaten in some form. The "bread lines" of hard times, and the frequency of "coffee and" orders in the restaurants keep the bakery doors open, while other merchants suffer.

UNIQUE INDEX USED

While the bakers are falling back on the known volume of bread consumption as a point below which their income seldom declines, they have a direct reflection of the public's pocketbook in the sales of pastry. This department of their enterprise shows immediately the tendency to reduce expenditures for luxuries. Pies, cakes and cookies quickly lose favor, while the usual amount of bread continues to appear on the family table.

Bakers in Los Angeles do not place as much reliance on pastry sales as an index of general prosperity as other cities. They find that the art of the pastry cook is not appreciated here even though the per capita wealth is one of the highest in the country. In looking around for the reason, they have seized on the year-around competition of fresh fruits as the cause and, accordingly, have subordinated this end of the business to bread making.

Los Angeles, according to the Southern California Wholesale Bakers' Association, has one of the highest per capita records of bread consumption in the country. This fact is explained by the large proportion of population which is composed of Easterners and Middle Westerners who have given up home-made bread upon coming to Southern California. The baking plants make and sell about 500,000 loaves daily in this city.

The influx of population to Los Angeles has prompted a remarkable growth in the baking industry. Plants turning out bread and allied products now total 581, which represents a total investment of between $9,000,000 and $10,000,000. The majority of the companies are independents, with the exception of the Ward Baking Company of New York, which recently entered the local field. One of the large independents employs 180 wagons to distribute bread to its retail customers and thirty wagons to handle the wholesale trade.

As a stable industry, the baking companies are of considerable value to industrial Los Angeles. They employ about 10,000 people and have an annual pay roll of $25,000,000.

CHINESE WAR UPSETS JAPAN

Conditions in Japan during September revealed a marked decline in shipments to China and a further drop in the exchange value of the yen, resulting from the Chinese civil war, according to a cable to the Department of Commerce at Washington from Acting Commercial Attache Butts at Tokio. The cotton yarn and cotton textile industries were particularly affected, smaller shipments of these two items being largely responsible for the decline in exports noted during the month.

Another discouraging feature was the prevailing unfavorable conditions, which are expected by the trade to considerably reduce the rice harvest. The first official estimate of this year's crop place the total yield at 297,472,000 bushels, a gain of 4.90 per cent in comparison with the actual harvest last year, but 1.60 per cent below the average for the last five years. Local dealers are of the opinion that the short crop in Korea and a smaller carry-over this year plus the natural increase in consumption make it probable that imports of foreign rice during the coming twelve months will not be less than 3,000,000 koku, without allowing for next year's carry-over.

The probability of a general upward revision of the tariff makes the future of the import trade still more gloomy. In anticipation of this contemplated increase, German dyes are being heavily stocked. A further unfavorable factor affecting imports of American machinery and electrical lines is the European competition, which is becoming increasingly severe.

Preliminary returns of Japan's foreign trade for September show exports amounting to 158,300,000 yen, and imports of 141,000,000 yen, a decline of 18,100,000 yen and 1,300,000 yen, respectively, in comparison with August. The decline in exports is attributed to the civil war in China, which has caused a marked falling off in shipments to that country. Imports were normal for this period of the year.

Declared exports to the United States during September totaled $32,000,000, a decline of $3,600,000, compared with August.

Preliminary returns of foreign trade for the first ten days of October showed an excess of exports totaling 9,000,000 yen. Although this is a decline of 6,000,000 yen, in comparison with the same period of September, it is a considerable improvement over the preceding ten days, which showed a slight excess of imports.

Declared exports of raw silk to the United States declined $3,100,000 from August. However, the total value of shipments to all other countries during September more than balanced this decline.

The Yokohama market was characterized by alternating periods of activity and stagnation during September with the general trend upward. The continued decline in yen exchange has tended to check orders from America since buyers were anticipating further declines.

Smaller arrivals of rice, wheat, raw cotton, woolen yarns, wool, raw sugar and chemicals caused a decline in the total value of warehoused stocks in Japan at the end of September.

COPPER PRICES CONTINUE GAIN

Premium Reported Paid for 1925 Early Delivery

Record Year in Production is Expected

Arizona Consolidation Plan Vigorously Denied

BY CHARLES F. WILLIS

As had been anticipated and predicted, the price of copper has been strong and advancing steadily since the announcement of the ready acceptance of the German loan. Copper is now quoted at 13 1-4 to 13 3-8 cents, with an advance price on future deliveries. It is reported that a premium is being paid for copper to be delivered during the first quarter of 1925 and this indicated what may be expected of the market at that time.

Few people really appreciate what the copper business of 1924 has been, measuring their estimate of the copper situation only on the price, which has been too low, and which did not permit of a reasonable profit being made. But the consumption of copper has been most remarkable.

For the first nine months of 1924, copper shipments, both domestic and foreign, have averaged 219,000,000 pounds monthly. This is at the rate of 2,628,000,000 pounds a year. Except for some of the war years, these figures represent a record.

The record for domestic consumption of copper was in 1918 when 1,661,669,576 pounds of copper was consumed in the United States. The record for foreign shipment was in 1917 when 1,104,893,440 pounds of the red metal was shipped abroad, largely for war purposes. Yet by adding these two records together, records of different years and each one its utmost, it is but 138,000,000 pounds more than the present rate as figured from the first nine months.

EUROPE GOOD CUSTOMER

This unusual condition of copper consumption is largely due to the wonderful increase in domestic consumption, although, contrary to general belief, Europe has been using a great deal of copper. Yet if European consumption should gradually build itself to anything like the same relative position as has been experienced in the United States, it is doubtful if the copper mines could expand to take care of the demand.

Europe has needed the copper just as badly as has the United States, but it has bought only such copper as was absolutely necessary to carry on and we may expect, with the recovery of Europe industrially, to see a rate of increase comparable to that in the United States. However, we cannot expect it as soon as in our country because industry, in rebuilding, must feel its way, and reestablish its markets.

As foretold by the rate of consumption during the past nine months, 1924 is going to surpass 1923 by over half a billion pounds of copper or better than a 20 per cent increase. When it is considered that the increase in domestic during this period was but 5 per cent and the bulk of the increase was due to foreign demands, it can readily be seen that the foreign market has been playing a more important part than generally considered.

MONOPOLY RUMOR

Production, which averaged 214,000,000 pounds during the first quarter of 1923, has declined to 205,216,000 pounds during the third quarter, due to the cut at Cerro De Pasco and other places.

It is still intimated with no uncertainty by a brokerage firm in New York that the Phelps-Dodge Corporation is planning on disposing of its Arizona mining interests in a consolidation which embraces Ray, Chino, Inspiration, Phelps-Dodge, Calumet & Arizona and possibly Magma, yet the chief counsel for the Phelps-Dodge interests, E. E. Ellingwood, has issued a very vigorous denial which sounds more plausible than the single control of such divergent conditions as mentioned above.

It is entirely possible that the motive back of the dissemination of these rumors may come from the fact that the chief distributors of these rumors own property close by one of the properties of Phelps-Dodge which they, the brokers, claim that Phelps-Dodge considers its most valuable holding and does not want to sell, but will consolidate everything else. It is not unreasonable to expect some consolidations, but a combination like the one mentioned, with the connections of those companies in other States and foreign countries, would practically mean the entire copper industry in one company.

Standing Timber is a Dependable Security

Because:

1. It can be accurately measured and appraised.
2. Its value is constantly increasing with the depletion of American timber reserves. The world's supply of timber is definitely known and valued. It is estimated that it is now being cut four times as rapidly as it can be grown.
3. The demand for timber is stable and non-speculative, about 50,000,000,000 feet being cut per annum—over 27,000 acres every working day of the year.
4. It is a live and growing security, and there is no depreciation.
5. Through the operation of a sinking fund, timber bonds may be retired annually as the timber is cut, increasing the ratio of security and assuring a steady market for the bonds.

We offer the PACIFIC SPRUCE CORPORATION & ASSOCIATED COMPANIES First Mortgage and Refunding 6½% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds, due 1939, and priced at par, to yield 6½%. These bonds are secured by one of the finest forests of spruce and fir timber in the United States, totaling 1,766,699,000 feet of standing timber.

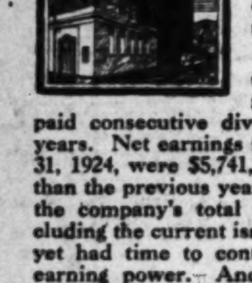
407,000 Consumers



THE Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation now serves an estimated population of 1,200,000 persons, comprising 407,000 patrons—mostly small consumers of the type most profitable to public utilities.

The business has been under the same management for 34 years and has paid consecutive dividends for more than 30 years. Net earnings for the year ended August 31, 1924, were $5,741,221.00 ($911,914.00 greater than the previous year) or more than 2.32 times the company's total interest requirements including the current issue of bonds which has not yet had time to contribute to the Company's earning power. And the business is rapidly growing.

With the advantages of national distribution and a strong market, these bonds are exceptionally attractive at today's price.

ELECTRICAL TRADE LINE MORE EVEN

Industries Place Orders for Maintenance Material; Coast Improvement

Business in the electrical trade has settled down to a steady ordering of materials for maintenance purposes with industrials placing these orders in better volume, Electrical World, New York, reports. It is evident that the settlement of the political situation is being eagerly awaited. After this it is believed that business should gradually improve since the fundamental conditions are sound.

On the Pacific Coast, power company business has lessened to a winter basis, but it is expected to be very good next year, especially in Southern California, where a great deal of very necessary construction work was prevented by the drought.

Some recent unfortunate experiences of companies financing time payments on appliances in the Bay region may react upon such business, which, although somewhat slower than last year, is conducted upon more conservative lines. Radio business is at its peak and volume this year will greatly exceed that of 1923.

In the Puget Sound region activity is noted in household appliances and electric heaters with electric range sales satisfactory.

Movement of heavier equipment in volume is not expected until after election when the outcome of the Bone bill, a public ownership measure to be voted on in the State of Washington, is known.

Export business has been decreasing with the gradual strengthening of Germany's economic development. However, the feeling among prominent exporters is that this was to be expected and that it is for the best interests of all nations. There still remains plenty of markets where aggressive development can produce a healthy business.

Orders received by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company during the quarter ended September 30 were valued at $34,706,000, which is a decrease of 13 per cent. as compared with the previous quarter. The value of General Electric sales, as reported last week in the Electrical World also showed a decrease. However, since that time there has been somewhat more activity in the electrical industry.

The report of the Otis Elevator Company this week shows earnings of $2,974,867 for the nine-month period ended September 30, as compared with $2,423,008 for the year 1923, greater than any full-year period in its history.

The New England district sales of line material and wiring devices dominate trade, and appliance sales are improving slowly. Business continues spotty in the New York district, with sales of supplies continually improving. In the Southeast business is marking time pending the outcome of the election. Utility purchases of distribution material in this section are very good. Trade remains stable in the Middle West, central station construction continuing with increased activity.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Buying Slows Down

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Bond prices turned reactionary today with a tightening of the money situation. While the market for the funds remained virtually unchanged, the rise in call money to 3 per cent was reflected in withdrawal of buying support by institutions which last week were seeking employment of their surplus funds.

Oversubscription of the $30,000,000 Swedish loan, offered today, gauged the market's capacity for absorbing new investments. Estimates that allotments would be cut down to about 20 per cent indicated that the issue had been received almost as well as the recent German loan.

Many standard investments and domestic speculative railroad issues accumulated on a rising scale last week, were unloaded today, causing a fractional recession in prices.

Selling of sugar company bonds was resumed today on further reports from Cuba of unsettled conditions in the industry, while oil, copper and packing company issues followed the downward trend of stock prices. United States government obligations drifted irregularly lower and the new German bonds dropped below 94.

Public offerings will be made tomorrow of $5,000,000 Commercial Credit Company of Baltimore ten-year 6 per cent notes at 99½ to yield over 6.05 per cent.

Following are yesterday's high, low and closing prices of bonds on the New York Stock Exchange and the total sales of each bond. This market is over Associated Press wires and to expedite transmission the closing is omitted when it is the same as the low, and both low and close are omitted when they are the same as the high.

NEW YORK CURB

Prices Decline

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Stock prices moved irregularly lower in today's curb market with trading almost entirely of a professional character.

Oil shares lost ground despite the publication of favorable trade news, Prairie Oil and Gas dropped 5 points and then recovered 2, while net losses of a point or so were recorded by Gulf of Pennsylvania, Redbank and Standard Oils of Indiana and Kentucky.

Most of the public utilities moved within narrow and irregular limits.

TAX FIGURES MAY AFFECT INVESTMENT

Publicity Will Change the Game to Stud Poker, an Expert Says

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—A distinct change in the trend of investment is anticipated by many bankers and business men as a result of income tax publicity. This is expected irrespective of the decision with regard to newspaper publication of income taxes by Atty.-Gen. Stone. Consequently investment bankers all over the country spent Sunday scurrying around for tax-free security issues which they might offer their clients. One business man whose tax is in five figures expressed the trend indicated when he declared that publicity given individual and corporation income taxes would result in changing the game from draw poker to stud.

He explained that while the publication of the tax payments had allowed rival competitors to see all the cards held against them where tax-exempt income did not exist, the placing of funds in tax-free investments would offer a certain amount of secrecy, just as does the buried card in stud poker.

There is ample money for investment in the United States at present. The problem, business men and bankers assert, has been to induce it to flow into channels where it would aid industrial activities and expand operations. The tax reduction which took place this year was counted on to aid in the bringing of that about. Many fear, however, that the publication of the income taxes paid which has already taken place may nullify the effect of the reduction in this respect.

The change in trend seems likely to promote extensive additions to the already heavy programs of municipal, county and State public works. With money readily available many communities are expected to put into effect projects which up to this time had been regarded merely as possibilities for the future. Subway systems in the larger cities may be numbered among these.

Philadelphia has just let the contract for the second section of the Philadelphia subway. Pittsburg, Boston, Chicago and other centers are planning on subsurface transit facilities. These projects undoubtedly will call for employment of a large amount of skilled and unskilled labor.

Imperial is the largest irrigation district in California. About 450,000 acres in the District are under intensive cultivation, and its products are marketed throughout practically the entire year. Climatic advantages coupled with a cheap water supply make Imperial one of the most prosperous agricultural communities in California.

The bonds are a direct obligation of the Imperial Irrigation District; payable out of annual assessments levied and collected under the same authority as taxes; and are secured by a tax lien, ranking ahead of first mortgages on all land in the District.

The Imperial Irrigation District land and improvements are worth approximately 6⅓ times the bonded debt against it, and its average annual production per acre is over 15 times the annual charge per acre for water, bond interest, maintenance and retirement of bonds.

Legality to be approved by Messrs. Goodfellow, Eells, Moore and Orrick, San Francisco.

SELLING AIMED AT YELLOW CAB

Bearish Traders Probe for Weak Spots

Favorable News on Oil is Partly Ignored

Call Rate Advances; Sterling Spurts Again

Stock prices displayed a reactionary trend in today's relatively quiet market. While bear traders succeeded in uncovering a few weak spots, notably the Yellow Cab issues, and pool operations were continued in a few specialties, trading in the general list was characterized by a backing and filling movement, regarded as typical of pre-election markets.

American Can was the weakest of the so-called pivotal issues, dropping nearly 3 points to 128½ and then rallying to 129⅝. The preferred touched a new 1924 high at 119.

A break of more than 8 points in Yellow Cab Manufacturing, which established a new low for the year at 41½, followed the publication of a financial statement showing only 88 cents a share earned on the common stock in the third quarter as against a dividend requirement of $1.25. Chicago Yellow Cab dropped 4½ points to 43. Railroad shares yielded with the industrials. Frisco common attained new peak prices at 39⅛ and then reached to 37⅝, off ¾. Net losses of a point or more were registered by Chesapeake and Ohio, New York Central, Northern Pacific, Union Pacific, Chicago and Eastern Illinois preferred, Chicago and Great Western preferred and Erie second preferred.

Oil shares declined in the face of the publication of statistics showing a tremendous increase in gasoline exports and a further reduction in crude production in the Los Angeles basin. Net losses in the popular issues, however, were held to small fractions.

Call money opened at 2 per cent, advanced to 2½ and thence to 3, the increase being associated with a deficit reserve shown in the weekly clearinghouse statement last Saturday. Commercial money rates were unchanged as well as the time money markets.

Sterling, which advanced more than a cent to around 4.50, was the feature of the irregular foreign exchange market. Buying of these bills was attributed in some quarters to the more hopeful feeling in London regarding the parliamentary elections this week.

Motor Industry Holds Output to Immediate Need

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—More economical distribution and better service are the two subjects which are being given closer consideration by automotive manufacturers in making their plans for 1925, Motor reported today. Their purpose is to enhance profits and increase good will.

Conditions are strikingly different than they were a year ago when almost all car builders were operating plants at capacity to meet current needs and build up a surplus to provide for what was expected to be an unprecedentedly heavy demand this year. It was believed that the volume of business would be so large that profits, even on a small margin, would be entirely satisfactory.

Output now is being limited rigidly to demand and that condition will continue to prevail for the next year. Every effort will be made to keep the production line relatively straight and the market will not be forced as it has been heretofore. Manufacturers hope that increased production costs can be offset by economies in selling without material increases in retail prices.

Parts makers will benefit from the new production policy because their operations will be kept on a more stable basis and will not be subjected to almost daily variations by cancellations or releases.

Altogether, 1925 promises to be a year of stabilization both in production and profits.

COTTON FUTURES UP ON BUYING BY SPOTS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Spot cotton closed 125 points net higher at 24.20. All cotton futures advanced some $6 a bale today on active buying by prominent spot interests in the final hour of trading. Although professional operators were still inclined to interpret the government reports of last Saturday as bearish, the market gained about $3 a bale in the early trading under heavy trade buying and some short covering by local professionals. Later the demand centered on the near months, but final prices were just under the day's best.

MARKET REVIEW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Different markets moved today with no uniform impulse, but each under its own particular influence. The stock market's decline was ascribed by Wall street to a 3 per cent money rate. The grain trade proffessed to explain a 3-cent rise in wheat by the action of the Argentine market. For an advance of 1 1-4 cents a pound in cotton, the cotton exchange had accounts of "frost in Texas." Nothing more definite than the prospects for Wednesday's election in Great Britain was assigned as the cause of a rise in sterling exchange above $4.50, after its reaction to nearly $4.48½ last Friday.

It was perhaps a side light on the character which speculation has taken in almost every market that these explanations should have had for the most part so trivial a basis. The 3 per cent rate for call money was a perfectly natural and purely temporary result of the $5,800,000 deficit reported in the New York Associated Bank Reserves on Saturday, coming as it did at the time when all the banks were preparing for the month-end settlement. The really essential fact of the money market is that when these first of November payments are effected, we shall be nearly at the time when the season's commercial demands always relax automatically.

A sharp advance in wheat at Buenos Aires need have no other significance than as illustrating the perfectly well-known grain trade policy whereby England and other consuming countries, when confronted with a close alignment of wheat supplies and wheat requirements, shift their buying orders alternately from one producing market to another. Two weeks ago it was Chicago, last week it was Winnipeg, now, very probably, it is Buenos Aires. This shifting process is invariably the course of action in such a world situation as exists today. It is Liverpool's traditional recourse to keep clear of "runaway markets."

It is possibly a little late for the market to grow excited over frost reported at scattered localities in the western cotton belt, but the speculator in cotton is habitually more stirred up by "frost reports" and "tropical storms" than even by crop estimates, and intrinsic value of cotton, under the varying influence of known production and unknown consumption, is still debatable.

There remains today's sterling market, in which it is not improbable that speculators were trying to discount the effect of a Conservative victory. But in sterling, as in other markets, causes so much more weighty are in visible operation that it might reasonably be doubted if this were the actual explanation. Yet sterling is not the less interesting a market because of the infinite variety of the influences which play upon it. After all the fall in sterling from $4.53 in October last year to $4.35 in December, was imputed by London almost exclusively to the fright of British capital, first over Baldwin's reckless political policies and then to the Labor party's left-handed victory, and it may not be illogical if a contrary movement in the rate should be expected in the event of a definite defeat of labor. The market will at all events be interesting later in the week.

BY ROBERT J. PRITCHARD

At least one and possibly two, or even three, new wells should go on production in the Rosecrans field in the next few days. The Union Oil Company is putting the final touches to two of the prospects, and the General Petroleum Corporation is nursing along the third.

The most likely chance of the three for quick completion seems to be the Union Chandler No. 1, on the east side of Main street, which started swabbing yesterday. This well caused considerable sensation several months ago by blowing out around 2500 feet, the only gasser that has occurred in Rosecrans so far. At that time the well was killed and drilling continued, picking up the oil sand at around 3800 feet. Present depth is at 4045 feet, with casing set at 4025 feet. Officials of the company report that good sand has been found below the shoe, and a good producer is expected.

The Union's Rosecrans No. 1, the discovery well of the field, is another project which is entering the final stages of completion. Rosecrans No. 1 found the first oil sand at 3916 feet, but never got production because of failure to solve the water problem, although three strings of casing were set, and about fifteen attempts made to cement off. After ripping out the casing and sidetracking part of it, the well is now down 4041 feet, with six-inch casing set at 4013 feet. The crew started testing the shutoff yesterday, and if the job is successful the Rosecrans may yet enter the list of producers after a delay of about eight months.

The Vaughan No. 1 of the General Petroleum Corporation will drill out the plug and make a test some time this week. The Vaughan is down 4752 feet. It went on production once, but had to be killed, because of water which is supposed to have broken in around the shoe.

Make New Test

The Shell company is still struggling to get production in the eastern part of the Dominguez field. A test is being made in the Childs No. 2 for the fourth or fifth time. This well is down 4033 feet, with six-inch casing set at 3959 feet, where showings were found, but water has been the bane of the project, and so far has baffled repeated attempts to solve the problem.

The Shell's Reyes No. 10, some distance south of the Childs No. 2, is the farthest east producer in this area, the Superior Carpenter well, offsetting the Childs on the east, having been abandoned.

Starts Flowing

The Shell Company Reyes No. 12, in the southeastern part of the Dominguez field, offsetting the Associated Oil Company's DeFrancis No. 1B, started flowing by heads yesterday during a water test at a depth of 3819 feet. No gauge was made of the flow, but it was said to show considerable promise. The well will be killed and drilled farther into the sand, it is said.

Make New Try

The Bardeen Oil Company is making another attempt to get commercial production of its No. 1 well in the district east of Puente, it was reported yesterday. Work on the Bardeen No. 2 has been suspended for the present, pending the result of the work on the old well.

Bardeen No. 1 pumped a small production several months ago at 1800 feet, but the liner collapsed shortly after it was put on the pump, and after an effort to remedy the condition had failed a second hole was started farther east. No. 2 found a heavy oil at about 1400 feet and drilled to about 1650, where it is standing.

Gets New Well

The Monarch Development Company has placed its Orange county No. 2 on the pump, with a production of around fifty barrels a day of heavy oil, according to official reports. The well is about 1110 feet deep. The Monarch Development Company now has three wells pumping a total of about 150 barrels a day from shallow depths. Other wells will be drilled in the near future, it is said.

Down 2900 Feet

The Hesperia Oil Company's wildcat well, three-quarters of a mile southwest of Hesperia, in the Victor Valley, is drilling hard formation at about 2900 feet, according to reports from the field.

May Change Rig

Because of trouble with caving formations in its Newhall-Saugus wildcat well, the Union Oil Company may be forced to change over from cable tools to a rotary rig, it is reported. The hole is down about 400 feet after several weeks of drilling, which has been much retarded by cave-ins and other trouble.

May Quit Well

The Standard Oil Company has suspended work on its Weston No. 1 wildcat, southwest of the Torrance field, and is considering the recommendation of field officials that the well be abandoned, and a new hole started farther north. Weston No. 1 is down 4650 feet, and has never had promising showings, it is said. The location proposed for the new well is half a mile north of No. 1, near the southern part of the Torrance field.

Weston No. 1 is three-quarters of a mile east of a wildcat drilled by the Union Oil Company to 5600 feet, and abandoned several months ago. The Union well, which was also on the Weston ranch, is said to have had no more showings than the Standard well, and the Union is reported to have quitclaimed its holdings in that area after stopping work.

The showings in these two wells is generally considered as condemning the southern part of the Weston ranch, although it is believed the northern portion still has a chance of proving productive.

BOSTON WOOL MARKET

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—Activities on the wool market seem to be centered more on lines suitable for the manufacturers of woolens. Prices in general are unchanged. Good AA pulled wools are held at around 1.50, scoured basis, and several sales have been consummated at a little higher figure. Scours are held at 1.35@1.38 and the last recent sales have been on this basis.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE: The liberal run of cattle, estimated around 2300, met fairly active demand and a fair clearance was effected. The few sales made on the early trading were around the steady mark. However, the closing market is about 15 to 25 cents lower than early. Weighty steers were slow and draggy, several loads being unsold late. A four-car string of 1025-pound northern steers cleared for 7.60, with common and medium steers, including a few Mexicans, from 6.40 to 7.35. Common steers on the canner and cutter order sold downward to 3.75.

She stock, comprising the larger share of today's receipts, sold rather actively at 15 to 25 cents lower prices. Several loads of medium to good 850 to 880-pound northern heifers cleared for 5.25, with fat cows in load lots topping at 5.25. The price spread of 3.25 to 5.00 took in the bulk of fat cows and heifers, with southwesterns selling mostly downward from 4.00. Canners and cutters cleared largely from 1.75 to 2.25. Bulls were scarce and held steady, most bolognas going over from 3.00 to 3.50, with a few on the beef order upward to 4.00.

CALVES: The bulk of today's estimated run was late in arriving. Active demand developed for the moderate supply early at unevenly higher prices, mostly 25 to 50 cents up. Load lots of range calves averaging 210 to 260 pounds turned largely from 6.50 to 7.00, with part loads and odd lots upward to 7.50. Heavies were rather numerous from 4.50 to 6.00.

HOGS: Packers were not particularly anxious for today's small supply of butchers, estimated at 800. However, they bought a few at values around 25 cents higher. Only two loads sold. One averaged 193 pounds and brought 11.00, while the other averaged 190 pounds and realized 10.75. No packing sows sold. Late in the day remainder of butchers sold at 10.75.

SHEEP: Today's total offerings were nine decks of lambs, eight of which were held over from Saturday. Practically no bids were made and the general undertone was weak with no sales being consummated.

Surprise Raid in Wheat Sends Prices Upward

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—News developments over Sunday were decidedly in favor of holders of wheat. Liverpool surprised the trade by advancing 3¼@3⅝d, while Buenos Aires, which broke badly on Saturday, opened 4¾@5⅜c higher, and there was a general rush of short covering and commission house buying at the start. Opening sales showed as much as 3⅜ cents over the finish on Saturday.

Toward the last there was heavy buying by houses with eastern connections, part of which was regarded as short covering, and the close was about the top, with gains of 3@3⅝c. Strength in corn came largely from sympathy with wheat with a gain of 1¼@1⅝c, while oats were 1¼@1½c higher. Rye advanced 3⅝@3¾c.

Apparently foreign countries need an immense amount of cash wheat, judging from the aggressive buying for forward shipment. The seaboard reported 2,500,000 to 3,000,000 bushels sold, including hard winters for shipment next May. The strength in Buenos Aires suggested that sales of last week were insufficient. This is particularly the case in the northern part of Argentina.

Politics are a factor in the wheat market at the present time, the coming British and American elections having a tendency to restrict general speculative interest. Considerable caution is being displayed on the buying side at the present time, especially on bulges on this account. December sold up to 1.45 and closed at 1.44⅝@1.44¾, while May was 1.49¼@1.49⅜ and July 1.33⅝.

The International Institute of Agriculture at Rome estimates world's exportable surplus of wheat at 836,000,000 bushels, or only 18,000,000 bushels above estimated import requirements. Argentina and Australia are figured as likely to have 310,000,000 bushels, which is about 50,000,000 bushels in excess of trade estimates, and the report was construed as extremely bullish, especially so in view of the shortage of rye.

Corn and oats were influenced largely by the action of wheat and advanced readily with short covering a factor. December corn closed at 1.03⅞, May at 1.06⅝@1.06¾ and July 1.07⅝, while December oats closed at 49⅝ and May at 54⅝@54¾.

Basis on spot corn and oats here was slightly easier. Moderate increases were shown in the visible supply, but had little effect on the market. There are around 800,000 bushels cash oats to be loaded out of Chicago this week for winter storage at eastern lake ports. Export sales of 250,000 bushels of oats were reported at the seaboard, partly Canadian.

Foreign demand for rye showed improvement, with sales of 300,000 bushels in all positions, and with short covering and buying by the Northwest, the market developed independent strength. Statistically rye is regarded as in a very strong position.

CANADIAN WELL DEFIES CAPPING

Giant Gasser in Alberta is Beyond Control

Hurls Heavy Valve Through Top of Derrick

Wastes 22,000,000 Feet Wet Gas Each Day

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CALGARY (Alta.) Oct. 27.—Capped with a 2000-pound valve, and registering a rock pressure of 1200 pounds, the Royalite No. 4, wet gasser, in Turner Valley, South Alberta, blew valve and parts of the casing out over the top of the derrick and is again spouting out more than 22,000,000 cubic feet of wet gas a day.

The rock pressure of 1200 pounds at this well is a record for Alberta, the highest previously recorded being 800 pounds. The well, which was drilled by the Northwest Company, development branch of the Imperial Oil, was drilled as a deep test of a field which has been producing high-grade gasoline through refining of wet gas for some years.

DEEPEST IN PROVINCE

The deepest hole in Alberta, the well was drilled to 3740 feet before the strike was made. At that depth it blew in with approximately 18,000,000 feet of gas, estimated to contain 150 to 200 barrels of oil a day.

The well was allowed to blow for several days, in the hope that it would develop itself into a crude oil gusher. While the gas flow increased slightly and the content of oil was similarly increased, no development of this sort had occurred when the well was capped. Anchor work on the casing was evidently inadequate, as the valve was only in place for a few hours when the great pressure of gas temporarily wrecked the well. Parts of the six and eight-inch casing were blown out, afterwards sinking back into the hole, partially blocking the flow. Later the well cleared itself and slightly more than the original flow was apparent.

The Royalite No. 4 is one of two giant gassers recently brought in by the Imperial in its exploitation of possible oil fields in Alberta.

NEAR MONTANA LINE

The other, the Rogers-Imperial, is situated near Sweet Grass, a few miles north of the Alberta-Montana border, and not far from the Kevin-Sunburst field in the latter State. It produced over 20,000,000 feet of gas at a depth of approximately 2800 feet, but efforts are being made to drill the well deeper in an attempt to record a real oil strike. The gas at the Rogers-Imperial is not so wet as that at the Royalite, and is more adapted to lighting and heating purposes than refining.

The Imperial, which is the Canadian equivalent of the Standard Oil Company, has spent more than $3,000,000 in Alberta in exploration work in recent years, their operations extending as far north as Fort Norman, 100 miles south of the Arctic Circle, where the summer drilling program was suspended September 13.

Radical Power Waning, Belief of Stock Mart

Moody's Weekly Review of Financial Conditions in its current issue says in part:

"Optimism is growing upon the basis of a widespread feeling that the power of radicalism is waning. Whether this feeling is correct or not, the optimism itself is a constructive business factor.

"Bond prices are showing high stability. They are just about where they have been for three months, while on the other hand they have not shown the usual autumn rise.

"Changes in the rubber industry include a great rise in crude rubber prices, a large expansion of tire production, and a further cutting of tire prices. The rise in crude may be attributed partly to the operation of the Stevenson restriction plan.

"Tire sales are running well ahead of a year ago, but the earning position of the companies can hardly have improved much, since the larger sales will do well if they offset the higher prices of rubber and the low prices of tires.

"The boom in grain has given to the farmers of the grain States the first taste of real prosperity since 1919, and has incidentally made these farmers better customers to both railroads and manufacturing industries.

"Shortages doubtless exist in both wheat and corn supplies, but the rise of prices looks a bit overdone. Nevertheless we should expect prices to rule fairly high for some time."

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—New high prices for this season were established for coffee here today. Contracts for March delivery in the futures market advanced to 19.70, or 65 points above Saturday's closing quotations, and the December delivery sold at the 20-cent level.

Buying was attributed partly to European trade interest influenced by prospects for increased consumption following the reparations settlement. The advance was also accompanied by reports of continued firmness in Brazil and prospects for a reduced crop this season.

March sold up to 19.90 on the late afternoon and the market closed at an advance of 65 to 90 points for the day.

PRESS SEEN AS WORLD POWER

Editor of Chicago Newspaper Addresses Churchmen

Great Events Resulting from Printing Recounted

Publication is Defined in Two Ways by Speaker

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—More powerful than steam, more explosive than gunpowder, more world-encircling than steam or sailboat, was the epoch-making invention of the printing press, Col. R. R. McCormick, editor of the Chicago Tribune, declared in an address today before the sixth publicity conference of the Chicago Church Federation.

It was the printing press that brought on the reformation and the counter-reformation, followed by the Thirty Years' War, he said, and for the first time in the breeding of wars the press worked in part through newspapers. The Spanish American War, he continued, was waged solely because American public opinion had been infuriated.

FACTOR IN WAR

"I feel sure," he said, "that the great war recently concluded, would never have taken place if all the printing presses in the world had been destroyed in the year 1900. The discontent of the subject people of Europe could not have been fanned into flame without this machinery.

The chancellors and prime ministers would have accommodated their differences before, and possibly after the murders of Sarajevo, if they had not been forced to obey an informed public opinion of their respective countries. Nor would democracy have been intolerant of autocracy and autocracy contemptuous of democracy if their differences had not been constantly paraded in printed words."

NEWSPAPER DEFINED

The editor gave the first of two definitions of a newspaper as follows:

"A newspaper is a daily publication, conducted for profit."

"Unless a newspaper is conducted for profit it is not a unit in itself, but part of something else," he said. "A newspaper cannot be independent unless it earns its living.

"The greatest importance of the newspaper comes from a function that has developed upon it, a function not mentioned in the Constituton and without which the Constitution could not continue to function. This is the exposure and denunciation of corruption in government.

And then he gave his second definition:

"A newspaper is an instrument created by modern civilization to convey to the public the news of the day while promoting commerce through advertisements, and to furnish that check upon government which no Constitution has ever been able to provide."

TESTIMONY RESUMED IN ARROYO SECO CASE

THIRD SUIT ON EXCAVATIONS BASED ON CONTENTION OF NUISANCE

Taking of testimony in the suit brought by the city to enjoin the Los Angeles Rock and Gravel Company from excavating in the bed of the Arroyo Seco on the ground that the excavating constitutes a nuisance, was resumed yesterday before Judge McLucas in Superior Court.

This case is one of three involving the excavations which were placed on trial more than six weeks ago before Judge McLucas, sitting without a jury. The rock and gravel company was the victor in two of the suits, the court granting injunctions restraining the city from enforcing two ordinances asserted to have been designed to halt the work in the arroyo on the ground that they were unconstitutional and confiscatory.

IRRIGATION BONDS ARE ON MARKET

Imperial District Issue for $800,000 Offered by Trio of Firms

First Securities Company, Anglo-London-Paris Company and Rutter & Co., New York, are offering a block of $800,000 Imperial Irrigation District 6 per cent bonds due serially July 1, 1935-1956, inclusive. The 1935 to 1944 maturities are priced to yield 5.50 per cent and the 1945 to 1956 maturities are priced to yield 5.60 per cent.

These bonds are exempt from all Federal income taxes and taxes in California except inheritance taxes, and are certified as legal for investment of savings bank and trust funds in California. The bonds are a direct obligation of the Imperial Irrigation District, payable out of annual assessments levied and collected under the same authority as taxes, and are secured by a tax lien, ranking ahead of first mortgages on all land in the district.

Imperial is the largest irrigation district in California, having a gross area of 603,840 acres of which 515,000 acres are irrigable and about 450,000 acres are under intensive cultivation. Gravity water for irrigation and all other purposes in the district is secured by diversion from the Colorado River. The amount diverted during 1923 was 2,275,425 acre feet or 18.4 per cent of the total flow of the Colorado River at Yuma. Climatic advantages coupled with a cheap water supply make Imperial one of the most prosperous agricultural communities in California, and its products are marketed throughout practically the entire year. During 1923, over 26,400 carloads of farm products were shipped out of the district by rail.

The assessed valuation of the land within the Imperial District is $42,000,000, whereas its actual value is officially estimated in excess of $100,000,000. This figure is equal to approximately six and one-half times the total outstanding bonded debt of the district which amounts to $16,550,000. Bonded debt per acre is $35.75 against an assessed value of $100 per acre and an officially estimated average value of $150 per acre. Average annual production per acre is over fifteen times the estimated annual charge per acre for water, bond interest, maintenance and retirement of bonds. These charges amounted to $6 per acre in 1924 and for the seven-year period ending in 1922 averaged $7.50 per acre, according to the bond syndicate.

SALESMAN ENTERS PLEA FOR PAROLE

PLEA ACCEPTED ON PROMISE TO RETURN $9000 IN LARCENY CASE

Daniel Kroeder, convicted last week by a jury in Judge Hardy's department of Superior Court on a charge of grand larceny, was permitted to file an application for probation yesterday after he had agreed to return the $9000 he obtained from Mrs. Susana McKeague. The application will be heard on November 10.

Kroeder, a stock salesman, was given $9000 in stock by Mrs. McKeague to convert into cash. He failed to turn the money over to her and was arrested.

FIRST MEETING TODAY ON CAHUENGA PROJECT

The first of a series of meetings to decide which Cahuenga-avenue improvement will have the united support of Hollywood, has been called for today at 10 a.m., by Secretary Carl Bush of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, at the Hollywood chamber.

Today's meeting will be for residents of Cahuenga avenue between Sunset Boulevard and Melrose avenue. Other meetings will be called for residents living along the northern part of the street. It is hoped that out of the various improvements suggested, a compromise plan that will receive the approval of all property owners may be adopted.

HOUDINI HITS CONAN DOYLE

Magician Says Englishman's Occult Teachings are Menace to Sanity and Health

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle is a menace to mankind by his promotion of the vagaries relating to spiritist phenomena and professed ability to communicate with the dead, yesterday declared Harry Houdini, magician now engaged in a fight on frauds perpetrated by some votaries of occultism.

Mr. Houdini, who is at the Biltmore, is giving a series of lectures in Los Angeles in which he attacks the methods of persons engaged in so-called psychic practices and reveals many of the tricks, he says, are used by them to hoodwink the public.

MENACE TO SANITY

"Doyle thinks he is a Messiah who has come to save mankind by instructing them in the mysteries of occultism but instead of that he is misleading the public and his teachings are a menace to sanity and health," said Mr. Houdini. "I have investigated his work and know whereof I speak."

Performing a highly realistic sleight-of-hand trick, by which he seemed to remove the first joint of his left thumb, afterwards holding the severed fragment of thumb in his right hand, the magician stated that when he performed this stunt before Doyle, the noted writer almost fainted from surprise and insisted on being told how it was done.

"That's nothing," said Houdini. "I can duplicate any demonstration any medium can present today, and I can show him exactly by what trickery it is done. Why, a time ago, I met a young 'psychic' who claimed that he could see through a metal plate. For instance, he said he could tell the position of the hands of a watch enclosed in a hunting case, without opening the watch to look at the dial."

PERFORMS TRICK

Here Houdini produced a hunting case watch and asked one of the newspaper men to turn the hands to any position he pleased, afterwards closing the case and handing the watch to the magician. Taking it in his hands and turning the watch over a few times, while his face assumed a look of intense concentration, he handed the watch back saying the hands pointed to 11.29. Which they did. He did this several times, never failing to give the right position of the hands.

"Now, that looks as if I could see right through the case doesn't it?" he inquired. "But I can't see through metal any better than anybody else can. I opened that case and looked at the face."

The beholder in front would have sworn that the watch had not been opened, but when the mystified news man stood behind the magician, he observed plainly how the later by pressure at the base of the thumb opened the watch for a split second while it rested in the hollow of his hand, thus getting a view of the dial and the position of the hands. "That's just a sample of how the public is made to see things it doesn't really see," said Houdini.

PROFESSORS FOOLED

Speaking of the investigations of the tricks of occultists by scientists, Mr. Houdini said no man of science or college professor could hope to fathom the true inwardness of the phenomena presented.

"It takes a flimflammer to catch a flimflammer," said Houdini sagely. "How can a man trained to deal only with facts and whose mind runs along channels of rectitude hope to cope with an individual whose whole stock in trade is a bag of tricks with no a scintilla of reality in the lot? It is impossible. Hence the scientists are hoodwinked as readily as the laity. But I have been in the business of magic for many years and I know the twists of the profession. I will forfeit my evening's receipts if I fail to explain the stunts of any medium who will appear on the same stage with me and give a demonstration of his bunk."

WOMAN ON SHIP WITH MESSAGE

Miss Stabell of Sweden to Lecture to Women

Rejuvenation of Body to be Topic of Address

Demonstration of Theory is Given on Liner

Hope for rotund and angular matrons was brought across the seas on the Swedish motorship Canada yesterday in the person of Miss Hallidis Stabell, who is en route to San Francisco to open a tour of the United States lecturing to American women on the "Renaissance of the Body." Air baths figure in Miss Stabell's doctrine, as do one's posture in every daily act and what she terms "stae-mechanics."

By her method, she says, double chins will vanish like mist, and the girlish figure which once attracted friend husband will live again in a body thrice as old. Miss Stabell has been director of institutes in Stockholm and Christiania for a score of years, and she performed gymnastic feats aboard ship yesterday which some active young sailors refused even to attempt.

She was accompanied uptown yesterday by Mrs. C. E. Wallerstedt and son Stig, family of the Swedish Consul at San Francisco, returning from a year's visit to their homeland.

The vessel had on board a dozen passengers and 7500 tons of freight, 5700 tons of which will be discharged here, keeping the vessel in port until November 1. Practically all of the cargo is European cement.

RESIGNATION ANNOUNCED

The resignation of O. B. Kibele as general manager of the local shipyards of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, was announced yesterday, to become effective November 1. He is to be succeeded by Ed Hanney, superintendent of the company's plant at Alameda. It has been known for months Mr. Kibele has been trying to resign, but has been persuaded to "carry on" in each instance until his superiors could avail themselves of a satisfactory successor. Just what his future plans are, he has declined to disclose until he and his family return from an extended vacation which close attention to business has prevented for several years. Mr. Hanney, like his predecessor, has long been identified with Pacific Coast shipping. He began his career with the Bethlehem Company, becoming in turn, manager for the Pacific Coast Shipbuilding Company, Moore Shipbuilding Corporation and the Bethlehem Alameda plant, whence he came here.

When Capt. Roberts sailed the Panama Pacific liner Kroonland out at 3 p.m. yesterday for Havana and New York, the big vessel carried in addition to 250 passengers, approximately 8000 tons of Pacific Coast cargo in her holds. Not only was there not an inch of space left, but several hundred tons remained on dock for the next vessel. It presages a request to local shippers to speak for space early on coming vessels in order to forestall San Francisco shippers monopolizing the facilities. Among the passengers was Capt. Edward C. Crossman, writer and expert rifle shot of Brentwood Park, bound for Lima, Peru, as an officer of the United States Pan-American Rifle Team, which will compete with the best shots of Latin Americas. Mr. Crossman writes for the Scientific American and half a dozen other journals. Other passengers include Judge Frank H. Kerrigan of the United States District Court of San Francisco; Rev. Fr. M. J. Murphy of San Francisco; C. N. Hatch, president of the Monticello Steamship Company of San Francisco, and Miss Joy P. Leitch, the daughter of Mrs. F. J. Leitch, a Los Angeles newspaper-woman.

SHANGHAI LIVING COSTS RAISED BY WAR

Living costs have increased 65 per cent in Shanghai since the fighting began in that city's suburbs, according to Capt. R. England, master of the Standard Transportation Company tanker Argon, which arrived yesterday morning from the scene of strife and called last night with a cargo of oil for New York. Capt. England reported encountering two typhoons en route here, making no progress for two days, but the vessel arrived here undamaged. The vessel traded part crews with the Empire Arrow of the same line, so the men could go home to New York after a year in Pacific waters. The Empire Arrow will depart today for India with fuel oil.

The Shipping Board tanker Turpsmoll, en route here from New York, via the Panama Canal, suffered a broken tail shaft off the Pacific Coast of Central America and has put back to the canal for repairs, according to Fred Chase of Struthers & Barry, agents for McAllister Brothers, operators of the vessel.

The former steamer Washtenaw, pride of the Pacific Coast merchant fleet when she was built thirty-seven years ago, and in recent years converted into an oil carrier, has been sold by the Union Oil Company to the Mohawk Oil Company to carry oil from the Petroleum Export Corporation dock at Wilmington to the Mohawk Oil Company's refinery at San Francisco. Her power will be torn out and she will be used as a barge, being towed back and forth by a tug boat. The craft will carry 36,000 barrels.

The tanker Shreveport of the City Service Refining Company, which has been on drydock at the Bethlehem yards, sailed last night for Port San Luis, where she will load oil for New Zealand. C. Story, Jr., of New York, who has been a visitor at this port, will leave for Port San Luis today, to be joined there Wednesday by W. H. Wickersham, coast agent for the company.

S. I. Bacon, assistant chief clerk for the Wilmington Transportation Company, began his two weeks' vacation yesterday, which he will devote to his new daughter, Miss Judith, who arrived last week at Long Beach.

The liner Avalon of the Wilmington Transportation Company yesterday relieved the liner Catalina on the daily run to Catalina Island and back. The Catalina will undergo minor repairs at her terminal, later going to the Los Angeles Shipyards for her annual overhaul. She will return to service early in January.

JACK PETTICORD NOT AUTO CRASH VICTIM

Jack Petticord, auto racer, yesterday denied he was in an automobile accident Sunday near San Jose. He was believed to have been injured, as a telegram to George Bentel, owner of Ascot Speedway, Sunday, from William H. Richardson of San Francisco reported that he had found the body of a man carrying Petticord's credentials in a wrecked car near San Jose. Petticord explained the presence of the credentials on the stranger with the statement that he lost his bank book and pass to Ascot in a railroad station in the Bay City. Mystery surrounding the identity of the accident victim was still unsolved yesterday.

PAIR HELD ON DRY CHARGE

Bruno Cordovia and Louis Martinez were arrested yesterday at Puente by Deputy Sheriff Townsend and lodged in the County Jail on a Wright Act charge. San Bernardino county authorities have been seeking Cordovia for some time, it was stated, and it is expected he will be turned over to them for trial.

GOLD LINER LOCATED ON OCEAN BED

Treasure-Laden Merida is Found by Trawlers After Thirteen Years

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NORFOLK (Va.) Oct. 27.—After thirteen years at the bottom of the sea, the treasure-laden Ward liner Merida has been found. One day last week the Foam and the Spray, trawlers, dragging a mile-long iron sweep along the floor of the ocean off the Virginia Capes caught the wreck of the oft-sought passenger ship, which went down after a collision in 1911 laden with gold, silver, copper and jewels.

The trawlers halted for the first time in ten days' dragging. Frank [illegible] Crilley, diver, went down to investigate. His tugs at his life line made known it was the Merida long before he came up out of the water.

At once the trawlers started for Norfolk to report to the men who had sent them on their treasure hunt, a group of well-known New Yorkers, which includes Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., Franklin I. Mallory, W. Heyward Drayton, III, and others. They went to report that success had attended the first step in recovering a fortune variously estimated at from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000. No one knows just how much money is locked up in the Merida.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The finding of the Merida was attended with as much secrecy as was the sailing of the Foam and the Spray from Brooklyn early this month.

Franklin I. Mallory admitted today that the wreck had been found, but said the finding was considered only a minor part of the salvaging of the Merida's treasure, which is to proceed at once. He said he regretted that the venture of the Foam and the Spray had attracted attention.

The reason for secrecy was fear of high-jackers. To keep intruders away the exact position of the Merida will never be made known. She is a prize and belongs, according to the law of the sea, to her finders. Roughly, she lies 200 feet down, fifty-five miles east and half a mile north of Cape Charles.

Vast Unemployed Army Put Back to Work, Says McNab

Prosperity Stimulated by Policies of Republicans

Speaker Reviews Results of Economy Program

What the Republican party accomplished, immediately after it took charge of the government in 1920, in the way of reducing unemployment, which had reached tremendous proportions under the Democratic regime, was emphasized by John L. McNab, prominent attorney of San Francisco, and an elector on the Coolidge ticket, speaking last night at a rally of Whittier Republicans.

"When the war closed," Mr. McNab said, "there were 4,500,000 men unemployed, and in March, 1921, these men were still without employment. By December of that year they were all absorbed into the factories and commercial establishments of the country.

"It was only by the commanding prestige of the administration that the industries of the coutry were persuaded actually to create employment by opening up their pay rolls and starting three partial shifts per day where one shift was sufficient to meet the requirements of production. At the behest of the administration, $25,000,000 was thrown into the national pay roll by the steel industry alone, by which the economic wheel was started on its revolutions.

CHAIN STARTED

"Men suddenly called from unemployment to cash earnings commenced to buy. The retailer at once quickened into action and went back to the wholesaler with orders. He in turn went back to the manufacturer and raw material producer with results which were admirable.

"Factories that had been closed reopened on full time. Men who were the prey of soviet propagandists began to support their families, and by December of 1921 the entire body of unemployed had been set to work, while the 4,500,000 unemployed of Great Britain were still living on a government dole."

Mr. McNab strongly condemned the abusive campaign conducted by Vice-Presidential Candidate Wheeler in the West. Fair-minded people, he said, resented not only the slurs cast by Wheeler on the character of President Coolidge, but on the Presidenty as an institution as well.

RAPS CONGRESS

The possibility of the selection of the President being made, not by voters of the country, but by discarded representatives of the people, was stressed by Mr. McNab. Congress at the present time is not responsive to the wishes of the people, he said. La Follette, Mr. McNab declared, his not the remotest chance of being elected, but he hopes to create a deadlock and to force the selection of a hopeless candidate — Bryan or Wheeler, either of whom would be a tragedy in that office.

Mr. McNab then gave a brief resume of the accomplishments of the Republican administration, dwelling chiefly on the reduction of our national indebtedness and the establishment of the budget system under the direction of Gen. Dawes.

Substitute in Boxing Bout is Slain by Blow

Oct. 27.—Ralph Thomas, 27 years of age, of New Rochelle, a plumber by day, substituting in a bout here tonight against Albert Yoochea, billed as the South American middleweight champion, at the opening show of the new State Armory Sporting Club, was killed by a stiff left-hand blow over the heart in the second round.

Thomas had held his own fairly well up to this stage of the contest. The blow spun him around and he collapsed in his corner. A physician called from the crowd pronounced him dead. The police took charge of the body and held Yoochea pending the findings of a coroner's jury tomorrow.

CHURCH OF OPEN DOOR IS OUSTED

Ordered to Leave Bible Institute's Premises by First of February

The Church of the Open Door, which has been struggling for some time to effect harmonious solution of internal disputes, last night was asked to vacate the premises of the Bible Institute Auditorium, where its religious services have been conducted.

The order was the culmination of efforts to arrive at an amicable settlement of differences between the officials of the Church of the Open Door, the investigating committee and officials of the Bible Institute.

The congregation was given until February 1 to secure another meeting place. Within a few minutes after the order was read from the pulpit the congregation, consisting of about 1500 persons composed of many denominations, left the auditorium and groups gathered at the entrance, where for an hour they discussed the difficulties.

The meeting last night was called at the request of the investigating committee, consisting of Dr. F. W. Frahm, chairman; G. K. White McGee, Dr. H. S. Keyes, J. F. Millhouse, Victor Martin and Leslie Starr. Charges presented by the investigating committee on September 15, last, led to resignations of the church boards, all but two of the seven elders, all the five stewards and all but two of the five deacons resigning.

The investigating committee charged that through his appointments Rev. T. C. Horton, superintendent of the Bible Institute, was seeking to dominate the Church of the Open Door and that the appointments had not been made in accordance with the requirements of the constitution under which the church was operating.

A committee was appointed to draft a new constitution and new by-laws, consisting of R. H. Richards, Albert Havermale, J. M. Stouffer, Mr. St. George, Dr. H. S. Keyes, G. K. White McGee and Dr. F. W. Frahm, which called the meeting last night and presented its report.

ADMIRING NATION PAYS WARM TRIBUTE TO NAVY

Throngs Visiting Battle Fleet See U.S.S. West Virginia, Greatest Superdreadnaught, Arrive

Yesterday was Navy Day and America, with her hundred millions, paid tribute to the service that has kept the starred banner synonymous with the freedom of the seas since the days of John Paul Jones. The nation's tribute to her Navy was imposing, but in its entirety the honor paid must not have been so striking as a certain tableau enacted at Los Angeles Harbor.

The greatest battleship in the world stuck her fighting tops up over the southern horizon and stood in to the port that was to be her future home. A half-hour later, guns on both sides of her sleek gray decks barked out a staccato salute to the four-starred flag of Admiral Samuel S. Robison, commander-in-chief of the United States Battle Fleet, of which this giant fighter is to hereafter be an integral unit.

All along her 600-foot length 1400 men stood at attention. A minute later her port anchor dropped and as the chain rattled out through the hawse, boatbooms swung out athwartships, the ensign came down from the gaff and another went up at the taffrail as her band broke into "The Star Spangled Banner."

The smartness and seagoing snap with which this 33,000-ton giant was handled—as though she were a thing alive—fairly spoke the Spirit of the Navy.

She was the U.S.S. West Virginia, a sixteen-inch gun, electrically-driven superdreadnaught—the last battleship to be built by any nation until 1934. Hence, the Navy has dubbed her "The Last of the Mohicans." Naval experts rate her, together with her famous sisters, the U.S.S. Maryland and U.S.S. Colorado, the most powerful fighter on the seas.

She had just completed an arduous 5500-mile voyage from New York via the Panama Canal, but if any man could find a fleck of rust on her sides, a doubtful spot on her white teak decks or a grease spot on the uniform of one of her youthful, wind-tanned, clear-eyed crew, he would need more than the naked eye.

It's a certainty that the thou-

FALL'S ORDER OF SECRECY CITED IN NAVAL OIL SUIT

Finney Testifies ex-Chief Was Anxious to Close Oil Reserve Contracts Simultaneously

Evidence that Albert B. Fall, when Secretary of the Interior in 1922, grew impatient at delays and ordered secrecy in the leasing of California naval oil reserve No. 1 to Doheny interests came out yesterday in the United States District Court trial wherein the government is trying to obtain an order from Judge McCormick cancelling the lease and its companion contracts.

Edward C. Finney, Assistant Secretary of the Interior, and holder of that position also under Fall, testified that "Mr. Fall was a little impatient at the way the Pearl Harbor matter was progressing." Finney so testified after he had explained delays in arrangements for the bidding for the lease of the reserve and the contract whereby government royalty oil from the lease would go to an oil company in return for fuel oil and a naval oil base at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

"Fall said he wished to close that lease and contract at the same time he closed the Wyoming naval reserve lease with Sinclair oil interests," Finney testified.

SILENCE INSTRUCTIONS

"I have instructed by office to give out nothing regarding these contracts," said a letter from Fall to Secretary of the Navy Denby which Owen J. Roberts, government counsel, introduced into the trial in connection with examination of Finney.

In the letter Fall explained that the leases and contracts in mind were not being handled in a routine manner in the department.

"Mr. Fall said," Finney testified, "that he did not desire that information given out regarding the Mammoth Oil Company until the Pearl Harbor deal was closed."

The Pearl Harbor deal was the one in which the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company and the Pan-American Petroleum Company, Doheny companies, eventually contracted to build the naval oil base. The Mammoth Oil Company is the Harry Sinclair Company, against which the Teapot Dome lease suit has been filed by the government in Wyoming.

CONTRACTORS PROTEST

Examination of Finney brought out that the Chicago Bridge and Iron Works and the Graver Corporation of East Chicago complained to Fall that they had not had opportunity to get in on the bidding for the naval oil base, and that the bids had not been called for publicly.

The Chicago company complained that a Pittsburg competitor seemed to have full information about the construction work, and wished to know why the former concern was denied equal information on government work. It declared that it had asked for information regarding the construction and had been refused by persons in the department.

Introduction of letters and messages showed that Fall explained the negotiations were proceeding only with oil companies and that the department was not negotiating with any contractor for the work, but that perhaps oil companies in the bidding were [illegible] Chicago company enlisted the aid of attorneys and eventually procured the information it wished through the efforts of United States Senators McCormick and McKinley, it was brought out.

Finney testified and exhibits were introduced in an effort to show that Fall had prepared an amendment to be given by Denby to Congressman Patrick H. Kelley of Michigan for introduction into Congress and passage of an act whereby the legality of such a contract and lease as it was proposed to make would be

MOB CLOSES IN ON GIRL'S ASSAILANT

Scores of Citizens Led by Officers in Man Hunt in Verdugo Hills

Deputy sheriffs and citizens of Sunland late yesterday were scouring the Verdugo Hills for the suspected assailant of a six-year-old girl who is reported to have narrowly escaped mob violence by slipping through lines formed by the infuriated citizens.

Reports received by the Sheriff's office stated that all avenues of escape were being guarded by citizens and that capture of the suspect is expected at any time. Scores of citizens were said to be in the searching party.

The mob formed, according to reports, when the girl, said to be the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh B. Brown, told her parents that the stranger appeared in the vicinity yesterday. The attack is said to have occurred last Friday but was not revealed until Sunday when playmates of the girl told her parents. The girl gave a description of the stranger and a watch was kept for him.

Reports to the Sheriff's office that the mob was forming caused Capt. Bright, head of the homicide squad, to detail Deputy Sheriffs Hunter, Hanley, Catlin and Sepulveda to the scene. They were instructed to prevent violence and to organize the searching party into an orderly body to facilitate capture of the suspect.

Meager description of the suspect was given by the girl. She told her parents, reports stated, that the man had been frequenting the vicinity for a week or two before the time of the attack.

Later reports to the Sheriff's office by deputies assigned to the chase indicated that the prevalence of underbrush in the area in which the suspect is believed to be hiding would hinder in the hunt, but that citizens there were confident the assailant would be captured.

International Relations Body Meets Thursday

Dr. W. Ernest C. Moore, president of the Southern California Council on International Relations, yesterday announced that a special meeting of that organization will be held at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday at the City Club building, 833 South Spring street. The feature will be statements by Congressional candidates concerning their views on international policies of the United States. Reservations for the banquet to precede the program may be obtained from K. S. Beam, 517 Western Mutual Life Building.

LAUNCH HUGE POWER PLAN

Municipal Bureau's $7,000,000 Extension Program Shows Large Industrial Growth

Disclosing the tremendous industrial development now underway in Los Angeles, the Bureau of Power and Light yesterday announced the launching of a $7,000,000 program of extensions and enlargements to that part of its distributing system devoted solely to the service of electric power to factories and other industrial consumers.

Pointing out that this program of distribution betterments is being pushed forward to meet an increase over the present demand for power estimated at 40,000 horsepower by 1925 and 140,000 horsepower by 1927, Power Bureau officials stated that completion of the construction schedule will make facilities available for the distribution of 330,000 horsepower of electric energy exclusively for industrial use. This indicates almost a 100 per cent increase in the demand for industrial power within three years, it was stated.

THREE-YEAR PROGRAM

The $7,000,000 power line extensions and improvement program, it was stated by Power Bureau officials, will carry the bureau through a three-year period of construction and was set under way yesterday when work was commenced on the building of a huge new distributing substation at Mateo and Hunter streets.

Jean Jacques Grandjean, Swiss tunnelist, whose measurements of the Second-street tunnel some months ago caused a sensation in the engineering world, came to town yesterday from Sawtelle, where he has a country place, and reported to the Sheriff's office a daring robbery suffered Sunday by him, members of his family and some friends.

It will be recalled that M. Grandjean was the one that discovered that the Second-street tunnel stood first in the world in point of construction duration per meter or by the yord, not excluding the noted Swiss tunnel through the Alps, which was cut through hard ice and rock considerably faster than the local bore.

DESCRIBES EXPERIENCE

M. Grandjean thus described his extraordinary experience with nut robbers:

"It transpired in these way: A Englishman gentleman was visiting for dinner at my house, and to make him feel at home we took him walking in the big forest of trees where the English walnut were then growing. During the afternoon the Englishman and my family and some other Swiss friends of us amused themselves and myself by picking down nuts,

Mr. Bancroft was scheduled to leave for San Francisco at 7:45 a.m. today, according to his secretary, F. C. Riley of Chicago. He will sail for Japan on the liner President Cleveland.

The post which he now occupies was made vacant by the resignation last June of Ambassador Cyrus E. Wood. President Coolidge offered the envoyship, one of the major diplomatic posts, to Mr. Bancroft in August.

Mr. Bancroft is a resident of Chicago and a distinguished member of the legal profession. His family has an American history of 284 years.

He is a graduate of Knox College and of Columbia University. At one time he was the legal representative of the Santa Fe system and later became vice-president and general solicitor of the Chicago and Western Indiana Railway, resuming private law practice in 1904.

He was a valuable spokesman in the Liberty Loan drives and received the decorations of the Legion of Honor from France of St. Sava from Jugo-Slavia, and of Leopold II from Belgium.

He was chairman of the Chicago Race Commission which investigated the race riots of 1919, and is now a trustee of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, of Knox College and of Tuskogee Institute.

AGRICULTURAL SURVEY ON

J. B. Vaile, agriculture expert, recently engaged by the Chamber of Commerce, is in Orange county this week beginning the agricultural survey of the ten southern counties, a work that will take several years and which will afford the first exhaustive data on the resources of Southern California.

Mr. Vaile, who formerly was director of the California Farm Bureau Federation, is operating under Dr. George P. Clements, manager of the chamber's agricultural department. He will get definite information on the character of the lands, their water supply, value and so-forth in each district of Southern California. The cost will be shared by the community and the Los Angeles Chamber. The reports will be made available to the local community and to the Los Angeles Chamber, which will find them highly valuable in directing settlers.

Such data now available are of a very general nature, gleaned from the State and Federal reports. More definite information will make possible a more intelligent direction of settlers and a greater facility in working out agricultural problems common to the whole South.

SCENARIO MARKET BLAMED

Writer Says Works Not Selling as Wife Seeks Back Alimony; Lawyer Urges Jail for 'Local Color'

Albert G. Kenyon, scenario writer, appeared in Judge Summerfield's department of Superior Court yesterday to explain why he hadn't made up the $790 in alimony due to his wife, Evelyn Kenyon.

The scenario writer said that he hadn't been able to sell any of his scenarios in recent months, but that he had succeeded in borrowing $200 and was ready to hand over $125 of the loan to his wife.

Clare Warne, attorney for Mrs. Kenyon, thereupon arose and announced frankly that the arrangement proposed by the husband did not suit him in the least. He asked that Kenyon be forced to hand over the entire $200 to his wife.

"Then," he said, "the defendant should be placed in jail. It wouldn't do him any harm. In fact it would be a blessing in disguise. He could absorb great quantities of 'local color' in jail and then he could write any number of masterpieces for the screen and would never fail in arrears in his payments to my client again."

The court, however, didn't think that Kenyon could absorb very much local color in jail. So the case was continued for two weeks after Kenyon had handed over $125 to his wife.

WARM TRIBUTE IS PAID TO NAVY

sands of Southland citizens who visited her yesterday on Navy Day gained more confidence in the American Navy and this wonder ship instilled in them more confidence than a handful of patriotic speeches or music-filled parades.

The great host of the day, however, at Los Angeles Harbor was the U.S.S. California, flagship of the battle fleet, a close second to the West Virginia in effectiveness and ahead of her in the fame of her hospitality. The California yesterday afternoon entertained approximately 15,000 visitors on her spacious decks, enthralled them with Navy music and opened their minds to some of the remarkable accomplishments and strides of the modern navy.

PLANES SWOOP

Two of the California's aviators, Lieuts. Jim Barner and "Dixie" Kiefer, had their tiny fighting planes catapulted from the ship's quarterdeck during the afternoon and then circled the ship in flights of spectacular seaplane stunts.

"I wouldn't have missed it for a million!" said Capt. Raymond de Lancey Hasbrouck, commander of the cockpit of one of the giant ship's tiny fighting planes. Lieut. Barner had just taken the skipper up for a flight, a flight in which he had incidently scared the collective life out of the crowd of Navy Day guests aboard the giant dreadnaughts at anchor in the harbor below.

Lieut. Barner and Capt. Hasbrouck did Immelmann turns, falling leaves and —hatnots with the tiny seaplane, which looked small enough for a man to carry it off under his arm. The crowd held its breath because it had never seen stunts with a seaplane before.

But then the thousands of visitors who swarmed over the California and the other Navy ships in port saw many things they had never seen before. They had their eyes opened thoroughly to what the Navy is doing, peace-time accomplishments as well as the fighting stuff.

INSPIRING SIGHTS

They saw airplanes catapulted into full flight from the deck of a ship; they saw huge 100-ton guns shifted up, down and around as though they were toothpicks on a polished plate; they heard the Navy's best band burst forth into music that was much more than mere harmony; they saw the fleet crack marine guard go through the entire manual of arms faultlessly without command; they got a clear insight o' the life a man-o'-warsman leads on board a great battleship. They saw all this, and a great deal more, aboard the California.

All along the Pacific Coast, from Puget Sound to Sa nDiego, where the ships of the Battle Fleet were anchored, the above program was repeated as part of America's third celebration of Navy Day. At Long Beach, there were at anchor the dreadnaughts Idaho and Arizona, while the other units of battleship divisions were distributed as follows: At Santa Barbara, the Pennsylvania; at Monterery, the Oklahoma; at Santa Cruz, the Nevada; at San Francisco, the New Mexico, Colorado, Maryland and Tennessee, and at Bremerton, Wash., the Mississippi.

HALFMAST FOR WALLACE

The fleet did not "dress ship" yesterday, out of deference to the death of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, and all ships carried their ensigns and jacks at halfmast from sunrise to sunset. At nightfall, however, they all "illuminated ship" and burst out against the background of night in a blaze of incandescence that presented a spectacular climax to the day.

Today the seafaring Americans and their 300 ships will again be just as enthusiastically at the work for which they live as they yesterday whole-heartedly honored the anniversary of the birth of the father of the modern American Navy, Theodore Roosevelt.

Capt. Hasbrouck and his entire ship's company of the California give themselves over to the entertainment of their guests and by nightfall 15,000 Californians were sure that they had been royally entertained.

At sunset the California hauled down the hundreds of vari-colored signal flags and pennants with which she had been dressed during the day and turned the current into 10,000 electric lights strung over her lines, superstructure and rigging. She stood out in a perfect silhoutte of incandescence, while above her the beams of her eight giant searchlights wove a network of light through the sky.

ROBISON AND STAFF HONORED AT LONG BEACH

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Oct. 27.—All Long Beach today paid tribute to the United States Navy, its men and its officers. Thousands of local folks visited the ships at anchor a mile or so off shore while men and women prominent in the service and business life of the city gathered at the Hotel Virginia to honor Admiral S. S. Robison, commander of the Battle Fleet, and his staff at a luncheon.

At Jefferson Junior High School Lieutenant-Commander J. L. Coffman of Admiral Robison's staff addressed the pupils at the Navy Day celebration there. At Polytechnic High School, Lieut. H. M. Peterson, chaplain of the battleship Arizona, delivered an address on the meaning and purpose of Navy Day.

The events of the day were climaxed here by a grand navy ball at the Hotel Virginia tonight, with Admiral and Mrs. Robison leading the grand march. A spectacular feature of the ball was the presentation of "the Queen of the Beaches" and "King Neptune."

TARS AND CIVILIANS MEET AT SAN DIEGO.

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 27.—San Diego, headquarters of the Eleventh Naval District, co-operated wholeheartedly today in the observance of Navy Day, thousands of citizens taking advantage of opportunity to visit the warships and different shore stations.

Three destroyers were tied up one of the municipal piers near the foot of Broadway, and the crews held open house through the day. Delegations of school children were among the many who inspected the trim little ships.

A special program was put on at the Naval Air Stations, and the observance of the day at North Island Airdrome was given added interest by the return of the world flyers.

Visitors also thronged the United States Naval Training Station and the United States Marine Corps base in the north side of the bay. At the former institution a special regimental parade this afternoon was a feature.

The blue jackets entertained civilians tonight at a public dance on Municipal Pier No. 2.

WILBUR ASSERTS NEED OF BUILDING TO RATIO

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Naval strength in the last analysis must be measured by the "blow a ship's gun can deliver at long ranges," Secretary Wilbur declared tonight in a radio Navy Day address. Efforts to acquire a "homogeneous fleet" for the United States will be unavailing, he asserted, unless the gun-elevating machinery on American battleships be improved to permit all main batteries to reach an average maximum elevation.

"Subject to the construction of the Treaty for the Limitation of Armaments we are asking Congress to authorize the necessary changes to permit this elevation," the secretary said "so that our fleet may have a maximum efficiency at long ranges. We anticipate that future naval wars will be fought in great fleet actions, where a nation will stake everything upon the issue of a single battle."

Denying that the Navy has overlooked the importance of aviation in modern naval strategy, Secretary Wilbur called attention that the horsepower of airplane engines in commission today in the Navy is almost equal to the total horsepower of the navy with which we defeated Spain, while there was on hand or building airplane engines which would more than double this power.

"The Navy Department recently reported to Congress that our Navy as a whole was only 80 per cent as powerful as that of Great Britain," he said. "This ratio was faulty, due to the fact that four of our battleships needed boiler repairs. Three of these have since been repaired.

The secretary quoted data to show that England now possessed superior tonnage to the United States in aircraft carriers and scout cruisers, having constructed extensively in both classes since the limitation treaty was adopted. He reviewed the proceedings in the last Congress which had resulted in the failure of the pending naval construction bill to become a law and declared that "it does not lie in the mouth of the nominee of the Democratic party to charge the administration with dereliction concerning the Navy when neded legislation proposed by the administration was defeated by two Democratic Senators."

"We are going ahead with our Navy plans," Secretary Wilbur declared. "If we and the other powers conform to the agreed ratio, not only in battleships but also in other surface and subsurface and aircraft, successful aggressive war between the signatory powers across the oceans which border our shores will be an impossibility."

He closed with a prediction that it would be possible to "outlaw war" just as civilization outlawed yellow fever, typhoid and other plagues.

PATRIOTIC EXERCISES CONDUCTED AT SAMOA

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

SAMOA, Oct. 27.—The Americans on the Isle of Samoa celebrated Navy Day with apropriate ceremonies.

Native Samoans participated in the festivities, the schools conducted patriotic exercises and a field day of sports and an American atmosphere to the celebration. Buildings were decorated and American flags were flying in profusion.

The naval commander on the island radiocast the following message to the commandant of the Twelfth Naval District:

"From far away in the South Seas, Samoa sends greetings to all Americans on Navy Day."

The ceremony was attended by Capt. T. Fujita, chief aide de camp of Admiral Takarabe, representing the Japanese navy at the ceremony.

FALL SECRECY AIM IS CITED

certain. There was some doubt about the legality of the arrangement whereby the department would trade government royalty oil for construction work and Fall knew of this doubt, it was brought out.

The contract whereby it was proposed that the naval oil base be built provided for construction on a sort of a modified cost-plus basis, Finney testified. Admiral L. E. Gregory, chief of the Navy bureau of yards and docks, objected to the department against the work being undertaken on that basis and suggested that it be awarded on a lump sum basis, Finney's testimony and exhibits showed. The contract as awarded, however, was not on the lump-sum basis, evidence showed. Finney had joined with Gregory in this view, he testified.

MANY EXHIBITS

Roberts introduced many exhibits showing numerous conferences and exchanges of communication between Doheny interests and subordinates to whom Fall had intrusted the work of leasing the reserves and contracting for the oil-base construction. This was before the contract and lease were awarded to the Doheny companies.

It was again brought out that the Standard Oil Company and Associated Oil Company did not bid for the construction work, but that the Doheny companies were the only bidders for that part. Reference again was made to the fact that the Standard Oil Company had been advised by its attorney, Oscar Sutro, that such a contract as was contemplated would be illegal.

Roberts introduced considerable testimony and letters in an effort to show that while much of the negotiations leading to consummation of the contract and lease apparently went through Finney's hands that in reality he had little to do with them, but they were actually originated by persons with whom Fall was in closer contact and occasionally there were references to what seemed to be an understanding between Fall and Doheny regarding points having to do with the plans.

BIDS READ INTO RECORD

The bids of the Standard, Associated and Pan-American companies were in part introduced into the record by Roberts, and it was brought out that the Pan-American bid called also for the giving to it of preferential leasing rights in the reserve in the event of its bid being accepted. There were no other bidders.

At the time the bids were opened in the Interior Department, Fall was at his home in New Mexico and he was advised by Finney, the testimony showed, of the bids and that the Pan-American Company had submitted the best bid and Finney suggested that its bid be accepted. Fall's reply was that if this was acceptable to the Navy Department the bid of the Doheny company be accepted and publicity then be given to the transaction.

The government did not get through examining Finney yesterday and he will go on the stand again today when the trial is resumed at 10 a.m., it was understood. Finney appears to be the government's chief witness, and it has been drawing from him the principal thread of narrative of what took place in the department prior to the consummation of the contract and lease at stake in the trial.

In the first place the government questions the legality of the lease and has attempted to show how his was a subject of discussion among all concerned at the time the contract and lease were being arranged. The government introduced no further evidence yesterday concerning the $100,000 loan which Edward L. Doheny made to Fall about the time the contract and lease were made.

DEFENSE PLANS

The defense is expected to take Finney for cross-examination when the government is through with him and the cross-examination is expected by defense attaches to consume about two days. Much of Finney's testimony yesterday had to do with how pending leases in the reserve were cleared up and the way apparently cleared for the leasing of the whole reserve to Doheny interests. It was brought out that Doheny interests objected to the proposal that the Pearl Harbor work be done on a lump-sum basis instead of the cost-plus basis plus certain fixed fees.

ter, it was pointed out by Chief Electrical Engineer E. F. Scattergood, will serve as one of the major units of the great network of heavy power lines and other distributing facilities that are being extended and improved to meet rapid increases in the demand for industrial power.

The Mateo substation will have a frontage of 100 feet on Mateo street and, with all units completed, a depth of 160 feet. It is to be a "Class A" reinforced concrete, two-story structure with an ultimate distributing capacity of 50,000 horsepower.

This station will be used almost exclusively to relay electric power to operate industrial plants in its vicinity. Including necessary electrical equipment, the building will cost approximately $200,000, it was stated.

The $7,000,000 is to be invested in extending and improving power service to industrial consumers in Los Angeles, Scattergood declared yesterday, does not include extensions and betterments also being made to meet rapidly growing power and light requirements of domestic and commercial consumers.

Explaining that more than 90 per cent of all the industrial power used by factories in the city is served by the Power Bureau and that these consumers now have a total connected power load of 190,000 horsepower, Scattergood pointed out that the new facilities capable of caring for an additional 40,000 horsepower demand will provide an increase amounting to more than 25 per cent for one year alone.

"A review of the work being rushed forward by the Power Bureau to meet the increasing demands for power service from new and expanding industries gives a very clear idea of the industrial growth of Los Angeles," stated Mr. Scattergood.

"Extensions being made by the bureau are only those that are necessary to provide adequate and dependable service to the thousands of factories and shops requiring this service."

Indicating the ever-widening areas being taken over by industrial activities in Los Angeles Burdett Moody, business agent of the Power Bureau, yesterday released the following schedule of the various industrial sections that are to be covered by the bureau's program of power line extensions and improvements and the amounts to be expended in each section:

East Los Angeles, for substation facilities, enlarging and extending power lines, $960,000.

Santa Fe-southeast industrial area, general enlargements and extensions, $1,400,000.

South Park industrial district, power line enlargements and extensions, $1,100,000.

San Fernando Valley, greatly increased facilities for heavy power service, $1,200,000.

Florence avenue and Shoe String district, extensions and improvements to heavy power service, $700,000.

Harbor district, extending and enlarging power service facilities to meet requirements of great waterfront industries, $1,350,000.

In addition to these investments, which total $6,710,000, it was explained by Moody that other scattered improvements will be made to heavy power lines, costing several hundred thousand dollars, during the next three years.

ASKS UNITY IN DAM PROGRAM

five-three agreement adopted by the powers at the Disarmament Conference in Washington in 1922," said Admiral Pratt. "This agreement extends to all craft connected with the Navy Department, including ships, submarines and airplanes. The effect of its adoption has fully met all expectations. It has insured peace in the Pacific, and has placed the great nations of the world on a basis of equality in the matter of armament without working a hardship in any quarter."

Luther K. Bell of Washington, traffic manager of the Air Mail Service, spoke of the development of that service, in that connection calling attention to the aerial mail line established between New York and San Francisco a few months ago.

"Six million miles have been traveled by the mail planes and 2000 tons of mail have been carried since the establishment of the air service," he said. "It has been demonstrated that this method of transporting mail is practicable, speedy and safe, only about 125 pounds of mail having been lost since the service was established."

Speaking of the establishment of an air mail line to Los Angeles, he suggested that the speediest method of accomplishing this would be for the people of the city to make use of the existing air mail service to the fullest possible extent. "Under the present arrangement, which involves the carrying of air mail by rail a part of the way, twenty-four hours can be gained from Los Angeles to Chicago or New York by sending mail by the air route," he said.

In opening the meeting yesterday, President Lacy called attention to the fact that this was the first gathering of the members of the chamber since the death of Frank Wiggins, the late secretary of the organization, and at the president's suggestion the entire audience rose in silent tribute to the memory of the former official.

The man who lighted grabbed these nuts and sack and yelling 'Thiefs,' drove away with nut, leaving us with for our whole afternoon labor not one solitaire nut, only fatigue and insultation about being called to our own faces, 'Thiefs.'"

M. Grandjean says he suspects the nut robber to be the man who owns the orchard, and after giving the Sheriff this clew he returned to Sawtelle, where he is now engaged in research to ascertain whether cuckoo clocks of the Swiss type could be manufactured successfully in Southern California. It is understood that the only difficulty experienced is in the voice of the cuckoo, which, because of the balmy climate here, is inclined to be more like a nightingale than the rugged bird of the Alps.

tendent of the Bible Institute and a member of the board of elders of the church, presided at last night's meeting. Mr. Richards read the constitution and by-laws, which were adopted by the congregation.

Joseph Irvine, president of the directorate of the Bible Institute, then announced that he had a brief communication to read to the congregation, which was the request that the congregation vacate the premises by February 1.

Members of the investigating committee and the constitution and by-laws committee said last night that a meeting of the congregation would be called in the near future to decide on another meeting place.

Numerous members of the congregation last night declared that although the church used the Bible Institute Auditorium rent free it had donated liberally to the purchase of the organ, the radio broadcasting set and the piano used; but that these donations had been paid into the Bible Institute, instead of the Church of the Open Door.

The request to vacate read by Mr. Irvine was as follows:

October 27, 1924.

To the Church of the Open Door:

The board of directors of the Bible Institute of Los Angeles has for some time past realized it was difficult to have a separate organization occupying its property and often has discussed the advisability of the institute using the auditorium for its own services. The directorate deeply regrets the conditions that have developed in the Church of the Open Door and a continuance of such conditions is deemed detrimental to the Bible Institute.

We therefore feel that this is a logical time to make a change and it is with sorrow that we feel obliged to give the Church of the Open Door notice that it is to their best interests as well as to our own that they seek another place of meeting at their earliest convenience and not later than February 1.

When the Church of the Open Door vacates the Bible Institute auditorium the institute will then take such means for the organization of its church or such other form of organization under the direction of the institute as may seem best to meet the spiritual needs of all of those that may desire to worship at the Bible Institute.

In this connection the board of directors desire it to be understood that the policy heretofore followed of suggesting to all students of the institute that they retain their membership in and attendance upon the churches of their own choice shall not be changed.

(Signed) J. M. IRVINE,
President Bible Institute.

Mr. Horton said last night:

"I myself raised the money for the purchase of the organ and the broadcasting set. There were some donations from the congregation. They used the organ and the sermons were broadcast. I think the congregation owns the piano.

"There has been some trouble and disagreement recently caused by disgruntled persons among the congregation that was not pleasant for the institute. Some time ago the Bible Institute took over the Sunday-evening meetings. The Church of the Open Door has been meeting in the institute auditorium for about nine years and the institute has been expecting for some time past to take over the auditorium for its use. We organized the church and carried it on until the advent of the self-appointed investigating committee."

Headaches Caused by Ill Fitting Shoes

Many nervous troubles are the direct cause of pains in the feet, according to information compiled by foot specialists in the Ground Gripper Shoe Stores. They have also found that many people who are suffering from nervous pains and disorders in legs and back are really suffering as a result of shoes that fit them improperly.

During the past years the Ground Gripper Shoe Stores have been offering a free foot examination to men, women and children who have been annoyed by foot pains. In the majority of cases, these foot specialists find, the remedy is absurdly simple. Usually the fault lies in the way the shoe is fitted. In an effort to be stylishly shod, the toes have been cramped and the whole foot squeezed. This restricts circulation and causes pains to develop in many other parts of the body.

Usually the pain can be quickly relieved by properly fitted shoes of sensible construction, according to C. H. Fontius, proprietor of the Ground Gripper Stores. He recommends Ground Gripper Shoes because they are especially designed to fit the natural shape of the feet. They have room for every toe and they place the arch in its normal position. There is no undue pressure on any part of the feet. This permits the foot to relax and pain vanishes. Many cases of serious foot and nervous trouble have been restored to health simply by wearing these shoes, which from the outside look much like any stylish shoe.

This free foot examination is available to anyone at either of C. H. Fontius's Ground Gripper Shoe Stores. In Los Angeles at 714 South Hill St., on the mezzanine of the seventh and Hill Bldg. In Long Beach at 407 Pine Avenue.—[Advertisement.

THOUSANDS GET GIFT AT 'TIMES'

Monday Allotment of Checks Quickly Exhausted

Thrift Spirit Grows as Host Opens Savings Accounts

Pass Books Will be Issued by Seaboard National

Demonstrating the fact that only a "boodle" and a little "lift" is necessary to start the majority of persons on the pathway to thrift, thousands of men, women and children yesterday took advantage of the offer of The Times to present the public with a gift of $20,000 in $1 checks.

So enthusiastic was the response to the offer that the allotment of banks, checks and "Aphorism Booklets" for Monday was exhausted by 3 p.m. Twenty pretty girls, employed yesterday to present checks and banks to callers, will return to the same booths today to remain until today's allotment has been distributed. Checks and banks also will be given out to all who ask for them at The Times' Branch Office on South Spring street.

Accounts opened yesterday at the Seaboard National Bank, on which the checks are drawn, ranged from $1 to almost $1000, proving that the purpose of The Times Thrift Campaign, which is to inculcate the spirit of thrift, has already begun to bear fruit.

BOBBY IS FIRST

Robert Louis Brown, 20 months of age, son of H. B. Brown, was the first to open a savings account at the Seaboard National Bank with a Times check yesterday morning. Bobby was waiting with "mother and daddy" long before the savings windows were open. Informed by the young man's parents that Bobby was in a hurry to return home for breakfast, John R. [illegible], vice-president of the bank, attended to the youngster's wants personally, giving him the first passbook issued on account of The Times Thrift Campaign. Mr. Brown added $10 to the account, a dollar for each month of the little fellow's life.

Robert's brother Danny, who is "going on 3," also opened an account with a Times bank and check and "awhale lot of other money" that he had saved.

CAN'T GO BROKE

"I'll never be 'broke' again," said [illegible] Flowers of 424 East Seventh street, as he walked up to the savings window at the bank, handed in his check and asked for a pass book. "I've got $1 in the bank now and in fifty weeks I'll have $50, plus interest. Nothing like saving!"

"Do you think you can save a dollar a week?"

The question was asked of little Ambrose Gilbert of 130 East Thirty-first street, when he proudly deposited his check with "the bank man."

"You bet I can," he answered. "If I have to, I'll cut down on candy and movies."

One of the depositors was Cornelius Supple of South Pasadena. He opened his first account fifty years ago with $2 in the Suffolk Bank at Boston. That account has grown to several thousand dollars. Mr. Supple also opened an account yesterday for his daughter.

CHECKS WILL "KEEP"

The Times checks are good until used by the recipient and anyone who wishes to wait until he has saved another dollar or more before getting a passbook, may do so. The bank holds the keys to the aluminum banks in which the depositor is advised to deposit "one dime a day, however small." For this reason the temptation to extract money from these banks may not be yielded to except by bank-breakers who do not know any better than to steal from themselves.

CONDITIONS OF GIFT

The conditions under which The Times checks on the Seaboard National Bank are made payable to "bearer" are as follows:

The check, with or without any additional money, is received by the bank as a first deposit to open a new savings account. The depositor will receive interest at the rate of 4 per cent, compounded semi-annually, including interest on the dollar check. The depositor will add to the account $1 or more each week for twelve months. Only one check will be received from each depositor. Withdrawal of the deposits before one year from date of opening account forfeits the dollar credit. Deposits made in excess of the above may be withdrawn without forfeiting the credit.

"DOLLARS ARE DIFFERENT"

Louis Rich, originator of the "Thrift Campaign" idea, and who, employed by The Times, "put the idea over" in Los Angeles seventeen years ago, has for many years been working on the "big idea" throughout the United States, developing the plan with the aid of the banks and newspapers interested in the welfare of society.

"The secret of all financial success is thrift," said Mr. Rich. "Thrift means spending less than one's income. It means planting the coins and reaping wealth. It means all that ambitious persons strive for—home, education for the children, debts paid, money in the bank and freedom from worry.

"All dollars are not alike," continued Mr. Rich. "Some dollars bring remorse, those obtained by crooked methods. The dollar won by chance is likely to be lost the same way. However, the dollar earned, saved and dedicated to wise purposes, has an incalculable value. The dollars being presented to the public by The Times are dedicated to thrift and are worth far more than their face value, for they mean peace of mind, social service and character development."

According to Mr. Rich, saving money can be made easy if practiced systematically over a given period of time, however small the amount saved. The power of saving dollars, this expert, may be developed in the same way that muscles are developed—by exercise.

"There is no mystery about success," said Mr. Rich. "The formula is summed up in the one word, thrift. Practically every successful man in history formed the habit of saving in his youth. The big men of the future will be the savers of today. The dollar that comes from physical or mental effort and that is stored up for the future is more precious and valuable to the owner than many times the amount gained through chance or speculation."

with a high interest in the country and the people. In the performance of my duty I hope to assist in the continuance of mutual friendliness and helpfulness between the United States and Japan."

He refused to make any statement on policy, Pacific problems or international relations. He inquired concerning the trend of political sentiment in California, and in speaking of President Coolidge, remarked:

"In President Coolidge we have a wise, sincere and direct leader.

"It has been two years since I have visited Los Angeles. "There is an increasing beauty in this region. My brother has been looking forward particularly to a ride through the city and the scenic points in the vicinity. It is an enjoyment that he has been promising himself for a long time."

TO LEAVE CITY TODAY

Mr. Bancroft was scheduled to leave for San Francisco at 7:45 a.m. today, according to his secretary, F. C. Riley of Chicago. He will sail for Japan on the liner President Cleveland.

The post which he now occupies was made vacant by the resignation last June of Ambassador Cyrus E. Wood. President Coolidge offered the envoyship, one of the major diplomatic posts, to Mr. Bancroft in August.

Mr. Bancroft is a resident of Chicago and a distinguished member of the legal profession. His family has an American history of 284 years.

He is a graduate of Knox College and of Columbia University. At one time he was the legal representative of the Santa Fe system and later became vice-president and general solicitor of the Chicago and Western Indiana Railway, resuming private law practice in 1904.

TRUSTEE OF COLLEGES

During the World War he rendered patriotic services, having been chairman of the executive committee of the Chicago Branch of the National Security League. He was a valuable spokesman in the Liberty Loan drives and received the decorations of the Legion of Honor from France, of St. Sava from Jugo-Slavia, and of Leopold II from Belgium.

He was chairman of the Chicago Race Commission which investigated the race riots of 1919, and is now a trustee of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, of Knox College and of Tuskogee Institute.

sands of Southland citizens who visited her yesterday on Navy Day gained more confidence in the American Navy and this wonder ship instilled in them more confidence than a handful of patriotic speeches or music-filled parades.

The great host of the day, however, at Los Angeles Harbor was the U.S.S. California, flagship of the battle fleet, a close second to the West Virginia in effectiveness and ahead of her in the fame of her hospitality. The California yesterday afternoon entertained approximately 15,000 visitors on her spacious decks, enthralled them with Navy music and opened their minds to some of the remarkable accomplishments and strides of the modern navy.

PLANES SWOOP

[illegible] of the California's aviators, Lieuts. Jim Barner and "Dixie" [illegible] had their tiny fighting planes catapulted from the ship's quarterdeck during the afternoon and then circled the ship in flights of spectacular seaplane stunts.

"I wouldn't have missed it for a million!" said Capt. Raymond de Lacey Hasbrouck, commander of the cockpit of one of the giant ship's tiny fighting planes. Lieut. Barner had just taken the skipper up for a flight, a flight in which he had incidently scared the collective life out of the crowd of Navy Day guests aboard the giant dreadnaughts at anchor in the harbor below.

Lieut. Barner and Capt. Hasbrouck did Immelmann turns, falling leaves and "hatnots with the tiny seaplane, which looked small enough for a man to carry it off under his arm. The crowd held its breath because it had never seen stunts with a seaplane before.

But then the thousands of visitors who swarmed over the California and the other Navy ships in port saw many things they had never seen before. They had their eyes opened thoroughly to what the Navy is doing, peace-time accomplishments as well as the fighting stuff.

INSPIRING SIGHTS

They saw airplanes catapulted into full flight from the deck of a ship; they saw huge 100-ton guns shifted up, down and around as though they were toothpicks on a polished plate; they heard the Navy's best band burst forth into music that was much more than mere harmony; they saw the fleet crack marine guard go through the entire manual of arms faultlessly without command; they got a clear insight o' the life a man-o'-warsman leads on board a great battleship. They saw all this, and a great deal more, aboard the California.

All along the Pacific Coast, from Puget Sound to San Diego, where the ships of the Battle Fleet were anchored, the above program was repeated as part of America's third celebration of Navy Day. At Long Beach, there were at anchor the dreadnaughts Idaho and Arizona, while the other units of battleship divisions were distributed as follows: At Santa Barbara, the Pennsylvania; at Monterery, the Oklahoma; at Santa Cruz, the Nevada; at San Francisco, the New Mexico, Colorado, Maryland and Tennessee, and at Bremerton, Wash., the Mississippi.

HALFMAST FOR WALLACE

The fleet did not "dress ship" yesterday, out of deference to the death of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, and all ships carried their ensigns and jacks at halfmast from sunrise to sunset. At nightfall, however, they all "illuminated ship" and burst out against the background of night in a blaze of incandescence that presented a spectacular climax to the day.

Today the seafaring Americans and their 200 ships will again be just as enthusiastically at the work for which they live as they yesterday whole-heartedly honored the anniversary of the birth of the father of the modern American Navy, Theodore Roosevelt.

Capt. Hasbrouck and his entire ship's company of the California give themselves over to the entertainment of their guests and by nightfall 15,000 Californians were sure that they had been royally entertained.

At sunset the California hauled down the hundreds of vari-colored signal flags and pennants with which she had been dressed during the day and turned the current into 10,000 electric lights strung over her lines, superstructure and rigging. She stood out in a perfect silhoutte of incandescence, while above her the beams of her eight giant searchlights wove a network of light through the sky.

ROBISON AND STAFF HONORED AT LONG BEACH

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Oct. 27.—All Long Beach today paid tribute to the United States Navy, its men and its officers. Thousands of local folks visited the ships at anchor a mile or so off shore while men and women prominent in the service and business life of the city gathered at the Hotel Virginia to honor Admiral S. S. Robison, commander of the Battle Fleet, and his staff at a luncheon.

At Jefferson Junior High School Lieutenant-Commander J. L. Coffman of Admiral Robison's staff addressed the pupils at the Navy Day celebration there. At Polytechnic High School, Lieut. H. M. Peterson, chaplain of the battleship Arizona, delivered an address on the meaning and purpose of Navy Day.

The events of the day were climaxed here by a grand navy ball at the Hotel Virginia tonight, with Admiral and Mrs. Robison leading the grand march. A spectacular feature of the ball was the presentation of "the Queen of the Beaches" and "King Neptune."

TARS AND CIVILIANS MEET AT SAN DIEGO.

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 27.—San Diego, headquarters of the Eleventh Naval District, co-operated wholeheartedly today in the observance of Navy Day, thousands of citizens taking advantage of opportunity to visit the warships and different shore stations.

Three destroyers were tied up one of the municipal piers near the foot of Broadway, and the crews held open house through the day. Delegations of school children were among the many who inspected the trim little ships.

A special program was put on at the Naval Air Stations, and the observance of the day at North Island Airdrome was given added interest by the return of the world flyers.

Visitors also thronged the United States Naval Training Station and the United States Marine Corps base in the north side of the bay. At the former institution a special regimental parade this afternoon was a feature.

The blue jackets entertained civilians tonight at a public dance on Municipal Pier No. 2.

WILBUR ASSERTS NEED OF BUILDING TO RATIO

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Naval strength in the last analysis must be measured by the "blow a ship's gun can deliver at long ranges," Secretary Wilbur declared tonight in a radio Navy Day address. Efforts to acquire a "homogeneous fleet" for the United States will be unavailing, he asserted, unless the gun-elevating machinery on American battleships be improved to permit all main batteries to reach an average maximum elevation.

"Subject to the construction of the Treaty for the Limitation of Armaments we are asking Congress to authorize the necessary changes to permit this elevation," the secretary said "so that our fleet may have a maximum efficiency at long ranges. We anticipate that future naval wars will be fought in great fleet actions, where a nation will stake everything upon the issue of a single battle."

Denying that the Navy has overlooked the importance of aviation in modern naval strategy, Secretary Wilbur called attention that the horsepower of airplane engines in commission today in the Navy is almost equal to the total horsepower of the navy with which we defeated Spain, while there was on hand or building airplane engines which would more than double this power.

"The Navy Department recently reported to Congress that our Navy as a whole was only 80 per cent as powerful as that of Great Britain," he said. "This ratio was faulty, due to the fact that four of our battleships needed boiler repairs. Three of these have since been repaired.

The secretary quoted data to show that England now possessed superior tonnage to the United States in aircraft carriers and scout cruisers, having constructed extensively in both classes since the limitation treaty was adopted. He reviewed the proceedings in the last Congress which had resulted in the failure of the pending naval construction bill to become a law and declared that "it does not lie in the mouth of the nominee of the Democratic party to charge the administration with dereliction concerning the Navy when neded legislation proposed by the administration was defeated by two Democratic Senators."

"We are going ahead with our Navy plans," Secretary Wilbur declared. "If we and the other powers conform to the agreed ratio, not only in battleships but also in other surface and subsurface and aircraft, successful aggressive war between the signatory powers across the oceans which border our shores will be an impossibility."

He closed with a prediction that it would be possible to "outlaw war" just as civilization outlawed yellow fever, typhoid and other plagues.

PATRIOTIC EXERCISES CONDUCTED AT SAMOA

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

SAMOA, Oct. 27.—The Americans on the Isle of Samoa celebrated Navy Day with apropriate ceremonies.

Native Samoans participated in the festivities, the schools conducted patriotic exercises and a field day of sports and an American atmosphere to the celebration. Buildings were decorated and American flags were flying in profusion.

The naval commander on the island radiocast the following message to the commandant of the Twelfth Naval District:

"From far away in the South Seas, Samoa sends greetings to all Americans on Navy Day."

AGRICULTURAL SURVEY ON

J. B. Vaile, agriculture expert, recently engaged by the Chamber of Commerce, is in Orange county this week beginning the agricultural survey of the ten southern counties, a work that will take several years and which will afford the first exhaustive data on the resources of Southern California.

Mr. Vaile, who formerly was director of the California Farm Bureau Federation, is operating under Dr. George P. Clements, manager of the chamber's agricultural department. He will get definite information on the character of the lands, their water supply, value and so-forth in each district of Southern California. The cost will be shared by the community and the Los Angeles Chamber. The reports will be made available to the local community and to the Los Angeles Chamber, which will find them highly valuable in directing settlers.

Such data now available are of a very general nature, gleaned from the State and Federal reports. More definite information will make possible a more intelligent direction of settlers and a greater facility in working out agricultural problems common to the whole South.

Leytus was cared for at the Receiving Hospital and Loo was locked up.

certain. There was some doubt about the legality of the arrangement whereby the department would trade government royalty oil for construction work and Fall knew of this doubt, it was brought out.

The contract whereby it was proposed that the naval oil base be built provided for construction on a sort of a modified cost-plus basis, Finney testified. Admiral L. E. Gregory, chief of the Navy bureau of yards and docks, objected to the department against the work being undertaken on that basis and suggested that it be awarded on a lump sum basis, Finney's testimony and exhibits showed. The contract as awarded, however, was not on the lump-sum basis, evidence showed. Finney had joined with Gregory in this view, he testified.

MANY EXHIBITS

Roberts introduced many exhibits showing numerous conferences and exchanges of communication between Doheny interests and subordinates to whom Fall had intrusted the work of leasing the reserves and contracting for the oil-base construction. This was before the contract and lease were awarded to the Doheny companies.

It was again brought out that the Standard Oil Company and Associated Oil Company did not bid for the construction work, but that the Doheny companies were the only bidders for that part. Reference again was made to the fact that the Standard Oil Company had been advised by its attorney, Oscar Sutro, that such a contract as was contemplated would be illegal.

Roberts introduced considerable testimony and letters in an effort to show that while much of the negotiations leading to consummation of the contract and lease apparently went through Finney's hands that in reality he had little to do with them, but they were actually originated by persons with whom Fall was in closer contact and occasionally there were references to what seemed to be an understanding between Fall and Doheny regarding points having to do with the plans.

BIDS READ INTO RECORD

The bids of the Standard, Associated and Pan-American companies were in part introduced into the record by Roberts, and it was brought out that the Pan-American bid called also for the giving to it of preferential leasing rights in the reserve in the event of its bid being accepted. There were no other bidders.

At the time the bids were opened in the Interior Department, Fall was at his home in New Mexico and he was advised by Finney, the testimony showed, of the bids and that the Pan-American Company had submitted the best bid and Finney suggested that its bid be accepted. Fall's reply was that if this was acceptable to the Navy Department the bid of the Doheny company be accepted and publicity then be given to the transaction.

The government did not get through examining Finney yesterday and he will go on the stand again today when the trial is resumed at 10 a.m., it was understood. Finney appears to be the government's chief witness, and it has been drawing from him the principal thread of narrative of what took place in the department prior to the consummation of the contract and lease at stake in the trial.

In the first place the government questions the legality of the lease and has attempted to show how his was a subject of discussion among all concerned at the time the contract and lease were being arranged. The government introduced no further evidence yesterday concerning the $100,000 loan which Edward L. Doheny made to Fall about the time the contract and lease were made.

DEFENSE PLANS

The defense is expected to take Finney for cross-examination when the government is through with him and the cross-examination is expected by defense attaches to consume about two days. Much of Finney's testimony yesterday had to do with how pending leases in the reserve were cleared up and the way apparently cleared for the leasing of the whole reserve to Doheny interests. It was brought out that Doheny interests objected to the proposal that the Pearl Harbor work be done on a lump-sum basis instead of the cost-plus basis plus certain fixed fees.

ter, it was pointed out by Chief Electrical Engineer E. F. Scattergood, will serve as one of the major units of the great network of heavy power lines and other distributing facilities that are being extended and improved to meet rapid increases in the demand for industrial power.

The Mateo substation will have a frontage of 100 feet on Mateo street and, with all units completed, a depth of 160 feet. It is to be a "Class A" reinforced concrete, two-story structure with an ultimate distributing capacity of 50,000 horsepower.

This station will be used almost exclusively to relay electric power to operate industrial plants in its vicinity. Including necessary electrical equipment, the building will cost approximately $200,000, it was stated.

The $7,000,000 is to be invested in extending and improving power service to industrial consumers in Los Angeles, Scattergood declared yesterday, does not include extensions and betterments also being made to meet rapidly growing power and light requirements of domestic and commercial consumers.

Explaining that more than 90 per cent of all the industrial power used by factories in the city is served by the Power Bureau and that these consumers now have a total connected power load of 190,000 horsepower, Scattergood pointed out that the new facilities capable of caring for an additional 40,000 horsepower demand will provide an increase amounting to more than 25 per cent for one year alone.

"A review of the work being rushed forward by the Power Bureau to meet the increasing demands for power service from new and expanding industries gives a very clear idea of the industrial growth of Los Angeles," stated Mr. Scattergood.

"Extensions being made by the bureau are only those that are necessary to provide adequate and dependable service to the thousands of factories and shops requiring this service."

Indicating the ever-widening areas being taken over by industrial activities in Los Angeles Burdett Moody, business agent of the Power Bureau, yesterday released the following schedule of the various industrial sections that are to be covered by the bureau's program of power line extensions and improvements and the amounts to be expended in each section:

East Los Angeles, for substation facilities, enlarging and extending power lines, $960,000.

Santa Fe-southeast industrial area, general enlargements and extensions, $1,400,000.

South Park industrial district, power line enlargements and extensions, $1,100,000.

San Fernando Valley, greatly increased facilities for heavy power service, $1,200,000.

Florence avenue and Shoe String district, extensions and improvements to heavy power service, $700,000.

Harbor district, extending and enlarging power service facilities to meet requirements of great waterfront industries, $1,350,000.

In addition to these investments, which total $6,710,000, it was explained by Moody that other scattered improvements will be made to heavy power lines, costing several hundred thousand dollars, during the next three years.

five-three agreement adopted by the powers at the Disarmament Conference in Washington in 1922," said Admiral Pratt, "This agreement extends to all craft connected with the Navy Department, including ships, submarines and airplanes. The effect of its adoption has fully met all expectations. It has insured peace in the Pacific, and has placed the great nations of the world on a basis of equality in the matter of armament without working a hardship in any quarter."

Luther K. Bell of Washington, traffic manager of the Air Mail Service, spoke of the development of that service, in that connection calling attention to the aerial mail line established between New York and San Francisco a few months ago.

"Six million miles have been traveled by the mail planes and 2000 tons of mail have been carried since the establishment of the air service," he said. "It has been demonstrated that this method of transporting mail is practicable, speedy and safe, only about 125 pounds of mail having been lost since the service was established."

Speaking of the establishment of an air mail line to Los Angeles, he suggested that the speediest method of accomplishing this would be for the people of the city to make use of the existing air mail service to the fullest possible extent. "Under the present arrangement, which involves the carrying of air mail by rail a part of the way, twenty-four hours can be gained from Los Angeles to Chicago or New York by sending mail by the air route," he said.

In opening the meeting yesterday, President Lacy called attention to the fact that this was the first gathering of the members of the chamber since the death of Frank Wiggins, the late secretary of the organization, and at the president's suggestion the entire audience rose in silent tribute to the memory of the former official.

which were reposited in the large gun sack which we brought on foot to the place on purpose.

"Much interested in country life, English style, we picked up until the sun began to sit, our hands tired and our back sore. Being fatigue, and not having no chairs, pas, we seated became on the side of one irrigation river that flows in the other direction.

"When down the country boulevard we caw caming, also heard her, one many horses powder motor lorrie with muffler open, running so fast she went zig-zag on the boulevard. And she stopped just vis-a-vis our sack of nuts. The man who lighted grabbed these nuts and sack and yelling 'Thiefs,' drove away with nut, leaving us with for our whole afternoon labor not one solitaire nut, only fatigue and insultation about being called to our own faces, 'Thiefs.'"

M. Grandjean says he suspects the nut robber to be the man who owns the orchard, and after giving the Sheriff this clew he returned to Sawtelle, where he is now engaged in research to ascertain whether cuckoo clocks of the Swiss type could be manufactured successfully in Southern California. It is understood that the only difficulty experienced is in the voice of the cuckoo, which, because of the balmy climate here, is inclined to be more like a nightingale than the rugged bird of the Alps.

SCENARIO MARKET BLAMED

Writer Says Works Not Selling as Wife Seeks Back Alimony; Lawyer Urges Jail for 'Local Color'

Albert G. Kenyon, scenario writer, appeared in Judge Summerfield's department of Superior Court yesterday to explain why he hadn't made up the $790 in alimony due to his wife, Evelyn Kenyon.

The scenario writer said that he hadn't been able to sell any of his scenarios in recent months, but that he had succeeded in borrowing $200 and was ready to hand over $125 of the loan to his wife.

Clare Warne, attorney for Mrs. Kenyon, thereupon arose and announced frankly that the arrangement proposed by the husband did not suit him in the least. He asked that Kenyon be forced to hand over the entire $200 to his wife.

"Then," he said, "the defendant should be placed in jail. It wouldn't do him any harm. In fact it would be a blessing in disguise. He could absorb great quantities of 'local color' in jail and then he could write any number of masterpieces for the screen and would never fall in arrears in his payments to my client again."

The court, however, didn't think that Kenyon could absorb very much local color in jail. So the case was continued for two weeks after Kenyon had handed over $125 to his wife.

CHURCH OF OPEN DOOR IS OUSTED

tendent of the Bible Institute and a member of the board of elders of the church, presided at last night's meeting. Mr. Richards read the constitution and by-laws, which were adopted by the congregation.

Joseph Irvine, president of the directorate of the Bible Institute, then announced that he had a brief communication to read to the congregation, which was the request that the congregation vacate the premises by February 1.

Members of the investigating committee and the constitution and by-laws committee said last night that a meeting of the congregation would be called in the near future to decide on another meeting place.

Numerous members of the congregation last night declared that although the church used the Bible Institute Auditorium rent free it had donated liberally to the purchase of the organ, the radio broadcasting set and the piano used; but that these donations had been paid into the Bible Institute, instead of the Church of the Open Door.

The request to vacate read by Mr. Irvine was as follows:

Los Angeles,
October 27, 1924.

To the Church of the Open Door:

The board of directors of the Bible Institute of Los Angeles has for some time past realized it was difficult to have a separate organization occupying its property and often has discussed the advisability of the institute using the auditorium for its own services. The directorate deeply regrets the conditions that have developed in the Church of the Open Door and a continuance of such conditions is deemed detrimental to the Bible Institute.

We therefore feel that this is a logical time to make a change and it is with sorrow that we feel obliged to give the Church of the Open Door notice that it is to their best interests as well as to our own that they seek another place of meeting at their earliest convenience and not later than February 1.

When the Church of the Open Door vacates the Bible Institute auditorium the institute will then take such means for the organization of its church or such other form of organization under the direction of the institute as may seem best to meet the spiritual needs of all of those that may desire to worship at the Bible Institute.

In this connection the board of directors desire it to be understood that the policy heretofore followed of suggesting to all students of the institute that they retain their membership in and attendance upon the churches of their own choice, shall not be affected.

(Signed) J. M. IRVINE,
President Bible Institute.

Mr. Horton said last night:

"I myself raised the money for the purchase of the organ and the broadcasting set. There were some donations from the congregation. They used the organ and the sermons were broadcast. I think the congregation owns the piano.

"There has been some trouble and disagreement recently caused by disgruntled persons among the congregation that was not pleasant for the institute. Some time ago the Bible Institute took over the Sunday-evening meetings. The Church of the Open Door has been meeting in the institute auditorium for about nine years and the institute has been expecting for some time past to take over the auditorium for its use. We organized the church and carried it on until the advent of the self-appointed investigating committee."

Headaches Caused by Ill Fitting Shoes

Many nervous troubles are the direct cause of pains in the feet, according to information compiled by foot specialists in the Ground Gripper Shoe Stores. They have also found that many people who are suffering from nervous pains and disorders in legs and back are really suffering as a result of shoes that fit them improperly.

During the past years the Ground Gripper Shoe Stores have been offering a free foot examination to men, women and children who have been annoyed by foot pains. In the majority of cases, these foot specialists find, the remedy is absurdly simple. Usually the fault lies in the way the shoe is fitted. In an effort to be stylishly shod, the toes have been cramped and the whole foot squeezed. This restricts circulation and causes pains to develop in many other parts of the body.

Usually the pain can be quickly relieved by properly fitted shoes of sensible construction, according to C. H. Fontius, proprietor of the Ground Gripper Stores. He recommends Ground Gripper Shoes because they are especially designed to fit the natural shape of the feet. They have room for every toe and they place the arch in its normal position. There is no undue pressure on any part of the feet. This permits the foot to relax and pain vanishes. Many cases of serious foot and nervous trouble have been restored to health simply by wearing these shoes, which from the outside look much like any stylish shoe.

This free foot examination is available to anyone at either of C. H. Fontius's Ground Gripper Shoe Stores. In Los Angeles at 714 South Hill St., on the mezzanine of the seventh and Hill Bldg. In Long Beach at 407 Pine Avenue.—[Advertisement.

THOUSANDS GET GIFT AT 'TIMES'

Monday Allotment of Checks Quickly Exhausted

Thrift Spirit Grows as Host Opens Savings Accounts

Pass Books Will be Issued by Seaboard National

Demonstrating the fact that only a "reminder" and a little "lift" is necessary to start the majority of persons on the pathway to thrift, thousands of men, women and children yesterday took advantage of the offer of The Times to present the public with a gift of $25,000 in $1 checks.

So enthusiastic was the response to the offer that the allotment of banks, checks and "Aphorism Booklets" for Monday was exhausted by 3 p.m. Twenty pretty girls, employed yesterday to present checks and banks to callers, will return to the same booths today to remain until Tuesday's allotment has been distributed. Checks and banks also will be given out to all who ask for them at The Times' Branch Office on South Spring street.

Accounts opened yesterday at the Seaboard National Bank, on which the checks are drawn, ranged from $1 to almost $1000, proving that the purpose of The Times Thrift Campaign, which is to inculcate the spirit of thrift, has already begun to bear fruit.

BOBBY IS FIRST

Robert Louis Brown, 20 months of age, son of H. B. Brown, was the first to open a savings account at the Seaboard National Bank with a Times check yesterday morning. Bobby was waiting with "mother and daddy" long before the savings windows were open. Informed by the young man's parents that Bobby was in a hurry to return home for breakfast, John R. [illegible], vice-president of the bank, attended to the youngster's wants personally, giving him the first passbook issued on account of The Times Thrift Campaign. Mr. Brown added $20 to the account, a dollar for each month of the little fellow's life.

Robert's brother Danny, who is "going on 8," also opened an account with a Times bank and check and "awhale lot of other money" that he had saved up.

CAN'T GO BROKE

"I'll never be 'broke' again," said Bob Flowers of 424 East Seventh street, as he walked up to the savings window at the bank, handed in his check and asked for a pass book. "I've got $1 in the bank now and in fifty weeks I'll have $50, plus interest. Nothing like saving!"

"Do you think you can save a dollar a week?"

The question was asked of little Ambrose Gilbert of 130 East Thirty-first street, when he proudly deposited his check with "the bank man."

"You bet I can," he answered. "If I have to, I'll cut down on candy and movies."

One of the depositors was Cornelius Supple of South Pasadena. He opened his first account fifty years ago with $2 in the Suffolk Bank at Boston. That account has grown to several thousand dollars. Mr. Supple also opened an account yesterday for his daughter.

CHECKS WILL "KEEP"

The Times checks are good until used by the recipient and anyone who wishes to wait until he has saved another dollar or more before getting a passbook, may do so. The bank holds the keys to the aluminum banks in which the recipient is advised to deposit "one dime a day, however small." For this reason the temptation to extract money from these banks may not be yielded to except by bank-breakers who do not know any better than to steal from themselves.

CONDITIONS OF GIFT

The conditions under which The Times checks on the Seaboard National Bank are made payable to "bearer" are as follows:

The check, with or without any additional money, is received by the bank as a first deposit to open a new savings account. The depositor will receive interest at the rate of 4 per cent, compounded semiannually, including interest on the dollar check. The depositor shall add to the account $1 or more each week for twelve months. Only one check will be received from each depositor. Withdrawal of the deposits before one year from date of opening account forfeits the Times credit. Deposits made in excess of the above may be withdrawn without forfeiting the credit.

"DOLLARS ARE DIFFERENT"

Louis Rich, originator of the "Thrift Campaign" idea, and who, assisted by The Times, "put the idea over" in Los Angeles seventeen years ago, has for many years been working on the "big idea" throughout the United States, developing the plan with the aid of savings banks and newspapers interested in the welfare of society. "The secret of all financial success is thrift," said Mr. Rich. "Thrift means spending less than one's income. It means planting small coins and reaping wealth. It means all that ambitious persons strive for—home, education for the children, debts paid, money in the bank and freedom from worry.

"All dollars are not alike," continued Mr. Rich. "Some dollars bring remorse, those obtained by dishonest methods. The dollar won by chance is likely to be lost the same way. However, the dollar earned, saved and dedicated to wise purposes, has an incalculable value. The dollars being presented to the public by The Times are dedicated to thrift and are worth far more than their face value, for they mean peace of mind, social service and character development."

According to Mr. Rich, saving money can be made easy if practiced systematically over a given period of time, however small the amounts saved. The power of thrift, declares this expert, may be developed in the same way that muscles are developed—by exercise.

"There is no mystery about success," said Mr. Rich. "The formula is summed up in the one word, thrift. Practically every successful man in history formed the habit of saving in his youth. The big men of the future will be the boy savers of today. The dollar that comes from physical or mental effort and that is stored up for the future is more precious and valuable to the owner than many times the amount gained through gambling or speculation."

VERY AGREEABLE

The ZR-3 makes a $2,200,000 payment on Germany's debt to the United States and everybody is satisfied—which is agreeably unusual.

LACK OF PLOTS

Mary Roberts Rinehart deplores the lack of plot in modern stories. She thinks authors think more of grammar than they do of the story. Certainly imagination—ingenuity—is the art when it comes to story-telling. Given the rarity of a plot, any number of grammarians may be had to touch it up and whip it into shape.

OUR COTTON

Nobody is more anxious to see Europe settle down to business than the American cotton grower. For foreign demand is, of course, the factor which determines the price, as it does for any crop where there is a surplus over domestic use. The German loan will bring back the German spindles. Europe is not so far away in these days as tradition used to make her.

INDIANS ON THE INCREASE

The Indian population of the United States increased 6619 in the past year and now totals 636,692. Oklahoma still leads the States, with 119,939 Indians, and next in order is Arizona, with 49,591. And, what is still more to the point, these Indians are now citizens of the United States, as they should be. The political dominion of the Indian Bureau is drawing to its term. Justice, tardy but certain, has given to the first Americans their rights.

IN NORTH DAKOTA

A proper arrangement regarding Presidential electors has been made in North Dakota, where the nominal Republican candidates were actually La Follette adherents. These La Follette candidates will withdraw, Coolidge supporters will be put on the ballot instead and a La Follette list will be carried in the "individual-nominations" column under the Wisconsin Senator's name.

This is just to all concerned and it would be well if a similar spirit of fair play could be depended on in all other States. There is a point beyond which partisanship should not go—and cannot afford to go.

THE HOME EXAMPLE

That "common-sense" method of taxation, as stated by President Coolidge, is worth preserving: "Getting all we can out of the rich by making rates moderate and stimulating business to provide work and increase the earnings of the poor." There is no surer way to handicap manufactures and reduce the pay roll than by excessive taxation. The overhead has a most intimate relation to the wage scale. America offers no more striking example of this than the marvelous influx of manufacturing plants to Los Angeles, where comparatively low taxes, a low price for public-utility service and good wages with freedom of labor prevail in every avenue of trade. The same will apply to all Southern California.

HOW THE FARMERS PROFIT

The direct benefits of a protective tariff were never more clearly set forth than in the unobtrusive paragraph in President Coolidge's latest address, in which he shows that in this country we consume from four to six times as much in dairy products as England and Italy. These figures, he says, indicate that "protection makes high wages, which makes good business, which enables our people to be the largest consumers of farm products and gives our farmers the best markets in the world." The claim is often made by opponents of the protective tariff that it merely benefits manufacturers and this argument has fooled some people who see but one side of a question. The fact is that the influence reaches into every avocation in America and, as President Coolidge has so well said, enables our people to live better by reason of the higher wages they receive.

SERENE COUNSEL

In his speech Thursday the President declared that the economic development of the nation can rest only upon the firm foundation of ministering to human welfare. We cannot thrive upon sectionalism or privilege. Our progress must take into consideration all divisions of our territory and all the elements of society. Our place in the world may be maintained only through honor and justice. Our government must contribute to peace abroad and must be sustained by industry, security, economy, charity, education and religious conviction at home. It must nourish that most precious product of all human activity which we designate as character. In other words, President Coolidge thinks that we will be measured in the scales of justice by the quality of our citizenship. We must have character in the nation and in the individual. In this the importance of having religious convictions is not overlooked. A people who show respect for the Almighty will win and merit respect for themselves. The words of the President are those of one in whom reverence for the law, the faith and the flag are part of the life current. Under such guidance the country could not deservedly fall into danger.

WHERE THE TAX BURDEN FALLS

When the books of the collectors of internal revenue all over the country were ordered exposed the other day and the white light of publicity beat down upon their shrinking nakedness the public took a long, keen look and ejaculated in a sibilant hiss heard from Long Island to Santa Monica, "ah, ha, we told you so!"

Whether or not it was good judgment to cast aside the mantle of privacy which has enveloped the income of the American millionaire or wage-earner, the curtain has been lifted and some curious facts are disclosed which add pertinency to a question currently asked by a national weekly, to-wit: "What becomes of the rich man's income?"

After satisfying one's curiosity as to the returns made by our real plutocrats, the moving-picture stars, the most striking feature of the undraped figures are the comparatively small taxes paid by some men whose wealth is known to be very large. Like, for instance, John D. Rockefeller, Sr., who paid $124,266.47 this year, while poorer men paid twenty-five times as much.

There is no intimation that these gentlemen have evaded the law; they have merely taken advantage of the law by investing their funds in tax-exempt securities. It is an economic truism that capital will seek the most favorable return, but taxation affects the choice of investment; funds drift naturally to tax-exempt lines and a serious crimp is put upon legitimate industrial, commercial and utility development.

The reverse side of the picture shows a startling growth in municipal borrowings, bordering in many instances upon grotesque extravagance. It has become very easy for cities and other political divisions to borrow funds at a low rate of interest because of the advantageous tax-exemption features.

This argument has been used effectively in campaigns for approval of such issues; and it is an open secret in the financial marts that some municipalities have been borrowing far beyond their requirements.

In 1917 and earlier years the average size of all State and municipal issues was about $89,000. This year the average size of these loans approximates $200,000. In other words, the cost of a schoolhouse, bridge, road, Courthouse or sewer system has considerably more than doubled, and a part of the increased borrowing may be explained in this way.

After making all the deductions and allowances there are to make, the bald fact remains that the owners of more than $30,000,000,000 of property in the United States will pay no taxes on it this year. Of course, taxes will be paid indirectly, but not by the wealthy owners most able to settle with the collector.

Whenever a taxpayer, legally or otherwise, dodges paying his full share of taxes some one else has to pay them for him; in this case by the simple expedient of increasing the taxes of those who cannot turn their property into tax-exempt securities.

All this is legal and quite in line with good business ethics and practice, but the second line of defense, those poorer in purse and less able to pay taxes than the first group are forced to pay, with their own tax, an invisible but no less real and burdensome tax on more than $30,000,000,000 owned by their wealthier fellow-citizens, besides which they have had forced or gently insinuated upon them millions in additional and unnecessary municipal indebtedness created that the man of wealth may invest his funds in first-class bonds upon which he is not required to pay a tax and the whole load falls upon the overburdened shoulders of the worker, who appears to be all but defenseless under the workings of the present income-tax law.

Senator Capper of Kansas, in an interview, made this succinct statement:

"This steady increase of untaxed billions compels a heavier and heavier tax upon land, a progressively heavier tax upon railways and other public-service corporations; a constantly increasing tax upon manufacturers and their equipment. It means more taxes for the storekeeper and all are passed on to the general public and the consumer, with their own special share of the taxes to be paid ultimately by the householder and the 'small' taxpayer."

The entire situation, local as well as national, has run "hog wild." Municipalities from one end of the country to the other have become heavy borrowers, and interest and sinking funds must be provided out of tax budgets; at large the lists of the collectors show wide and aching voids where our captains of finance have taken advantage of their rights in the premises and "passed the buck" to the "small" taxpayer, although this species is rapidly becoming extinct.

The time has come to call a halt.

A NOBLE SACRIFICE

Badly injured and for a time pinioned beneath an overturned motor car near the body of her husband, who had been killed when the car dashed over a high cliff to a canyon floor in the San Bernardino Mountains, waiting for four days for help to come to her, a noble woman, suffering from shock, exposure and starvation, cared for her injured 5-year-old niece, whose life she preserved by slashing her own breasts and forcing the child to drink the blood. She gave her life that the little one might live. In the freezing nights in the mountains the heroic woman partly disrobed herself and wrapped her clothing about the little girl. She would not put on an extra coat that lay near her, but used it as a shroud to cover her husband's body. Without food or drink she maintained her weary, torturous vigil, cold, hungry and thirsty, gradually sinking until she was found by a searching party and was taken, with the little one, to a hospital at San Bernardino, where she died.

One will search far for such an example of womanly sacrifice, and yet all who understand the sympathetic nature of woman, her tender, loyal devotion to her kin and her readiness at all times to minister to the needs of others in distress know that, given the opportunity, there are many of her sex who would not hesitate to perform similar deeds; and it detracts nothing from the nobility of the splendid act here noted to say that the only reason why more of these valiant, sacrificial deeds are not performed by women is that it is not often one is placed in such a terrible position as was Mrs. T. G. Kelty, the heroine of the canyon.

Poets have sung of the loyal, sacrificial nature of woman's love, as in Joaquin Miller's "Greatest Battle," in Kipling's "Mother o' Mine" and in Scott's "Marmion," with its tenderly appreciative lines,

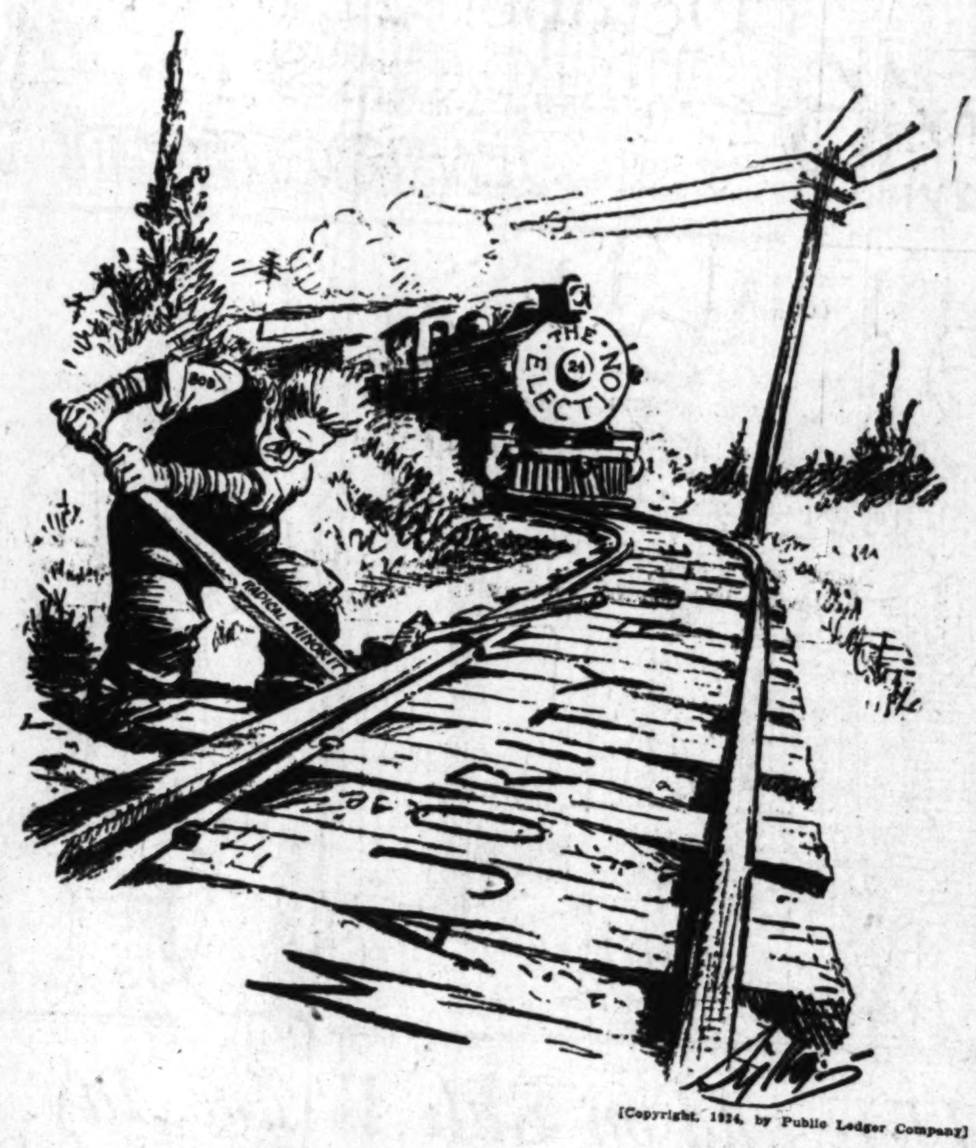
"When pain and anguish wring the brow,
A ministering angel thou."

But the Madonna-like character of the good woman, ever ready to slave toilsomely and to endure tortures that she may alleviate the sufferings of others never has been and never will be fitly celebrated.

A few weeks ago near Monterey a runaway motor car in which lay a baby fast asleep dashed over a cliff at the seaside. The child's mother instantly sprang upon the running board and would have gone down with the car but that the stout branches of a tree brushed her back at the brink of the cliff. Here would have been a needless sacrifice, for the well-bundled child was unhurt by the fall, but the woman, with her blind, unreasoning mother instinct which led her to take what others would have considered this desperate and, indeed, hopeless chance to save her babe heeded nothing but the fact that it was in extreme danger.

It is good to know that the grand sacrifice of Mrs. Kelty which has thrilled all hearts has been so generally recognized. It is such noble acts that renew our faith in the human race.

The "Constructive" Candidate



[Copyright, 1924, by Public Ledger Company]

"IN HIS OWN COUNTRY"

Right here in Los Angeles are many fine artists. Most of them complain, and rightfully so, of lack of support and patronage. They contend that the old adage, "a prophet is not without honor save in his own country," holds more than good in their case. How many of us have given serious consideration to the many artists that make their home in Los Angeles?

Let those who have real imagination free it from all shackles and permit it work to the fullest extent. Consider the great cities of Europe, great, not in population, but in historical significance. There is Paris, of course, and London, Florence, Milan, Venice, Antwerp, Salzburg, Vienna. They all awaken memories of events that have passed. Once a great school of painters or sculptors or musicians worked there and found expression for the life around them.

Let us imagine Los Angeles as an art center, where music and painting and sculpture and architecture are as important as mills and the selling of real estate. Los Angeles has a distinguished group of men and women who have been distinctly recognized, and recognized by all the world, while a sturdy band of younger men and women promise to keep the ball rolling.

Outside Los Angeles many of these men and women are better known than in their own habitat. Los Angeles people, with wealth and the inclination to travel, have been "discovering" artists in all quarters of the globe.

For some time it has been the aim of a number of Los Angeles men and women to create an appreciative public. The patronage system did not die with the inpoverishment of the nobility in the countries once ravished by Napoleon.

There are wealthy patrons of the fine arts in the United States, and particularly here in Southern California; and stories of rich connoisseurs who have "tided over" young artists as common today as in 1790. But today there is more charity in the "loans" than in the time of the Esterhazys. Then the artist was bound by a certain commission to his or her patron which he had to fulfill.

Large paintings cannot be put on the walls of small homes. Statues are too large for the modern apartment. Lack of the baronial castle has deprived civilization of an emotional outlet which is only partially replaced by the museum. In the end it is for the individual to appreciate the work of art. If it is true that music needs a listener, it is also true that a statue must be looked upon, and there are those who say that it must be lived with to be appreciated.

Many of the glorious "museum pieces" which seem marvelous today originally were intended only for one household.

There is no logical reason why the collector should confine himself to the antiques; for artists are creating with the same unbounded enthusiasm that spurred them to work for the Medicis.

If there is little money, say the art lovers, save the little and buy one good work of art for your home, instead of a number of useless ornaments which mean nothing. An artist must live and his value to the community is increased by everything he or she does for that community, for which he is paid. Support the Los Angeles artists, buy a picture or statue for your home and reap your reward in the co-operative cultural development.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

"Live and Let Live"

Raisuli, chief of the Riff tribesmen, who has been doing some successful fighting against the Spanish colonial army in North Africa, says he will not oppose the withdrawal of Spanish forces. After all, everybody has to live and the poor Spanish soldiers cannot be held responsible for the foolish adventure of their leader, Gen. Primo de Rivera, so speaks Raisuli. The words are reminiscent of an incident in history. Henry IV of Navarre and France once said something along the same line. The Duc de Bellegarde was Henry's rival for the affections of beautiful Gabrielle d'Estress. Henry was jealous of Bellegarde and everybody knew it. One day when Bellegarde was in Gabrielle's apartment the King called unexpectedly. In order to avoid trouble for all concerned Bellegarde wanted to make a quick disappearance. All exits being barred, he scrambled under the bed. Henry probably saw the "last of him" sliding under or else suspected his presence, for he decided to stay a while, ordered supper and enjoyed the worries of the beautiful Gabrielle and the discomfort of the Duke. Partridges were served and their odor was appetizing. Suddenly the King threw a partridge under the bed saying: "Well, after all, everybody has to live."

Future Brings Good News

Germans wept, we are told, when the last Zeppelin lifted itself from the ground and started on its trans-Atlantic voyage. They may be pardoned for their display of emotion. The dirigible is a great scientific German conquest, and it must be hard for the makers and mechanics to see the last of their handiwork leave them with the thought that the Versailles Treaty will allow Germany no more of them. But the Germans should have their eyes to the future. A nation that could astonish the world in so many respects need not despair. Greater things she will yet accomplish. That marvelous national mind, misguided and misdirected in channels of hatred and war, will startle humanity again, but next time with its contributions to the peace and happiness of the human race.

RIPPLING RHYMES

KEEP ON

If you're determined to be great and reach a height sublime, heed not the words of those who state that you are wasting time, who say you should be hauling slate or packing bricks and lime. "Do something useful," men will say, "instead of dreaming dreams; go out of town and harvest hay and drive the farmer's teams; you're throwing golden hours away, pursuing idle schemes." 'Twas thus men talked to Tom Carlyle a hundred years ago; his hopes of greatness caused a smile as men went to and fro; "That feckless loon will gain no pile," they said, "of useful dough. He's nearly thirty years of age and he is busted flat; he has no bawbees, we'll engage, to buy a Sunday hat, he's tutoring, for paltry wage, a youth whose head is flat. And we could name a score of lads who think his course is vile; they're out to get the precious scads which make all mortals smile; no visions vain, no idle fads, can lure them half a mile." In sickness, poverty and care the dauntless Thomas wrought; his pantry void, his cupboard bare when for a pie he sought; and still he sat upon his chair and thought and thought and thought. And so he went his toilsome way and reached that height sublime; he might have garnered oats and maize in Scotia's rigid clime, if he had listened to the jays who thought his course a crime. You fix your eyes upon the peak, you're bound as by a spell; and men will say you are a freak and need a padded cell; but do not heed the words they speak—strive on, and all is well.

THIS IS THE DAY

The battle of White Plains, N. Y., was fought in the year 1776. It was but a skirmish, yet it had a great effect on the campaign being carried out by Gen. Washington against Gen. Howe. Though the British had the best of this skirmish, it failed to drive the American Army from the hilly country north of New York, where the Americans held strong positions near White Plains. The campaign culminated in Washington's brilliant victory at Trenton.

Bartholdi's colossal statue of "Liberty Enlightening the World" was unveiled on Bedloe's Island in New York Harbor in the year 1886. The oration of the day was delivered by Chauncey M. Depew. The total height of the statue and pedestal is 306 feet.

LETTERS TO The Times

Voting by Mail

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] We notice your editorials and cartoons about the nonvoter. Are you aware that many of our registered voters are barred from voting owing to the ruling that only traveling men can vote by mail? This cuts off any school-teacher who has gone to another county, as he or she cannot vote by mail nor has she been in the last county long enough to be lawfully registered so as to vote in the present residence precinct. Pupils in our universities are also cut off in the same manner. This ruling was made to me by Miss Gladys Stewart, County Clerk of Tulare county. Is there anything that can be done to remedy this at this time? I know of several that would like to cast their vote on this national election, but are too far from home to possibly do it. Your aid in obtaining this right will be appreciated by those who are training our future voters.

The Strap-Hanger

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I wonder if the Health Department and other city officials know we have several "Black Holes of Calcutta" in Los Angeles each evening and sometimes in the morning also. I counted sixty-eight people packed into the closed compartment of a "O" street car the other evening (and this seems to be the usual crowd) and the air furnished them was what could get in over the heads of those packing the entrance doorway and over the heads of those packing the two small doorways leading into the open compartments at each end (which were packed full.) The windows in the closed compartment are stationary and there are no transom windows at all to open up. We have no particular complaint with the street-car company over the packed condition of its cars during the evening rush, but health and a plain sense of humanity would seem sufficient to cause the said company to correct the above evil.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Apropos of the discussion of the value of the works of Anatole France I should like to call attention to two products of his versatile pen which possess those ethical and perhaps spiritual values which should give them a wide reading here as well as elsewhere. One, "Le Livre de Mon Ami," deserves a place beside Pierre Loti's "The Romance of a Child," which has been a classic in child-study circles for nearly a quarter of a century. HOW IT STARTED

Smoking

Popular belief credits the Indians with bequeathing to the white man the joys of smoking. Recent discoveries, however, reveal the fact that the habit was indulged in centuries before the American Indian saw the light of day.

We know now that smoking has been going on in Asia for some 2000 years, and it was probably by way of China that America inherited the practice.

The early smokers, East Indians and the Babylonians, too, probably, were unfamiliar with tobacco. What they smoked were woods and herbs, the blending of which was just as much of an art as the blending of tobacco today. These woods were burned to charcoal and smoked through a pipe. When the charcoal was red hot a powder was dropped on it and the resulting smoke was inhaled. Throughout Central Asia in these remote times the gum of trees, bark and various kinds of flowers, too, were grist for the smoker's mill.

In the yield of ruins of cities of ancient Rome, notably Pompeii, has been found evidence that the Romans, too, were [illegible] this solace was [illegible] ularly in the [illegible] pipes found have been [illegible] and elaborate in design.

YOSEMITE WINTER MECCA

...k Crowded For Holiday Season, Says Official Here on Visit; Sports Popular

...development of winter sports in the Yosemite has been car... a point where the park is almost as attractive to the tourist ... as it is in summer, it was stated yesterday by F. S. Towns... the ranger chief of the Yosemite National Park.

... Townsley, who is at the ... came to Los Angeles to at... the Federal court, where a ... of violation of the park's ... relating to firearms is being ...

"... under the impression ... it would be difficult at this ... to obtain reservations at the ... hotels for the holiday sea...," said Mr. Townsley. "Thou... of people spend Christmas and New Year there, and requests for reservations begin to come in early in the fall.

"The park offers unexcelled opportunities for skiing, snowshoeing, skating, tobogganing and other sports. The toboggan slides are particularly popular because arrangements have been made so that it isn't necessary to pull the toboggan up the incline, this arduous task being performed by electricity."

The force of park rangers under the direction of Mr. Townsley numbers thirty men during the summer season. These men are not a part of the forestry service, being under the direct supervision of the Interior Department.

"In addition to keeping a lookout for fires, the rangers are clothed with police powers, policing being an important function during the tourist rush season," said Mr. Townsley. "About 120,000 persons visited the park this summer and the duty rests upon the rangers to see that the park rules are obeyed.

TRAFFIC RULES

"Most of the rules pertain to traffic regulations. While the park embraces some 1125 square miles, the camping areas are comparatively small and at the height of the season they present all the problems of city traffic. At times this summer there were more than 12,000 persons camped in the park at one time."

Aside from the traffic rules, the restriction which the park authorities enforce most rigidly is that prohibiting any form of firearms within the park limits. "All guns are sealed by the rangers at the park entrance and the breaking of the seal during the owner's stay in the park carries a penalty," Mr. Townsley said.

WILD ANIMALS

"As a result of the prohibition of shooting, the park has become a sanctuary for thousands of deer and other animals. The fawns are so tame that it is possible to get near enough to feed them. The only creatures we seek to get rid of are mountain lions, lynx and coyotes. When these animals become too numerous the rangers go out and kill them off, but no visitor is allowed to do so."

The chief stated that while the park had been threatened by fire a number of times during the present season, no fire damage had occurred. "Perhaps this is to be attributed to luck to a certain extent, but we have also been successful in enforcing the rules relating to fires within the park limits. Our rangers keep a sharp lookout for infractions of these rules and as the recognized camp areas do not involve a vast amount of territory, the rangers are able to keep the situation well in hand."

The suit of Mrs. Genevieve Jevne for divorce from Jack A. Jevne, vice-president of the H. The Jevnes were married in 1896 and separated in August, 1922, according to the wife's complaint in which she charged desertion and cruelty.

Angeleno Duck Hunter Dies of Gunshot Wound

E. M. Elliott, 35 years of age, automobile salesman, employed by the Greer-Robbins Company, and residing at 546 North Beachwood avenue, died yesterday at 7:45 a.m. at the Escondido Hospital to which he had been removed after a gunshot accident while duck hunting at Hodges Lake, near Escondido, on Sunday.

An inquest will be conducted today at 10 a.m. at Escondido, after which the body is to be sent to Los Angeles for burial.

According to Kenneth Kelly of the Greer-Robbins Company and Charles A. Kitley, 3449 Castas avenue, with Mr. Elliott at the time of the accident, he slipped and fell, discharged his pump gun into his right leg between the hip and knee. They immediately took him to the Escondido Hospital.

He is survived by a widow and one son, 12 years of age, his father and mother, two brothers and a sister. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Mrs. Bernard George Heyn of New York (Leila Holterhoff,) daughter of Mrs. Godfrey Holterhoff of 1360 West Adams street, is sailing in November for Paris to work for the winter in the laboratories of Jules Romains, the eminent physician and scientist. Mrs. Heyn has been selected to test the marvelous discovery of Dr. Romains of Extra Retinal Vision. It is Dr. Romains's theory that at one time man was able to see by means of his skin as well as by his eyes. At the experiments conducted under distinguished auspices in Paris, the skeptical Anatole France was one of the witnesses and signed a certificate declaring himself convinced by Dr. Romains's demonstration. It is a new and startling idea which, in its fullest development, may make over the world for the blind. Mrs. Holterhoff will leave for New York November 6 to join Mrs. Heyn, and is sailing with her later in the month for France.

Gone North.

Mrs. Alpha T. Easton of 1962 Virginia Road motored to San Francisco Saturday morning, where she will meet her sister, Baroness Robin d'Erlanger. The Baron and Baroness will return to Los Angeles with Mrs. Easton and will be her house guests while visiting in Los Angeles.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Funk of 251 South Kenmore avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Velma Van Sickle Funk, to Ellsworth David Gage, the news being told at a charmingly arranged bridge tea with which Mrs. Funk entertained on Saturday afternoon in honor of her daughter. The house was massed with chrysanthemums and foliage, yellow blossoms in the living rooms, while in the dining-room and on the tea table great shaggy pink chrysanthemums were combined with maidenhair ferns and tulle. Forty guests responded to the invitations, and assisting at the tea urns were Mrs. Sallie Benmiller, Mrs. Turner A. Gill and Mrs. Robert O. Osborn. The news was told after the distribution of the prizes for the card games, when a card was drawn for a general prize which was captured by Miss Bessie Butler. The prize was a miniature bride's bouquet of brides' rosebuds, lilies of the valley and maidenhair ferns and attached was the tiny card with the names of the betrothed engraved. The wedding will be one of the events of the Christmas holidays. Honoring Miss Funk, Mrs. Holland Vaughn is planning an affair at her home in Manhattan avenue on Saturday afternoon.

Coming Home

The many old friends of Herbert V. B. Acker, young California portrait painter, will be interested to learn of his coming home from Paris shortly. After several years in the French capital, where he had studios in Boulevard Arago, Latin Quarter, where he painted many Americans as well as British and French, his portraits being hung in the Grand Champs Elysee Salon, he is returning to Los Angeles and is planning to join the artists' colony of Arroyo Seco, Pasadena. Mr. Acker is planning an exhibit of his portraits as soon as they arrive from Paris.

Wedding Announcement

Invitations will soon be issued by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hibbert of 1800 La Brea avenue, Hollywood, for the marriage of their niece, Miss Esther Lilian Bane, to Paul Andrew Snell, the ceremony to take place, November 12, at St. Mary of the Angels (Little Church Around the Corner,) Hollywood, Rev. Neal Dodd officiating. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast will be served at Beverly Hills Hotel. After a wedding trip, Mr. Snell and his bride will make their home at 6065 Carleton Way. Miss Bane, who was graduated from St. Joseph's Academy in Santa Monica, received her later education in England, and is making her home with her aunt and uncle in Hollywood.

Church Wedding

The marriage of Miss Alice Wardeska, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Wardeska, to Robert William Arnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Arnett of Ontario, was solemnized Thursday afternoon at the Church of the Holy Faith, Inglewood, Dr. Mitchell officiating. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore an exquisite gown of white gorgette and rare old lace, with veil of tulle, a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley, gardenias and white roses completing the costume. Miss Marjorie Sparey, dressed in yellow crepe and carrying lavendar sweet peas, assisted as maid of honor. Mahlon Arnett served his brother as best man. Preceding the ceremony Miss Clara Seymour sang. Mr. and Mrs. Arnett left in their motor for a two weeks' honeymoon trip in the north after which they will make their home here. The bride, who has a host of friends here, was the incentive for many delightful affairs preceding the wedding. She is graduated from Ohio University and is a member of the Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority, while Mr. Arnett holds his alma mater with University of Southern California and is a member of the Phi Alpha fraternity.

Musicale-Tea

Invitations are being issued by Miss Fanny Way Adams and her niece, Miss McKee, for a musicale and tea to be given at the home of the former in the Bryson, Wilshire Boulevard, Wednesday, November 15. One hundred and fifty guests are being bidden and the musical program will be given by Estelle Heartt Dreyfus, who will give a group of old-fashioned songs and Russian and Spanish songs.

Birthday Anniversary

One of the delightful affairs of recent date was the dinner with which Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Peterson entertained at the Marcel Country Club, celebrating the birthday anniversary of Mr. Peterson, Friday evening. Those included were Mr. and Mrs. Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Meuller, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Meuller, Miss Toby Daggett, Mrs. Violet Stone, Miss Florence Kays, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Neff, Mrs. Pearl M. Smith, Miss Marjorie D. Perry, John Perry, Ernest Guillen, Rufus Spalding, George Jomier, Walter Kays, Fred M. Smith and Baron De Gere.

Bridge Luncheon

Mrs. Henry Rich is giving a luncheon and bridge, Saturday afternoon, November 1 at her home in West Third street, covers being laid for a dozen guests. NOSEBLEED (EPISTAXIS) No. 2

In yesterday's paper on nosebleed I told you that there were two general causes: the local, such as falls, blows, pickings, etc.; and the constitutional causes, such as acute or chronic infections and some blood diseases. I told you that the bleeding usually ceases spontaneously, whether anything is done for it or not, through the the natural clotting of the blood. I warned you that where there is a persistent, bloody, frothy nasal discharge in children causing soreness of the upper lip, nasal diptheria or some foreign body in the nose should be thought of.

The blood usually comes from the septum (the partition between the two nostrils) because the blood vessels are very rich and thin walled there and they are tightly stretched over the cartilage of the septum without much under padding tissue.

HOME TREATMENTS

Position: Sit upright. Don't lie down or bend your head over a basin. Then try some of these:

(1.) Press firmly with the hand on the bleeding side of the nose and over the face side of the nose.

(2.) If pressing does not stop flow, insert a piece of gauze dipped in an antiseptic ointment, such as boracic acid ointment. Leave an end so that you can pull it out. (If you should happen to have some adrenalin one-to-one-thousand solution, wet gauze in this this. It contracts the blood vessels quickly.)

Better than gauze alone is gauze with the combination of a rubber finger cot. Dip the finger cot in an antiseptic ointment (oil or cold cream will do if you have not any antiseptic.) Put it in the nose with pincers and then stuff it with cotton. (Leave the end of the cot out, of course.) This forms an elastic pressure which can easily be removed.

(3.) Hold the hands in ice water, or hold a good-sized piece of ice. This is an effective way of checking nosebleed, according to Kellogg. I'll quote from his Rational Hydrotherapy:

"Immersion of the hands in very cold water exercises a powerful influence—much greater than might be expected—upon the cerebral and pulmonary vessels. Vasilieff showed (1885) that immersion of the hands in cold water for a sufficient length of time is capable of showing the pulse and the respiration, lowering the temperature in the external auditory canal, lessening the pressure in the cerebral arteries, and narrowing the veins of retina. The hot hand bath produces opposite phenomena. These observations explain the effect of the cold hand bath in controlling epistaxis. Holding a block of ice in the hand is an excellent means of checking nosebleed, and in the author's hands has proved of service in pulmonary hemorrhage, checking the bleeding very quickly even when other measures seemed to be unsuccessful."

If nosebleed occurs very frequently, there should be an examination to see that there is no ulceration or constitutional trouble, for when they are frequent they may be the cause of a considerable degree of secondary anemia. Some lubrication should be put in the nose after the nosebleed so that the little ulceration will heal without forming a hard scab, because this is apt to be blown or picked off, and another hemorrhage may start. It is a good plan for everyone to thoroughly clean the nose before retiring and insert some cold cream, or mildly antiseptic ointment.

Five Clubs Admitted

Five new clubs were admitted to the California Federation of Women's Clubs at the meeting of the State executive board on the 25th inst. They are the Women's Progressive Club of Wasco, San Joaquin District; Ceres Study Club, Stanislaus county; Medical Women's Society of Los Angeles, Los Angeles district; Worth While Club of Los Angeles, Los Angeles district, and Business Women's Club of Culver City, Los Angeles district.

There is to be given at the president's council on November 20 at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse in Glendale, a showing of slides depicting the condition of the redwood trees in the areas along the coast highway.

At a dinner to be given at the City Club's new home on Spring street on the 30th inst., Congressional candidates Swing, Randall, Richardson and Fredericks will give their views on international questions. This is under the auspices of the Southern California Council of International Goodwill, of which the State Federation of Women's Clubs is an affiliated member, and all club women are invited.

Among the measures to be voted upon November 4, Nos. 5 and 7 were officially disapproved by the executive board of the State Federation of Women's Clubs at their monthly meeting. The attention of the board was brought to the fact that amendment No. 5, if passed, would nullify the Soldiers' Farm and Home Act, which the women worked so hard two years ago to have passed, and would work irreparable injury to such ex-service men as have taken up land under it. This fact was discovered by the American Legion after the amendment had been placed on the ballot, and only an affirmative argument printed for it, and they are, therefore, sending out thousands of circulars all over the State in an endeavor to prevent its passage.

No. 9, legalizing boxing contests of twelve rounds, also received the disapproval of the board, as it was felt that such contests verged too closely on prize fighting.

An effort is being made at Calexico to open up the border by permitting it to remain open later than 9 o'clock at night. It is felt by the women of the southern district of the Federation of Women's Clubs, as stated by Mrs. Urquhart, that this is merely an opening wedge, designed to affect the whole border, and at the request of Mrs. Oliver, president of the district, a telegram was sent by the State executive board to Washington asking for a continuance of the action of the Treasury Department in having the border closed at 9 p.m.

Mrs. Rodman to Speak

Mrs. Willoughby Rodman is to be honored by the Y.W.C.A. with a musical tea at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the Blue Triangle clubrooms, 631 South Spring street. She will speak on "The Women of Mexico."

A feature of the afternoon program will be several solos by Mrs. Ingrid Arnesta Boyd, Hollywood Bowl soloist, who played leading parts in "Traviata," Romeo and Juliet" and "Manon" during the recent grand opera week. Mrs. Guy Busch will accompany Mrs. Boyd.

Hostesses for the afternoon will be the board of directors of the Y.W.C.A., and the Blue Triangle Club, assisted by Mrs. Gordon W. Wattles, Mrs. H. D. Shepard, Mrs. Charles H. Toll, Mrs. John C. Urquhart, Mrs. Benjamin Franklin Perkins, Mrs. E. J. Marshall, Mrs. Anna Doolittle, Mrs. S. C. Dunlap, Mrs. A. L. Bagnall, Mrs. C. J. Stanton, Mrs. Aurelia Borcoss, Mrs. Anna Uerrea and Mrs. Aurrlia Landoval.

BOARD RAPS ACTION OVER IMMIGRATION

An attempt on the part of the California Joint Immigration Committee to lure the 200 women's clubs of California into expressing individual opinions on the Japanese immigration question met with severe reproof at the meeting of the executive board of the Federation of Women's Clubs at the Clark Hotel on the 25th inst.

Last July the State board at a meeting at Santa Monict passed a resolution which was in effect little more than an expression of regret that a difference of policy had arisen over this question between Japan and the United States, inasmuchm as the thought of world peace had dominated so strongly the biennial convention, which had ended but a few days before. Subsequently Mr. V. S. McClatchy of Sacramento suggested to the State president, Mrs. John C. Urquhart, that the resolution might be considered as encouraging the Japanese movement to force reconsideration of the legislation recently passed by Congress. Mrs. Urquhart referred Secretary McClatchy to the chairman of international relations of the State federation, Mrs. Seward Simons.

Mr. McClatchy, however, wrote a circular letter as secretary of the California Joint Immigration Committee to each of the member clubs, presenting the reasons why it contends Congress had taken appropriate and proper action, and made the following suggestion:

"The California Joint Immigration Committee suggests, with deference, that the action of the executive board of the State Federation of Women's Clubs in this matter must have been taken without proper knowledge of the reasons which impelled Congress to act; and that your club owes a duty to itself and to the State to consider those reasons carefully and to decide whether it wishes to be bound by the action of the State federation."

Inasmuch as the women's clubs of the State are not concerned in partisan politics, the attempt to go behind the resolution of the State board and to secure varying expressions from separate clubs with the resulting collection of diverse views, which might be quoted from in misleading ways, and the ignoring of the proper officers of the State board, brought caustic comment from three speakers at the luncheon at which Mr. McClatchy had sought permission to advocate the immigration committee's views.

Mrs. Urquhart and Mrs. Simons in replying to Mr. McClatchy's remarks said that they deeply regretted the methods which the immigration committee had used in carrying on their campaign, and Mrs. Robert Burdette, past State director and now correspondent with foreign clubs for the general federation, said that she agreed absolutely with everything Mrs. Urquhart and Mrs. Simons had said, and added that it was a most unfortunate action on the part of the immigration committee.

EBELL CHARTER FETE RECALLS FIRST WORK

Charmingly reminiscent of club life in early California days was the annual celebration of Charter Day at the Ebell Club yesterday afternoon, when twenty-six charter members received their fellow-members. A large number of club women gathered in the tea rooms to do honor to these distinguished women who have been instrumental in making Ebell Club a power for advancement and culture in the community in the thirty years of its existence.

A reception was given in the tea rooms and in the auditorium from 3 to 5 p.m., where the rooms were brightly decorated with yellow dahlias and chrysanthemums. A musical program was given in the patio by Sadie Stanton Greer, violinist, and Evelyn Kendal, pianist.

In the morning Mrs. Hot Johnson, Mrs. Sidney Parsons, Mrs. Esther Rule and Mrs. Edgar Stanley addressed the psychology section on "Summer Reading from a Psychological Standpoint." Bobbie Harris, a youthful mathematician, gave a demonstration of his ability in solving problems.

BAND STAND IS APPROVED

The request of the South Park district residents that the city build a band stand in the park was approved yesterday afternoon by the City Council's Finance committee. The cost will be about $3000.

STATE BODY DISTRIBUTES FILM WAGES

Labor Board Starts to Pay $30,000 to Workers in "Her Market Value"

Distribution of approximately $30,000 of overdue wages to actors and workers employed in the making of a picture which was recently completed at the Grand Asher Distributing Corporation studio in Hollywood was begun yesterday by the State Department of Labor.

This action of the labor offices marks the end of an investigation started by Deputy Labor Commissioner Santee after numerous complaints were made to the department which asserted that payment had been stopped on workers pay checks. The picture, known as "Her Market Value" starring Agnes Ayres, was completed on August 25, last, as a production of the Motion Picture Directors' Association, the department learned. The association leased the studio from the distributing company.

When the picture was sold in New York for approximately $60,000 the labor office secured a guaranty that sufficient money would be released for distribution among labor claimants.

Of the total payroll approximately one-third will be paid Agnes Ayres. Anders Randolf, Taylor Holmes and Edward Earl are named to receive sizeable amounts. About 200 workers were employed in making the picture.

Council Asked to Buy Acreage for Ball Field

Mrs. Arthur Wier, a member of the Playground Commission, appeared before the City Council yesterday afternoon with representatives of the Greater Southern California Baseball Association, the Rotary Club and other organizations, and urged that the Council appropriate funds for the purchase of at least twelve acres of land for an athletic field to replace the one formerly occupied by the amateur baseball diamonds at Exposition Park. The land required will cost about $100,000, Mrs. Wier said. The Council's Public Welfare Committee will make investigation of the sites proposed and will report to the Council.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

DESTINED TO BE FAT?

"Dear Doctor: I am destined to be fat, I think, for I have been fat all my life and I have tried everything — medication, exercises, massage and dieting, but I have not counted my calories. I am going to give your method a trial as I have heard so much about it.

"A friend, way over in China, wrote me of your good work. How happy you must be to be able to help so many. Mrs. L."

Well, now we are going to show you that you are not destined to be fat. The reason you did not reduce before is because you did not count your calories. You thought you dieted, but you must have been getting more calories than you needed.

The instructions were sent you if you followed the rules of the column; i.e., you enclosed s.a.s.e. and 10 cents in stamps?

Yes, indeed, I am happy. I am especially happy that those who have benefited are spreading the glad tidings far and wide that excess weight is not inherited and that it is not necessary. By teaching the prevention and cure of overweight, I am doing much to prevent diabetes, heart, kidney, and intestinal diseases and a score of other disorders, not to mention taking a little chunk out of the high cost of living.

SLEEPY AFTER DINNER

E. S.: The cause of feeling sleepy a little while after dinner is because there is a lessening of the volume of blood in the brain due to the extra amount being sent to the digestive organs. That is the theory, anyway. Sleepiness is especially noticeable after overeating. Are you getting enough sleep at night in a well ventilated room? Are you overweight or anemic? These conditions will cause sleepiness at unseemly hours. We have also constipation and autointoxication articles on the latter.

WARTS

Miss E.: Warts seem to be of a slightly infectious nature. We know that they will spread from one part of the hands to other parts. They are quite common in childhood. There are many things that will remove them. You might try some of the following: After thoroughly scrubbing the hands, two or three times a day, rub baking soda on them. Potato juice will remove them in some cases. Take a large sized potato and cut off a fresh slice each day and rub it on the warts. (It is the potassium salt of the potato that does the work.) Sometimes painting once a day with iodin is effective. Warts in a position on the body to be irritated, should be removed for they are possible sources of cancer.

ACID MOUTH

Mrs. C.: An acid mouth may indicate a so-called acidosis of the whole system. You are ten to fifteen pounds underweight and probably you have more or less of a starvation acidosis.

Rinse your mouth with milk of magnesia, three or four times a day. Send for our article on acidosis and also for the pamphlet on reducing and gaining. Don't forget to enclose a good sized, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in stamps with your request.

Mrs. W. H.: You must see an eye specialist. I think your condition is an operative one.

PROTRUDING EARS

Mrs. W.: You can get tape caps in the baby departments of large stores. I prefer the adhesive tape kept on constantly. When you change put the next one on a little lower or higher.

(Tomorrow—Answers to correspondents.)

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must inclose 10 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible if they are of general interest. Don't forget the stamped, self-addressed envelope if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

CONFERENCE SERIES PLAN FOR ROADS

Committee of Nine Will Hold Highways Meetings Here Next Month

The Committee of Nine, appointed by Gov. Richardson to inspect the State highway system and report to the next Legislature a method of financing future construction, will meet in Los Angeles on November 6 to conduct a series of conferences with the County Board of Supervisors and civic organizations, it was announced yesterday from the local office of the State Highway Commission.

The coming trip is to be the last the committee will make before submitting its report. Suggestions regarding the completion of the present highway system, proposed new roads and chiefly the method of financing additional road building are to be considered by the committee. Eleven weeks have been consumed by the board in making its investigation, having visited every county in the State and inspected practically every State highway in California.

E. E. East, secretary of the Automobile Club of Southern California and member of the Committee of Nine, is in charge of arrangements for the Los Angeles meeting next month. Tentative plans as already worked out call for a conference on November 6 in the local offices of the Highway Commission in the morning and a meeting with the Board of Supervisors of Orange county in the afternoon.

The two following days will be devoted to consultations with the Los Angeles Board of Supervisors, representatives of the Auto Club, the Chamber of Commerce and other public and civic bodies. The committee will leave November 9 for San Francisco.

JUVENILE PAIR TAKEN

Facing a charge of petit larceny growing out of the theft of automobile accessories Daniel Brown and Edward Heyboer, both 16 years of age, were turned over to Juvenile authorities yesterday by Hollywood police. The boys were arrested early Sunday morning by Officers Deaton and Thomason at 3105 North Cahuenga avenue.

SUMS SUGGESTED AS CHEST GIFTS

Many indorsements of the Community Chest plan for financing 135 accredited charitable, welfare and relief agencies in Los Angeles have resulted in numerous inquiries of "How much should I give?" The Chest committee, after long study, makes the following suggestions:

An income up to $1200 a year, $6 a year.

An income up to $1800 a year, $12 a year.

An income up to $2400 a year, $18 a year.

An income up to $3000 a year, $24 a year.

An income above $3000 a year, 1½ per cent of income.

An income above $5000 a year, 2 per cent of income.

An income above $7500 a year, 3 to 4 per cent of income.

An income above $10,000 a year, 4 to 5 per cent of income.

Increase proportionately for those enjoying above these figures.

Those unable to follow these suggestions should give what the heart dictates. Payments can be made in annual, semiannual or quarterly installments.

HELD FOR DRIVING ON AFTER STRIKING MAN

Edwin Wilcox of 3991½ Budlong avenue was arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriffs Powell and Godard, charged with failing to stop after an automobile accident. It is asserted he struck Burl Josserand of 501 East One Hundred and Ninth street at One Hundred and Sixth and Main streets. He was pursued, it was said, by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Black of 130 East Victoria street, who aided in his arrest.

CHEST IDEA COMMENDED BY COOLIDGE

President Praises Plans to Substitute Sense for Sentimentality

Declaring that "a good budget is among the noblest monuments of virtue," President Coolidge in a talk to a New York philanthropic society recently praised communal charity organizations which "seek to substitute sense for sentimentality." Praising results attained by charitable efforts based upon a sound budget President Coolidge commended such organization for their works of human helpfulness.

It was to make sure that every dollar contributed in the Community Chest campaign would go to a worthy cause that the Chest budget committee conducted seventy-six separate meetings before determining the campaign goal, Chairman George M. Babcock states. Every social service agency in Los Angeles was given a hearing.

This substitution of sense for sentimentality will, leaders of the Community Chest believe, benefit the poor and needy, the homeless children, the destitute, aged and other classes of Los Angeles citizens now being aided by the 135 institutions uniting with the Chest.

Suspect in Car Theft is Under Federal Inquiry

The preliminary hearing of Samuel Robbins, whom an ill wind wafted to a cell in the County Jail, was begun yesterday before Justice Wood. Robbins is charged with the theft of a car belonging to C. W. Allen. A high wind blew away the tent under which the car was stored and revealed it to the eyes of officers. They arrested Robbins. The hearing was not concluded yesterday and will be continued today.

Federal agents also are investigating Robbins's operations. A machine designed, according to government investigators, to convert $1 bills into $100 bills also was found under the tent and the antecedents of the machine are being traced.

CITY LEADS IN AMERICAN LABOR PLAN

Builders' Exchange Head Says Convention Delegates Envied Local Record

Los Angeles is looked upon as the leader of the western cities in the operation of the American Plan system of employment, declared Godfrey Edwards, president of the Builders' Exchange of Los Angeles, on his return yesterday from the American Plan Open-Shop Conference at Oklahoma City.

The conference was attended by delegates from twenty-six Western States, a majority of them presidents and secretaries of organizations operating the American Plan. Representing Los Angeles with Mr. Edwards, were A. W. Killoway, director, and E. R. Perry, assistant manager of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, and Seneca B. Beach, manager of the Master Printers' Association.

"Progress of the American Plan movement throughout the West during the last year was the principal business of the conference," declared Mr. Edwards. "The problem of training men for skilled crafts in public schools and mechanics' institutions occupied a large part of the program and the increasing of this work was advocated by the conference. Los Angeles held an enviable record before the eyes of the delegates, both from the operation of the American Plan and as an industrial city."

Bishop Denies Story Relating to Kiddie Koop

Following the publication of the announcement that the advisory board of the Kiddie Koop Home for Children had resigned, T. R. Bishop, president of the home, wired The Times from Exeter refuting the reason given for the resignation of the board.

The reason stated in the original story of the resignation of the board, as given by a former member of the board, was that information had been received to the effect that the organization did not meet the requirements of the State Board of Charities.

Mr. Bishop wired that such a story is incorrect and requested that members of the board of directors be interviewed for a complete and correct statement. Two of the members declined to make a personal statement on the matter and said that the board itself will issue a complete formal statement in a few days giving its version of the whole affair.

HALLOWEEN MISCHIEF IS CONDEMNED

Realty Board Makes Plea for Co-operation to End Destructive Celebrations

Destructive celebration of All Hallows Eve, better known as Halloween, is condemned by the Los Angeles Realty Board in a communication yesterday addressed to the Community Development Association, the Chamber of Commerce, the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, the Downtown Association, service clubs and the newspapers.

There is a growing tendency, the board declares, to observe the incipiency of All Saints' Day in a boisterous manner, maliciously and flagrantly.

To come down to cases, the finish on hundreds of automobiles is yearly disfigured by the too lavish application of soap and it cost one merchant $125 last year to clean his windows, says the board, and the larger stores have to hire special watchmen to protect their property. All of which, the Realty Board figures, costs $125,000 a year which might be devoted to a more useful purpose.

The organizations addressed are asked to co-operate to minimize the matters complained of.

GIGANTIC DOPE SEIZURE MADE

Trunkful Valued at $50,000 Taken With Auto

Driver of Car is Arrested on Federal Narcotic Act

Several Chinese Are Nabbed in Three-Day Round-up

As a climax to a three-day round-up of dope suspects, Acting Captain Littlejohn yesterday made the largest seizure of morphine ever made by the local police department—a whole trunkful of the drug, valued at $50,000. The drug was found, Littlejohn declared, in possession of Sam Robinawitz, 36 years of age, who had just arrived from Kansas City in a large automobile. The morphine, according to Littlejohn, was in a wardrobe trunk.

Robinawitz, who said he is a jeweler, and lives at 403 Hobart Boulevard, was booked as a violator of the Harrison Federal Narcotic Act. Littlejohn said he was informed the drug was intended for a drug ring here, and expects to make further arrests.

The round-up started Saturday with the arrest of Lew Doo Wai at 135 North San Pedro street and the seizure of $300 worth of morphine and $500 worth of opium. Sunday and early yesterday police took in custody Quon Chu Hong, Quop Ma Goon, Louis Bong and Quan Ning, asserted agents of Lew Doo Wai. Lew Doo Wai was charged with violation of the Federal narcotic law and the others were held on State charges.

The big haul of morphine was packed in cube form, the cubes packed in one-ounce cans, and the cans packed in boxes, thirty-six to a box. Each cube of morphine retails for $2, Littlejohn said. The boxes were wadded into the trunk with a plentiful padding of newspapers to keep them from jostling around.

Robinawitz gave no explanation of his possession of the drug and refused to talk, Littlejohn said. His car was seized, as well as the drug.

PNEUMONIA DEATH ENDS LUNACY QUIZ

Octogenarian Who Struck and Fatally Hurt Woman on Train Succumbs

When the case of David Carlton was called before Judge Guerin in Lunacy Commission yesterday, it was marked "off calendar." Carlton had died in the psychopathic ward of the County Hospital, where he was held for observation following an outbreak on a train a week ago Monday, when he struck Mrs. Rose Bailey of 2059 Myrtle avenue, Long Beach, a fatal blow with a cuspidor.

The blow, from which Mrs. Bailey died a few hours afterward, was accidental, Carlton's rage being directed at train employees. He was 84 years of age, and Mrs. Bailey 59. Carlton was on his way to the Soldiers' Home at the time.

His death resulted from pneumonia.

FREED OF ASSAULT

Explanation in Shooting Case is Satisfactory to Prosecutor

Charges of assault with intent to murder against C. V. Raney, a Hollywood real estate dealer, were dismissed yesterday by Justice Hanby at the request of Deputy District Attorney Terrel. The prosecutor explained that the affair had been satisfactorily explained. Raney was accused of firing a shot at Mrs. A. Stephens.

From the tropics, direct to our own port, comes coffee to be blended, roasted and packed by Jevne, Los Angeles,—your home town.

Odd, isn't it, that the people who raise coffee seldom enjoy as good a cup as is put before you—in Brown Mill.

Easily understood when you remember that each district produces usually but one type of coffee. What isn't shipped, is consumed without aging. Not blended with other coffees to give an evenly balanced blend, because of the difficulties of transport. Not scientifically roasted, therefore the flavor is not conserved.

The coffee grower from Jalapa or Uruapan should come to Los Angeles to really enjoy best his own product.

Brown Mill—highest grade—Jevne's in the "economy" package—saving 5c a pound—a Los Angeles product.

GIRLS' "KIDNAPING" SOLVED

Deputies Find Report Made by Youthful Trio One of Revenge on Rival Swains

"We didn't kidnap them. They ditched us earlier in the evening at a dance in Venice for the three fellows and we followed them and prsuaded them to leave the men because we wanted to see them beme safely."

This explanation given to Deputy Sheriff Stensland yesterday by D. E. Elliott of Torrance cleared away the mysterious "kidnaping" of two girls early yesterday on Pico Boulevard by three men in an automobile. It was satisfactory to the Sheriff's office and the investigation was closed. Neither Elliott, nor his companions, Lou Donart and Vernon Bates, was held.

The "kidnaping" was reported by three youths who gave the names of H. L. O'Neil, Jack Henderson and Jolly Love. They declared three "bandits" in an automobile forced their car into the curbing at Pico Boulevard and Preuss Road and at the point of revolvers abducted the two girls. Following the report, Deputy Sheriffs Powell and Ellison investigated and found that addresses given by O'Neil and Henderson were fictitious and that the third youth, who said his name was Love, left his room at 1012 West Eighth street, yesterday and told his landlady he was in an automobile accident and was "beating it."

The theory of Sensland who, with Deputy Sheriff Weir, completed the investigation, is that the three youths reported the "kidnaping" to "get even" with the other youths.

Elliott told the deputies that he did not know the names of the girls but that they were taken home safely. He denied that there was any display of firearms in the affair and that he and his companions merely intended to protect the girls.

wins in trial by fire

HAVING passed through heat and flame when it is made, brick can never again be affected by fire. That is why the scene of every destructive conflagration is marked by a mass of debris in which brick walls and chimneys are the only material still standing. Brick is more than fire-resistant—it is fireproof. It does not merely delay the progress of fire—it STOPS it.

Building materials that are not absolutely fireproof will eventually crack, chip, disintegrate, warp, twist or melt when subjected to prolonged heat. Brick will come through unscathed. The time to investigate the many advantages of brick is before you build—not after.

KEYES STRIKES AT CAR DEATHS

Calls Conference of Local Law Agencies

Points to Increasing Toll of Automobiles

Measures to Halt Losses to be Discussed

With the statement that Los Angeles this year has suffered an enormous increase in the number of deaths due to automobile accidents and recklessness, Dist.-Atty. Keyes yesterday addressed letters to various law-enforcement agencies, asking for a conference in his office on November 12 to discuss what is to be done to halt the unusual loss of life.

Mr. Keyes pointed out that in 1923, 224 persons were killed in automobile accidents, while this year, up to September 30, 330 have met their deaths in a similar manner. It was also pointed out that a loss to property resulted.

The letters were addressed to Chief of Police Heath, Sheriff Traeger, Capt. Cannon of the county motorcycle squad, Presiding Justice Baird of the Township Justice courts, Presiding Judge Crawford of the city police courts, Presiding Judge Reeves of the criminal departments of the Superior Courts, David R. Faries, general counsel of the Automobile Club of Southern California, Raymond I. Turney, director of the Crime Commission, and Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Traffic Commission.

COLONY RUMOR DENIED

Japanese Consul Calls Report of Border Settlement a Myth

Rumors that Japan intended to establish a colony of 20,000 Japanese in Lower California were officially denied in a statement issued yesterday by the local Japanese consulate.

The rumors are "based on imagination," the statement said, and the report is unfounded.

NOTED NURSE TO TALK HERE

Elizabeth Fox Due to Arrive in City Today

Miss Elizabeth Fox

Organizations of nurses in Southern California are preparing a number of public appearances for Miss Elizabeth Fox, national director of public health nursing of the Red Cross, during her visit to Los Angeles. She arrived yesterday.

Miss Fox is on the nursing advisory board of the League of Red Cross Societies, is president of the National Organization for Public Health Nursing, is past president of the Graduate Nurses' Association and has written a large number of articles on Public Health Nursing. While in Los Angeles, she will be a guest of the Nurses' Club, 211 Lucas street.

Her itinerary includes a visit to the General Hospital, where she will address student nurses of the city, a visit to the Nurses' Club of Pasadena and an address in the Nurses' Club here. She will go to San Francisco from Los Angeles.

Von KleinSmid Visions Home Team's Victory

When Dr. R. B. Von KleinSmid, president of the University of Southern California, goes speeding on his way to Washington next Saturday for the purpose of conferring with President Coolidge before starting to the Pan-American Conference at Lima, Peru, there will come to his mind the picture of the University of Southern California football team winning a pronounced victory over the University of California team in the oval at Berkeley.

This announcement by "Prexy" Von KleinSmid was received with cheers from the University of Southern California alumni and members of the Trojan team, who gave a banquet at the Elite Cafe yesterday in honor of Dr. Von KleinSmid.

A musical program was furnished by the Dental College Band, the Hawaiian orchestra of the dental college and the Trojan Five, vocalists.

Dr. Von KleinSmid will preside today, at the University of Southern California faculty meeting and will make his farewell address. He will go to the Pan-American Conference as the personal representative of President Coolidge and will return to Los Angeles next February.

Prisoner to be Quizzed About Robberies Here

Deputy Sheriff Townsend will go to San Luis Obispo today to talk with Alfred Masquera, alias Paul Latimer, under arrest there for burglary. Townsend said Masquera was reported to have made a confession to Sheriff Taylor at San Luis Obispo of connection with several burglaries in Los Angeles and Pasadena, and the Sheriff's office believes he can clear up some fifteen residence and two safe burglaries.

Masquera is said to be the son of a wealthy Brazilian coffee planter and formerly had an allowance of $2000 a month. When this was cut to $200 he turned to crime, it is asserted by Deputy Sheriffs Morrissey and Wilson, who have two suit cases full of burglars' tools said to be Masquera's property.

AUTHORITY IS ASKED TO SEPARATE GRADES

COUNTY AND RAILWAY PLAN SAFETY CROSSING AT TELEGRAPH ROAD

A joint application was filed with the State Railroad Commission yesterday by Los Angeles county, the Los Angeles County Grade Crossing Committee and the Union Pacific Railroad for authorization to separate the grades of the railroad and Telegraph Road.

An agreement has been reached, according to the interested parties, whereby the county and railroad each will pay half of the expense of carrying the tracks above the highway. It is estimated that the construction will cost approximately $107,500.

An application was filed by the city of Pomona, as owner of the forty-acre Los Angeles County Fair Grounds, for an order requiring the Southern Pacific to construct a grade crossing to connect a road leading from Lordsburg Road to the fair grounds. The railroad maintains a cattle crossing at this point, the application states, which is not adequate to meet the demand of thousands of automobiles which use the road during the annual fair.

Robbers Steal Safe and Break It Open in Park

Burglars who entered the Singer Sewing Machine Agency at 944 West Seventh street, stole the safe, carried it to Elysian Park and there broke it open, getting $500, it was reported yesterday to police. In opening it they turned it upside down and cut through the bottom.

The safe was discovered, empty, by Detective Lieutenants Post and Hall, but there was no trace of the burglars.

Mrs. Viola Whitehall reported that burglars entered her house at Mercer and Amboy streets and stole clothing and furniture worth $1000.

F. E. Bourdo, an artist, with a studio at 1006 South Alvarado street, reported the loss of a phonograph and drawing instruments to burglars.

CAMP FUGITIVE CAUGHT

George E. Ross, who escaped from the country road camp while serving a term for automobile theft, several weeks ago, was arrested yesterday at Middletown, Ill., according to a telegram received at the Sheriff's office. Deputy Sheriff Modie will go East to bring him back.

Board Overdue, Asserts Wife in Seeking Decree

J. R. Tiernan's idea of the way to support a wife was to get her into a boarding-house with one week paid in advance, according to the story Mrs. Menta Avery Tiernan told Judge Thompson yesterday when she appeared in her suit for divorce.

The first week in the "Home Sweet Home Club," that being the name in which the institution rejoiced, was not so bad, Mrs. Tiernan said. But after that she felt that her welcome was becoming frayed, and as her husband made no further remittance she had to leave, she asserted.

But when she came to corroboration of her tale, Mrs. Tiernan fell short. She had nothing to prove it by except a letter from Tiernan himself, and as the divorce code specifies that an admission by a defendant cannot be accepted as corroboration, Judge Thompson could not give her a decree. Instead he continued the case two weeks, to give her time to prepare depositions.

Clarke Delivers Plea for Courts Before Clubmen

Courts of the United States do not suffer by comparison with English courts in the administration of law, Robert M. Clarke, president of the Los Angeles Bar Association, told members of the Cooperative Club yesterday at the Biltmore. He made a strong plea for support of the courts of this country, especially the United States Supreme Court on Constitutional questions. Mr. Clarke recently was a delegate to the London meeting of bar associations and made a close study of administration of law by English courts.

Judge Arthur Keetch was chairman and guests included a number of members of the bar and bench.

Babe Ruth appeared for a few minutes at the luncheon through the courtesy of the Knights of Columbus, whose luncheon guest he was at the same hour.

Suspects Held for Burglaries; Plunder Found

Ted Jordan and F. E. Backus, asserted "transom burglars," were arrested yesterday by Detective Lieutenants Wallis and Miller in their room at 129 East First street and lodged in the City Jail on suspicion of burglary. The officers reported that they found twenty-one watches and about $1000 worth of miscellaneous plunder in the room occupied by the suspects.

Two Japanese, S. Okane, a clerk in a store at 209 East First street, and H. Harase, owner of a store at 220 East First street, also were arrested by the detectives and lodged in jail on charges of receiving stolen property. It is asserted that the two Japanese acted as fences for Jordan and Backus.

A motion for a new trial for Willis Carter, jointly charged with Ernest G. Booth with an automobile theft, was continued yesterday in Judge Crail's court to November 3.

Booth is the convicted bank robber who escaped from jail in Oakland Sunday while in conference with his attorney, M. A. Stutsman of Los Angeles. Stutsman was attorney for Carter also. Booth was out on $5000 bail on the auto theft charge and his bail was forfeited when he failed to appear. He was later captured in Oakland and convicted and in the meantime Carter was convicted here. The car they are asserted to have stolen was the property of H. S. Schrader.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS ASK CLUBHOUSE BIDS

Bids have been asked on the $74,000 clubhouse which is to be erected by the Knights of Columbus lodge in Hollywood, it was announced yesterday. Plans for the three-story building have been completed by Everett R. Herman and Alfred Eichler. The structure is to occupy a site already purchased on Sunset Boulevard near Highland avenue.

WAITRESS IN SUIT SEEKS HEART BALM

Girl Charges, Following Engagement, She Found Man Had Wife

Charging James A. Hodgman, reputed wealthy business man, with betraying her under promise of marriage, Grace Maytorena, 21-year-old waitress, yesterday filed suit in Superior Court against Hodgman for $100,000 damages.

Miss Maytorena stated she became acquainted with Hodgman in November, 1923, that he represented to her he was wealthy and single, and desired to take her to places of amusement. She said she believed his asserted representations, permitting him to call on her and entertain her.

Hodgman then began to make love to her, according to her complaint, which added he asked her to marry him and they finally became engaged. After they agreed to be married, Miss Maytorena said, Hodgman promised that he would provide her with a beautiful home and luxury.

Hodgman also was asserted to have told the plaintiff that he would send her to new York to complete a course in dancing in which she was interested. Their alleged relationship continued until about September 1 last, Miss Maytorena stated, adding that she then learned Hodgman was a married man. The complaint was prepared by Attorney Charles R. McCarty.

Death Penalty for Slayer of Officer Upheld

The sentence of death imposed by Superior Court on Francisco Cascade, slayer of Motorcycle Officer Oscar Longfellow of San Fernando, was upheld yesterday by the State Supreme Court.

The court, in its decision, ruled that the evidence in the case supported the verdict and that the lower court had not erred in the decision, as the appeal on behalf of the slayer set forth.

The officer was shot to death by Cascade on November 28, 1923. Cascade had been arrested for disturbing the peace at San Fernando. Officer Longfellow was taking him to jail when the prisoner drew a gun and in the scuffle shot the officer twice, killing him. He was pursued and overtaken by citizens and placed in jail.

IT'S SNAPPY BILL

RUSSIANS, ROSS AND ARDATH HIT HIGH SPOTS

By Grace Kingsley

Rushing the Russians has been the great American theatrical indoor sport for some time now and none have been rushed with better results than the Imperial Russian Players at the Orpheum this week. Maybe they aren't all "imperial" Russians, and maybe some of them aren't even Russians; but they certainly are all artists, and they surely do deliver the Russian music, dancing, warbling and atmosphere most effectively.

A delightful, novel and impressive stage picture greets one at the opening, following the raising of a grille, when the orchestra plays some quaint, weird old folk songs. Costumes, settings, colors are all in the mood. Especially fine is the male quartet, singing the "Volga Boatman's Song," with tableaux effect.

An exquisite beauty and artist is Vlasta Maslova, dancer, who performs three numbers delightfully. She is graceful, her technique is flawless, altogether she is a joy.

Perhaps I'm wrong, but it did seem too bad to spoil the Russian effect at the last with that dear old semiclassic chestnut, "The Rosary," even though Philip Pelz's playing of it on the cornet was perfect, and that other dear old chestnut, "My Hero."

If that blackface charmer, Eddie Ross, has been here before, I don't remember it. Seems to me I would, I like him so very, very much. He works quietly and quaintly, also Eddie Leonard, and he has a monologue, a confidential bit of chatter about his family, that is fresh, original and really humorous—a scream every minute, especially delivered to Eddie's grin obbligato. He also talks some funny songs, and Eddie's African harp, the banjo, is mighty talkative, too. He's the blue-ribbon boy, is Eddie.

I wonder if characterization is really creeping in to take the place of hoke in the side-walk acts. Fred Ardath's gentlemanly drunk might have been taken phonographically, it is so really a characterization. Ardath is an artist. But don't let that worry you. He's also one of the most entertaining souls on the whole Orpheum Circuit.

Baby Henderson, billed as the Child Wonder, is both a baby and a wonder. This split-pint Pavlowa does some marvelous dancing, and won completely even this hardened reviewer who hates kid acts if not kids.

On the take-off spot are Mulroy, McNeece and Ridge, who pung in a dance-skating act that makes a whirlwind look like a snail with the dropsy. They cleaned up on the noise.

Equally smart in the recessional are Weymen and a boy in neat hand-balancing and tumbling stunts.

With all the rest of the bill great, the carping critic shouldn't do any ground and lofty carping even if Broomstick Elliott and Babe La Tour do seem rather to belong to the Early Hippodrome era of vaudeville. They got a lot of applause, too, though it was mostly top-heavy.

Ted Claire is a fast stepper, and so are the two pretty girls with him. His jazz band is a bit old-fashionedly loud, but the act is mercifully short and snappy.

HOUDINI HAS LIVELY TIME AT AUDITORIUM

The spirits dropped their tails between their legs and fled before the onslaught of Houdini, at Philharmonic Auditorium last night! Indeed, it would be a hardy spirit that would show up after the revelation which Houdini made of the methods by which the spirits are paged by mere mortals.

Houdini's lecture expose, and subsequent heckling by the audience had all the pep and ginger of a hot political meeting, combined with the entertaining features of his own shows—and then some.

Any old spirit that was abroad last night had to be good, take it from me!

Seriously, Houdini's Philharmonic show, which has only one more night to run, had it ten ways over anything and everything he ever did at the Orpheum.

Houdini, who is the most famous magician in the world by right of accomplishment, and who holds the respect of that world through his brilliancy of mind and his honesty of purpose, began his talk with a lecture on the history of spiritualism, a talk filled with humorous anecdote and witty comment. He prefaced it by saying that he had a perfectly open mind, but had never seen anything to make him believe in mediums or spiritualistic manifestations, though he had made endless investigation.

Then he did a few tricks, just to keep his hand in maybe. After which he showed us a lot of photographs of the way spiritualistic mediums work their tricks.

Then came a fascinating routine of medium tricks, and an expose of the way they are done, including the bell ringing, trumpet, spirit handshaking, and slate writing.

Houdini is handicapped only by the fact that as a magician he cannot reveal some tricks which are common to the magicians and the mediums; but these seem to be few and far between.

But the really exciting time came when Houdini challenged the spiritualists or anybody else in the audience to ask him questions. D. D. Reese, apparently an ardent believer in spiritualism, demanded the stage, and that's when pandemonium let loose. There were yells from the spiritualists in the house—"Let him have the floor! Let us hear him!" And from the other side, "Houdini will show him up!"

Reese made a speech, and Houdini answered him, and both got pretty excited, so the audience got its money's worth.

Rupert Hughes, who was in the house, was made chairman, to decide on the merits of the occasion, but I had to leave then to write this, much to my disappointment. But if the meeting kept along as it was going, Houdini certainly was winning all the points hands down.

Don't miss the Houdini lecture tonight. It is worth every cent you are paying, no matter how much that is.

JOHN M. STAHL AND LOUIS MAYER RENEW

By a contract just signed, John M. Stahl and Louis B. Mayer have renewed their business association of five years' standing for an additional two years.

That is the announcement from Irving G. Thalberg of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, where the director is preparing to make his next production.

In the five years that Stahl has been producing under the Mayer banner he has become recognized as a master of the comedy-drama film. His last two efforts, "The Dangerous Age" and "Why Men Leave Home," have been hailed by critics as some of the most brilliant directorial work of the screen, and those who have seen "Husbands and Lovers," his recently completed picture, say it will add new prestige to his directorial reputation.

The Stahl productions have been released as specials by First National, and under the existing agreement, the director still has two more pictures to make for release by that organization. "Husbands and Lovers" will be presented at Loew's State Theater by Mr. Mayer in December.

Her Love Story Getting Interesting

Constance Talmadge and Ronald Colman

In a scene from "Her Night of Romance," which is showing with success this week at Loew's State.

COMEDIAN MAIN FEATURE

Roscoe Arbuckle returns to Pantages this week in a duplication of the act he presented to theatergoers several months ago. This time, however, he seems more at ease. Notwithstanding the fact that the audience, for the most part, saw the same skit when it was here before, it was greeted yesterday by a burst of applause that might cheer even the most down-hearted.

Aside from the Arbuckle act, the most popular offering was "Dancing Shoes." This comprised one woman and five men, who were about the "dancingest" dancers in weeks. Their cleverness was evident from the first and the others dancers on the program were of poor quality in comparison.

Maureen Englin proved to be a scintillating songstress of the highest type and she was recalled for encore after encore. Though her voice was not entirely pleasing, she made up for its harshness in the sprightliness of her songs.

At first scarcely out of the amateur class, Dunham and O'Malley in the latter part of their bit improved so greatly that they were almost good. Their dialogue was of the most hackneyed variety, however, and to be really a hit would seemingly take months of further endeavor.

All in all, for consistent entertainment, Behee and Hassan share first honors with Arbuckle. They are billed as athletes that are different and before their first stunt is completed one wholly agrees with the management. Several of their feats have never been executed on local stages before.

The remainder of the vaudville bill was made up by the Rubinoff Dancers and Antonio Rossito, tenor. Neither act was particularly brilliant or entertaining.

Baby Peggy in "Captain January" was the feature of the screen.

An unusual treat for the theater patrons was the presentation of three dolls to children in the house. Arbuckle was master of ceremonies on this occasion. The audience was further entertained by all the children in the theater being afforded the opportunity to have screen tests made, by their passing before a camera on the stage.

PLENTY OF MELODY IN NEW REVUE

Writers' Number Sixteen Tuneful Acts in Show to Be Given This Week

If the whole city—or at least the part of it that attends the Writers' Revue of 1924 this year—isn't whistling after the performance it will be because they have no ear for music.

For if ever a show had lilt, harmony and swing the revue to be given by the screen writers in the Philharmonic Auditorium Friday and Saturday has it—and then some.

Sixteen singing numbers in all will be presented besides the special dances and travesties, every one of them with original music and lyrics composed by members of the club.

Of course, no idea of the music can be given in print, but a glance down the list of numbers completed will indicate slightly what a snappy performance is now in preparation. Here they are:

"Rocking on the Old Front Porch," a sextet number; "Where Do We Go From Here?" a flapper song and dance; "Some Party," another flapper number; "That's Art," topical song; "Blue Eyes," ballad number; "When I Kiss Them They All Stay Kissed," musical satire number; "All Wet," Sennett bathing-girl specialty; "Magical Carpet of Love," ballad with chrous; "In Bagdad," oriental ballad with chorus; "Cocktail of Bliss," Wampas baby star number; "Never, Never Land," Peter Pan number; "Together," ballad; "Pretty Pirates," travesty number.

There are three more songs now being completed, making sixteen numbers in all. In addition there is special music for dances by Mae Murray and Walter Mills and Maude Fulton.

Russian Piano Concertos Are Well Received

Saturday evening at the Hollywood Conservatory of Music there occurred a Russian piano recital unique as it was excellent. The hall was filled to overflowing, and a number of persons were not able to obtain seats.

The Rachmaninoff Second Piano Concerto, the Rimsky-Korsakov Concerto, and a group of solos were performed, and a talk on "Nationalism in Music" by Modest Altschuler, was given. Mr. Altschuler is sufficiently a genius that no matter what his subject nor how serious he might be concerning it, he would mix in enough of his very droll humor to bring spontaneous laughter to his audience. He made both pertinent and timely remarks regarding the development of culture and artistry in America.

Alexander Kosloff, honor graduate of the Moscow Conservatory, and who has been in America the past two years and in Los Angeles several months, gave a fine and authoritative reading of the extraordinarily beautiful Rachmaninoff Concerto in C Minor. Mr. Kosloff is an unusual pianist in that his shading breathes richness and warmth; he has an especial feeling for melodic contour, without sacrifice to brilliance; he interprets with consistently correct expression, and also has a capable technic. The number is of unusual merit. Miss Dorothea Anderson played the second piano score. Mr. Kosloff was also heard in a group of Russian solos, including excellent Scriabin interpretations.

The Rimsky-Korsakov Concerto in one movement, by Miss Anderson, and Mr. Kosloff at the second piano, proved to be altogether delightful. The number is lyric in mood, with certain attractive brilliant portions, and really typical of the composer. Miss Anderson gave a very nationalistic rendition. She exhibited a grasp of the number in its entirety, showing unusual feeling for numbers in large form. She plays without mannerism, and possesses charm, poise and musicianship.

In all, the renditions of both concertos were of sufficient merit to warrant a hearing of them with the Philharmonic Orchestra.

PICTURE FAN SEEKS TO BECOME POWERFUL

St. Louis is the home of a youth who desires to attain physical perfection and boxing ability akin to that obtained by Jack Dempsey, world's champion, and Billy Sullivan, former boxer, but now a motion-picture star at Universal City. To this effect the youth has written Hayden Stevenson, who appeared in pictures with both men as trainer or manager, with Dempsey in the "Fight and Win" series and with Sullivan in "The Leather Pushers" series.

"Dear Mr. Stevenson," reads the letter, "I saw Billy Sullivan and Jack Dempsey fight in the pictures and they had you as trainer. I am an orphan boy and have only two bucks, but I want to have strong muscles like you and Billy and Dempsey. If you have some course for sale please let me know and I will send you my last two bucks.

"JOSEPH RALSTON."

Stevenson has no course, but he has sent the youth a letter giving him some advice and instruction along the lines of his desires.

CONNIE'S STORY FROM PEN OF HANS KRAELI

Constance Talmadge's new comedy, "Her Night of Romance," now showing at Loew's State Theater, is taken from an original story by Hans Kraeli, formerly associated with Ernst Lubitsch.

Constance has the role of a highly nervous American heiress. Her leading man is Ronald Colman, who will be remembered as Lillian Gish's leading man in "The White Sister."

Jean Hersholt, who has made such a big Hollywood hit in several well-known productions, also is in the cast.

"Her Night of Romance" is a sophisticated comedy-drama of New York and London, with Constance in the role of an American heiress, who is courted for her money. She falls, through no fault of her own, into many delicate situations, done by Kraeli in the continental manner, and relieved by most delicious humorous touches.

MEINERT NAMED FOR EMBALMERS' BOARD

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 27.—Nicholas J. Meinert of Oakland today was appointed by Gov. Richardson as a member of the State Board of Embalmers to succeed I. J. Reynolds of Pasadena, resigned. Meinert was a candidate for the Assembly at the primary election last August.

Variety Truly Spice of Life at Hillstreet

Variety is about the only life saver for the presentations at the Hillstreet this week. Considering the merit of the various numbers and the consistency of each, it is apparent that a diversity of entertainment brings the vaudeville program to a successful close. Heading the list for the seven-day period is the Jeanette Hackett and Harry Delmar terpsichorean revue entitled, "Dance Madness," a very clever offering featuring a galaxy of strikingly beautiful girls and a talented dancing duo.

Gorgeous costumes are the paramount attractions in the number. This can be said without injustice to the aggregation of sprightly artists of the dance or the pleasing song arrangements that help to combine atmosphere with effect. This revue is one of the best seen here in many moons for the reason that not one item in entertainment has been overlooked.

Probably second on the bill is Zelaya, who really has an interesting collection of piano compositions presented in an entirely different way. He explains to the audience what genuine music is and why it should be appreciated, but unfortunately, an audience refuses to be instructed in a place of amusement. His work on the stringed instrument is especially commendable.

"Jest Songs and Sayings" is the work of one Billy Glason, known in many parts as the "comedian sublime." His remarks, while rather rusty in sections, have been improved wth a refreshing edition of new jokes and songs. Four colored gentlemen with a portfolio of new popular numbers in song bewitch with their Dixie Four ways.

One of the pleasing and attractive spots on the bill is the "Tableaux Petite," a presentation of human statuary in familiar works of art. Kirk and Collier have a tight-wire performance on their radio wires. A cat howl in the radio set brings the pair to the roof to investigate—and then the consequential happenings.

On the photoplay schedule is "Thundergate," a motion-picture attraction featuring Owen Moore and Sylvia Breamer. New views of the "Los Angeles" better known as the ZR-3, are shown, and also an Aesop's Fables comedy named "Monkey Business."

'HOT WATER' AT RIALTO

Harold Lloyd Comedy Continues Run at Local Theater

"Hot Water," which arrived at Grauman's Rialto Saturday, has enough laughs crowded into its reels to supply two ordinary comedies. But, of course, Harold Lloyd never makes an ordinary picture. Each one is extraordinary in quality and amount of honest-to-goodness merriment that enlivens every inch of film. Lloyd, recognized as master of comedy gags, has given some outstanding moments to "Hot Water."

The mirth surrounds a domestic theme in which a mother-in-law and other in-laws, stir up several pecks of trouble. The automobile drive of the family is undoubtedly one of the funniest sequences to reach the films, while Harold's shopping adventures find a sympathetic response in the heart of every newlywed.

Pretty Jobyna Ralston plays the leading feminine role opposite to Harold Lloyd, with Josephine Crowell giving one of her splendid characterizations, and Charles Stevenson and Micke McBan in the roles of brothers-in-law, furnish much merriment.

A Sennett comedy, "Galloping Bungalows," featuring Natalie Kingston, Billie Bevan and Syd Smith, and two clever harmony songsters, Gypsy and Marta, singing their own original numbers, are added features to the entertainment offered at the Rialto.

MARIE'S SISTER IS DANCER OF ABILITY

Not all the stellar honors of the Prevost family belong to Marie Prevost, the screen star.

Her sister, Peggy Prevost, is said to be paving the way to a brilliant success as a dancer. She is appearing at the Metropolitan Theater this week with David Murray, in their own conception of a fast and spirited tango creation, to special music written by a famous composer for the pair. The dancer is exquisitely gowned in a style creation furnished by one of the city's leading importers.

Miss Prevost has recently returned from New York, where she played prominently in a late musical comedy hit on Broadway. She starts her dancing tour with Murray, who has danced in New York, London and Paris, by appearing in her own home town, Los Angeles, at the Metropolitan.

"FORBIDDEN PARADISE" BASED ON REAL STORY

Based upon the incidents in the life of Catharine the Great of Russia, "Forbidden Paradise," which is now showing at Grauman's Million-Dollar Theater, tells a story of a series of love affairs that made history in a great European court. The queen in the story, with no will save her own to question her acts, amused herself by a series of affairs with the handsomest men of her court.

Ernst Lubitsch, who directed Pola Negri in this picture, however, has touched very lightly upon the ceremony of court life, and has pictured the queen merely as a human woman, bringing the picturization down to modern times.

The cast includes Rod La Roque, Adolphe Menjou and Pauline Starke.

BABY DOLLS AGAIN OCCUPY SPOTLIGHT

The Baby Dolls at the Burbank Theater this week are more than taking advantage of the opportunity offered them to once again step forth and do their individual "stuff." Due to the fact that for the past three or four weeks the new principals of the company have been getting acquainted with audiences, the comely revue of Baby Dolls has more or less taken a "back seat."

Henry Roquemore, producer of the shows for this well-known Main-street show shop, has again scored in one of the liveliest entertainments yet shown in this theater.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds of the flu. FAIRY OF SNOW JOINS PAGEANT

Queen of Ice Realm Breaks Silent Monday Rule

Debut Accompanies Tribute to Uncle Sam's Navy

Male Quartet Sings Request Numbers at Noon

BY CLAIRE FORBES CRANE

Of course all Radioland was thrilled because last night the rule of Silent Monday was broken and a new Fairy Godmother was added to the glittering pageant. This one had traveled thousands of miles from the Far North to preside over the studio. Wrapt in snow-white furs the Queen of Iceland was brought to us by the Los Angeles Ice and Cold Storage Company.

It was a two-fold celebration in honor of both the debut of this important company and the recognition of Navy Day here. We always are agreed that patriotic holidays demand the presence of a real band and so last evening the United States Naval Reserve Band gave a program with the spirit and enthusiasm that marks every form of work which every true American performs. This band is in charge of W. L. Brock, manager, and has as leader A. R. Turner. It gave a special march dedicated to the United States Naval Reserve Force of Los Angeles and several semi-classical overtures showing marked improvement in ensemble and tone coloring.

CONCERT ORCHESTRA

For the remainder of the program Ira F. Gay presented his concert orchestra, Arthur Freedman, violin; Ira F. Gay, Phil Musgrave, 'cello, and Vera L. Gay, piano. This concert orchestra is one of a large number of combinations which Ira F. Gay sends through the big motion-picture studios and over the city and which have established for him an enviable reputation as an entertainer. Last evening Mr. Gay's concert orchestra played a program of the lighter classics and each member performed with charm and good taste. Vera L. Gay is certainly a wife to be proud of. Not only is she a gifted pianist, but her compositions, notably her songs, have received recognition by the leading New York publishers. Yesterday she gave several pianologues which were sparkling bits of true humor.

We wish to give a little tribute to the special friends of the KHJ studio who sacrificed their Sunday afternoon the day before yesterday to go out to Washington Park and lend their services in making the baseball game presided over by the White Kings a huge success.

BALL GAME AIDED

Abe Perluss and his Rose Room Orchestra gave generously of their splendid music, not only playing solos but providing the accompaniment for all the singers. We feel deeply touched that busy professional men like these should be so responsive to the warm friendship which KHJ bears them. The Piggly Wiggly Girls sent their charming presence to the occasion and delighted the eyes of the many thousands who had hithertofore only listened to them. The Orpheus Four, Charlie Wellman, who said "Let's Go" to everybody, and Louis F. Klein, the King of the Harmonica and the Auto Harp, all performed and Radioland sends them a sincere and hearty vote of thanks.

The noon program was a unique occasion. In place of the usual dance orchestra or group of instrumentalists we presented the Euterpean Male Quartet, singing, in honor of Navy Day, request numbers. These four voices consisting of J. Howard Johnson, first tenor and manager, J. Malcomson Huddy, second tenor, Arthur Clayton, baritone, and Forrest Bell, bass, are admirably balanced and are unusually successful in their broadcasting.

Letter of Wife to 'Dear Daddy' Brings Divorce

After Charles P. Dameron had forgiven his wife once for an affair with another man, she wrote the other man a "dear daddy" letter proposing that they await their time to make their "little heaven," he told Judge Summerfield yesterday when he appeared in his suit for divorce from Marie C. Dameron.

"I have every reason to believe you love me, daddy, for you surely could not caress me and kiss me for hours if you did not," the letter read in part.

After looking the missive over, Judge Summerfield granted Dameron a decree.

'AD' CLUB TO BE HOST TO AIR HEROES

Globe Girdlers Will be Honored at Celebration at Noon Today

America's sextet of aerial globe girdlers will be guests of the Los Angeles Advertising Club at a banquet and celebration in their honor at the Biltmore this noon at which they will receive the thanks of the Southland as expressed by civic and commercial leaders. The flyers yesterday flew from Clover Field to San Diego in their famous planes.

Five other civic organizations will join in the tribute and welcome to the air heroes during the banquet. These are the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, Optimists, Kiwanis and Lions' clubs. Among the invited guests will be about thirty reserve officers of the air service stationed locally. Mayor Cryer will be present to express to the flyers on behalf of the city the appreciation for their heroic performance.

BALM SUIT IS SETTLED BY COUNSEL

Mrs. Irene Mua's Action Against Mrs. Bashaw is Dismissed

A settlement out of court has been effected in the $100,000 alienation-of-affections suit brought by Mrs. Irene Mua against Mrs. E. E. Bashaw, it was learned yesterday when the case was called for trial in Judge Monroe's court and it was found a dismissal of the action had been entered. The dismissal was filed by Mrs. Mua's attorneys, John L. Richardson and I. Henry Harris.

In her complaint, Mrs. Mua charged Mrs. Bashaw with stealing the love of the plaintiff's husband, Kamuela Mua. According to a deposition on file in the case, Mrs. Mua and the defendant formerly were good friends, but Mrs. Mua was asserted to have entered her home one day and found Mrs. Bashaw and Mua in a compromising situation.

Mrs. Mua stated in her deposition that she became frantic with rage and attacked Mrs. Bashaw, while her husband wept and Mrs. Bashaw pleaded for mercy.

Mrs. Bashaw filed an answer to the suit, in which she denied having engaged in any love affair with Mua.

THERE'S A REASON—HERE IT IS

This beautiful 3400-acre citrus park was bought 30 years ago by a of English capitalists, who spent $4,000,000 developing it as one of finest fruit properties in California. Money was spent freely in endless miles of irrigation laterals of concrete to every row of planting the best selected tree stock, on ornamental landscaping to tify every portion of it, on scientific cultivation to produce groves would bring the greatest yields of fruit, on 40 miles of tree-lined vards.

It cost more than $2000 an acre to bring these groves to their highest state of development—the same groves that we are offering from $500 to $800 per acre.

The men who bought and developed this property are dead. Last their heirs, who need the cash, voted to liquidate their holdings distribute the money—not within a year or two, but at once. They orders to cut the price and sacrifice values to get quick cash. That reason for this sensational sale that is giving you the opportunity life to buy the best land in California at from one-fourth to one-its real worth.

Big Increase in Value Certain

This is the finest type of irrigated land in Southern California.

It is wonderfully located as regards city advantages, climate, and it has the best of marketing facilities for everything the produce.

Any good land in Southern California with plenty of water and all other crops is worth at least $1000 an acre—just the cultivated land and water.

But we are offering you for less than that—$500 to $800 less than half the value of the land and water alone—groves with the full crops on them, improvements and the one of the very best locations in the Los Angeles territory.

taking into consideration the irrigated land, our price is far

You cannot fail to make money on this land at the price we is increasing faster than anywhere else in the United States, population increases, land values are certain to rise. This land, as it is close to Los Angeles, is bound to double, to treble in the low cost to you today this investment could not be duplic where else.

YOU OWE IT
TO THOSE WHO DEPEND UPON YOU FOR SUPPORT TO ANSWER THIS AD.

Believe me, fellows, there is something big going over in this city of ours, and if you fail to get in on it and ever learn of it in the future you will be so sick that the Mayo Brothers will be at a loss as to whether they should OPERATE or BLAST after diagnosing your case. And when those two birds can't fix you up—YOU ARE SURE SICK. Listen, fellows, there is no use in me trying to go into detail about my proposition in this ad—it is absolutely impossible in the limited amount of space. It isn't that I car a whoop about the cost of the ad, because I am and have been using plenty of space, but it is because I want to see you, and want you to meet me and see my proposition with your own eyes and also to meet several of my present personnel and let them tell you with their own mouth just what kind of a connection they have made with me. It doesn't matter to me what you have been doing in the past, or what your earnings have been—I claim any man from any walk of life can better himself if he will come down here and let me or one of my many representatives go over my proposition with him. For the benefit of those already employed and who are desirous of bettering their present position and earning power, we are staying open until 9 p.m. every day this week. Will also be open Sunday until 3 p.m. So just call any time during the day, evening, or Sunday. Bring your wife with you if you like—she will be glad to see you make the connection. Your friends, your lawyer, or your banker will recommend it for you. No investment required in the company, no charge for territory, only a deposit of $75 covering actual merchandise necessary for you to work. Call at GROUND FLOOR LOCATION, 833 S. Figueroa st.

USED CAR

SHOW TIME SALE.

OPEN UNTIL 9 P.M.

The auto show always brings a flood of new car sales to Cadillac. We've got to clear the decks in our used car department to prepare for it.

To reduce stocks immediately we've repriced our used cars. You'll find wonderful values all the way from $250 to $4000. And remember when you come to buy a used car the name on the building means more than the name on the radiator.

CHAMBERS' WIFE FORGIVES AT BIER

Tears Wash Away Jealousy in Burlingame Tragedy

Plans to Contest Will Are Forgotten at Funeral

Widow Almost Invalid from Grief for Suicides

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—Tears washed away the jealousy which had prevailed in the Burlingame house of Frank Ross Chambers, Jr., for the few past weeks, as Beatrice Chambers, bride of a year, sobbed out her forgiveness today at the bier of the husband who had left her almost penniless in his will and who had planned to divorce her just before he ended his life on Friday night.

The young wife this afternoon sat through the funeral services for the man who sought peace in suicide.

Plans to fight the will were forgotten for the nonce, while the funeral cortege followed the remains to the crematory. Days of anxiety which began with the suicide of Marilouise, adopted daughter of Chambers, and which culminated when the wife was told over the long distance telephone in Los Angeles of the suicide of her husband, have almost made her an invalid.

TOO SICK TO TALK

"I do not really care what you say of me in the papers," she said, wearily. "It has all been so horrible I can scarcely think. I am too sick to talk.

"Those things which Marilouise said of me were the result of a brain driven to the point of madness by drugs. How could there be peace and harmony in a home where nerves were intense and where hatred filled the air. Hatred which was the result of a drug-wrecked brain is something almost impossible to combat. I am weary from the days and weeks of striving to keep our home free from this terrible menace.

Again the rumors that Chambers and his daughter, Marilouise, did not meet death by their own hands has crept into the investigation. Officials were busy when the inquest opened tonight checking up every detail of the sensational death. The charges of the first Mrs. Chambers, mother of the girl who killed herself, that some one else was responsible for the death of the 16-year-old girl, are being checked up.

WILL DRAWN

It was disclosed today that J. E. McCurdy, City Attorney of San Mateo, on Wednesday last, drew up a will for Chambers in which he bequeathed 500 shares of stock in the Rogers Peet Company, clothing establishment in the East, of which the elder Chambers is president, to his mother. The residue was left to the young wife, which it is declared, will be but a pittance.

Chambers married his young wife in Seattle a year ago and their life was happy together until Marilouise entered the family, Mrs. Chambers said today.

After the death of the girl, the father could think of nothing else. He seemed to feel a hatred for his wife which forced her to leave the home he purchased for her at 400 West Moreland avenue, San Mateo Park, to take refuge with her mother in Los Angeles. She believed a period away from him would right things.

Meanwhile advices reaching here from Washington today, quote Mrs. Louise Chambers, mother of Marilouise, as being dissatisfied with the suicide theory and clinging to the belief that foul play is at the bottom of it all.

Mrs. Chambers already has arranged to have the ashes of her daughter sent to Washington for interment.

DEMOCRATS AT WOMAN'S CLUB

Robert Richardson Delivers Tariff Argument

Mattison B. Jones Strikes at La Follette

State Transportation Act Purpose Outlined

BY MYRA NYE

In the graceful confines of the Friday Morning Club auditorium yesterday two political lions were loosed to roar before the Woman's City Club in session, with Mrs. E. C. Bellows presiding. It was Democratic Day, following Republican Day Monday a week ago, and third party day the preceding week.

Robert Richardson and Mattison B. Jones were the lions of yesterday and were prodded with the questions of many women. The auditorium was half full of club members. Applause was scattered but vigorous from the quarters whence it was at all manifest.

Col. Richardson informed the audience that he didn't get to see enough of his wife, so he was glad to be a guest of the fashion show which preceded the political meeting. He said she, his wife, had endured him for fifty years.

"And now at the end of that long period I can imagine how her dear little heart is palpitating on eight cylinders. My secretary has endured me eighteen years," he added, and expressed regret that he was not allowed, according to the rules of the meeting, to speak about himself, for he had so many relatives who are members of the club.

"A Republican woman, a member of the club, who is an elegant woman except for her hallucination in politics, told me not to have remarks as wrinkled as my trousers and as disconnected as my feet and hands," said Col. Richardson, who added that it didn't seem fair to be so restricted and cut out of such an interesting subject as himself. He said he would talk for one minute on taxation and some one in the audience said: "Oh, don't; you can't handle it in that time."

VIEWS ON TARIFF

Then he said that the women could have sewing machines lots cheaper if it wasn't for the Republican tariff. And in the next moment he asserted vigorously:

"We need a tariff. But it should not be a party issue." And he went on to speak concerning what he termed the warfare between the producer and consumer indicating that those who consume do not produce and those who produce do not consume, but were two alien animals like wolves and sheep.

Col. Richardson stated emphatically that he loved the Constitution of the United States and added, "It is a misfit, as a street car would be today that is drawn by mules." And he proceeded to divide his audience into another set of groups calling it "thinkers and women," and closed his address by saying at the fall of the gavel:

"Without saying a word about myself, I thank you." The audience asked him few questions, but directed virtually all of them at Mr. Jones.

"TRAITORS TO PARTY"

Mrs. Sallie Richardson asked to correct a statement of the latter speaker, to the effect that Congress was wholly Republican in its majority.

"I am sorry to say," said Mrs. Richardson, "that there are about nineteen Congressmen elected on the Republican ticket who are traitors to their party and their political sins should not be directed to the majority of stalwart Republicans."

Mrs. Josephine Winn was given much applause when she defended the President against the accusation of being controlled by "big business," and asked what would happen to the beet industry in California if tariff was lowered on sugar, as one of the speakers had insisted should be done.

"The question I want to ask Mr. Jones," said pretty blonde Mrs. Evans, a member of the club, "is this: If, as he says, it is true La Follette has Washington and Iowa in the hollow of his hand, how can the speaker also consistently assert that the Republican party is doing nothing but get up a false scare to frighten the Democrats into voting for President Coolidge. If Mr. Jones is right about some of the States going to La Follette, the Republicans are not falsifying when they say there is danger from La Follette."

Mr. Jones had said: "I do not agree with Senator La Follette and neither does the Democratic nominee for President."

Mr. Jones laughed and said that the question from his sister-in-law was apt and to the point.

In addition to the speeches by Mr. Jones and Col. Richardson, Franklin D. Howell spoke on the State Transportation Act, which will appear on the ballot a week from today.

Two Robbed in Three Attacks by Highwaymen

Alexander Roderez of 823 South Union avenue, lost $13 to bandits who attacked him yesterday at Ord and Spring streets, he reported to police. There were three men with revolvers in the attacking party, he said. They struck him on the head with the butts of their guns and knocked him out. When he recovered consciousness they were gone.

A similar report was made by Ivor Kallin of 2316 Rimpau Boulevard. Bandits attacked him near his garage and knocked him out, but were frightened away, apparently, for they took nothing from him.

I. L. Curtis of Watts reported that two armed men held him up near the Pacific Electric station at Watts and took his watch and money. His total loss was about $100.

NEW ORATORY CLASS

The second section of the business men's public speaking class will be organized at the Central Y.M.C.A. schools Friday at 7 p.m., to meet the unexpected demand for this instruction. Clayton R. Rogers will conduct the Friday night class as well as the Thursday evening section.

SCHOOL TO TAKE NAME OF WIGGINS

New Trade Institution Will Honor Memory of Late Chamber Official

Honoring the memory of the late Frank Wiggins, secretary of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Education last night voted that the name of the new million-dollar trade school shall be known as the Frank Wiggins Trade and High School. The motion was put by Frederick R. Feitshans, seconded by Arthur Bent, both of whom were closely associated with Mr. Wiggins during the latter years of his life. They acted as honorary pallbearers at his funeral.

In response to a request made by C. E. McDowell of the City Interpost Council of the American Legion the board decided a half-holiday will be declared November 11 to allow school children to attend the celebration of Armistice Day at the Coliseum.

A resolution of sympathy was adopted to be sent to the family of the late Dr. Burt O. Kinney, who was at one time the head of the department of history at Los Angeles High School, also principal of Lincoln High School.

Damages Asked by City Official in Slander Suit

Declaring Earl E. McClary made remarks in the presence of others that injured him and reflected on his reputation, Milton A. Blanchard, president of the Board of Trustees of Huntington Park, yesterday filed suit in Superior Court for $25,000 against McClary.

The defendant was asserted to have said, the 21st inst., that the Real Estate Commission had found in a hearing conducted before it that Blanchard had unlawfully withheld money belonging to two of his clients and that his real estate broker's license had been ordered revoked.

Blanchard declared the matter involved in the hearing had been adjudicated in his favor in Superior Court and that the Real Estate Commission had accepted the court ruling in the matter as final. The plaintiff asserted it was not true that his license had been revoked; on the other hand, he said, the commission acted readily in renewing it.

Hollywood Folk Leave Today for Museum Parley

A delegation of Hollywood business men and representatives of the film industry will depart in a special car tonight for Oakland to attend a dinner there tomorrow night to discuss plans for a museum to house a natural history collection donated to the city of Oakland by H. A. Snow, Hollywood film producer. The party will include Betty Blythe, Clara Kimball Young, Marian Nixon, Mabel Forrest, Margaret Landis, Eugenia Gilbert, Bryant Washburn, Wallace Worsley, Clarence Hutson, representative of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, and others.

Arrangements will also be made at the banquet for a film ball and frolic November 26, next, which is expected to be attended by scores of film celebrities.

Final Rites for J. J. Donnellan Are Tomorrow

Funeral services for James J. Donnellan, who died Friday following an automobile accident, will be conducted tomorrow at 10 a.m. at St. Thomas's Catholic Church in charge of Rev. Father Gallagher.

Mr. Donnellan was 63 years of age and had lived in Los Angeles for three years. He was an architect and had designed several of the leading churches built in the city in recent years.

For years he was a leading architect of Chicago, having designed and superintended the construction of the first all-steel structure there more than thirty years ago. He leaves two sons and two daughters.

'Silk Hat' Bandit is Given Sentence of Twelve Years

James L. Edwards, silk hat bandit, will have to pass at least twelve years behind the bars at San Quentin if the sentence Judge Crail yesterday imposed is carried out. Judge Crail ruled that the sentence on two counts of robbery and two of assault with a deadly weapon must be served consecutively. On each robbery count Edwards must serve five years to life, and on each other count one to ten years, making a minimum of twelve years.

Edwards was convicted last week of robbing John Stiles and H. L. Wilson and of shooting at Deputy Sheriffs Dewar and Monteleone.

Bread Advanced One Cent a Loaf by Wholesalers

The wholesale price of bread rose 1 cent a loaf yesterday in Los Angeles, according to W. S. Eseman of the Franco-American Bakery and president of the Southern California Wholesale and Retail Bakers' Association.

The rise so far has not affected the retail price to any great extent although some of the stores raised the price of the 13 cent loaf to 14 cents.

Chain markets, that operate their own bakeries, did not raise the price, it was stated.

In most stores the 10-cent loaf was still selling at that price.

COWDREY TURNS UPON ACCUSERS

Venomous Attack Loosed at Wilson and McCormick

Convicted Slayer Asserts Pair "Double-Crossed" Him

Says He Pleaded Guilty to Save Men on Trial

The code of ethics of the underworld; the unwritten policy that is supposed to weld the elements outside the law into an impregnable fraternity for their mutual protection; the creed of an eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth as exemplified by the reciprocity of a convicted murderer who charged he was "double-crossed" by a man whom he believed a "pal"; all these traditional statutes of the "criminal brotherhood" were given their hour in court yesterday, where, temporarily, they superseded the inscribed statutes of those who gain their livelihood with the approval of society.

And yesterday they were written into the records of Superior Judge Keetch's court during one of the most dramatic hours of a trial in which a confessed robber and convicted murderer turned on two men accused of robbery. The case is that of Carey Wilson and Clifford McCormick, former private detective, indicted by the county grand jury on counts charging them with holding up the Sultan Turkish Baths and a Los Angeles Railway Company bus.

ON STAND ALL DAY

Godfrey Cowdrey, found guilty of the murder of Joseph Langley, manager of the Alvarado Theater, carried the third leading role in the drama of the "other side." It was he who declared he had been "double-crossed" and "stabbed in the back," and as a witness for the State he turned the venom of his soul upon Wilson and McCormick in the form of a verbal torrent which he declared he hoped would get them a "jolt" in the penitentiary.

Cowdrey was convicted of the Langley murder principally upon the testimony of McCormick who, with Wilson, was indicted for the robberies after an investigation of a statement made by Cowdrey that McCormick and another man had planned the hold-ups with him.

Cowdrey was on the witness stand all day.

He told how he and the accused pair had planned the robberies; how McCormick failed to appear the night the Sultan Baths hold-up was committed; how he and Wilson took a third man known as "Slim" in on the job; how he and Wilson robbed the Los Angeles railway bus and escaped in McCormick's automobile.

COWDREY MERCILESS

Then the State checked the witness, and Wilson, acting as his own attorney, began to cross-examine the man who had branded him an arch-conspirator in crime.

Cowdrey, his black eyes flashing back and forth at McCormick and Wilson, was merciless in his exposure. He declared he had been "stabbed in the back" by the men he trusted; threatened, coerced and finally tried for murder and given a life sentence in prison because of the infidelity of those whom he trusted.

At first Wilson sought to impeach Cowdrey's testimony by asking him why he had testified at the preliminary hearing of the case that the third man in the bus robbery was some one other than Wilson.

"I did it because I believed you a friend," Cowdrey shot back at Wilson.

"Is your testimony given at this time because of anger for me?" asked Wilson.

"Well, you didn't shoot square with me," responded the witness. "I pleaded guilty to save you and you double-crossed me. I'm not going to be the goat or the sap any longer. I want to see you get your share."

"Didn't you advise me in the County Jail on the 14th inst., to skip my bail and leave the country?" asked Wilson.

BAIL INCREASED

"I told you if you didn't skip you'd be convicted," was the reply.

"Don't you know that I would be betraying my sister—my bondsman—if I skipped; do you think that's the proper thing to do?" queried Wilson.

The witness's answer came quick and with an unmistakable note of bitterness and hatred.

"You betrayed me," were the clear, sharp words that came from between the thin lips of Cowdrey, "you betrayed me—why shouldn't you betray others?"

At this point the trial of the case was continued until this morning. The jury was excused, but Judge Keetch stayed on the bench to hear a motion for increasing the bail in the case of Wilson. The amount was raised from $5000 to $7500.

Permit to Build Line is Asked by Junction Road

The Los Angeles Junction Railway yesterday applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington for a permit to construct eight miles of road in the Vernon industrial district.

According to J. A. McNaughton, vice-president and general manager of the railway company, the road will connect with all steam lines and the Pacific Electric and will serve principally the Union Stockyards and Central Manufacturing District. The road will be something unique in the West, he said, being the only one of its kind this side of Chicago. The locomotives are on hand and a considerable portion of the road already is completed, he stated.

Long Lease of Corner on Hill Taken in East

A syndicate of eastern capitalists yesterday leased the northwest corner of Eighteenth and Hill streets for ninety-eight years at an aggregate rental of $750,000, it was announced by Milton Metzler, representative for the lessor.

Details for future improvement of the property have not been completed, but it is the intention of the new owners to erect a high-class building on the site. C. B. Tillotson is the lessor.

NAVY PAY ORDER ATTACKED

Mandamus Asked to Prevent Withholding Salary Checks as Dependency Allowance Refund

A direct attack on the order of Comptroller-General McCarl of the Navy directing paymasters to withhold all pay checks of naval officers who have received dependency allowances during the past three years until such allowances are repaid in full to the government was taken under advisement yesterday by Federal Judge McCormick. The attack was made by means of an application for a writ of mandamus against E. H. Barber, local disbursing officer to compel payment of the full amount of the complainants pay and allowance as fixed by statute.

The action, which was instituted by Lieutenant-Commander William B. Hetfield, on recruiting service in Los Angeles, through his attorneys, Moore and Farraher, has caused widespread interest throughout naval circles. The petition for the writ asserts in substance that Hetfield, since 1919, under an act of Congress has received certain dependency allowances.

When the present Comptroller-General was appointed, it is said, he entered an order that such payments made since 1919 were illegal, and directed paymasters to withhold the salaries of all officers who had received the allowances until the government had been repaid in full. Some relief from this order was obtained through appeals made to the Secretary of the Navy. Attorney Farraher told Judge McCormick that the Secretary issued a special order reading in part as follows:

"The Secretary of the Navy is of the opinion that the holding of the Supreme Court of the United States is decisive that the salary of an officer is not subject to offset because of claims of the government. The Comptroller-General holds the contrary view. In order that officers will not be deprived of sufficient funds to meet their current necessities it is hereby directed that no disbursing officer shall withhold more than 20 per cent of any officer's current pay without consent."

As a decision on the merits of the case will be of such vast importance in the Navy, R. L. Gloze, solicitor for the Comptroller-General, and O. R. McGuire, special assistant to the Attorney-General, made the trip from Washington to present the government's side of the matter.

The principal contention of Mr. Farraher was that the withholding of any part of an officer's pay was directly against the decision of the Supreme Court, that the salary of an officer is not subject to offset because of government claims.

The chief argument of the government was that the Comptroller-General was a court of last resort on the settlement of all government claims, and the only appeal from his decision would be to the Court of Claims at Washington.

Judge McCormick is expected to render a decision later in the week.

PAINT FUND FAVORED

Police Traffic Inspector Heath yesterday obtained a favorable recommendation from the City Council's Finance Committee on his request for an appropriation of $6500 for paint for the use of the police department painters in designating "Boulevard stop," loading zones, school crossings and other traffic signals. The money is to be given the department at the rate of $750 a month.

VICE WAR IS PLANNED BY CHURCHMEN

Brotherhoods Will Elect Officers for Campaign; Plea Made for Morals

An active fight to combat vice in every form was planned by members of the Los Angeles County Church Brotherhoods at a mass meeting last night at the First Methodist Church. It was decided to hold a second meeting on November 3, next, at which time officers will be elected and the program of work decided upon.

Dr. John Willis Baer was the principal speaker. He made a strong appeal for a campaign to awaken the citizenship to the necessity for maintaining a standard of morals recognized as essential to good citizenship. Other speakers were United States District Judge Bledsoe and Dr. F. W. Hamman of Long Beach.

A constitution on which the organization will be based was presented by Dr. Hamman. This will be brought up again at the next meeting.

Several song numbers were presented by the Shrine Chanters. Delegates were present from Monrovia, Long Beach, Los Angeles Harbor, the South Bay District, Pomona, Glendale, the San Fernando Valley and other towns.

Official Orders Company Stock Permit Held Up

Following a hearing yesterday on charges brought against the California Fruit Confection Company of Camarillo Commissioner of Corporations Daugherty ordered the company's stock-selling permit temporarily suspended until a thorough investigation can be made.

At the hearing evidence was presented to show that the company had sold approximately $40,000 of stock in return for notes in violation of the terms of its permit, which only authorized the sale of stock at par for cash.

Witnesses put on by Deputy Commissioner Armstrong said that the company's deficit at the present time would amount to some $25,000.

Complaints against the company were filed with the department by three of the stockholders. The company is said to be engaged in the manufacture of citrus candy by a secret formula. The hearing was continued until November 10 when the company is ordered to submit an audit of its books.

Young Woman Struck by Auto; Death is Feared

Mrs. Mildred Early, 25 years of age, of 420 South Beaudry avenue, was knocked down and probably fatally injured last night at Temple street and Beaudry avenue by an automobile driven by Maurice Machies, 425 Victor street. She was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where it was stated she had received a basal skull fracture and other injuries.

Machies was questioned by police but was not held. He told them he had just driven out of a parking station when he struck Mrs. Early.

AN OBLIGING BEAUTY DOCTOR

A Beauty Specialist Gives Home-Made Recipe to Darken Gray Hair

Mrs. M. D. Gilespie, a well-known beauty specialist of Kansas City, recently gave out the following statement regarding gray hair:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and will not rub off.—[Advertisement.

District Attorney's Office Gets Three Queries; Three Times; Woman Seeks Bigamy Compl and Matron Apply for Advice in Breaking

The validity of Yucatan divorces—Yucatan being the new haven for the unhappily married, where it is currently reported a decree can be had in thirty days or something of that sort—remains in question. The District Attorney's office had three chances to rule on it yesterday and closed the day with a fielding average of .000.

The Superior Court has a similar percentage.

One woman called on Dep. Dist.-Atty. Hamner and wanted a bigamy complaint against her husband. She married him recently, she said, and learned then he was the possessor of one of the Yucatan decrees Mr. Hamner did not issue the complaint

When the would-be Athenians filed with the County Board of Supervisors a petition for incorporation the district they included in the scheme had a population of 2000 persons.

Thieves are no respecters of police cars, it appeared yesterday from the report of Sergt. John A. McCaleb.

While he had a department machine parked in the 2200 block on West First street, somebody cut loose the spare tire from the rear and carried it off.

New Style Politics Sends Baja California Editors to the Hospital

Halls of Congress Ring With Debate as to Whether Gov. Rodriguez Hit 'Em

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICALI (Baja California) Oct. 3.—A fist fight on the streets of Mexicali on the night of September 11 is now echoing through the halls of the Mexican Congress and greatly agitating the Mexican press.

The question whether it was the Governor of the Northern District of Lower California who, in person beat up two hostile Mexican newspaper editors, or whether the Governor's private secretary did it is still moot. But that is a point of little consequence in the case. For the case marks a new epoch in Mexico—the settling of political disputes by "el box" instead of cold steel or hot lead. Epochal it is, and the incident itself is not devoid of dramatic consequences. The pen is mightier than the sword and it now appears that the left hook is mightier than either.

For example, the other day El Universal, newspaper of Mexico City, published a broadside of rhetoric directed at Gov. Rodriguez of Lower California, accusing him of having personally walloped the two editorial champions of liberty, etc. And Senor Don Ricardo Covarrubias, member of the House of Deputies as representative of the northern district of Lower California, made the halls of Congress ring and re-ring with a denunciation of Gov. Rodriguez in a speech that lasted forty-eight minutes and fifteen seconds, Mexican time.

HERE ARE THE DETAILS

But to proceed chronologically—On the night of September 11, Mr. Harry Wills, dark bay boxer, and Senor Don Luis Firpo, wild "bool" of the Argentine pampas, were settling their professional differences on Boyle's Thirty Acres in Jersey City. Coincidentally there was a party of Mexicans which had collected in the Red Mill Bar at Mexicali to get the returns of the fight that were being received there. Since the advent of Don Luis in the international ring, there had been a great interest in boxing in Mexico, and although Mexicans do not drink "yerba mate" which is Argentine tea, or mix Italian with their Spanish, they sympathized with the Argentine boxer and hoped he would triumph.

Now in this assemblage were Senor General de Division Don Abelardo L. Rodriguez, governador del distrito norte de Baja California, to give him his full title; the

ASSETS OF KORETZ TO TREASURY

Income Tax Lien Covers Entire Sum Saved from Swindler's Crash

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Oct. 3. — Only one creditor of Leo Koretz, promoter of the great Bayano River trust myth, will get back any of the money that was invested with him. That one is Uncle Sam. E. E. Alden, revenue agent in charge, today notified Mrs. Mabel G. Reinecke, the collector, that Koretz owed the government income taxes for 1921, 1922 and 1923, a total of $550,000, with accrued penalties and interest that will bring the amount to almost $1,000,000.

Koretz swindled a score or more rich Chicagoans out of sums aggregating several millions by selling them shares in oil wells, hardwood timber lands and other great wealth producers on the Isthmus of Panama which existed only in persuasive conversation.

Mrs. Reinecke notified the Chicago Title and Trust Company, receiver, that she immediately will file in the Federal court a lien on the $350,000 which the trust company has gathered from the wreck of the Koretz fortune.

The government claim will be given preference in its entirety, and it is possible that the entire amount will go into the coffers of the Treasury. The individual creditors, it is said, will not be able to recover anything.

PLANE LAUNCHED IN AIR

Messenger Machine Carried Aloft by Dirigible and Released; Model Record Set at Dayton Races

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DAYTON (O.) Oct. 3.—Characterized by Maj.-Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chief of the United States Air Service, as having written a new chapter in aviation, an airplane for the first time in history was launched in mid-air at Wilbur Wright Field today and got away under its own power.

The experiment was carried on with a Sperry messenger plane, hooked on underneath the car of the Army dirigible TC-5 as a stunt for the second day's program of the international air races.

It was intended to show primarily how in war time dirigibles can transport planes. The plane is hooked to a trapeze and may attach itself again.

GENERAL PLEASED

Lieut. C. V. Finter of Langley Field, flew the Sperry and Lieut. Frank McKee of Scott Field was the pilot of the TC-5.

In a formal statement Gen. Patrick noted the achievement and said the Army Air Service was pleased with the success of this year's races. He said the building up of a commercial air industry will be a strong factor in the success of the country and will increase business facilities.

Setting of a new world's record for model planes, the thrilling last-minute loss of a race by Pilot Charles S. "Casey" Jones of Garden City, N. Y., and competition between "flivvers" of the sky were the outstanding points on today's program.

Easily of first interest was the race between the "flying bathtub" of Etienne Dormoy, technical engineer of McCook Field, and J. M. Johnson, of the Johnson Aircraft and Supply Company, Dayton, both powered by motors of 19.7 horsepower in the Dayton Daily News light airplane contest.

JOHNSON WINS

Johnson won, traveling at an average speed of 64.7 miles an hour. The "bathtub" went around the twenty-five-mile course at the rate of 60.1 miles an hour. Dormoy's plane, constructed and designed by him, traveled fifty miles on a gallon of gasoline. It has no fuselage and the fuel tank is up under the wing, there being no other place for it.

The chief object of the small plane race was to show what progress is being made to develop ships that will carry more weight per horsepower.

Robert V. Jaros, of the University of Chicago, representing the Model Aero Club of Illinois, is the holder of a new world's record for model airplanes.

In competition for the Mulvihill Trophy, a model constructed by him remained in the air for 10m. 14 2-10s. The best previous record, made in England, was 5.5m. Jaros's tiny monoplane traveled a mile and a half, compared to the former record of 6000 feet.

CHEKIANG IS DRIVEN BACK

Further Withdrawal is Rumored; Attempt of Diplomatic Corps for Armistice Reported

BY JOHN POWELL

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1924, by the Chicago Tribune.]

SHANGHAI, Oct. 3.—The Chekiang forces were pushed back for a distance of two miles in the fighting in the vicinity of Sungkiang today and there are rumors that they may withdraw as far as the town of Minghong, located on the Yangtsepec River about fifteen miles to the south of Shanghai.

A constant artillery duel was in progress all day on the Sungkiang front, and the indications are that this will be the principal center of the fighting for the next few days.

About 100 seriously wounded were brought in tonight.

The impossibility of either side gaining an advantage here, and the danger felt owing to the lines being gradually pulled in toward Shanghai are responsible for rumors here of an attempt by the powers to propose an armistice.

CONSULS MAY ACT

A report received here from Nanking tonight states that the diplomatic body in Peking, led by the Dutch Minister, is starting a move to induce the powers to make a proposal for the retirement of the leaders of the factions from the Shanghai area. If the plan is successful the local consular body will be instructed to make the proposal.

Tang Shao-Yi, former Premier, leader of the South and a veteran statesman, who has been in retirement in Shanghai, in association with eleven other prominent Chinese in this section, today sent a telegram to the Peking Cabinet and President Tsao Kun stating that a serious war had now been in progress in the Shanghai area for a month, resulting in the killing of thousands of Chinese and the production of a famine on both sides of the line. He says the sufferers number from six to seven millions.

SHANGHAI AID ASKED

"The appalling distress which the present war has brought to China is comparable only to the ravages of the Taiping rebellion of more than half-century ago," he says. "In the north 10,000 square miles are under water and $26,000,000 are needed for famine relief."

The telegram demands that the recent surtax levied by the government on the railroads and the customs tax to an extent of a half be diverted to the relief of the sufferers in the Shanghai area.

Directors Kwong and Low of the Kiangnan Dock and Engineering Company, owning the largest shipbuilding plant in China, were kicked out of office today and new directors substituted by Gen. Ho Feng Lin, the local military commander, on the ground that the

LEAGUE COUNCIL VOTES TO CHANGE ARMS BODY

United States May be Requested to Aid Work of Disarmament; Session Adjourned

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

GENEVA, Oct. 3.—Before adjourning this evening, the Council of the League of Nations adopted resolutions whereby, in preparation for next year's conference on the reduction of armaments, the League's disarmament commission will be transformed into a commission of co-ordination. It will simultaneously be revised and enlarged so as to include all the representative groups fundamentally interested in the success of the conference.

Although no plans were adopted whereby the United States will be invited to participate in the work of the new commission, League officials said tonight that the question of collaboration of nonmember states would be decided at the next meeting of the Council, which will be held in Rome in December.

PRESERVES ITS RIGHTS

The reorganized commission will consist of representatives from all states having seats in the Council, two members each from the economical, financial and transit organizations of the League, six military and naval experts to be designated by the League's permanent military commission, two members of the employers' and two of the workingmen's group of the governing board of the international labor bureau and several jurists to be appointed by the Council.

The Council will preserve as always its sovereign right of decision and even general direction of the entire preparation for the conference. The delegates of the various countries who now represent their governments on the council may sit on the new commission, although it is expected they will generally have substitutes in the form of experts.

The new commission will have no power of final decisions, but will co-ordinate the program of preparation. According to today's resolution, the co-ordination commission will hold its first meeting in Geneva, November 17. Representatives of all the states having seats in the Council will be expected to come to Geneva with definite plans in their pockets so that the work may be pushed rapidly. Suggestions from other member states will be welcomed.

MEETING TO BE LIMITED

Sir Eric Drummond, secretary-general to the League of Nations, has been asked to collect all the necessary material for the examination of the system of application of economic and financial sanctions provided for in the protocol for the peaceful settlement of international disputes.

The present plans are that the first meeting of the new commission will be confined to representative states of the Council and that the various groups enumerated above will be added later when the program has been sufficiently mapped out to warrant their presence.

LEAGUE PERILED BY FORECAST REJECTION

BY JOHN STEELE

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1924, by the Chicago Tribune]

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Public anger in England is rising against the Geneva peace pact protocol, and particularly against the Japanese amendment, the effect of which would be to compel the members of the League to submit purely domestic matters such as control of immigration to the League for arbitration.

The Evening Standard, which is the leading organ of the Conservative party, advises Australia, Canada and New Zealand to withdraw from the League immediately.

The Standard points out that if Australia, for instance, refused to submit to Japan's demand that it alter its policy regarding colored immigration, the British fleet might be called to blockade Australian ports in the name of the League.

The Standard declares the British dominions have nothing to gain from the protocol which they do not possess already as members of the British Empire and they have everything to lose by being entangled in the wars and quarrels of Europe.

There is no difference of opinion among the parties in England on the subject, and the protocol has not the slightest chance of acceptance here.

It may sound the death knell of the League.

Already there is much talk in political circles of the suggestion I cabled last week, of a British Empire-United States alliance for the preservation of a white Pacific.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3. — The preliminary organization of a Pacific Coast Chamber of Mines and Minerals having as its purpose the federation of all existing mining organizations in a number of Western States, Alaska, British Columbia and Mexico in one body, was effected at a conference of mining executives held here today.

Until such time as the permanent organization is formed the chamber will maintain its headquarters in Sacramento and its business will be transacted by Bert F. PARTY QUITS BROOKHART

Iowa Senator Is Repudiated

State Republican Committee Rules He Has Forfeited Right to Support

Asserts He is Conspiring With La Follette Men to Defeat Coolidge

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DES MOINES, Oct. 3.—The Iowa Republican Central Committee today decided that Senator Smith W. Brookhart had ruled himself out of the Republican ranks when he denounced President Coolidge and Charles G. Dawes, Republican nominees for President and Vice-President.

The committee stated that Brookhart's statements of the last few days constituted a repudiation of and a bolt from the Republican party.

Senator Brookhart opened his campaign for re-election at Emmetsburg today with a vigorous attack upon President Coolidge.

The committee declared that the heads of the La Follette party inspired Senator Brookhart's action "for the malicious purpose of attempting to turn the attention of the voters from the real issues of this campaign" and "defeat the right of the people to elect a President at the polls," thereby throwing the election into Congress.

REPLEDGE SUPPORT

The State Central Committee in its statement reaffirms its confidence in the heads of the national ticket, and declares "we are proud to stand on the life and record of Calvin Coolidge against the attacks of any man."

Simultaneously with the committee's pronouncement Mrs. Miriam Stewart Hollowell, Iowa national committeewoman, issued a statement in which she declared that Senator Brookheart's "attack on my candidates, which comes like a slap in the face, leaves me with no other choice than to feel that he has forfeited the right to my indorsement."

The committee's statement, after setting out at considerable length the achievements of President Coolidge and Mr. Dawes concludes:

"The Republican party in Iowa without a dissenting vote instructed its delegates to the national convention to vote for Calvin Coolidge and made this instruction a part of their platform.

"Every candidate for office on the Republican ticket entered into the primary campaign and filed as a Republican after the Iowa convention had instructed for President Coolidge.

"We, as the representatives of the Republican party in Iowa, elected through the medium of the primary, submit to the Republican voters of the State that the repudiation of the Republican nominees by Senator Brookhart is a repudiation of, and a bolt from the Republican party.

CONSPIRACY CHARGED

"It is our belief that this action on the part of Senator Brookhart has been inspired by the heads of the La Follette party for the malicious purpose of attempting to turn the attention of the voters from the real issues of this campaign.

"The self-impelled bolt from Republican ranks by Senator Brookhart is the result of a conspiracy to defeat the right of the people to elect a President at the polls and to force such an election by a Congress selected two to six years ago.

"We as Republicans, who believe in the constitution of the United States and who believe in construction rather than destruction, will continue our campaign for President Coolidge and Mr. Dawes and all Republicans on the ticket.

"On any issue of honesty, integrity and interest in the welfare of all the people, we are proud to

DOUBTS POTHIER STORIES

Federal Agent Holds Cronkhite Slain by Accident by Bugler Sergeant Despite Confessions

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

TACOMA, Oct. 3.—Maj. Alexander P. Cronkhite was slain accidentally by Sergeant Bugler Roland R. Pothier and Capt. Robert Rosenbluth had no connection with the killing, in the opinion of Thomas J. Callaghan, special agent in charge of the Providence (R. I.) office of the Bureau of Investigation, Department of Justice, during cross-examination in Federal court this afternoon.

This testimony came as the dramatic conclusion of a day in which a score of conflicting statements and confessions of Pothier concerning the death of Maj. Cronkhite had been introduced in evidence by James W. Osborne of New York, assistant to the United States Attorney-General, who is prosecuting Pothier for the government on the charge of murdering Cronkhite.

Rosenbluth is also accused of complicity in the murder and his trial has been set for later this month.

Callagan took the three confessions of Pothier which were introduced yesterday as having been made between the time of his arrest about March 17, 1921, in Rhode Island, and March 25 of the same year, while under arrest for alleged connection with the major's death.

RIGID QUIZ

Callaghan's statement declaring that in his opinion Rosenbluth had not engineered the killing of Cronkhite and that his death was accidental came during cross-examination by Maurice A. Langhorne.

The special agent had been rigidly questioned by both prosecution and defense regarding the details of the confessions and the circumstances of their taking. They showed Pothier as admitting first that he had accidentally shot the major, secondly that he had deliberately shot him on the order of Capt. Rosenbluth, and third, that he and Rosenbluth had arranged the killing several days in advance.

The defense maintains that Pothier is subnormal mentally and that the confessions were the result of suggestions planted in his mind by the officers who cross-examined him, after his arrest.

STORIES CHANGED

Callaghan said in reply to questions by Langhorne that he believed that Pothier's mentality was below normal and that stronger minds could influence him, but denied that he had suggested to the defendant that the major could have accidentally shot himself in the manner described at the mili-

DAWES CARRIES WAR TO INDIANA

Vice-Presidential Nominee Hammers Hard on Issues

Stresses Danger to Nation in La Follette Schemes

Hope of Sound Government Lies in West, He Says

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FORT WAYNE (Ind.) Oct. 3.—Charles G. Dawes, Republican candidate for Vice-President, closed his Indiana tour and his third midwestern trip with an address here tonight in which he characterized the La Follette independent candidacy as an endeavor to drive the ship of State from its constitutional moorings.

"Don't lose your moorings," he advised his audience. "For 135 years the Ship of State has sailed with the Constitution as a compass. It has not sailed by the wind as the politicians do. It has made us a great, happy and peaceful country. All things depend upon it."

Mr. Dawes spoke in Terre Haute, Brazil, Limedale, Crawfordsville and Lafayette.

PREDOMINANT ISSUE

The La Follette movement claimed Mr. Dawes's attention in all his speeches.

"That is the predominant, overshadowing issue in this great campaign which is before us—the most important question which has been at issue since the Civil War," he said in his speech at Crawfordsville.

"Upon such people as live here and through this western section rests the hope of sound government under the Constitution of the United States."

The Vice-Presidential nominee at Terre Haute, the home of Eugene V. Debs, paid a tribute to the courage of Mr. Debs as he did last week in the case of Senator La Follette in the latter's home city of Madison. In so doing, Mr. Dawes took occasion to condemn those in his own party, who were "straddling issues."

RESPECT FOR COURAGE

"I highly respect Mr. Debs's courage," he said. "I respect the courage of those fellows who fight for something they believe in. The trouble with the politics of today is that on my side of it we have had too many fellows straddling issues and trying to please all sides on all questions.

"Now with this amalgamation behind aggressive leadership of all the combinations that you can get opposed to the existing order of things, the people know there is a real fight; they know that the form of their government, the Constitution of the United States, is attacked."

Mr. Dawes, while en route from Lafayette to Fort Wayne, was shown a statement issued today in Emmetsburg, Iowa, by Senator Smith W. Brookhart, who renewed his demand that the Republican National Committee ask Mr. Dawes to resign from the ticket and challenged him to visit Iowa again.

The only comment Mr. Dawes had to make was that he expected to visit Iowa next week.

Officials of the Republican Veterans' League of California formally will open their campaign in the southern part of the State with a dinner at Disabled Veterans' Hall, 246 South Hill street, on the evening of the 9th inst., J. According to the plans of the league officers, each veterans' organization will be represented by a group. Ex-service men from all parts of Southern California will attend the meeting, Mr. McKinley added in speaking of the dinner.

Organization of a branch of the Veterans' League in Santa Barbara was announced by Mr. McKinley today. H. E. Weyler has been selected as chairman of the organization in the northern city.

Linton Smith, Los Angeles county league chairman, said that James Collins has been placed in charge of the veterans' organization in Long Beach and that Angelo Bessio has been made chairman of the newly organized Eagle Rock unit.

REPUBLICAN LITERATURE IS RECEIVED

Headquarters Here Begins Distribution of Campaign Pamphlets

Distribution of a series of new political pamphlets treating on current campaign issues was begun yesterday at the Republican headquarters, 425 South Spring street. Lapel buttons, windshield and window stickers have been received during the last few days at the local headquarters, and are now being distributed throughout Southern California.

Following is a list of the pamphlets which are ready for distribution:

"The Betrayal of California," "What Republican Politics Mean to the Women of America," "The Minority Govern When the Majority Fail," "A Crisis in American Politics," "Coolidge," by Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr.; "Tax Reduction," "The Policy and Practice of the Republican Administration," "Public Economy, a Record of Results During Three Years of Republican Rule," "Charles G. Dawes," a sketch; "Dawes's Acceptance Speech," "The Farmer and the Republican Party," "The Republican Congress," "The Man, Coolidge," "Burton's Nominating Speech," "Calvin Coolidge, the Farmer Boy," "The President," a summary; "The Platform of the Republican Party," "Farm Women Will Vote the Republican Ticket."

Drive in Girard to Pool Hundred Per Cent of Vote

Every voter voting is the slogan of an organization which now is being formed in the town of Girard under direction of J. H. Barnes in an effort to have every eligible voter in the district register and cast ballot in the Presidential election November 4.

If it is possible, Barnes hopes to have every man and woman in the community, who is qualified to vote, cast his ballot.

If Barnes succeeds in inducing every voter in the district to cast a ballot on election day, the town of Girard will establish a record for civic duty that will be envied by most of the cities and towns of the United States.

The organization which Barnes is forming will be non-partisan. The only requirement necessary to become a member will be a registration certificate and a promise to go to the polls November 4.

Mining Man Attacks Theory of Government Ownership

Holds People Would Lose in Service and Prices

Cites Federal Operation of Railroads as Example

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—In one of the most comprehensive exposures of the fallacy of government ownership or control of railroads and natural resources published during the present campaign, George H. Bailey, counsel of the American Mining Congress, declares the issue revolves around two questions:

(1.) Will government ownership or control increase production or service?

(2.) Will government ownership or control lessen prices to the consumer?

Both questions are answered in the negative by Mr. Bailey, who adds that the surest result will be an increase in the cost of the product to the consumer, an increase in the number of employees and a consequent increase in the national tax burden.

Mr. Bailey's article is published in the current number of the Mining Congress Journal.

HOW ABOUT FARMERS?

"When is the government going to place the 7,000,000 farmers under civil service and on the pay roll of the government?" Mr. Bailey asks. Should the government take over the railroads and the natural resources of the country, Mr. Bailey estimates it would place immediately on the government pay rolls about 7,500,000 employees who would be under civil service with jobs and retirement pensions for life.

Mr. Bailey states that the average farmer pays little in Federal taxes, his taxes averaging about 70 cents an acre, being almost wholly to State and county governments. But this would not be the case if the railroad and natural resource property were withdrawn from the tax rolls by becoming government property with the resulting loss of $660,000,000 annually paid in taxes by these special industries. The loss would invariably have to be made up by the small taxpayers. As to efficiency, Mr. Bailey says:

RAILROADS AN EXAMPLE

In railroads we have an actual illustration of government operation and private ownership. During the war period, under government operation, wages of Class One railroads increased from $1,739,482,142 in 1917 to $3,681,801,193 in 1920. Following 1920, with the railroads again under private operation, over 300,000 employees were dismissed, and more freight was handled than ever before at a saving of over $800,000,000 per year. This saving also made possible reduction in freight rates which had been boosted enormously during the period of government control. We could hardly have a better example of the inefficiency, loss and poor service than government operation and private ownership gave us.

Speaking of the coal industry, Mr. Bailey asks:

"Why control coal when it will not give you cheap coal, or more coal?"

BLIGHT ON DEVELOPMENT

Considering the metal mining and oil situation, Mr. Bailey remarked that it has been only the hope of extraordinary profits that has drawn men to spend millions and millions of dollars in prospecting for "pay dirt." He asks:

"Could the government have prospected the country and developed the mines we now have? Could you imagine any Congressman voting the millions of dollars necessary to be expended in prospecting? Then the hundreds of mine failures! The Senate and House investigations! Can you see them? Can you see government control opening or creating a single mine in this whole country?

"The same can be said of oil. No one puts money or time into the extra hazard of oil development except for the hope of extraordinary profits. If the government had limited the profits in the oil industry fifty years ago, there would be no oil industry today. Can you imagine Congressmen and Senators voting money to put down oil wells to find new oil territory? Can you see an oil industry built up in that way?"

Summing up, Mr. Bailey brings the personal touch to show that sectionhands have become railroad presidents, coal and steel laborers have become members of President's Cabinets, "but," he asks, "Did any civil service employee or mail carrier ever become Postmaster-General? Let us not fix a limit to opportunity; let us not set the brakes against success; let us not rebuke ambition and destroy hope."

COURT JAM TELLS NEED OF JUDGES

Federal Justices Confer With Taft on Condition of Dockets

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The condition of business in the Federal courts throughout the country requires the creation of additional judgeships, in the opinion of Federal circuit judges, who have been in conference here three days with Chief Justice Taft.

After a careful review of the dockets in each of the district courts, it was the decision of the conference today that the congestion in the Federal courts could only be relieved by additional judges. The conference found that in the large cities and in other districts where conditions lead to many violations of the Volstead Act, the congestion in the criminal business has increased notwithstanding the recent increase in the number of district judges.

To relieve the present congestion, the conference renewed its recommendation made to Congress a year ago for the creation of two new circuit jurgeships to be assigned to the Eighth Circuit, embracing seven mid-western States and for three new district judges to be assigned, two to Southern New York and one to Northern Georgia.

PITCHING ACE FOR COOLIDGE

Walter Johnson, Who Has Seen Presidents Come and Go, Finds Incumbent Quiet and Hard Worker

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Walter Johnson, Kansas farmer and pitching ace of the American League, today on the eve of stepping to the mound to lead the Senators in their battle for the world series pennant came out for President Coolidge and announced his intention of leaving immediately after the close of the series to cast his vote in Reno, Nev., for Coolidge.

The veteran of almost a score of baseball campaigns with the Washington team, Johnson has long been a resident of the capital and has seen presidents come and go. He is a modest young man, despite the high place to which he has risen in the world of sport, and is never outspoken, qualities which have partly been responsible for the host of admirers he has in every city.

EMPHATIC IN PRAISE

Today, however, he was emphatic in his praise of President Coolidge.

"Some people are inclined to criticise the President because he does not leave the White House and go up and down the country making speeches," he said. "That is to my mind one of the reasons he should be continued at the head of the government. The President is keeping his feet on the ground and is attending to his job. I know and most of us know that if the President is to do his work properly he has not any time for anything else. The President is a quiet man, but from what I've seen here in Washington, he is a hard worker, and I'm going to vote to keep him here."

Walter said he has met Mr. Coolidge a number of times, but that he had never mentioned politics to the President, "because I felt that any opinions of mine would not be of much importance."

When the deciding game of the world series is over, Johnson expects to pack up and take Mrs. Johnson, his several husky youngsters and his mother, who is here to see her first professional baseball game, out to Reno for a brief stay. Later he is going to his 300-acre farm near Coffeyville, Kan.

IOWA SENATOR IS REPUDIATED

stand on the life and record of Calvin Coolidge against the attacks of any man."

BROOKHART MAKES ATTACK ON COOLIDGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

EMMETSBURG (Iowa) Oct. 3.—Senator Smith W. Brookhart who earlier in the week denounced Charles G. Dawes, Republican Vice-Presidential candidate, today made it plain to Iowa Republicans that President Coolidge also would not have his support in the forthcoming election.

The address, before a farmers' gathering here, had been widely heralded as a complete break between the Iowa Senator and the Republican national ticket.

No direct advocacy of the Presidential candidacy of Senator Robert M. La Follette was included in the address.

On the same platform with Senator Brookhart was former Gov. D. W. Davis of Idaho, campaigning through Iowa on behalf of the Republican national ticket. Mr. Davis denounced La Follette and the last Democratic administration.

The Republic party, said Senator Brookhart, has strayed from the ideals of its founders, while the "machine organization," he declared, "had refused to recognize the will of the people."

Referring particularly to his own differences with leaders of his party, Senator Brookhart said that although he had been nominated "by 200,000 Republicans, without a machine and without money," and was "opposed by Wall street's money and by the President's power," his nomination had never been recognized by President Coolidge as the choice of Republicanism in Iowa.

Senator Brookhart declared Republican leaders refused him favor because he had differed on so many occasions from the national administration, naming a dozen issues over which he had opposed the ideas of President Coolidge.

"I belong to the farm bloc; the President belongs to the Wall-street bloc," he declared.

DEMOCRAT DENOUNCES BROOKHART'S TREACHERY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DES MOINES, Oct. 3.—Dan F. Steck, Democratic candidate for United States Senator, in a statement made public here today denounced the Presidential stand of Senator Smith W. Brookhart in his Emmetsburg address, as "dishonest and a fraud upon the Republican party." After asking what "this man Brookhart, who declares himself supreme political dictator of Iowa, has ever done that Iowa should kindly follow his lead," Mr. Steck declared that "after playing fast and loose since the primary in June, Mr. Brookhart has at last taken his stand with La Follette and Wheeler."

"Mr. Brookhart knew at the time he asked for the Republican nomination at the primary that President Coolidge would be the Republican nominee for President," Mr. Steck asserted. "He knew then as much about President Coolidge as he knows now and his action in seeking the nomination for Senator as a Republican, when he did not agree with the Republican party, was not in sympathy with its policies and aims and he knew that he would not support Mr. Coolidge as the Republican nominee, was dishonest and a fraud upon the Republican party to which he then claimed to belong."

RADICAL MANAGER SEES BROOKHART ALLY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Representative John M. Nelson, national manager for La Follette and Wheeler, said in a statement today:

"We regard both Senator Brookhart and Federal Justice Kenyon of Iowa as friendly to La Follette.

"The attitude of Senator Johnson of California is encouraging as is also that of Senator Norris of Nebraska."

After making some personal investigations into the social conditions of Glasgow, Scotland, an English author proposes to publish his findings under the title of "The Cancer of Empire."

COMMUNIST CANDIDATE HEARD HERE

W. Z. Foster Predicts Red Revolution in Speech at Gamut Hall

A candidate for President of the United States, William Z. Foster, head of the Communist ticket, addressed an audience of about 800 people at Gamut Hall last night.

He was preceded by Emanuel Levin, Communist agent, and A. Plotkin, who peddled literature on the Communist movement from the stage. Foster halted his speech at one time to ballyhoo for contributions for the "cause." An admission fee of 25 cents was charged.

Denunciations formed the backbone of Foster's address. He directed most of his attack upon the private ownership of industry, and told of his own troubles in the steel strike of 1919 as proof. Russia was held out as the heaven of the working man.

Senator La Follette, who has swapped denunciations with Foster and his Communists, was attacked by the speaker. He said La Follette does not believe in the confiscation of private property to a degree satisfactory to the Reds, and is "the last stand of capitalism." La Follette's measures in Congress, he said, had aided the cause of capitalism.

Rudolph Spreckels, San Francisco banker and leader of the La Follette movement on the Pacific Coast, also came in for a thump.

"Spreckels is not a nut," said Foster. "He is far-sighted. He seeks to preserve his money by joining the La Follette movement, knowing what is coming."

Public schools and religion and the church were denounced as minions of "Wall street," along with the Republican and Democratic parties and their candidates.

Foster said he saw war coming, and called on his audience to join the Communist party and when war broke out "to raise the standard of revolt, strike against capitalism and dominate the world." He said he expected defeat in this election, but expected to live to see a Communist at the head of the United States, but called "Chairman of the Committee of Commissars." Election of Communists to office, he said, he felt was useless, as "capitalism cannot be legislated out of the government, but must be driven out."

He attacked the action of the government for what he said was favoritism to the trusts during strikes.

Fraud Suspect's Hearing Delayed Pending Inquiry

At the request of the District Attorney's office, the preliminary hearing of Frank Solomon, dubbed by authorities the "California Ponzi," was continued until next Wednesday by Justice Baird yesterday. The continuance was desired by the prosecutor's office in order to conduct a more extended investigation into the suspect's operations. At present Solomon is facing seven counts charging embezzlement.

It is asserted that Solomon victimized R. Marcher to the tune of nearly $100,000 and that he also obtained considerable sums from others. Solomon's practice, police say, was to borrow about $500 from the potential victim and return the money the following week with about 50 per cent interest. The victim, convinced that he had made an excellent investment, would then loan Solomon almost any sum demanded, it is charged. The second loan, however, would disappear with Solomon, the prosecution charges. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Bonner Richardson is handling the investigation into the case, which may be taken up by the grand jury.

COOLIDGE DRIVE IN HOLLYWOOD

Campaign to be Launched at Rally Wednesday

Washington Congressman to be Among Speakers

Intensive Canvass Planned by District Club

An intensive drive in the interest of the Coolidge-Dawes campaign throughout the Hollywood district will be launched next Wednesday evening when supporters of the Republican ticket meet at the Hollywood High School. The meeting, which is to be held under the auspices of the Hollywood Coolidge-Dawes Club, recently organized, will be in the nature of a public rally to the Republican standard.

The list of speakers include Congressman Albert Johnson, representative from the State of Washington; Congressman John D. Fredericks, candidate for re-election in the Tenth California district; Buron Fitts, Chief Deputy District Attorney, and Martin Neuner, one of the electors on the Coolidge-Dawes ticket.

Congressman Johnson, who has represented the Third Washington District since 1913, is the publisher of the Daily Washingtonian of Hoquiam, Wash., and during the war served as a captain in the Chemical Warfare Service. In the last Congress he served as chairman of the Immigration and Naturalization Committee, and was also a member of the Territories and Printing committees.

The meeting will be opened at 8 o'clock by F. A. Hartwell, president of the Hollywood Coolidge-Dawes Club. Mr. Hartwell will be introduced by Sidney T. Graves, Assemblyman from the Sixty-third District.

Entertainment will include music, community singing and a monologue by Press Woodruff, the Arkansas yodler.

The Hollywood Coolidge-Dawes Club, organized during the last week, has established its headquarters at 6427 Hollywood Boulevard. Mr. Hartwell, Hollywood realty broker, has taken charge of the organization as its executive and Hervey Fry has been named district campaign manager. Mr. Fry will be in charge of the headquarters, where literature and information are available to the public.

Under the supervision of officials of the organization, plans are being laid for several large meetings of Hollywood supporters of the Republican ticket. A thorough canvass is to be made of the district, and it is expected that Hollywood will be carried by the Coolidge-Dawes ticket with a larger plurality than at the May primary, when Coolidge carried every precinct in Hollywood except one, in which he tied with his opponent.

CANADA TO SEND ENVOY TO AMERICA

Senator Bellcourt, League Representative, Offered Washington Post

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The Canadian government, according to reliable information received in Washington, has decided to take the final step in emphasizing its national status by the appointment of a resident minister accredited to the United States.

Premier McKenzie King has offered the appointment to Senator N. A. Bellcourt, now representing his government at the League of Nations conference at Geneva and it is expected he will accept. If he does the Canadian Minister to Washington will take up his residence here soon, possibly as early as Thanksgiving.

Senator Bellcourt to whom the Canadian honor has been offered, is a French-Canadian, although a resident of Ontario province. He was formerly Speaker of the House, and later appointed a Senator which is a life position. He is nearly 70 years of age and possesses a comfortable fortune which he made as a younger man in the Canadian Klondike when he "struck it rich."

Senator Bellcourt was appointed to represent the Canadian government during the discussions concerning the adoption of the Dawes plan where he secured acceptance of the theory that Canada must be considered in the settlement of the reparations question. He alternated in the sittings with the British representative.

BACK COOLIDGE IN NEW JERSEY

Republicans to Carry State by 200,000, Says Senator

Survey of Northwest Shows President's Strength

La Follette Support Held More Noise Than Power

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—After a conference with President Coolidge at the White House today Senator Walter Edge of New Jersey predicted a 200,000 majority for the national Republican ticket in his State. The New Jersey Senator took up matters relating to the New Jersey situation in the course of a luncheon conference with the President.

"President Coolidge will carry New Jersey by 200,000 majority," Senator Edge said. "As things stand now it looks as if the Socialist third ticket has a chance of polling as many votes as the Democratic ticket will in the State of New Jersey. This, however, depends on what Hudson county does. Six weeks ago I said that the Socialist third ticket and Davis are running neck and neck and that Coolidge is leading by something like 300,000. Nothing has happened to alter this situation."

W. I. Humphrey, for twelve years a member of Congress from the State of Washington was another caller at the White House today. He has returned from a survey of the political situation in the Northwest and the Far West.

NO GROUND FOR PESSIMISM

"Conditions in the territory in question," Mr. Humphrey said, "do not justify pessimism by any means. After a very careful survey, I am confident that there is no reason whatever why the Republican party should lose the normally Republican States in the West. As conditions are now we could lose them only by lying down. This is true of Washington, Oregon, California and the mountain States. There is no Democratic campaign to speak of west of the Mississippi River and my own conviction is that in many sections of which we have heard much of late, La Follettism is more vociferous than powerful. We have the making of a great victory all along the line."

Another White House caller was R. G. Callvert, managing editor of the Portland Oregonian, one of the most influential newspapers in the West. Mr. Callvert is confident that Oregon is safe for Coolidge.

OREGON IN LINE

"When I left the State," Mr. Callvert said, "everything looked like a sure Coolidge victory. In spite of the fact that we have had a serious drought, agricultural conditions are better and the upswing to greater prosperity has done much to mollify such discontent as we had.

"Another thing in favor of the Republican party is the fact that the La Follette factions are fighting among themselves. The latter are composed of the cast-off elements of all parties and they lack unity, cohesion and a definite aim. The latest fight is over a special State ticket with La Follette electors. TODAY'S LAST CHANCE!

The Presidential election this year marks one of the greatest contests in the history of the United States and whatever the outcome will always be regarded as an epochal event. Success for Coolidge or Davis or La Follette, or a deadlock in the Electoral College and a consequent attempt to decide the issue in the House of Representatives or the Senate, will have a bearing so vital to national affairs and conditions as to affect the personal welfare of every citizen. No citizen of California who fails to register by this evening, October 4, will be eligible to have a share in deciding this great issue. Registration deputies are located in various sections of Los Angeles city and county. All necessary information relating to details of registration may be obtained by telephoning the Registrar of Voters, MAin 2300.

former were northern sympathizers. The Kiangnan Dock and Engineering Company is a Chinese government concern and during the war constructed four 10,000-ton cargo ships for the United States under contract with the Shipping Board.

The Kiangnan docks are located here next to the arsenal. The action of the local militarists lends support to persistent rumors that they intend to blow up the arsenal if they suffer defeat in the war with Kiangsu Province.

The Peking government today filed a protest against the landing of a cargo of eighteen airplanes ordered by Gen. Chang Tso Lin of Mukden from France.

These planes are said to be on a steamer now in Shanghai Harbor. The Chinese government states that the airplanes are for war purposes and demands that the French Minister at Peking, as well as the Chinese Minister at Paris, take action preventing the planes from getting into the hands of Gen. Chang's forces.

The Chinese government today approached the foreign directors of the Chinese customs and salt monopoly asking them to undertake the flotation of a loan of $4,200,000 based on the German bonds recently surrendered to China through the Cino-German agreement. Marshal Wu Pei Fu, in command of the Peking forces, made a personal request of the British finance officials in the employ of the Chinese government to attend to the matter at once.

FOREIGN INTERESTS PROMISED PROTECTION

By Charles Dailey

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PEKING, Oct. 3.—Gen. Wu Pei Fu today attended a dinner to the Diplomatic Corps given by Premier Yen. He reiterated his pledge to protect the foreign interests in the war zone, asking only noninterference, and repeating that if such was the case Manchuria would soon be subjected.

Although war news is negative, the diplomatic issues multiply. The Chinese Minister to Moscow today protested against the agreement with Gen. Chang Tso Lin as contrary to international practice and therefore unrecognizable. Meanwhile, both the soviets and Gen. Chang have installed new directors on the Chinese Eastern Railway, while the soviets have opened a bank in Mukden.

Mr. Yoshizawa, the Japanese Minister, has forwarded to Japan China's protest of eighteen French airplanes being transhipped from a French liner at Hongkong to a Japanese ship for delivery to Gen. Chang in China, having asked its interception en route. France has replied in its behalf only that no military planes were shipped.

CHANG TO ASSUME AGGRESSIVE ACTION

By Roderick Matheson

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MUKDEN (Manchuria) Sept. 30. [Delayed.] There is a stalemate in the situation on the main Shanhaikwan front where the Peking and Manchurian armies are facing each other. Such a situation cannot last long as neither force is prepared for a winter campaign. The indications are that Gen. Chang Tso Lin, commander of the Mukden forces, will assume the aggressive as soon as those generals who can be bribed are definitely aligned.

There have been no notable defections from either side, but certain negotiations are on in which the Mukden Treasury is in a better position to offer ready cash. Private information states that Feng Yu Hsiang, the "Christian" general commanding the Peking forces in the Jehol area, is holding out for a supertuchunship, his price to refrain from transferring his army to Mukden.

In the meanwhile the Mukden troops are defeating one after another the small advance units which Gen. Feng has holding the various mountain passes in the Jehol area.

RAILWAY CHIEFS ARRESTED BY CHANG

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

TIEN-TSIN, Oct. 4.—Following an agreement between Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian leader, and the soviet government, M. Ostroumoff, the chief engineer of the Chinese Eastern Railway, and M. Gondatti, the chief of the land department of the railway, have been arrested. The reasons for the arrests are not known. Chang last year attempted to take over the control of the land department.

The Chinese newspapers yesterday published the asserted text of the agreement between Chang and the soviet under which the latter recognizes the independence of Manchuria.

HUNTERS ARE ACCUSED

FIST SUPPLANTS PEN AND SWORD

Lower California Disputes Now Settled "El Box"

New Style Argument Sends Editors to Hospital

Congress Debates Whether Gov. Rodriguez Did It

Governor's private secretary, Senor Don Alfonso Pelegrin, Capt. Ramon Rodriguez Familiar, military secretary to the Governor, and other officials too numerous to mention, but so as to cause no offense there should be included Municipal President Ramon A. Pesqueria, Police Inspector Francisco S. Peralto and Chief of Mounted Police Alberto C. Garcia. All were discussing the "combate-box" at Jersey City and the Inspector of Police had demonstrated very skilfully just how Senor Firpo would knock Meester Wills clean out of the bull ring.

The conversation suddenly turned when somebody mentioned an open letter that had just appeared in the local newspaper, El Monitor. That journal and another, named El Eco del Distrito Norte, for weeks had been attacking Gov. Rodriguez's administration as only the Mexican press can attack, said administration having been ably defended by other newspapers along and on either side of the California border. El Monitor and El Eco are journals favorable to Senor Don Ricardo Covarrubias, member of the House of Deputies from the northern district of Lower California, which is a territory divided into two slices for political convenience.

Now, in the land of hot sun, hot blood and hot tamales, the combination of prize-fight talk and equally pugnacious political talk was too great for some members of the assemblage at the Red Mill. What happened from this point on is disputed, but the net result is clear. Gov. Rodriguez says he went home and to bed and this is verified by his followers. However that may be, the fact is that Jose Cayetano Zepeda, editor of El Eco del Distrito Norte, and Jose Esperon got awfully messed up. It happened in the street in front of the Red Mill.

DID HE OR DIDN'T HE?

The editors, when they got out of the hospital, said that Gov. Rodriguez himself did it. The Governor is a large man and hardy, like most Sonora folk, for he hails from that fighting State, and he was sent to Lower California by Gen. Obregon to keep order, which he has kept very well. It is said that since Firpo entered the world limelight the Governor has taken boxing lessons and is much attached to the "arte del punche." But all that is denied; the Governor says he went home and at the time of the fight was asleep in bed, and dreamed perhaps of knocking Deputy Covarrubias through the ropes with a right cross to the point of the jaw.

But the editors say they were sent for and fetched by Capt. Rodriguez Familiar, and when they met the Governor he asked Editor Esperon if he would like an answer to his open letter to him, the said Governor, and that when Mr. Esperon said he would be so pleased if His Excellency the Governor would condescend to answer the open letter from his so humble newspaper, the aforesaid Governor gave the aforementioned Editor Esperon "a kick with his fist on the nose," and then proceeded to do likewise to Editor Zepeda.

But all that is merely political lies to make stock of the case and make the editors prominent, say officials at Mexicali. And the fact is that Senor Pelegrin admits having done the beating up, and was arrested for same and fined in the court of the first instance for the said same. He says the Governor was not present. He accused the editors of trying to blackmail the Governor, it is said, and when they smiled blandly at him the combination of political indignation and Yankee prize-fight conversation was too much and he resorted to the use of fists, which a generation ago in Mexico was not considered a fit way for a gentleman to fight.

The Governor's secretary's fist landed on the point of the first editor's jaw at the very moment that Mr. Wills, there in the Jersey arena, poked Sr. Firpo in his Argentine breadbasket, and the Governor's secretary's fist collided with the nose of the second editor at the very time, to a dot, that Mr. Wills connected with Sr. Firpo's Patagonian proboscis. The police (at Mexicali) did their duty. They arrested Sr. Pelegrin and sent the two editors to the hospital.

Thus was the open letter of Editor Jose Esperon to Gov. Abelardo Rodriguez answered.

DAVIS URGES AMERICA TO HELP WORLD

Democratic Nominee Says He Hopes to Call People to International Duties

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEWARK (N. J.) Oct. 3.—John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential nominee, making seven speeches in New Jersey today, chose the chapel of Princeton University as the place to express his "ambition to call the American people back to a realization of their great part in the world, to the great opportunities with which they are confronted, to the great duties that stand before them today."

"I fully realize," he said, "that our entrance into the League would not only be impossible, but if achieved, would be fruitless unless it represented the co-ordinated will of a nation content with that decision. But until that day comes, I am not willing that everything we do shall be conditioned upon its raising no dispute in the Senate of the United States."

Mr. Davis reiterated his pledge that if he were President and there were a conference on world disarmament in 1925, this country would take part in it.

Beginning with two addresses in Trenton and finishing with a speech tonight in Newark, the nominee spent a busy day in this State.

Frederick W. Donnelly, Democratic nominee for United States Senator, spoke with Mr. Davis in Trenton, and accompanied him on the rest of his tour.

Senator Edwards joined him in Newark, as did James Nugent, Essex leader. Gov. Silzer made the circuit with the nominee, introducing him at Trenton and at the fair.

OIL SHALE TEST TO TAKE YEARS

Navy is Working Hard to Develop New Source

Reward Urged for Machine to Speed Up Work

Petroleum Shortage Near, Admiral Tells Miners

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3.—It will take between five and ten years before the full extent of possible accomplishments will be known relative to oil shale mining on government reserves by the United States Navy. This was the declaration by Admiral H. H. Rousseau of the United States Navy, before a conference of mine operators at the State Capitol.

The present commission, appointed by President Coolidge to conduct a thorough investigation of oil shale reserves, included Admiral Rousseau. He pointed out that the needs of the Navy present a grave problem and the time is coming when the battleships must depend on shale oil to supplement petroleum.

WORK APPEARS SLOW

He said no shale oil can be produced on a commercial scale at the present time and, although the work of investigation appears slow, the Navy Department is giving the problem every consideration.

Commander Leonard M. Cox and others declared themselves in favor of a bounty or some kind of a reward for machinery to expedite the work of shale oil mining.

The conference recommended the adoption of a resolution favoring the appointment of a civilian on the final commission to complete shale oil plans of the government.

The preliminary move under way at the present time, according to Admiral Rousseau, is to determine what will be done to provide the Navy Department with oil for future use.

Dr. Victor C. Alderson, president of the Colorado School of Mines at Golden, presided at the meeting. He cited the needs of the country and the Navy relative to oil supply and demand.

SHALE OIL NEEDED

Prof. Lester C. Uren of the mines and mining department of the University of California delivered an address on "The Imminence of an Oil Shale Industry in the United States."

He said, in part:

"A statistical review of the petroleum industry during the past fourteen years reveals the fact that both production and consumption have increased rapidly, but that the domestic supply for the period as a whole has failed to keep pace with the demand. It appears that production reached a peak in 1923 and that the present year will witness a moderate decline in production which in conjunction with a normal increase in consumption will occasion an estimated deficit for the year 1924 of about 75,000,000 barrels. This deficit will be approximately offset by oil imported from foreign sources of supply. It is shown also that while stocks of petroleum held in storage have increased to a high level during recent years, when measured in terms of current consumption, they are not abnormal.

"The necessity for an early development of a shale oil industry in the United States in anticipation of its probable need in relieving an oil shortage some years hence, is emphasized and the difficulties incidental to the commercialism of such an industry at the present time must be solved."

MURDERERS OF SHERIFF ARE HANGED

Negro Trio Convicted at Shortest Trial in Louisiana History

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

JONESBORO (La.) Oct. 3.—Freeman Coleman, Dooker Boone and Willie Washington, negro moonshiners, were hanged here today for the murder on August 22 of Sheriff E. M. Rentz of Jackson parish.

They were executed simultaneously on the same scaffold. Mrs. E. M. Rentz, widow of the late official, was admitted to the inclosure where the scaffold had been erected a few minutes before the time fixed for the execution, and saw the negroes die.

The negroes were convicted at one of the shortest murder trials in the history of the State. The court convened at 10 a.m., and a jury was obtained from the first seventeen veniremen examined. The State offered its testimony and concluded its case within an hour, while the defense occupied only twenty-five minutes, its two witnesses, Boone and Washington, testifying that Coleman was the actual slayer. Coleman previously had confessed his guilt. Argument consumed only a few minutes and the court's charge to the jury was brief. The jury reported its verdict four minutes after it received the case.

At a society wedding in London this fall the bride's dress included long sleeves, a low waist girdled with orange blossoms, and a train of Brussels lace, worn cape fashion from the shoulders.

AGENT DOUBTS POTHIER TALES

tary inquest. He declared that Pothier impressed him as a liar because he changed his story so often. He asserted in answer to Langhorne's questions that he did not believe Pothier's first confession, and not all of the third.

Callaghan testified on further cross-examination by Langhorne that he believed at the time of the Pothier confessions that Pothier accidentally killed the major and that he was of the same belief now and furthermore that it was his belief that Rosenbluth did not put Pothier up to slaying the major.

The witness testified to a conversation with Pothier in which he quoted the defendant as saying: "I am the man who shot Maj. Cronkhite."

Callahan brought out further in his testimony that Pothier had explained the shooting as accidental. The defendant first told him, the witness said, that his weapon was accidentally discharged when his fingers slipped from the weapon, while he was trying to take a shell from it, and that the bullet had struck the major.

A legal battle over admissibility of testimony of William P. Conley of New Haven, Ct., was terminated this afternoon when Judge Cushman overruled a motion by Defense Attorney Langhorne, to strike the testimony on the grounds that Conley had obtained certain admissions from Pothier on promise of a reward.

Conley, on cross-examination by Attorney Langhorne concerning visits he made to Pothier, admitted that after posing as an insurance agent, he had told Pothier that he would split a bonus with him if he could prove that Maj. Cronkhite met his death in such manner that his company would not have to pay the insurance which Maj. Cronkhite had carried.

The witness admitted that he had visited Gen. Adelbert Cronkhite and his wife, parents of Maj. Cronkhite, in the Hotel Astor, New York, between the first and second of his three visits to Pothier. He was not allowed by the court to discuss what took place on the visit to the elder Cronkhite.

ASIATIC MENACE IN SOUTH AFRICA

Union Plans to Place Limit on Their Activities

New Bill Would Segregate Them in Ghettos

Japanese and Russian Jews Barred From Entry.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CAPETOWN (South Africa,) Oct. 3.—The new government of South Africa is drafting a bill to limit further the activity of Asiatics in the Union. This bill will be introduced at the next parliamentary session. This action is in pursuance with a policy of tightening up of the immigration laws of the country, for, apart from the fact that no Asiatics are allowed to enter South Africa, even Russian Jews are now prohibited.

SEGREGATE ASIATICS

The new bill segregates and limits the areas where Asiatics already in the country will be permitted to live and trade. It will thus form Asiatic Ghettos, with strict penalties for any Asiatics stepping over the boundaries.

Interviewed on the Asiatic question Minister of Interior Malan said:

"There is a strong feeling throughout South Africa concerning the Asiatic menace and that feeling cannot be ignored by any governments. The other dominions of the empire had to pass legislation to keep Asiatics out, though not one had a situation which approaches in seriousness that of South Africa where there are 161,000 Asiatics resident. If other countries keep out of Asiatic element South Africa is justified in doing the same.

HITS GENEVA DECISIONS

The Cape Times in a leading editorial points out that the decisions made at Geneva do not necessarily mean that they will become accomplished facts.

"It will be open to Great Britain or South Africa or any of the dominions to ratify the legislation or not as they see fit," the paper says.

The menace of Japanese colonization is significantly realized in Cape Town where ships bound from Japan to South America packed with Japanese immigrants are constantly calling. At the present time Japanese immigration into South Africa is not permitted for economic reasons.

GERMAN LOAN PROGRESSES

Morgan Says Company is Satisfied With Security; Tells of Plan to Market Bonds

[BY WIRELESS—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Continued progress of the negotiations going on between Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank; Dr. Hans Luther, German Finance Minister, and American and British continental bankers, regarding the £40,000,000 German loan was indicated by a statement issued by J. P. Morgan of Morgan & Co., today.

The head of the Morgan company declared his firm had already satisfied itself concerning the underlying security and had been requested by the British, French and Belgian governments to facilitate placing the loan by issuing a portion of it for the American market.

MORGAN'S STATEMENT

The statement follows:

"Our position at present is that we have been requested by the British, French and Belgian governments to use our good offices to facilitate the placing of the German loan under the Dawes plan by issuing a portion for the American market; that we have satisfied ourselves as to the underlying security of the bonds; and have already begun negotiations with the authorized representatives of the German government.

"The necessity of simultaneous discussions with various continental markets whose cooperation is essential to the success of the issue has necessarily delayed the completion of the matter. Meantime, while it is known that approximately 50 per cent of the issue of £40,000,000 will be placed in America, 35 per cent in England and the remainder on the continent, considerable speculation has been rife as to the interest yield and other details.

RESULTS FAVORABLE

"But it is unlikely these will be finally arranged until preliminary matters, such as the exact apportionment, arrangement of securities and the terms of the issue, have been settled."

The favorable results of the preliminary conference already have had an effect in London, where a pronounced hostility was displayed against the loan a fortnight ago. This now appears largely to have been mitigated by assurances that the American experts see little difficulty in the way of the successful flotation of the same.

With the arrival of Dr. Luther Wednesday night the conferences began to take on a more official character. Financial circles expect it will be a matter of only a short time before the loan document will be ready for Dr. Luther's signature.

WAR HAS IT'S COMIC OPERA SIDE

It is to Laugh When Armies of China Go to Front Lines; Many Seeking Safety Under Foreign Flags; Six "Shell Shocked" in Day's Battle

[SPECIAL FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE]

SHANGHAI, Sept. 15.—Four gunboats belonging to the Fukien Navy and in sympathy with the military governor of Kiangsu, Marshal Chi, began a bombardment of the Woosung forts which guard the entrance to the Wangpoo River, the only channel through which Shanghai can receive food supplies at present. After the first few shots a French warship about three times as large as the four gunboats combined sailed up to the scene and ordered the commanders to cease firing. They took a hasty survey of the big guns of the man-of-war, weighed anchor and departed for sections of the river not patrolled by the navies of the foreign powers.

The first report from the front after the outbreak of hostilities between Chekiang and Kiangsu forces stated that war had been declared and that both armies were retreating.

After the press gangs began work in the native city many Chinese employed in the settlement were afraid to return to their homes. An office boy employed by one of the local firms went to the head of his department deeply troubled about where he would sleep that night. On being asked the cause for his anxiety, the boy stated that he lived in the native city and dared not go home because he was frightened of the "news-gang."

During the first clash between the Kiangsu and Chekiang troops only rifles were used.

Heavy artillery was brought in later. The following day the Chinese Red Cross hospital issued a statement that "six wounded" soldiers had been brought in from the front suffering from shell shock.

The Chinese have great confidence in the protective powers of a flag. Since the beginning of the war there has been frantic buying of flags of all kinds and descriptions, although the British and American emblems have been favorites. The more affluent natives have laid in several different kinds. It is now a common sight to see half the standards of Europe flying from Chinese housetops.

Gen. Chi of Kiangsu, who is a literary man and one of the foremost scholars of China, explained the present political ownership of Shanghai to a distinguished foreigner in the following picturesque simile.

"Here I have a beautiful cloisonne vase (Shanghai) a precious and valuable thing which it would be sacrilegious to break. Inside this vase, however, is a rat (Marshal Lu,) that keeps climbing to the top and pushing its head out. I would dearly like to catch that rat and kill it, because it ought not to profane the vase. I might break the vase and make the rat run out and kill it, but that would be disaster; the vase is too precious. Yet, if you turn that vase upside down the rat will have to run out. Then I can get it."

The rat, it might not be amiss to state, is putting up the proverbial battle when it is considered that he is outnumbered two to one and yet fighting well all along the line.

Hundreds of coolies who served in the Chinese labor corps during the Great War have been recruited by Gen. Chi for his army. They have been but recently brought to the front, and foreign military observers declare their presence will be felt when they go into action. They are hardened to warfare and indifferent to heavy firing, while the average shopkeeper or student hesitates to advance under a barrage. Gen. Lu's success so far has been attributed to his seasoned fighters. Gen. Chia has been quick to profit by the demonstration, and has along with the collie army a regiment of men who fought in the revolution of 1911 around Nanking.

Few men on either side of No Man's Land know what the war is about, or why. Each general has made an appeal to their patriotism and each has told his soldiers they are fighting for China. Six rules, similar to the famous maxims drawn up by Lord Kitchener, have been printed on the red arm bands which distinguish the Kiangsu men from the Chekiang. They read: "Be faithful to your country. Obey all orders. Respect your officers. Protect the civilian population. Be brave in action. Be proud of your own army."

A Chinese gunboat steamed down the river the other night and took up an advantageous position opposite the Woosung Forts, dropped anchor, trained and set the guns, and then retired, prepared to fire at dawn. With the first pink flush the gunners took their places and the bombardment began. But no damage was done. They had forgotten about the tide. The ship had swung around in the night so the shells landed on the wasteland on the opposite side of the river.

The Chinese soldier loves noise and banners, and in this war they are having as much as they want. In some instances they have crashed into sudden attack with the old-fashioned fanfare of bugles and flying flags. This sort of action took place, of course, before the machine guns and artillery were brought up. The Kiangsu troops carry an iron arrow for their regimental banner. This is inclosed in canvas on which is painted crossed flags and some distinctive emblem. The guardian of the arrow is the company headsman, who carries the instrument of his gruesome calling strapped on his back, and with four others, bearing wooden staves with black handles and a red blade used for corporal punishment, walks among the men, a symbol of stern justice and an inspirer of courage.

Numerous beheadings take place in the native city daily. Marshal Lu is using this method to discourage thievery and loafing.

SHENANDOAH ALL SET FOR PACIFIC TRIP

Departure is Scheduled for Monday if Weather Conditions Favorable

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

LAKEHURST (N. J.) Oct. 3.—Only favorable weather is needed to make positive the departure of the Shenandoah for the Pacific Coast next Monday, it was said at the naval air station tonight.

All other arrangements for the navy dirigible's longest flight have been completed. Officers declared the test flight of Wednesday night conclusively indicated that the big ship is equal to the great task before it.

No definite course has been mapped out for the journey, which is expected to take thirteen days, including the return trip. Neither has it been decided just how many men, although it has been asserted there will be a crew aboard numbering more than twenty-five, in charge of Commander Zachary Lansdowne.

GERMANY SEEKS AID OF OWEN

Oklahoma Senator May Devise Banking System for Teutons

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) Oct 3.—Robert L. Owen may devise and erect a Federal reserve banking system for the Republic of Germany after his retirement from the United States Senate next March.

This is the report—without confirmation from the Senator, however—that comes from Washington. It becomes more plausible when it is considered that Owen spent a great deal of time in Europe, the last ten years, studying British and continental finances in connection with his Senatorial labors along financial lines.

As much as any one man, Senator Owen is given credit for the United States reserve system. As chairman of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee under President Wilson he became author of the act creating the system, together with Chairman Carter Glass of the House Banking Committee.

The Washington visitors who have brought back the Owen report say the Senator's arrangements with Germany were made tentatively during his most recent visit to Europe and before he had made up his mind whether or not to seek re-election this year.

With the continental honor offered him, Owen quickly decided to end his long service in his own country's Congress, it is said.

MIRACLE UNAPPRECIATED

Imprudent Ladies Have No Joy in Recovery of "Deaf Mute" Before Whom They Told Secrets

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CODY (Wyo.) Oct. 3.—When a "deaf mute" came home with the Sheriff here Monday and started to talk, many a lady gasped and sought to remember what they said in the man's presence.

The "mute," Clarence A. Brownnell, who played the part for three months, was captured just this side of the Montana line Sunday evening by Sheriff W. H. Loomis. He is charged with departing with the bankroll of his fiancee and erstwhile employer.

Brownwell came here from Massachusetts three months ago. His sphinx-like personality made a hit. Soon he played in the town band, he played the piano evenings at the picture show and was in considerable demand socially because of his silent gayety.

DOUBTERS SATISFIED

There are always those who suspect. If any of Cody's population suspected Brownnell of simulating his affliction, their fears were allayed by a course of experiments which proved to them beyond the suspicion of a doubt that the man was deaf and dumb.

An automobile party to which he was by-riding tumbled over an embankment. While the rest of the party yelled and screamed with terror, and extricated themselves with wild jargon, Brownnell climbed out of the derbis, registering excitebent by blinking his eyes.

Skeptics set off a bunch of firecrackers beneath his feet and Clarence distractedly consulted his wristwatch, yawned and strolled away. The iceman kerplunked a 250-pound cake of ice behind him with a thud that rattled windows and the experiment didn't faze him.

LADIES MUST TALK

Convinced of Clarence's deafness and dumbness, lady friends grew careless in their conversation in his presence. Delicate subjects were banded by the women, some of whom got a kick out of being able to make remarks in front of a man especially because he couldn't hear.

And so Clarence disappeared. And when he came back Monday, talking volubly to make up for the three months of silence, no wonder that the Widow Smith fainted and the Widow Jones had hysterics.

For the time being Clarence is in the calaboose, but he has a stranglehold on a lot of secrets which may serve to help him out of his dilemma.

THE BIG LIZARD FAMILY

Lizards are the most flourishing group of living reptiles. There are about 2000 different species of them, ranging in size from fearsome-looking creatures seven feet long, clawed like leopards, and with tails strong enough to sweep a man off his feet, to minute; blind and limbless inhabitants of underground caves.

Some are harmless, but many, even amongst the smaller lizards, are as dangerous to handle as a rat, biting with vigor and ferocity; while one, the Gila monster, found only in Arizona, is poisonous.

SISTERS CHOOSE DIVERGENT WAYS

Two Chorus Girls, One Nun in New York Family

Thespians Admit Garb Might Shock Novitiate

Mother of Five Daughters is Ideal in Part

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Under the glare of the footlights, kicking their shapely legs high, two sisters nightly dance in the chorus of a Broadway revue.

In the dimness of a country convent a brown-robed figure, sister to the two young actresses, goes quietly about her novitiate duties, her rosary dangling from her belt.

The story of these three sisters, who have chosen such widely divergent careers, came to light when the young nun renounced the vanities of this life on the same day her younger sisters opened in Earl Carroll's "Vanities."

SISTERS IN CONVENT

Betty and Bobbie Condouris selected Broadway; Athena, the convent of Mt. St. Francis at Peekskill, for their habitat, all with the full consent of their mother, Mrs. Lillian Condourist of Brooklyn.

The "kid sisters" of Athena are pretty, bobbed haired, peppy and gay, delighted with their work, finding the stage all that they hoped it would be.

Betty, 18 years of age, has a happy, child-like manner; curly, light-brown hair; soft curving lips, and hazel eyes. She looks like the girls on the magazine covers. Her bob is more bushy and careless than that of her baby sister Bobbie, 16, who is calm, collected and reserved. Bobbie is much darker, larger, and her hair clings sleekly to her head and cheeks. Both are slim, straight, boyish.

"We haven't much chance of getting in the movies," said Betty, tossing her head, covered with tight curls, "but, gee, I'd like it. The work is terribly hard, I know, and everyone has told us how racking it is to start. Bobbie and I are willing to start at the bottom, either on the stage or in the movies. We have just oceans of ambition."

MIGHT NOT APPROVE

Then the two pretty sisters told about their oldest sister Athena, who has never seen them in their role of chorus girls, although she desired to view the show before taking the veil. The girls are not sure that Athena would approve of their costumes, particularly the gay one in which they appear in red tights, short black knickers, a narrow black strip down their bare backs to uphold the low-cut red bodice, and a great flaring ruched collar.

The young nun had always been deeply religious, the girls explained; quiet, fond of reading, contented to go out only with women friends, paying scant attention to the men. Athena was attractive in a sweet way, posessing long, curly brown hair, good features and a plump little figure.

Working as office manager of a woodworking firm, she was always devoting her leisure moments to church matters rather than the usual modes of relaxation. After early mass she would go down to Mott street to teach the infant Chinese their Sunday-school lessons. Her greatest joy was to dress the little girls for communion. Much of her time went to other charitable work. About a year ago she began to think seriously of entering the convent, but her decision was not arrived at until after many conferences with her mother.

HAS FIVE DAUGHTERS

Mrs. Condouris was not at first enthusiastic about her oldest daughter's desire, but felt that each of her girls had the right to choose her life work without interference from her. She had given her consent to the engagement of May, her second child, voted the prettiest of all by her sisters, and to a business position for Helen, her third daughter. Helen, incidentally, has ambitions to be the world's greatest American designer of hats. May, blonde, blue-eyed, with a beautiful figure, wants to devote her life to bringing up a model family and plans to emulate the training theories of her mother.

According to her five daughters, Mrs. Condouris is the perfect mother, wise, sympathetic and modern. She has none of the old-fashioned ideas that would tend to make the girls unhappy at home, and her one rule of keeping the family intact is no lecturing. Mrs. Condouris is large, motherly and looks much like Bobbie, having black hair and young eyes.

SUDAN QUESTION IS NEARING SETTLEMENT

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The conversations between Prime Minister MacDonald and Said Zagloul Pasha, the Egyptian Premier, on the Egyptian and Sudanese questions, were concluded today and it was understood they had arrived at an understanding which would form the basis for future negotiations concerning the removal of troops from the Cairo district, and from the imperial communications system in Egypt. Premier Zagloul said that he had made no demands on the British government, but that his suggestions had met with Mr. MacDonald's approval.

IRWIN URGES REVIEW OF VETERAN'S CLAIMS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—A complete review by the Veterans' Bureau of all disallowed claims of World War veterans was urged in a memorandum presented to Director Hines by National Commander Frank J. Irwin of the Disabled American Veterans. In asking that a separate division be set up for this task, Commander Irwin contended that thousands of veterans were being denied benefits either through ignorance of the liberalizing clauses of the Reed-Johnson bill enacted by Congress last June, or because of permitting their claims to lapse through discouragement due to delays in obtaining action.

Arthur, special judge at Logansport, who granted Mrs. Lena Strecker, 64 years of age, a ten-year limited divorce from George Strecker, 65, wealthy retired baker, and alimony of $36,000, overruled the motion of the defense to amend the judgment. Strecker immediately filed motion for a new trial.

Finding evidence leading them to believe that Earl Hansen, 32 years of age, Indianapolis business man, who disappeared at Logansport three weeks ago, was slugged and robbed of his money and then abandoned at a secluded spot near a 500-acre dense woods ten miles from there, authorities are planning a search of the woods with the expectation of finding the body. Hansen is believed to have perished after becoming lost in the woods.

RELIGIOUS UNITY IN INDIA GETS IMPETUS

DELHI CONFERENCE ENDS WITH RECOGNITION OF GANDHI'S FAST

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

DELHI (British India) Oct. 3.—The Unity Conference, attended by 300 representatives of all the religious communities, including Hindus and Moslems, in India, concluded its work today in an atmosphere of mutual good will.

Leaders expressed the hope that the declarations made at the conference of the rights of the various religious communities on questions which often led to dissensions and riots would make the aggressors hesitate before precipitating trouble.

Conference leaders urged the celebration as Unity Day of the day on which Mohandas Gandhi completes his three-weeks' fast, which he undertook in penance for the recent Hindu-Moslem riots.

ENLARGE TOWN TO BALK TAX EVASION

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

COTTONWOOD FALLS (Kan.) Oct. 3.—The City Fathers of Cedar Point, a small town in the west edge of this county on the new Santa Fe trail, do not believe it is right for one of the business men of their town to erect his store just outside of the city limits for the purpose of escaping the town tax when he receives practically all the benefits of the town.

Accordingly the Mayor and the Council have brought an action in the District Court asking that the town limits be enlarged to include the ground and building of Gus Carpenter, who operates a garage and filling station.

OKLAHOMA REPORTS BUSINESS REVIVAL

HARVEST BRINGS RELEASE OF FROZEN CREDITS; EXPORTS INCREASE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) Oct. 3.—Domestic business in the flour trade made decided gains during the last week of September, revealing more clearly than before the improved condition of business due to the sale of cotton and corn. In nearly all sections of Oklahoma the country merchant has been benefited by the farmer paying his debts, and the situation is still more improved by the readiness of the country banker to extend credits. Slow business in Oklahoma, Texas and Arkansas is found principally in oil areas, where drilling is carried on during the oil depression only in a limited way. This has prevented an enormous and possibly unprecedented demand for millfeeds in this territory. In the absence of oil activity the feed demand is all that mills can take care of.

Exports to Europe continued heavy and Oklahoma mills held up to 75 per cent of capacity operations. Millers believe they have sensed an improvement in business in this country and foreign countries, due to the adoption of the Dawes plan of settlement, and they look for a long season of better than average business. Reports from Central American counties indicate that a revival in imports has been started and that some of the principal countries will be in the market for better grades of flour than formerly.

ARIZONA BUILDS TELEGRAPH LINES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Oct. 3.—That about $5,000,000 already has been spent by the Postal Telegraph Company in its new construction across Arizona is told by Charles H. Waggener, manager of the company's Phoenix office. Large expense has attended entry of several cities touched, as general insistence has been met that the wires be put underground within the municipal limits or business sections. Eight copper wires already are in place across the State and thirty more are to be strung, with the idea of making this the main line across the continent, as it is through a region where little storm influence is known.

In addition, with possible expenditure of $3,000,000, plans have been made for extending the Postal wire service to all the larger Arizona towns and for early installation of a connecting system between the company's main circuit here and at Ash Fork, where there will be union with the lines that parallel the Santa Fe Railroad.

TO DEDICATE NEW HIGHWAY BRIDGE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) Oct. 3.—Gov. Trapp has accepted an invitation of the Ada Chamber of Commerce and Congressman McKeown to officiate at the formal christening and opening of the new vehicle bridge over the Canadian River between Ada and Konawa on the 10th inst. Elaborate arrangements for the event are being made by the Ada and Konawa commercial clubs at Seminole, Wewoka, Holdenville, and Shawnee also will send representatives. The bridge is on one of the highways recently designated by the State Commission and on a connecting road between the Postal and Jefferson highways, touching the former at Shawnee and the latter at Atoka.

DANGER IN BOBBED HAIR PROPHESIED

Beauty Specialist Sees Train of Evils in Wake of Craze for Shearing

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Bobbed hair in time is going to have a serious effect in cutting down the number of marriages, according to Charles Nestle, beauty specialist of New York, in an address here. Mr. Nestle is regarded as an international authority on women's coiffures and recently startled the country by the pronouncement that continuance of bobbed hair for several generations would evolve a race of bearded women.

"That bobbed hair eventually will result in beards for women is a prediction," said Mr. Nestle. "That it will rob women, in appearance, at least, of womanly charm is a fact, and there is no doubt that this fact will reduce the marriage rate and may in time lead to a falling off of the world's population.

"I am talking against my own cash register when I decry bobbed hair. The fashion sends women regularly to the beauty parlors. But for all that, I think it distinctly lessens women's attractions. Shorn of her long tresses she is shorn of much of her physical allurement. As she grows mannish in appearance she will grow mannish in nature. This will be an inevitable psychological consequence. Thus bobbed hair, with its tendency to subvert the womanliness of woman, may become a source of tragic conditions in the future."

TOWNSITE ESTABLISHED

La Follette Cutting Down Coolidge's Lead

689,019 Votes From 18 States in the "Digest's" Nation-wide Poll Are Tabulated and Analyzed This Week

California a Hotly Contested Battle-Ground—The "Solid South" May Turn Tide for Davis

Interest in the "Digest's" nation-wide Presidential poll is mounting to great heights as the hundreds of thousands of votes are being received and tabulated weekly. An interesting side-light upon the La Follette strength and whence it is drawn is shown in the "Digest" this week by the opinions and observations of editors throughout the country, especially by those in California.

The "Digest" also carries a detailed record of the previous affiliations of those who vote in this largest of Presidential straw-vote polls, and this record is shown weekly in the tabulations. It will become increasingly illuminating as the vote mounts up. As the Richmond, Virginia, Times-Dispatch says, this poll "is an undertaking of real value." At its conclusion it should point unmistakably to the winner in the Presidential election in November.

No one wants to be fat. It's unbecoming and bothersome, besides the fashions of the moment demand slim figures. Most everyone loathes dieting though and strenuous exercises taken in the privacy of one's boudoir are soon forsaken because they take too long to produce results. Listen to this bit of "grand and glorious" news! Out at the California Clinorium, 1001 W. Washington St. (ATlantic 2580,) they actually reduce you scientifically, under the direction of a physician. Their equipment is the finest procurable, and the Rhythmetic Lights which they use has never been used before. What is particularly interesting is the fact that you may reduce just where you want to! This bit of information only half describes what the Health Department of the California Clinorium can do. Don't lose another minute in getting in touch with them—their "Courtesy" treatment will make you feel like a new person.

Fill pastry lined pan with well-flavored apples, pared, cored and cut in eighths. Sprinkle thickly with sugar and pour a few spoonfuls of waters over them. Bake until apples are tender, then spread over them halved marshmallows and return to oven to brown delicately.

Olive oil is one of the finest things you can take internally if underweight or in need of building up. However, that is just one of the many uses to which you may put olive oil such as Castruccio Brothers' is. It's imported, you know, and the finest you have ever tasted! For salads there is none finer. It makes the most delectable mayonnaise and French dressing you ever tasted, while for frying Castruccio Olive oil is both economical and tasty. If your grocer hasn't it ask him to get it for you.

Never were Chinese silks, or vases or embroideries more fashionable and desirable than they are at the moment! Won't you go into Fong Yun's Shop, 307 West Seventh street, and see the wonderful assortment of genuine Chinese embroideries they have received recently? Wicker furniture imported by Fong Yun is extremely modest in price.

It may be that in other parts of the United States the drinking of water in large quantities is seasonal. Not here in California, where the sun shines the year around, and thirsts are as great in December as in June, perhaps the dryness of near-by deserts is responsible for our desire for water —whatever the cause or reason, the fact remains that we require plenty of the right kind of drinking water, which is Arrowhead. Arrowhead is the purest mountain springs water procurable. It is unusually appealing to the taste and possessing that virtue, naturally one drinks more of it, with the result that better health is procured for you and yours as your patronage of Arrowhead continues. Have you ever tried Arrowhead? You will find it ever so inexpensive. A glass demijohn containing five gallons only costs 50 cents, while the cooler and stand are delivered free. HUmbolt 0300 if called now will bring you immediate delivery of any amount.

"Haven't gotten around to making your new curtains and drapes" —of course not, because you are not sure you know how to make them and styles in hangings have changed lately. All of which is true and proves most clearly that you need the services of Simank Brothers of 725-27 West Ninth st. Why don't you phone or stop in to see them this week? Their work is deserving of the highest recommendation.

An iron which is too hot will fade material much quicker than washing. Take care the iron doesn't become too hot.

Did you know that now is the time to plant bulbs? A new shipment of imported bulbs has just been received by Winsel Gibbs, 211 S. Main, the oldest seed store in the city and the most modest in prices.

Everyone who has ever tasted Glen Rosa marmalade "just naturally" sings its praise in loudest tones. The commendation is deserved and truly earned because there is a deliciousness about Glen Rosa which no one else can duplicate. Made from the finest oranges grown and combined with pure sugar, cooked with utmost care. No wonder old and young adore it!

Look over the fruit and see that it is whole and perfect. A break in the skin of any fruit will mean rapid decay.

A real sensation is being caused by the genuine English crumpets, headquarters for which are at the Lady Cavendish Crumpet House, 3002 Wilshire Blvd. (DRexel 7757,) though they are served at the Montmartre, Bullock's tea room, and sold at the May Co., formerly Hamburger's.

Mildew may be removed by soaking the garment in buttermilk or applying a mixture of soapy starch and milk.

With materials so beautiful and styles requiring little cloth and knowledge of sewing—mere running up of seams—you may have any number of costumes if you make them yourself. A machine is of course required, but that part is easily seen to, for at the White Sewing Machine Co., 917 S. Broadway, a few bargains in used machines are procurable, easy payments make you the owner at once. Do investigate this offer soon.

When cleaning white woodwork add a little turpentine to the water and your labor will be greatly lessened.

The longing for new furniture cannot always be heeded. To indulge in even a few pieces may be prohibitive, but this you may do—transform the old discarded "has beens." Some of it may be in use, but seeing it every day has made you grow tired of it. All right, let's get some "Water Spar" and make it desirable. Water Spar, in case you aren't familiar with it, is a waterproof enamel which is securable in the transparent color or eighteen wonderfully desirable shades. Now, the thing for you to do is decide on the color scheme you want, call up the paint and varnish division of the Pittsburg Plate Glass Company, 928 South Main street, and get to play—play because it's just that—a lot of fun made profitable. Water Spar cannot be too highly praised, as you will agree when you have put it to the test.

A delicious sandwich filling can be made of ground ham, sweet pickle and mayonnaise, plain pimiento cheese, or peanut butter and lettuce leaves.

"Lily ice cream tonight for dinner—goody, goody"—what a treat! Exclamations of joys—thrills and much happiness displayed by the younger members of the family, while from dignified elders a pleased look and quieter appreciation invariably results. Lily brand of Sunday special bricks, invariably please, so let's serve it each week at least. The flavors are so varied and unusual that it's somewhat of a lark to guess just what the surprise will be. Orange, peach and raspberry—a particularly delicious combination may be had this Sunday. Is you order in yet?

To prevent silver from tarnishing, put a piece of camphor ice in the drawer with the silver.

This is a fine time to replace your kitchenware at the very special prices which the Young's Market Company at their 216 S. Spring St. store are offering. Pure aluminum percolattors, colanders, roasting pans, preserving kettles and water pitchers for only 79c each! For your heavier ware they have the excellent Wagner Cast Iron and Cast Aluminum cooking utensils at equally attractive prices, this week.

New potatoes are here. Soak them in cold, salted water for a while before peeling and they will scrape off very easily.

The reduction in the prices of all a la carte orders has greatly pleased the patrons of Mora's Grill. Have you been there yet? If not, resolve to do so soon. Their luncheons and dinners are most delightful, served well and cooked to perfection. 107 W. Market street is the address—a half block south of the Postoffice.

Salt meat should be put into cold water, while fresh meat should be put into boiling water. One exception, however, is when making soup. Then the fresh meat should be put into cold water and brought very slowly to a boil. Allow twenty minutes for boiling each pound of fresh meat and twenty-five minutes for each pound of salt.

Never will you regret the musical education you give your little daughter or son—children's characters are made more beautiful by learning music and in later years their gratitude will more than repay you for all sacrifices and efforts you have made. Begin early, though, the sooner the better. Prof. A. H. Hunter, 233 S. Broadway, and 326-7 Music-Arts Bldg. (VAndike 1181,) is a splendid teacher of orchestra and band instruments. He numbers among his pupils such famous men as Jaime Overton, the violinist; "Little Sousa" or Raymond Baird, saxophonist; Paul Elliott, trumpet, and many others. See him or phone now, won't you?

Whether it's cold or whether it's hot, you will find Travaglini's Roma Rotisserie an inspiration in planning cosy little dinners and popular cold suppers "a la buffet." Appetites are capricious—eating requires stimulation and new dishes certainly do their share in relieving the monotony of cooking yourself. Travaglini's Rotisserie are famous for their broiled chickens, their salads are fresh, crisp and utterly delicious! 1801 W. Seventh street is the address, 52092 the phone number. By the way, they are open on Sundays now.

Did you ever know that flour sprinkled lightly over the layer cake before the icing is applied will keep it from running.

The heat wave has been broken. Cool nights are again in order and warm bedding of first consideration. The mattresses, pillows and down coverlets which need renovating so badly, send to the Western Feather and Down Works, 1205 West Washington street. (BEacon 4362.) Entirely dependable and modest in their charges will you find this concern.

A new and delicious sandwich is made from sardines rubbed to a butter consistency, well-seasoned, spread on bread with thin slices of cucumbers chilled and soaked in French dressing on top.

The reason most of us haven't rented a safe-deposit box in the Bank of Italy at Seventh and Olive, months ago, was because we hadn't stopped to think what danger their valued treasures as well as legal papers were in. They stayed at home to safeguard silver and jewels when had they their own safe box this would not have been necessary. Then there are a numer of people who think they cannot afford to rent a box. This is far from so, for at the Bank of Italy it costs about a cent a day to safeguard your treasures. Don't put off doing so, will you? Even one day's delay may prove disastrous. A thief or fire or any one of a dozen things could happen in twenty-four hours.

Any cook will say that experience has taught her never to mix a salad with its mayonnaise until it is almost time for it to be eaten. The oil and lemon-juice are likely to separate and be absorbed, while much of the delicate flavor of the mayonnaise will be lost.

You won't hear anyone complain of a large ice bill who uses "Frozen Steam!" No, indeed, but what you will hear said is this: "Why, oh, why, did I not realize ages ago what a perfectly remarkable refrigerant in every way "Frozen Steam" is? The way it is made is responsible for its advantages over raw water or common ice—that, and the fact that pure artesian well water only is used. The process adopted by and used exclusively by the Merchants Ice and Cold Storage Co. gives you a sterilized product which may be used with perfect impunity to chill food or water. To order, just call TRinity 1351 or hail the truck which displays the red diagonal stripe.

Salted Almonds: Blanch almonds by putting into boiling water for a few minutes. Remove skins, dry well and brown in heated olive oil in pan on top of stove, stirring continually. Take from fire when very light brown as they continue to color after removing from pan. Drain well on brown paper and sprinkle with salt.

Never does a new resident in Los Angeles fail to comment on the whiteness of our clothes out here. Their snowy appearance is a revelation to them invariably, because they have seen nothing but ashy-looking linens where they used to live. We "old-timers" cannot but chuckle to ourselves when we explain the reason. "White King" Washing Machine Soap explains everything"—we tell these strangers—and what a thrill of pride goes into the simple statement. "White King" is economical in the extreme. It makes all kinds of laundry work and cleaning mere child's play and takes the work out of housework, a statement which tho not original is most expressive. Do be sure to order a large box today from your grocer.

Bachelor Hotel in New York Proves Fluke

Men Agree in Principle but Soon Desert

Reopened as Regular House, Tenants Flock In

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—When James T. Lee built the Shelton Bachelor Hotel a year ago he believed men would enjoy living alone. He backed his belief with $3,500,000 worth of architecture which fills Lexington avenue between Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth streets, and rises thirty-five stories into the air in the austere pyramidal style of the zoning law.

He was proud of his creation. It had all the conveniences of a hotel and of a city clubhouse combined, even to swimming pool and gymnasium. Rents ranged from moderate to opulent. Everybody was to be satisfied.

HIS BIG IDEA

Of all the features of the Shelton, however, the one he expected to find most satisfactory was the absence of women. The builder believed, and his early tenants agreed with him, that women are a disturbing influence. Even their presence would be a distraction and an impediment to the repose which is said to reign in monasteries. The Shelton was to have that repose.

It was almost a year before the mistake was admitted. It is not yet clear whether it was an accountant or a psychiatrist who first diagnosed what was wrong at the Shelton. The tenants had been growing restless. Men who came to look at apartments hesitated for some undefinable reason and decided to think it over. Most of them never came back.

IT WAS ABNORMAL

The psychiatrist explained it simply: It's an abnormal condition; it can't be sustained without upsetting the nervous tone. The mere presence of women is a stimulation, the man of science said. Meeting them at a turn in the corridor or seeing them in the elevator sets up the subconscious possibility of the unexpected and the suggestion of the impossible.

It was something like that, the psychiatrist said. And that's why the Shelton Hotel now is open to women and families, like any other apartment-house.

"The bachelors say they look forward to the date when they may once more feel like tenants instead of inmates.

GRUESOME DISCOVERY OF HUNTERS

Sportsmen Seek Wounded Duck on River Bank, Find Mutilated Human Head

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FORT MORGAN (Colo.) Oct. 13. A wounded duck, falling in its flight into the marshy banks of the Platte River, ten miles west of Weldona, Monday, led a group of hunters to the discovery of a human head which had been severed from a body.

The hunters notified the sheriff's office here of their gruesome discovery. The land where the head was found is just over the boundary line in Weld county, on the E. B. Warner farm.

The head is said to be that of a man though the features are badly obliterated. Authorities say the man had been dead a week or ten days. A sharp instrument was used to sever the head from the body, say authorities.

A check-up of local missing persons fails to throw any light on the person's identity.

WIFE SLAYER GIVEN TWENTY-YEAR TERM

VERDICT ON CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE WILL BE APPEALED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 3.—Harry A. Henke, Jr., has been found guilty of the murder of his wife, Marie, and sentence fixed at twenty years in prison. Mrs. Henke was found murdered on July 11, last, with a wrench, in her home in Richmond Heights. Henke was convicted of second-degree murder. All the evidence offered in the case was circumstantial.

Henke contends the police "framed" the case against him, and has served notice of an appeal. New testimony will be offered by Henke in support of the frame-up charge.

Trial of Henke lasted four days and the jury deliberated eight hours before reaching a verdict. Henke was unmoved when the finding of the jury was read in the courtroom, but many of his relatives wept.

PERUVIAN CASE TAKEN INTO FEDERAL COURT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—The effort of Mrs. Edmee Plata, wife of Mitridate H. Plata, Peruvian Consul in Chicago, to free herself from her wealthy husband was transferred from State to Federal jurisdiction today when Attorney Charles A. Wharton, on behalf of Mrs. Plata, filed suit for divorce in United States District Court.

The bill, charging misconduct of the Peruvian official with Adella Salter, a dancer performing at the Washington Hotel at Colon, Panama Canal Zone, was filed by Mr. Wharton when he became convinced that the State court had no jurisdiction because of the official status of Mr. Plata.

Under the new bill, it is believed, service can now be obtained on Miss Salter, who is playing in Seattle, and to whom it is charged Plata made presents of jewelry totaling $5000 in value.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

GOITER

F.I.—The chocolate iodin tablets which we have mentioned in the column are used both as a cure and as a preventive of goiter; that is, the goiter known as "simple" goiter, which is due to a deficiency of iodin in the system. This deficiency may be due to the fact that the foods and water are deficient in iodin, so naturally the diet would not contain sufficient of this element. (In certain localities known as goiter belts, this is true.) Or, it may be due to something that disturbs the iodin absorption even when sufficient is taken.

We know the absorption of iodin may be disturbed by putrefactive conditions of the intestines or by taking too much free fats. These iodin tablets must be prescribed by your physician, who will determine if your goiter is a simple goiter. If it were the type known as exopthalmic goiter they might be harmful instead of beneficial. The periods of life during which goiter is most apt to develop are pregnancy and nursing, fetal life (then the child is born with a goiter) and adolescence. Iodin given medicinally will prevent these from forming. This has been proved too often to be questioned. In some States now, Michigan notably, the salt is being iodized; that is, an infinitely small amount equal to the amount that is usually purified out of the salt when it is prepared for market, is added. In the goiter regions this will undoubtedly be of great benefit.

We have an article on goiter, which you may have by sending a self addressed, stamped envelope with your request. Your physician may have the name of the tablet which is used so successfully in Switzerland and Ohio by writing me on his official stationery.

A BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION

"Dear doctor: I have gained five pounds by following your instructions. I am not conceited, but I want to tell you how much better looking I am becoming. Will you please tell me if there is a special diet to folow to improve a faulty skin? Mine is dreadfully dry.—M. F."

If you have gained from following our instructions to eat more, that shows you were eating too little before, and your skin as well as the rest of your organs, was suffering from your undereating. I predict now that you are getting enough to eat that your skin will clear up. You know how beautiful a baby's complexion is, and what a baby's chief diet is? Yes, milk. So—drink a quart of milk in some form every day and get enough fruit and vegetables which will supply a lot of roughage, so that you will have good bowel movements each day. Add some bran or agar or mineral oil, if the fruits and vegetables are not effective.

If your skin is dry you should use a very mild soap, if any. Perhaps you had better wash your face with glycerine and rose water —glycerine one part to four parts of rose water. Three or four drops of carbolic acid to eight ounces of the mixture sometimes seems to make it more effective. Or you can pour a little pure glycerine in your hands, smear over your face and wash it off with water. That is the method often used by the person you say was described as having a beautiful complexion. She drinks milk, too — at least two glasses a day.

ST. VITUS DANCE (CHOREA)

Mrs. H.—It is not fully known what the cause of chorea is, but prolonged undernourishment, unhappy, irritable home surroundings and prolonged over-excitement are predisposing causes. It not infrequently is associated with rheumatism. In fact many physicians think it is a form of rheumatism. The regime I have often given for the malnourished child, and the attention of a skillful physician are necessary. We have a list of modern books on feeding children that you may have by sending the self-addressed stamped envelope with your request.

Mr. X.—We have an article on blood pressure. Stop worrying about it and reduce your weight. It will go down then I assure you.

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must inclose 10 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the stamped, self-addressed envelope if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

FARM IS PROFITABLE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PLAINVIEW (Tex.) Oct. 3.—More than 8000 acres of the total holdings of 60,000 acres of the Texas Land Development Company near Plainview are planted to cotton this season. Picking is now in progress and a production of 3500 to 4000 bales is expected. This company also had about 6000 acres in wheat, which gave an acreage yield of about twenty bushels an acre.

LEMON FRENCH DRESSING

J. McK., Los Angeles, has never used lemon French dressing and asks that we give the recipe.

Place in a pint fruit jar two teaspoonfuls of salt, two teaspoonfuls of sugar, one teaspoonful of mustard, half a teaspoonful of paprika, five tablespoonfuls of lemon juice and two-thirds of a cupful of olive oil. Cover tight and shake four minutes. Or use lemon juice in place of vinegar in French salad dressing.

COOK BOOK

H. E. S., Hollywood, sends a stamp and asks that we send him the name of a cook book that we can recommend for a small family, and hopes that we will publish a book of our own some day.

We cannot make personal replies; all questions are answered in this department in the order that they are received.

The best book for a family living in Southern California is The Times Prize Recipe Book, that sells for 75 cents. This book can be had at The Times office, Broadway and First streets. We would advise that he secure his copy soon, as there are only a very few copies left.

CRYSTALLIZED GRAPEFRUIT

A. D. G., Altadena, wants directions for making crystallized grapefruit.

Cut firm, ripe grapefruit in halves and remove the seeds; drop into boiling water for three minutes and drain. Make a syrup of four cupfuls of sugar and two cupfuls of water; bring to a boil and drop into it the grapefruit halves and boil fifteen minutes; remove from the fire and let stand overnight. Repeat the boiling and cooling for five days, or until the fruit is plump and clear. Drain well and dry in the sun or a cool oven. Make a syrup of four cupfuls of sugar and two cupfuls of water, pour over the dried candied grapefruit and let stand three days; drain and dry in the sun or a cool oven.

APRICOT JELLY

D. H., Santa Ana, asks that we give the recipe for apricot jelly used for French pastry before icing.

Place two quarts of sliced apricots in a preserving kettle, crack the seeds and add the kernels, and enough water to cover. Cook slowly until the fruit is soft. Pour into a jelly bag and drain. Measure the juice into a kettle and for every six cupfuls add two cupfuls of apple juice and six cupfuls of sugar, and boil until a little will jell when dropped on a cold plate. Pack in glasses and seal when cold. To use melt the required amount over hot water and brush on the cakes with a brush.

COFFEE SYRUP

E. A., Los Angeles, asks that we give a recipe for coffee syrup, using soluble coffee.

Mix one-third of a cupful of soluble coffee with two-thirds of a cupful of sugar and one cupful of boiling water. Bring to a boil and strain through a cheesecloth. Add a few drops of vanilla extract and cool.

GUAVA JELLY

L. H. P., San Gabriel, sends a stamped envelope and asks for directions for making some thin guava jelly jell.

We do not send directions by mail. The trouble with her guava jelly is that she used fruit that was too ripe. The guavas want to be slightly green to make good jelly.

Cover the bottom of a preserving kettle with cold water, add sliced whole, slightly green guavas and simmer until soft. Drain in a jelly bag, do not squeeze. Measure into preserving kettle, add the strained juice of one lemon for each two cupfuls of juice and boil twenty minutes. Skim and add one and three-quarters cupfuls of sugar to each cupful of juice and boil till it jells when a little is dropped on a cold plate.

MOCHA FILLING

A. S. Los Angeles, wants a recipe for mocha filling made with sweet cream.

Mix in the top of a double boiler half a cupful of sugar, one-third of a cupful of sifted flour and a few grains of salt; stir two-thirds of a cupful of strong black coffee scalded with two-thirds of a cupful of thin cream. Stir and cook until thick and smooth, add the beaten yolks of two eggs and stir and cook seven minutes. Remove from the fire, add half a teaspoonful of vanilla and beat until cool; add one teaspoonful of hot melted butter and beat well.

HAM A LA KING

R. P., Hollywood, requests a recipe for ham a la King.

Mix two cupfuls of cooked and diced ham with two of white sauce, one cup of drained French mushroom pieces and stems, one minced green pepper, two sliced hard-boiled eggs and one pimiento cut in strips. Heat in a double boiler and serve from a deep dish garnished with toast points.

READING SAUCE

W. M. A., Santa Monica, asks that we repeat the recipe given for Reading sauce three years ago. He has lost his copy.

Place in a casserole five cupfuls of the pickle from pickled walnuts, add half a cupful of finely chopped shallots, cover and set in moderate oven until reduced to four cupfuls. In another casserole place half an ounce of cayenne pepper, half an ounce of white papper corns, half on ounse of bruised ginger, one coarsely chopped anchovy, one and a half cupfuls of soyu and foud cupfuls of water. Cover and simmer slowly for one hour. Mix the two mixtures, add half an ounce of crushed bay leaves, cover and let stand for one week. Strain through through a cloth and seal in small bottles.

APPLE BALLS

L. S. D., Los Angeles, wants to know how to make the apple balls that her mother made in Germany.

Peel, core and slice six apples, place in a sauce pan, add two tablespoonfuls of butter, six tablespoonfuls of sugar and the grated rind and juice of one lemon. Stir and cook until smooth; add the yolks of three eggs and two teaspoonfuls of cornstarch; stir and cook twenty minutes and press through a sieve into a shallow plate. Cool, roll into even sized balls, dip in beaten eggs, roll in sifted cracker crumbs and fry a nice brown in deep, hot vegetable shortening. Drain, cool and dust with sugar.

Man in Quarrel With Wife Ends Life With Gas

A quarrel with his wife caused David Chadwick, 42 years of age, to end his life yesterday by means of gas at his home at 115 1-2 North Flower street.

Chadwick came home Thursday night slightly intoxicated, his wife stated. He had been drinking heavily for the past week, she said, and they quarreled, and she spent the night at a friend's home near by.

Upon her return, she stated, she found the home flooded with gas and her husband dead on the floor of one of the bedrooms. Detective Lieutenants Carr and Whaples were summoned and had the body removed to the Godeau & Martinoni mortuary.

CLAIMS FOR CABINS AT DAM TO BE RECEIVED

PAY WILL BE ALLOWED FOR BUILDINGS ONLY UNDER PACOMIA PROJECT

Claims of persons, who own cabins in the Pacoima Canyon for compensation on account of property to be inundated by the Pacoima flood control reservoir, will be received by Deputy County Counsel Dowds during the next two weeks.

The only damages that will be allowed, Deputy Dowds explained yesterday, will be for the actual value of buildings. All of the land involved is the property of the Federal government, the cabin sites being held under lease.

The Pacoima dam, construction of which will be under way within a few months, will back up water in the canyon for several miles.

JAILED FOR BURNING HAY

The only reason Tony Guerre could give Police Judge Richardson for setting fire to several stacks of hay on the ranch of R. T. Kirkham several days ago was that "the man had too much money." The court, after hearing this, sentenced Guerre to jail for 180 days.

Man Says Woes Began When He Married Widow

When Charles E. Phillips of Pasadena married a widow, he took the first step along a rocky path, according to his testimony before Judge Guerin yesterday, before whom he appeared to resist the motion of Mrs. Nettie May Phillips for alimony pending her suit for divorce.

As the result of his nuptials, he has lost most of his fortune, has been hailed into Police Court and forced to defend himself in divorce and alimony proceedings, he declared.

His financial loss, he explained, grew out of an ill-advised partnership with his step-son in a jewelry business in Pasadena, now in the hands of a receiver.

He appeared in Police Court as the aftermath to a dispute with his wife, in which she charged him with knocking her down, he related. Then she sued him for divorce, charging cruelty, to which his answer was that he had to strike her in self-defense.

After listening to Phillips's tale of disaster, Judge Guerin decided he could not impose an alimony order on him. Instead, he suggested that Mrs. Phillips might obtain enough revenue for her living expenses by renting part or all of the large family home at 105 South Molina avenue, Pasadena.

CITY RESTRAINED IN PORT LICENSE CASE

DOCK COMPANY FIGHTS TAX PAYMENT ON BUSINESS INTERSTATE

A temporary injunction restraining the city from collecting a license tax of 1 per cent on receipts of the Outer Harbor Dock and Wharf Company was granted yesterday by Judge Shaw of Superior Court. At the same time Judge Shaw overruled a demurrer of the city to the wharf company's petition and gave the municipality five days in which to file an answer to the petition.

In its petition the company asserted the city, in levying the tax, had made no distinction between the revenue received by the company from handling interstate commerce and the revenue receivd from intra-State commerce. The petitioner set forth that an attempt to collect such a tax on revenue received from interstate commerce would be unlawful and a burden on interstate commerce, contrary to the Federal Constitution.

ANGELENOS WIN LUSITANIA CASE

Claims Court Awards Gives $140,000 to Bilicke

Husband Lost on Steamship Sunk by Germans

Berlin Held Responsible for American Heirs' Claims

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—A decision handed down by the German-American Mixed Claims Commission today holds that Germany, under the Treaty of Berlin, is responsible to American heirs of estates in Germany for the depreciation in value of the properties between 1917, when war-time legislation was passed in Germany prohibiting the transfer of any property belonging to enemy aliens and payments in cash to the United States, and 1920 when such legislation was repealed. The practical effect of this decision will be that provable claims of American heirs will be settled on the difference between the mark value of the cash and securities constituting the inheritance at the time the estate was ready for distribution and their mark value at the date of the repeal of the exceptional war measures.

The decision is the result of an agreement recently negotiated in Berlin between the American agent, Robert W. Bonynge and Karl Von Lewinski, the German agent.

AWARDS TO ANGELENOS

Twenty-eight awards also were rendered in the Lusitania case by the commission.

The awards varied in value from $75,000 to $50, and constituted a total of about $478,000.

The larger awards were: $50,000 to Gladys Bilicke, Los Angeles, Cal.; $30,000 each to Albert Constant Bilicke and Nancy Bilicke de Roulet, and $30,000 more to Gladys Bilicke as guardian of the estate of Carl Archibald de Bilicke; $20,000 to the heirs of Edwin W. Fried of Cambridge, Mass.; $59,500 to their heirs of Elbert and Alice Hubbard of East Aurora, N. Y.; $75,847 to the heirs of Charles A., and Mary M. Plamondon, Chicago; $63,000 to the Union Special Machine Company, Chicago, and $35,000 to Urban Cronan, New York.

Mrs. Gladys Bilicke is the widow of Alfred C. Bilicke, who lost his life when the Lusitania was torpedoed by the Germans off the Irish Coast on May 7, 1915.

IN FIRST LIFE BOAT

Mrs. Bilicke and her husband were passengers on the steamer and had left Los Angeles a short time before for a trip abroad. At the time the boat was torpedoed they were on deck and were in the first life-boat, which was shot from its davits as it was being lowered. Its occupants were plunged into the sea. Mrs. Bilicke clung to a piece of timber for four hours before she was rescued. The husband was never seen after the lifeboat took its fatal plunge.

The family home was at 699 Monterey Road, South Pasadena, at the time of Alfred C. Bilicke's death, which became part of the estate that was valued at more than $3,000,000. Among other holdings Mr. Bilicke owned 30,000 shares in the Alexandria Hotel Company, as well as large interests in the Chester Fire Proof Building Company, the Bilicke-Rowan Fireproof Building Company and the Bilicke-Rowan Commercial Company.

Besides the widow, the will named Mrs. Louise E. Babcock, a sister, to whom a $10,000 bequest was left. The three children were Albert Constant, Nancy Caroline and a minor son, Carl Archibald. Miss Nancy Bilicke was married in Paris, France, July 17, 1923, to Henri de Roulet.

Peligra la Armonía en la Sociedad de las Naciones

LONDRES, Octubre 3. — Está creciendo en Inglaterra la indignación pública contra el protocolo de paz de Ginebra, y particularmente contra la enmienda japonesa, cuyo efecto sería compeler a los miembros de la Sociedad a que sometan al arbitraje de la misma, asuntos de carácter netamente doméstico, como son las leyes de inmigración.

El "Evening Standard", que es el órgano principal del partido conservador, aconseja a Australia, al Canadá, y a la Nueva Zelandia que se separen inmediatamente de la Sociedad de las Naciones.

Hace ver el "Standard" que si Australia, por ejemplo, se negara a someterse a las demandas del Japón, de modificar su política respecto a inmigración de gente de color, la flota británica, en obediencia al citado protocolo de paz, tendría obligación de bloquear los puertos australianos en nombre de la Sociedad de Naciones.

Declara el "Standard" que los Dominios británicos nada obtienen con el protocolo, que no posean ya como miembros del Imperio Británico, y, en cambio, saldrían perdiendo redondamente con verse enzarzados en las guerras y disputas europeas.

Como no hay absolutamente diferencia de opinión entre los partidos ingleses respecto a esta cuestión, el protocolo no tiene la más mínima probabilidad de ser aceptado aquí, y esto podría significar el golpe de muerte de la Sociedad de las Naciones.

Ya se habla mucho en los círculos políticos acerca de lo cablegrafiado la semana pasada, a saber, de una alianza entre el Imperio Británico y los Estados Unidos para la conservación de un Pacífico blanco.

Las Conferencias con Egipto se Suspenden

LONDRES, Octubre 3.—Ha fracasado el esfuerzo para llegar a un convenio entre el Primer Ministro MacDonald y el Primer Ministro Zaghloul Pasha, sobre el futuro dominio de Egipto y el Sudán. El Primer Ministro Zaghloul regresará inmediatamente a Egipto.

Esta mañana se efectuó en la calle Downing la conferencia final entre los dos Primeros Ministros, y duró más de dos horas. Al terminar se publicó un boletín oficial que decía que las "conversaciones se daban por terminadas". Por una y otra parte se negaron a explicar lo que significaba esto, pero el corresponsal que lo comunica ha sabido que se llegó a la más completa desavenencia cuando el Primer Ministro Zaghloul pidió a la Gran Bretaña que retirara todas sus tropas de Egipto y entregara a este país el Sudán.

El comité de la defensa imperial, que se reunió ayer, dictaminó de un modo expreso contra dicha retirada, y se dice que el señor MacDonald manifestó al Ministro Zaghloul que no podía hacer nada que hiciera peligrar las comunicaciones del imperio.

Se ha sabido al propio tiempo que Lord Allenby, comisario superior de Egipto, que va a salir casi inmediatamente para el citado país, ha quedado facultado para hacer las modificaciones que juzgue convenientes en la distribución de las tropas británicas, y tal vez pueda conformarse hasta cierto punto a los deseos del Primer Ministro Zaghloul.

La situación en Egipto es verdaderamente anómala. Aunque el país es nominalmente independiente, el Sirdar, que es un oficial británico, manda en jefe el ejército egipcio. El Sirdar es Sir Leo Stack, que desempeña también el cargo de gobernador general del Sudán. Si ha de decirse la verdad, tanto en un cargo como en el otro, recibe y obedece órdenes de Lord Allenby, que es el Comisario Superior de Egipto, y que, en último análisis, sería el gobiernante de Egipto, de modo ostensible, si le viniese en gana ejercer esa autoridad.

La cuestión se ha complicado aun más por el acto del gobierno del Primer Ministro Zaghloul Pasha, que dejó de pagar los intereses devengados por los bonos turcos de 1891 y 1904. Esos intereses los pagó Egipto hasta Julio último, fecha en que, por orden del citado ministro, suspendió los pagos el Banco Nacional de Egipto. Argumentó el funcionario, según se dice, que, como ya el Egipto no es tributario de Turquía, no está ya obligado a pagar las deudas turcas. Una buena porción de estos bonos están en manos de capitalistas ingleses y franceses.

Ex-Presidiario Arrestado por Amenazas Graves

George W. Ranck, ex-presidiario de 67 años de edad, fue aprehendido ayer a última hora, por creérsele enajenado, y ha sido puesto en observación en la sala de psicopatía del Hospital General. Se le acusa de haber amenazado de muerte al Juez Superior Willis, al Fiscal Keyes, al Abogado Frank Dominguez, y a otros, que, según dice Ranck, lo empujaron al presidio en 1911, por una acusación de asesinato que pesaba sobre él.

Ranck fue puesto a buen recaudo por los tenientes sheriffs Patton y Luker. La queja venía firmada por James F. Smith, investigador de la Fiscalía.

La queja formulada contra Ranck, así como la consiguiente aprehensión, fueron motivadas por ciertas amenazas que se dice hizo contra el Juez Willis y las otras personas mencionadas, amenazas que se confirmaron la noche del jueves, en que se asegura que Ranck ofreció a John Dymond, antiguo investigador de la Fiscalía, $500 por que persuadiera al Fiscal Keyes a salir a una cuadra de distancia de su casa, cierta noche de la semana entrante. George Pross, gerente local de la Agencia de Detectives Burns, fue quien envió a Dymond a conferencia con Ranck, pues a Pross le había revelado el sospechoso la enemistad que tenía contra el abogado y los funcionarios del tribunal.

Ranck, que, el día 18 de Noviembre de 1911, fue sentenciado a diez años de prisión en San Quintín, por el asesinato de C. L. Wilbur en un hotel de la calle Quinta Este, volvió a esta ciudad hace como un año, según dicen las autoridades. Poco después se presentó ante el gran jurado del condado y pidió se hiciera una investigación de las circunstancias por las que fue condenado, aseverando que había sido víctima de un "plan". El gran jurado se negó a tomar el asunto en consideración.

Hace poco se presentó de nuevo a pedir del actual gran jurado la misma investigación, y por segunda vez fue desestimada su instancia.

Berlin to Bar American Cars With High Duty

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERLIN, Oct. 3. — In order to prevent the American automobile from capturing the German market, where it suddenly has become most popular, the German government is about to pass legislation tripling the present customs tariff, which already is high. The new tariff will make the importation of American cars almost prohibitive.

According to the American representatives, many firms of German car makers at present are overflooded with orders that they cannot deliver for many months, yet they are doing their utmost to prevent foreign, and especialyy American, cars from competing. The German Automobile Makers' Association, or Kartel, is strongly intrenched in every department of the German government so it can pass whatever bill it likes. The new bill, for example, places an $800 tariff on Buicks, $500 on Fords, and up to a $2000 tariff on heavy cars.

Guernsey Cows Bring Highest Prices in Years

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Oct. 3. — Fifty-four head of registered Guernsey cattle sold for almost $100,000 at Hinsdale, Ill., today. The exact total for the herd, owned by the H. L. and F. D. Stout estate, was $97,418, averaging $1800 each, the highest average paid for cattle of any breed in recent years, according to D. Tombroeck, manager of the Chicago Guernsey farm, Hinsdale, where the auction took place.

The top cow brought $15,100. She was sold to W. W. Williams, vice-president of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad and chairman of the board of the Missouri Pacific and Wabash railroads. He also bought another cow at $12,500.

Three cows sold for more than $10,000 each. Marshall Field, Chicago, bought severals cows for his farm on Long Island. He paid $12,750 for one cow.

WORK IS RUSHED ON NEW RAILWAY LINE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Oct. 3.—Contractors are said to have been taken over the route of the new Southern Pacific railroad from Hassayampa, west of Phoenix, to Dome, where the line will rejoin the present main-line system. Surveyors are working diligently on a permanent grade location and on mapping the ground, and the engineers are said to have made positive determination of the low-grade line of 150 miles length. Final reports will be ready within a few weeks.

The new railroad will parallel the old transcontinental wagon highway, over which many thousands of pioneers entered California during the gold rush of the fifties. West of Agua Caliente it will furnish badly needed transportation for more than 100,000 acres of rich land north of the Gila, now under development mainly through pumping systems.

HARVESTER COMPANY ASKS FOR DISMISSAL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ST. PAUL (Minn.) Oct. 3.—A petition to dismiss the government's case against the International Harvester Company for alleged violation of the Sherman Anti-trust Act was filed today with J. M. Dickey, clerk of the United States District Court here, by C. A. Severance of St. Paul, solicitor for the company, and other counsel for the firm. Hearing on the dismissal petition will be held here Monday in United States Court before Judge John B. Sanborn, presiding judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, and two Federal district judges.

EXTENDS POWER LINES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLARKSVILLE (Tex.) Oct. 3.—An important extension of the electric power transmission lines of the Texas Power and Light Company of Dallas is to be made in Northeastern Texas. The Commissioners' Court of this county has just granted the company a franchise to build its power lines into and through the county. The system already extends to Paris and it will be further extended immediately to Clarksville and then to points east and north of here, it is stated.

KISSING IN RUSSIA PUT UNDER BAN

Health Official Raps Bourgeoisie Act as Unhygienic

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MOSCOW, Oct. 3.—Dr. Nicholas Zemashko, soviet commissioner of health, has issued an edict against kissing, which, he contends, is one of the most potent means of spreading disease. The new order, if observed, will fall hard upon the Russian peasantry, who are in the habit of kissing one another, not only on the lips, but three times on each cheek in salutation. Dr. Zemashko is also opposed to the kissing of ladies' hands by men, a national custom in Russia. Not only is this unhygienic, he said, but it is a practice of the bourbeoisie which has no place in a proletarian republic.

Handshaking has been prohibited in many departments of the government, and signs are appearing warning employees that the practice frequently results in communication of disease. The conventional salute, hand from forehead, is suggested as a safer greeting.

As a further health measure, Dr. Zemashko advocates a ban on smoking, urging tobacco users to substitute candy and sweet meats.

New York Cook, Seeking to Die, Makes Perfect Dive From Brooklyn Bridge

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Milton Paulolos, 37 years of age, a cook wanted to die but he couldn't forget the skill in diving acquired years ago in his native Greece. His leap from Brooklyn Bridge, 140 feet into the East River, was a failure. Physicians at Bellevue Hospital say he will live.

Sergt. Albert Josephs and Patrolman Fred Norman, standing on the pier at Roosevelt street saw Paulolos alight from a trolly car, climb to the railing and plunge headforemost in one of the most perfect dives they had ever seen.

The police put out in a rowboat, but the crew of the tug Elizabeth Conne picked up Paulolos and took him ashore.

"Let me die! I can't live any longer," Paulolos told physicians. After his injuries, a gashed chin, several broken ribs and bruises, had been treated, Paulolos was placed in the psychopathic ward at Bellevue. Relatives said he had been acting strangely for months.

Oct. 3.—When Mrs. Jeanne Vinnet had Virginio Durante lodged in jail because he owed her $3000, and the court ordered him to pay, she did not know that she would have to pay his board and lodging. Today Mrs. Vinnet learned that the two months and a half the boarder was in jail have cost her $225.

Durante is reported to have a bank account in Italy and Mrs. Vinnet is trying to get him to sign over this bank account in settlement of the court's judgment in her favor. Durante refuses and Mrs. Vinnet continues to pay his board in jail.

OKLAHOMA REPLIES IN STATE LINE SUIT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The Federal government and the State of Oklahoma filed separate replies in the Supreme Court today in the controversy between Texas and Oklahoma over the location of their boundary line along the 100th meridian of longitude. The controversy is an outgrowth of the court's recent decision locating the boundary along the Red River. Both replies insist that the court should accept as the boundary the line marked in 1859 by A. H. Jones and H. M. C. Brown, and retraced in 1860 by John H. Clark. This would give Oklahoma considerable territory claimed by Texas.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

Member of Command Turns Up in Visalia

Harvest Prune Crop in Tulare County

Suspects Given Liberty Without Trial

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VISALIA, Oct. 3.—Col. Dan Morgan Smith, commander of the famous "Battalion of Death," while speaking at a patriotic meeting here, exclaimed: "I have no right now to give a command to any of my former buddies in France, but I cannot refrain from issuing an order here and now."

With that he commanded Ira Miller of Visalia to come to the platform. The speaker then explained that he had always believed Miller was killed.

"Of all the runners with me in France," said Col. Smith, "Miller alone survives. I thought he, too, had been killed, and when I saw him unexpectedly standing here in Visalia I could not believe my eyes."

Miller declared that he had become disengaged from the battalion and taken up with another outfit.

Out of the 1000 men in the "Battalion of Death" only 300 escaped alive.

HARVEST PRUNE CROP

VISALIA, Oct. 3. — The local plant of the California Prune and and Apricot Growers is receiving the 1924 prune crop. Only a small portion of the 1923 crop remains in the bins and will soon be on the market, according to Supt. Guy W. Smith.

Last year at this time there were 2000 tons of prunes on hand in the bins, indicating the rapidity with which the 1923 crop has been moved to market. Deliveries of the 1924 crop will not begin in earnest for about a week, when it is thought the 1923 holdovers will be gone.

The crop from Tulare county this year is estimated at less than 50 per cent of the tonnage delivered a year ago by association officials. Some buyers place this at a higher figure, but the officials base their estimate on reports from members whose fruit is now on the trays. Last year the local plant was unable to house the tonnage, and rented warehouses in several localities. All can be taken care of here nicely this season.

Only a few scattering acres in Visalia district remain to be picked, most of the local fruit now being on trays, stored or delivered. The drying season thus far has been very good, and if rains are postponed for a short time prune men will be satisfied.

UNDER ADVISEMENT

VISALIA, Oct. 3.—The case of W. S. Young, doing business as the Alta Soda Works, against the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation was taken under advisement by Superior Judge J. A. Allen following an all-day trial. Young asks $16,048.35 damages for a fire which on August 25, 1923, destroyed his soda works in Dinuba.

Young claims that the power corporation employees were burning insulation off copper wires in the yard of his plant, let the fire get beyond their control, with the result that it set fire to the soda plant and burned it to the ground.

PRISONERS RELEASED

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 3.—J. F. Wallace and Mrs. Julia Meininger, who were recently arrested in Reno, Nev., for Tulare county authorities on a charge of burglary and possible connection with the death of James Michael (Old Jim,) have been given their liberty on motion of Dist.-Atty. Fred C. Scott.

"Old Jim" Michael, 103 years of age, was found dead near his home in the Burton district west of Porterville, on June 22. He had been dead several days when found, and was clad in night clothes, lying half way between his cabin and the gateway to his ranch.

In spite of the fact that considerable money was found on the premises he was known to be worth much more, leading to suspicion of robbery. A slight wound on the man's leg and bloodstains on the bed clothing indicated that violence might have been used, and perhaps murder had been done. Wallace and Mrs. Meininger were later brought from Reno and held at the County Jail for some time.

ASK BUS FRANCHISE

WOODLAKE, Oct. 3.—Application of L. R. Payne to operate a bus line between Visalia and Woodlake by way of Lemon Cove has been filed with the Railroad Commission by the Woodlake Chamber of Commerce, through its president, J. R. Ropes, who has returned from San Francisco.

This application was an outgrowth of the application of the Visalia Electric Railroad to discontinue its passenger service between Visalia and Woodlake, and the application of the Al Askin Stage Company to supply service in place of the electric railway. These applications were heard by Examiner Hanford of the Railroad Commission at Visalia on September 23. Service proposed by the Askin company was declared so meager that people of Woodlake could not properly conduct their business under it.

It is believed that Payne's application will reopen the entire matter, which will be heard at Visalia at a date to be set by the commission. The Woodlake Chamber of Commerce is opposing the railroad's application to discontinue service, and backing Payne's application in case the commission grants that of the railroad company.

GOLF CLUB ELECTS

TULARE, Oct. 3.—E. E. Graham has been elected president of the Tulare City Golf Club for the coming year. Other officers are J. R. Henderson, vice-president; J. I. Sheets, secretary-treasurer. Other directors are W. D. Cook and Calvin Russell. Tournament and handicap committee includes J. I. Sheets, chairman; Frank Kidd, Eddie Mahoney, Donald Abercrombie and Andrew Monteverde. The greens committee is composed of J. R. Henderson, chairman; George Burnett, Dr. R. N. Fuller and Clinton Luke.

Arrangements have been completed for a flag tournament to be held at the local course Sunday, October 5, with handicaps for all members.

RAISINS TO MARKET

VISALIA, Oct. 3.—Deliveries of 1924 raisins to the local plant of the Sun-Maid company are growing in amount and are of average quality, according to C. O. Butler, in charge. Visalia district has been entirely cleared of holdover raisins from 1923, the last storage having recently been shipped to the association in Fresno.

Raisins are now coming out of the vineyards with rapidity. Drying conditions have been fine and most of the harvest is expected to be under cover in the warehouse within another ten days, though some late deliveries may continue until the last of the month.

BAN JOHNSON NOT INTERESTED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Ban Johnson today wired Clark Griffith, manager of the Washington ball club, that he would not attend the world's series games, as he believed New York should not be permitted to play in the world's series because of the recent bribery scandal.

Should Stage World Series, Says Williams

Efforts to discredit the world series opening at Washington tomorrow because "two rather inconsequential players" were involved in a bribery deal are "little less than treason to the American fan," Harry A. Williams, president of the Pacific Coast League, said in a statement issued here last night.

"The Dolan-O'Connell incident is to be regretted," Williams admits. However," he continues, "it seems little less than a crime to stigmatize two entire teams and the world series because of the unaccountable actions of two rather inconsequential players.

"The world series belongs to the American people, and is an honored institution. To endeavor by intimation and innuendo to cast a shadow on this series is little less than treason to the American fan."

Williams concludes his statement with commendation of Commissioner Landis for his "prompt and fearless action" in the bribery investigation.

DIAMOND WORLD IN A TURMOIL

Governing Forces of Game at Swords' Points

No New Accusations in Big Baseball Scandal

Johnson Demands Federal Inquiry Into Affair

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Factional strife involving baseball's highest officials may grow out of the O'Connell-Dolan deal that has thrown the diamond world into turmoil.

Although the day failed to add fresh sensations to the bribery scandal, or point further suspicion to anyone outside the two Giant players banished from the game, there were strong indications that the governing forces of the game were at the point of sharp conflict.

Culminating factors in this situation today were the announcement of Ban Johnson, president of the American League, that he would not attend the series because of the suspicion surrounding the Giants, and a statement by Barney Dreyfuss, Pittsburg club owner, which was viewed here as a challenge to the decision of Landis which placed the guilt for the bribery scheme upon Dolan and O'Connell alone among the Giant players.

Johnson, who reiterated his contention that the series should have been called off, and Dreyfuss apparently have taken the leadership of forces believed to be antagonistic to the regime of Commissioner Landis. Their statements today following attacks of similar vein yesterday, were interpreted as the opening guns of a campaign which may shake baseball's whole governing structure.

NO COMMENTS

Landis, whose retort to Johnson and Dreyfuss was that they "keep their shirts on," refused today to comment upon the statements of either official or upon the announced purpose of the Pittsburg owner to come here tomorrow and demand the reopening of the Giant investigation.

The commissioner declared he was keeping an open mind on the subject of the scandal, but at the same time he indicated that nothing had developed, that no fresh evidence had been unearthed to alter the decision he made in New York disbarring O'Connell and Dolan, but exonerating Frisch, Young and Kelley, who were declared by O'Connell to be "in" on the deal.

Landis displayed scant interest in the demands of either Johnson or Dreyfuss, but pointed out that if they, or anyone else, had information which would throw new light on the situation, he would not hesitate to act swiftly upon it.

On the surface it appeared that the bribery charges had been put in the background by actual series preparations, but it was understood that the commissioner, who held several conferences with club owners and officials during the day, was ready to bend every effort toward new phases of the case. So far, however, those close to him expressed the conviction that no clews had appeared which would lead to immediate developments.

In answer to Johnson's demands for Federal inquiry it was pointed out that he, together with the club owners of both leagues, signed a blanket agreement on January 12, 1921, at Chicago, in which they agreed "to be bound by the decision of the commissioner and the discipline imposed by him under the provisions of this agreement, and severally waive such right of recourse to the courts as would otherwise have existed in their favor."

BOOSTS LANDIS

John A. Heydler, president of the National League, declared today he strongly supported the commissioner's action, voicing his conviction that the whole situation had been handled swiftly and without favor.

"I think that the average fan is convinced baseball has acted courageously and promptly in uncovering this scandal and dealing out speedy punishment in the face of a world's series," the National League executive declared. "If there is anything further to be done I am just as anxious as the next fellow to see it accomplished."

EPINARD READY FOR STAR YANK BANGTAILS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

LATONIA (Ky.) Oct. 3.—The "big horse" Epinard, as he is commonly known to turf fans, tonight was stabled at Latonia, where he is scheduled to combat the leading thoroughbreds of the United States in the third section of the International Special Race, the 11th inst.

Eugene Leigh, American trainer, reported the horse had shipped well, and barring accident, would be in prime condition for the mile and a quarter test.

DICK BONNELLY AND RAY FRENCH ARRIVE

Ray French, infielder of the Minneapolis club in the American Association, and Pitcher Dick Bonnelly of the Kansas City Blues, arrived in town yesterday and were signed by Frank Kerwin to play against the Catalina Cubs at Glendale tomorrow afternoon. With the signing of these stars Frank Kerwin has almost completed his line-up for the winter season.

HOPE OF SOLONS IN WORLD SERIES

Walter Johnson, pitching in the big leagues for eighteen years, will take part in his first world series beginning today. The great Walter will pitch the opening game and Manager Bucky Harris figures him for at least two other contests against the Giants.

WHITE SOX AGAIN BEAT CUB OUTFIT

Red Faber Outlasts Flock of Wrigley's Hired Hands and Team Wins, 6 to 3

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—The White Sox today made it two straight over the Cubs, 6 to 3, and took the lead in the city series.

Red Faber outlasted a flock of Cub twirlers, Jacobs, Blake and Keen. He pitched great ball most of the way, especially in the ninth when he blanked the Cubs after they filled the bases with none out.

The Sox fell on Jacobs hard in the sixth inning, scoring four runs. Sheely's homer, his third of the series, took a lucky bounce into the stands for two runs. Grantham featured with three singles.

Eddie Collins also assumed the hero role when he tripled in the eighth, counting the fifth and sixth runs for the Sox. The crowd was estimated at 15,000. The score:

Loyola College is going onto the gridiron at the field of the Southern Branch today with a well-balanced team, it was stated yesterday by Rev. D. A. Daze, director of athletics. The team, though somewhat handicapped, defeated Christian College last Saturday. C. Sherwood will start off the game at center for Loyola. It is Sherwood's first year in college football. John Haddock and Walter Parker, guards; Capt. Bob Krack and Furlong, tackles, and Monte Foits and Charles McKee, ends, will be in the lineup today. Leo Hoffman will play quarter; Ben Curran and Ed Brown, backs, and Jack Wright, full.

MARKS MASTERS KELLY

Local Fighter Takes Measure of Bay City Lad in Main Event at Hollywood Legion

The world's series scandal apparently greatly depressed performers at last night's Hollywood American Legion fight bill for most of the boys were unable to do their stuff with anything like their usual eclat—or at least with enough punch to satisfy the smallest audience that has graced the Movie City arena in some months. Maybe it wasn't the baseball scandal that affected the fighters, but whatever the cause it is hoped the effect will not last long.

It was a wild and hectic night. There were three knockouts, one foul, and three bouts that went to a finish. The last three bouts were carried on amidst much noise from the boo chorus, with many heavy basses in the top seats drowning out all other sounds. After the second round of the last fight of the evening scores of patrons picked up their belongings and went home.

NOT SO BAD

At that there wasn't such great cause for so belligerent a demonstration. Joe Pimenthal and Young Farrel, the latter substituting for Young Russell, put on the best bout of the night and it was a pippin. Farrell won, mainly because he kept plugging away at Joe's kitchen with telling effect. Pimenthal, a hard puncher, found Farrell too shifty, and was beaten to the punch on many occasions. Farrell covered nicely and thus escaped many of his rival's hardest shots.

The other high-class go of the night saw Red Williams almost knock the dome off Hank Gatten, who was pinch-hitting for Terry Adams. The boys slugged plenty, with Williams landing a whole flock of rights to the head that had Hank bleeding and weary at the final bell.

There was a main event between Georgie Marks and Eddie Kelly. Marks won. He had every round. Kelly held on a lot. The crowd didn't like the bout. Marks was hitting harder than when he showed here before, but Kelly's hugging tactics made Georgie look bad to the fans. The local boy's lightning left won him the decision easily.

HITS LOW

Johnny Jordan hit Tommy Carter low twice in their bout, the semi-wind-up, and the second time it happened Referee George Blake lifted Tom's hand. The boys clinched at the start and went 'round and 'round in a knot for some time, Jordan holding on with his left and whaling away with his right. When they came out of the clinch Carter was limping. In the middle of the first round he dropped on the floor, apparently in pain, but Blake ordered him to his feet and the bout went on. Carter knocked Jordan almost through the ropes with a hard right near the close of the session.

When the second round was half over Jordan again hit Carter low and Blake unhesitatingly shoved Tom's hand aloft.

There were three knockouts to start the evening's festivities. Young Bud Ridley substituted for Johnny LaRose in the first bout and was sorry immediately, for Mickey White kayoed him in the opening round. Freddie Ellis rocked Al Thomas to sleep in the first canto of their bout, and Billy Hart stopped Frankie Ryan in the fourth round of the third battle.

SPECULATORS DO A RUSHING BUSINESS ON EVE OF GAME

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—World series tickets in the hands of speculators, who did a thriving business despite a vigorous drive against them by Federal and city authorities, tonight were selling at a higher premium than for any baseball championship in years.

Single pasteboards for the opening tomorrow were reported to be selling in some instances for as high as $50 and $75 while three-game strips brought as high as $150, depending on their location.

Several arrests were made of ticket scalpers operating on the streets, while one "brokerage house" was closed, but the police drive was somewhat handicapped late in the day by a ruling of the corporation counsel that no interference could be made with the activities of licensed brokers.

WALTER JOHNSON WILL PITCH FOR SENATORS

McGraw's Battery Not Announced Yet; Excitement Runs High on Eve of Championship Event

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The 1924 world series between the Washington Senators, pennant winners for the first time in the American League, and the New York Giants, National League champions for the last four years, will start tomorrow under circumstances which have had no parallel on the eve of the game's greatest classic.

Tonight the playing issues of the struggle, a battle that promises to bring two closely matched teams into action for the game's highest stakes, came back to the limelight after having been obscured for two days by the sensational charges of bribery involving the Giants and causing the banishment of two members of the club, Jimmy O'Connell and Cozy Dolan.

The eleventh-hour cloud of scandal which has thrown the baseball world into turmoil and threatened to set a match to the whole framework of the game had not entirely vanished. Tonight, however, in the absence of any fresh sensation the talk that was heard on every corner, the topic of conversation in all of the capital's varied walks of life, was chiefly of the game, not of the suspicion that has been aroused by the bribery plot.

The nation's capital was preparing to come into its own in baseball for the first time in its history and from President Coolidge, who will throw out the first ball, down to the youngest hero worshiper of "Bucky" Harris and Walter Johnson, Washington's most gallant diamond figures, the city's population will pay its tribute to their champions.

EXCITEMENT REIGNS

The wave of enthusiasm that swept the city when the Senators dethroned the world's champion New York Yanks in the American League pennant fight only to be suddenly checked by the startling disclosures about the Giants came back tonight.

Only the physical limitations of the Washington park, which accommodates 37,000 with all extra space utilized, will prevent the majority of the city's population from viewing its heroes in their opening bid for triumph. High government officials and members of the diplomatic corps will join baseball men from all parts of the country and the lucky minority of fans holding pasteboards in what promises to be one of baseball's most dramatic spectacles.

The hope apparently uppermost in the minds of Washington's fans tonight was that Walter Johnson, their pitching idol, would reach the summit of his remarkable career of eighteen years in major league baseball by twirling the Senators to victory. Johnson, the hero of every street urchin and the admiration of the whole city, will carry their hopes and fears in his powerful right arm.

Behind this high tide of enthusiasm, however, the excitement that always precedes baseball's title struggle, there remained an unmistakable undercurrent of tension, growing out of the O'Connell-Dolan disclosures. The possible reaction of this feeling when the two teams take the field tomorrow was a source of keen speculation.

It was conceivable to observers tonight that the whole outcome of the championship fight might turn on the popular attitude taken tomorrow for the Giants, although they seemed to have regained their confidence and poise as they went through their final drill today, go into the fray keyed to a high nervous pitch.

MORALE SHAKEN

The Giant morale, it is believed, has been shaken, although the players, after their brisk workout in the Senators' park declared they would take the field ready to cast aside all thought of the scandal and fight, unhampered, for the game's major crown. The Senators under their 27-year-old pilot, Stanley Harris, who led the club to its first pennant in his inaugural year as manager, also put the finishing touches to practice with an hour's drill this morning.

The American League champions will go into the opening game with the full strength of the forces that carried them to the pennant, but the Giants will be handicapped by the absence of their veteran third baseman, Heinie Groh.

Groh, who twisted a knee several weeks ago, was still hobbling about on a cane today and Capt. Frank Frisch, who himself has just returned to the line-up after an absence forced by a finger injury, announced that the regular third sacker would be out of the entire series.

In Groh's place will be Freddy Lindstrom, 18-year-old Chicago schoolboy, playing his first year in the majors, who convinced Manager John McGraw of his ability by playing sensationally in the closing pennant drive of the New Yorkers. If Lindstrom comes up to expectations the Giants will lose little, if any, of the infield strength which, with the return of Frisch, is expected to be one of their chief bulwarks.

There is little to choose between the two teams.

Washington, credited with a more powerful pitching staff, a speedy and versatile attack, will be an aggressive foe under the brilliant leadership of Harris, while the Giants, possessing probably a stronger attack and pitching staff that may be unexpectedly strong, will rely on the veteran strategy of their leader, McGraw, who this year gained his tenth pennant victory since 1904.

Washington has in Johnson the outstanding moundsman of either club, a pitcher who, in his eighteenth successive season with the Senators, has hung up one of his greatest records. If Johnson should be victorious tomorrow in the opening encounter, when he will have, it is expected, either Hugh McQuillan, right-hander, or

Manual Arts Eleven Swamps Inglewood Gridders in 33-to-7 Game on Toiler

ARTISANS SHOW LOTS OF POWER

Foster's Crew Looms Up as Title Contender

Apfel Scores for Inglewood in Final Period

Capt. Stever Plays Star Game at Center

Manual Arts defeated the Inglewood Sentinels in a practice grid battle, 33 to 7, at Manual's back lot yesterday. Inglewood had a weak line, the entire team being green. Apfel, captain, was the only Inglewood man crossing the goal for a touchdown, scoring in the last quarter.

Although Coach Sid Foster has only two men from last year's team to build the Manual Arts squad with the old substitutes, he has been able to develop a heavy, hard-hitting team that can well be ranked with the best in the City League.

Stever, captain, and Hanford are the two remaining men. Stever tips the scales around 185 pounds and plays center. Hanford plays half and is a steady ground-gainer.

Martin, fullback, was able to find the weak spots in Inglewood's line and hit them for several gains. Bond, quarter, and Orbe, half, completed the backfield.

There were no weak spots in Manual's line, although they were penalized often for being off-side. DiMichill, end, broke through the Sentinel's line often. He intercepted one of Inglewood's passes and ran eighteen yards for a touchdown.

As Inglewood could not gain by straight football, it resorted to end runs, criss-crosses and passes. The team is still green and Coach Badenoch has a job on his hands training his men to become accustomed to each other. Only one pass was completed. The backfield seemed inexperienced and interefered with each other. Badenoch uses two line-ups, one weighing about 170, and the other about 158 pounds.

In previous practice games the Sentinels lost to L. A. High and Poly. They defeated the University High School.

The boys crossing the goal for touchdowns were: Manual: DiMichill, Martin, Wonder, Bond and Hanford. Apfel scored for Inglewood.

Both teams used many subs.

The line-up was as follows:

Manual Arts		Inglewood

FOTTRELL LOSES IN FRESNO NET EVENT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FRESNO, Oct. 3.—Ella Footrell of Stockton, five years ago seventh ranking tennis player in the United States, went down to defeat in the feature match of the San Joaquin Valley tennis tournament that opened here today before the volleying of young Gervais Hillis, champion of the Berkeley Tennis Club. The score was 9-7, 6-3.

Hillis was slightly nervous in the first set but steadied down as play progressed and in the second broke through Fottrell's service at will.

Charlotte Hosmer, California State women's champion, who won from Opal Cheatham, 6-0, 6-0, was to play Norma Burgdorf, 1923 woman champion of St. Louis, Mo.

Harbert Suhr of San Francisco won from John Robinson, 6-1, 6-1.

MICKEY WALKER IS HANDED SUSPENSION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Carrying out a threat of suspension to Mickey Walker, world's welterweight champion, if he engaged in a match before meeting Dave Shade, Coast welterweight, in a title match, the New York State Athletic Commission today barred the titleholder from further matches in this State because of his meeting with Bobby Barrett at Philadelphia on Wednesday night.

The suspension is indefinite and also includes Barrett, his manager, Jimmy Dougherty, and his entire stable of fighters.

FAVORITES CAPTURE AT GRAND CIRCUIT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

COLUMBUS (O.) Oct. 3. — Favorites swept the card in the final day's racing of the fall Grand Circuit meeting. The feature event of the afternoon, the free-for-all trot, produced the best race of the day. Czar Worthy, prohibitive favorite, won the first heat in impressive fashion, but Ethelinda won the second by trotting the second half of the mile in 1:00 and overcoming Czar Worthy's big lead. Cox tried the same tactics with Ethelinda in the third heat, but could not reach Czar Worthy.

Russell Onagale won the 2:08 pace in straight heats, not being extended in any heat. The favored Fair May proved the best of the big field which started in the 2:09 trot, while Billy Burke won the 2:13 trot.

OBSERVATIONS

By the INNOCENT BYSTANDER, BILL HENRY

What a shame that a youngster with the possibilities of Jimmy O'Connell should make a mess of his life in the manner that he has. O'Connell rose from obscurity to become an idol in San Francisco in the course of a couple of years. He was the most popular young player the Seals ever had when he was sold to the Giants he "went up" with the good wishes of everybody. He was young, full of pepper and apparently blessed with an abundance of ability to field and to hit. Even his failure to hold down a regular job in the outfield of the champion New York Giants could hardly be held against him, for that's a big order to fill.

And now, according to his own confession, O'Connell has either attempted to bribe a rival club, through a former Pacific Coast Leaguer, or has been used as a tool by some members of his own team who were too "wise" to incriminate themselves. In any event, through his own ignorance and lack of character, O'Connell has blasted his hopes of ever amounting to anything as a baseball player and will doubtless be permanently blacklisted.

The wallop handed O'Connell will likewise undoubtedly be felt by baseball as an institution. Baseball is a grand old game, played by an enormous number of people and witnessed by millions every year. But no game can stand very many such scandals as have gnawed at the foundations of the diamond pastime during the past few years. Give baseball about one more first-class scandal in connection with the winning of a pennant or a world's series and the public won't believe that anything that takes place in a ball park is on the level.

Mickey Walker, world's welterweight champion, continues to demonstrate that he's the kind of a champion the public likes to see, and that despite a poor house that saw him knock out Bobby Barrett at Philadelphia the other night. Walker ripped and tore into Barrett from the very start of the fracas, putting his red-headed opponent on the floor three times in the first round and finally putting him to sleep permanently in the sixth.

Barrett, it will be remembered, is the young man who knocked out Oakland Jimmy Duffy. He is a terrific hitter and soaked Walker square on the jaw twice in the first round, but the champ kept boring right in. If telegraphic accounts are accurate, Walker knocked Barrett down several times with body punches and finished him up with one on the chin, demonstrating that he doesn't throw all his wallops at one target. Too bad we can't see a battler like Walker out here on the Coast.

The more we see of Sid Nichols, Occidental's new coach, the better we like him and the better we like his quiet and business-like assistants, Oak Smith, Dewel Lyle and Bill Anderson. No propaganda, no wails, no boasts, no temperament—just a lot of good hard work. When Ebers, the "triple threat" backfield star of the Tigers, who scored a touchdown from the kickoff against Caltech last year, was shelved because of a bad back, Nichols had no time for moaning.

When Conde, the biggest man in his line, decided to stick around the college and study instead of taking the trip to Stanford, Nichols said exactly the same thing. Apparently Nichols and his crew take injuries and the faculty ax as a part of the game and refuse to admit that their entire lives will be saved or ruined through the presence or absence of any one or two men. Nixon of Pomona has set a good style in this regard and Nichols seems to be one of the same type.

A young man breezed into the office the other day with a bit of interesting news from Whittier. It seems that he was breezing past the Quaker College on a business trip to Orange county and was lured into the football field by the merry sound of cowhide thudding on pigskin, as the poets have it. He entered into conversation with a Whittier footer, who spake as follows:

"Well, we aren't worrying any about the conference championship, because that looks like a cinch for us. We've got seven varsity backs and ten varsity line men, besides a good bunch of freshmen. What we are worrying about is U.S.C.. They're awfully big, but I guess they won't look any bigger to us than anybody else." If all of Whittier, including the team, gets filled with that same confidence and has some real facts on which to base it, there ought to be this fall.

State College Eleven Clash With Marines

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 3.—The local football season will get under way in earnest tomorrow with several more or less important contests scheduled.

The State College's revamped eleven will get its first baptism in a clash with the husky United States Marine Corps team. The latter aggregation is one of the most formidable of the several service teams hereabouts, and the Staters admit they will have their hands full in disposing of the leathernecks.

In the stadium, the Senior High School eleven and the Pomona College freshmen will scrap it out. The local team because of its great showing against Sweetwater High last Saturday in the opening game, 's picked to win.

At Grossmont, the Union High School team will play Brawley High in the first intercounty game

EXPERIENCE IS HOPE OF GIANTS

World's Series No Novelty to Former Champions

McGraw Expects His Men to Show Their Mettle

Outcome of Series Doubtful, Admits Manager

BY JOHN J. McGRAW,
Manager New York Giants

[Copyright, 1924, Christy Walsh Syndicate.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—A comparative analysis of the New York and Washington teams as they begin the fight for the world's championship this afternoon after all, is of little real value to a manager. For that reason I will attempt none. Very little reliance, I have found, can be placed on conclusions drawn from the work of ball clubs that have never faced the same situations nor each other.

My policy always has been to meet situations as they arise on the field and I see no reason to change it this time. We know, of course, who are the strong pitchers and hitters on the Washington club and they have the same information about us. There is no reason to assume, however, that those hitters and pitchers will run true to form when thrown into new surroundings. Often the supposedly weak hitters have decided world's series. Just as often have the favorite pitchers failed to deliver.

PLAYERS CONFIDENT

To declare that the Giants are sure to win this big prize would be silly. It would be equally silly for Washington to make any such claims. I can say, though, that my players are full confident of being able to take care of themselves under any conditions.

The one advantage that we have over the Senators and one that may have a telling effect in the big fight is that the Giants are seasoned campaigners, while the Senators are not. The world's series and the pennant fights are no novelty to us. The men who face Washington today have been in three successive series and have just won their fourth successive pennant. To Washington the pennant and the world's series is a novelty.

The soldier who has been through several stiff battles usually has more poise than the one who goes in for his first baptism of fire. But even that does not always hold true. Anything is likely to happen in a ball game. The club that is quicker to meet a new situation has an immense advantage.

LITTLE DIFFERENCE

There cannot be a great deal of difference in the strength of clubs that have just won championships. Weak clubs do not win pennants, as a rule.

In all of the big series the pitching usually decides it. Though it is just another way of saying that the batters do not come through when expected. Weak batting makes a pitcher good. Strong pitching makes the batters look weak. You can figure it any way you like.

GIANTS FACE SOLONS TODAY

Art Nehf, southpaw, as an opponent, Washington's prospects of triumph will loom especially bright. The Senators' ace is prepared to pitch two and perhaps three games and the club's hopes revolve largely around his ability to muster the stamina for his greatest task.

Golden Bears Will Tackle Saints Today

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—California and St. Mary's will hook up in their annual football tilt tomorrow afternoon in the California stadium and the hopes of the St. Mary's boys are running high. They know they have a fighting chance to win and they would like to be the first team to beat California in four years. They did that little thing back in 1917.

California will go into the game minus Carey and White, the regular tackles, and Walter Rau, a running guard. These men are hurt and they are all good linemen. Green and Sargent will play tackles and Lewis and Nieswander will play guards. These young men will be thoroughly tested today by the fast, shifty play of the St. Mary's boys.

ORANGE COUNTY FOUR TACKLES SHELBURNES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The Orange County four will meet the Shelburne four at Meadowbrook tomorrow in the final match of the Monty Waterbury cup series. This match will wind up the eastern polo season for 1924.

The Orange County four worked its way into the finals of the tournament yesterday by eliminating the California four, 12 to 5. At the same time the Shelburne team defeated the Hurricanes.

'TIMES' SCOREBOARD AT LOEW'S TO 'PLAY' WORLD'S SERIES

Los Angeles fans will be given the opportunity of seeing the world's series enacted, play by play, on The Times official scoreboard at Loew's State Theater, Seventh and Broadway, for the duration of the series, which opens today. A huge electrical arrangement by which the various stages of the games will be graphically presented has been installed at Loew's State. Telegraphic account of the games, as relayed through The Times, will be flashed to Los Angeles baseball enthusiasts. Those who see the series on The Times scoreboard may remain without additional cost to see "The Navigator," the film of the week at Loew's State.

DUCK HUNTING FINE AT BALDWIN LAKE

Sportsmen returning yesterday from Baldwin Lake (which is situated near Big Bear,) where they went last Tuesday to be on hand for the opening of the duck season, report the best hunting in years.

A very unusual situation was reported by the nimrods who all returned with limits. Lack of water has driven the ducks in on the lake, and hunters got birds that were never before shot in these parts. Aside from the common Ruddies, it is reported that Red Heads, Teal, Bluebills, Sprigs, Spoonies, Widgeons and even Mallard were bagged.

Dan Reed, commonly known as "Dangerous Dan," who returned yesterday in party with N. W. Warman, Walt Warman, Dr. Deasensy, F. E. Wheeler and Fred Maier, stated that the wind was blowing so strong Wednesday, the opening date of the season, that hunters were forced to shoot from the shore. He also said that the roads to the lake were in excellent condition, and that it is possible to save about seven miles by taking the cutoff this side of Victorville.

OXY FACES STANFORD

Big Red Machine Expected to Trim Tigers in Their Initial Appearance; Nevers Definitely Out

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—Friends and supporters of Stanford's football aspirations will have their first opportunity of the season to see their favorites in action under fire tomorrow afternoon, when they line up against the gridiron representatives of Occidental College.

There seems to be very little knowledge of the Occidental players, as to what their strength or weakness may be, but it is generally expected by followers of the game that the Cardinal will not have any particular trouble going over this first hurdle.

Warner probably will show quite an advanced stage of offensive play. For the last week or ten days he has been evolving a number of plays in which he has been instructing his players. Among these are several open plays of the forward passing variety which, if they succeed, will not only be pretty for the spectators to watch, but will be fine ground-gainers.

It will be a disappointment not to find Ernie Nevers, the star fullback, in his accustomed place, but Warner is taking no chances with his ace and it will be another ten days before he will be allowed in the line-up. The wrenched knee is coming along nicely and when he gets back into harness Nevers ought to be thoroughly recovered and the injury is not expected to affect his play in any way.

Capt. Lawson, at end, is playing a fine brand of game and all indications are that he will be a conspicuous figure in the play.

Baker, in the center position, will be closely watched by the fans. If he makes good he will be the man to oppose Capt. Horrell of California, rated as the best man in his place on the Coast. Baker's game has been gradually improving.

Whittier and Alumni Clash on Grid Today

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WHITTIER, Oct. 3.—The Whittier College varsity will tackle the "W" Club eleven tomorrow on Hadley Field in their annual struggle and attempt to remove the smirch of a 7-to-0 drubbing that the club squad administered last year.

The "W" Club is composed of wearers of the Whittier College "W" and numbered among these are many stars of former years. Coach Ira Van Cleave, an honorary member of the organization, will direct the squad and will likely enter the fray himself. Bull Finch will act as field captain and run at half.

The collegians should have the edge with their practice and condition but the experience of the old-timers will count heavily in their favor. Madden, Kimmell and Schafer, Poet linesmen, who are nursing injuries, will likely warm the bench to assure their appearance against Caltek the following Saturday.

CARLETON'S OUTFIT TAKES ON GIANTS

Floyd Carleton's Hollywood Merchants meet the Colored Giants for the second time at Allan Hancock Park, Hollywood, tomorrow. The Giants and Hollywood had a slight misunderstanding that broke up the game with a near-riot last week, so a lot of fans are going to jam the stands to watch the return match. A story book finish was the cause of the controversy in the last game. The score was tied, 8 to 8, two men were out, a man was on third, two championship teams were playing, and then the Hollywood batter—drove a terrific liner down the left-field line for a double. The Giants and the majority of the crowd declared the ball was foul, but the umpire called it fair. So the game tomorrow is a grudge battle.

Semipros Will Connect Today in Fast Games

With six good semipro games on tap for this afternoon, the attention of the sporting world won't be entirely on football and world series baseball today. Some of the best teams in the local semipro league are scheduled to meet today and the games will have a lot of bearing on the standings. The Los Angeles County Farm and Title Insurance nines, the two best in the Saturday leagues, take on the Crane Company and Hobbs Battery outfits, respectively. Crane and Hobbs Battery were the big rivals in the league during the summer but have laid off the game for a few months. They should be going good in a week or two, however.

The Bellflower-Carlsbad game, to be played at Carlsbad, should attract a lot of attention. Carlsbad trimmed some of the best teams in the loop recently and are rated among the very best. Bellflower is one of the teams in the upper strata of the standings. Montebello, recently defeated by the Pasadena Eagles for the Greater Association title, meets the Los Angeles Creamery team at Montebello in what should be a tight game. The home outfit is still one of the very best squads in the ranks and the Creamery boys are a bunch of fast-moving players, also.

OXY FROSH ARE DOWNED BY LINCOLN

Lone Touchdown in Last Quarter Gives Van Pelt's Eleven Victory

Lincoln high nosed out the Occidental freshmen, 6 to 0, in a hard-fought battle which opened the season for both teams. A lone touchdown, scored by Pusich with three minutes to go in the last quarter, was the only score of the game. It was a very close decision on the touchdown, the Lincoln man holding the ball out in front of him when he couldn't cross the goal line and was being thrown back. The referee ruled that for a fleeting instant the ball had crossed the line. The try for goal was blocked.

The game was very well played, there being very few fumbles and a lot of good play on both sides. The Lincoln team played together a little better than the baby Tigers and scored their touchdown after a series of heavy line bucks and one long forward pass to Pusich had made three successive first downs. Lincoln had one other chance to score in the first quarter, a long forward pass giving them first down on the Tiger 4-yard line but the Tigers held for downs.

Occidental played a waiting game until Lincoln had scored, kicking on the first or second down every time they got the ball except on one occasion. When Lincoln scored, the Tigers opened up with a fierce offensive and twice carried the ball down under the Lincoln goal, on both occasions failing to score when a forward pass over the line was fumbled. The game ended with the ball on Lincoln's 10-yard line.

Farren Meets Marks Tonight in Lyceum Ring

A fight that will be talked about for weeks to come is predicted for tonight when Georgie Marks and Young Farrell hook up in the main event at the Lyceum Club. Marks's fight with Eddie Kelly at Hollywood last night will not slow him down at all he declared. "I am in perfect condition and easily able to fight twice in two days," declared the young bantie.

The other five bouts will offer plenty of entertainment to followers of the mitt sport. Eddie Diggins has been secured to put on four rounds of hard boxing with Battling Ward in the semi-wind-up. Judging from all indications this will not fall a bit short of expectations. Bud Cicerone trades punches with Eddie West in a hard socking special event.

Other events are: Young Joe Rivers vs Kidd Sparks, 115 pounds; Young McBride vs Billy Campbell, 125 pounds; Battling Chico vs Young Henry, 110 pounds.

SOLONS NOSE OUT TIGERS

Sacramento Overcomes Four-run Lead and Wins Out in Ninth; Peters Hurls Great Ball

BY ROBERT E. RAY

Behind the air-tight relieve hurling of "Dink" Peters, Buddy Ryan's hired men overcame a four-run lead and beat out the Tigers in the ninth, 5 to 4. The win for Sacramento evened the series at two-all.

Peters took the mound for the Senators in the fourth inning with a score 2 to 0 in favor of the locals, two out, a man on first and Pete Schneider at the bat. Schneider hit the ball over the left field wall for a homer, putting the Bengals four runs in front. But after that Peters pitched shut-out ball, while his mates kept picking away at Jimmy Christian and A. Rankin Johnson until they finally put over the winning run in the ninth on three straight hits after two were out.

Lefty Thompson started on the hill for the visitors, but was so wild that Buddy Ryan had to lift him in the fourth after he had passed six men and had been in a peck of trouble.

JUST THREATEN

Sacramento threatened to score in the first, but let it go as a threat. After Kopp skied to Oliver, who played center in place of Chadbourne, McLaughlin singled to center and went to second on Siglin's hit to left. Shea hit to Warner, who threw to Slade to force Siglin at second, but the Bengal infielder dropped the ball. The bases would have been filled, but McLaughlin attempted to score on the miscue, but was out at the plate, Slade to Whitney. Davis walked, filling the sacks, but Hemingway ended the inning with a loft to Oliver.

The Bengals put over a run in their half when Schneider walked and took second on Oliver's hit to center. Whitney popped to McLaughlin, but Deal delivered a single to center that brought Schneider home.

Three walks, two errors and a single by Warner were productive of but one Vernon run in the second inning. A double play with the bases full cut short the Bengal rally.

PETE HITS HOMER

Then in the fourth, after two were down, Thompson walked Warner and was promptly lifted by Manager Ryan in favor of Peters. Schneider is supposed to be death on southpaws and merely a hospital case for right-hand flippers, so the substitution looked all right. Pete, however, upset the frijoles for the evening meal by poking one in the general direction of Main street for the circuit. That ended the Vernon scoring.

The Solons picked up their first marker in the fifth, also making a companion tally for it in the same inning. Peters opened with a base knock to center and Kopp followed with a hit to left. McLaughlin hit to Warner, who tossed to Deal, forcing Peters at third. McGinnis, who took Hemingway's place at third, to let Hem play second for Siglin, who was spiked on the ankle in the last of the fourth, scored Kopp with a hit to left. Shea followed with another hit to center and McLaughlin counted. Davis fanned and Hemingway flied to Blakesley for the third out.

Christian was touched for another run in the sixth when Gorman singled, went to second when Peters walked, and scored on McLaughlin's bingle to the middle section.

The Senators rapped Christian to the showers and evened the count in the seventh. After Shea had lofted to Oliver, Jimmy walked Davis and Hemingway brought the Solon first-sacker home with a triple down the right-field line. Johnson took Christian's place and got rid of Cochrane on an infield tap. Gorman was hit by a pitched ball, but Johnson picked him off first for the third out.

Neither side scored in the eighth, but the Senators put over the winning run in the ninth after two were out when Hemingway, Cochrane and Gorman delivered consecutive singles. Vernon got two hits after two were out in the home half of the final frame, but Peters got rid of Truck Hannah, who batted for Slade, when Kopp took his foul fly after a long run.

Gorman's great catch of Warner's drive to deep center and a couple of stops by Gordon Slade provided the fielding features. Score:

POLOISTS IN FINAL CUP CONTEST TODAY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—It was announced this afternoon by the United States Polo Association that the final game of the Monte Waterbury Cup series will be played at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at Meadowbrook, Westbury, Long Island. The contenders will be the Orange county team and the Shelburns.

The Orange county team will be composed of W. A. Harriman, captain; J. D. Nelson of the Argentine, Malcolm Stephenson and R. E. Strawbridge, Jr., Devereaux Milburn, D. K. Boesek, Jr., Harry East and Maj. L. A. Beard, make up the Shelburn team.

Philip Granville, of the Hamilton Y.M.C.A., in Buffalo, N. Y., recently broke the American record for long walks. He covered a distance of 107 miles in nineteen hours and fifty-one seconds. The previous record, which was twenty-one hours, forty-two seconds for 100 miles, was established by G. B. Gillies of New York, in 1878.

Midwest Grid Artists Swing Into Schedule

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—The Western Conference football lid pried open a week ago will be tilted to its full height tomorrow when every team in the "Big Ten" will go into action. Although Purdue and Ohio State clash at Columbus in the only Western Conference game affecting the championship race, all other elevens will take the field against outside schools.

The two feature games find Illinois clashing with Nebraska at Lincoln, and Missouri battling Chicago. The Nebraska-Illinois contest is the most interesting on tomorrow's schedule. The game will be the first 1924 start for Red Grange, rated as among the most sensational figures on the gridiron last season.

Missouri is coming to Chicago with more than 1000 rooters and the game is expected to bring out the weak points of Chicago.

Northwestern will get its first test, meeting South Dakota at Evanston, while Wisconsin, after showing a strong attack by beating North Dakota last Saturday, takes on Ames at Madison.

North Dakota, after taking a trouncing from the Badgers, faces Minnesota.

Iowa, under the guidance of Bert Ingwerson, faces a formidable opponent in the Southeastern Teachers' College of Oklahoma. Indiana plays De Pauw eleven. Michigan will meet Miami at Ann Arbor, while Notre Dame will play Lombard at South Bend.

MERCHANTS TO HAVE STRONG BALL NINE

Lorin Ury's Pasadena Merchants who are expected to put in a strong bid for the pennant in the six-club Southern California Winter League, will exhibit some of the new talent they have acquired for the season this Sunday when they tackle Jasper's colored All-Stars at Goodyear Park. Charley Deal of Vernon will pilot the club this season, and Ury is lining up an all-professional line-up.

Glendale White Sox and Milton Patrick's Catalina Cubs will get at it again, tangling at Glendale. The islanders won the initial clash last Sunday, 2 to 1. A record crowd is expected at this tussle. "Lefty" Diddier will be on the hillock for the Magic Isle folks, while Frank Kerwin is keeping his selection dark.

William Wrigley, Jr., has invested more than $3,000,000 in baseball. He owns the Chicago Cubs in the National League, and the Los Angeles Club of the Pacific Coast League.

PIONEERS TIE WITH SAMOHIS

Prep Tanbark Elevens Fail to Score in Football Tilt on Seaside Grid

Playing ragged football L. A. High and Santa Monica straggled over an hour to a 0-to-0 tie at Santa Monica yesterday. The Beachmen should have won by two touchdowns, but they failed to put punch into their attack at crucial moments and a few bad breaks stopped them. Fumbling and poor handling of the ball by both elevens was frequent. Last week, Santa Monica took a 14-to-7 beating from Hollywood, so the Romans suffer by comparison to the Foothillers.

In the first quarter, things were even, neither team uncorking anything other than straight football. Several fumbles occurred on both sides. L. A. safety men fumbled three or four punts. The half ended with Santa Monica outplaying L. A., but still unable to score. The Pioneers developed a drive toward the end of the half that carried them into the Beachmen's territory for the first time.

The third quarter was all Santa Monica, passes and long end runs gave them large gains. They carried the ball to L. A.'s one-yard line, but lost it on downs. Raggedness featured the last quarter, each team taking advantage of all kinds of breaks in blocked punts, fumbles, intercepted passes and so forth. With the exception of Middleton, the Blue and White backfield was without a ground-gainer throughout. Prendergrass, O'Brien and Butte featured on the line. Merle, all-State right tackle, was the big star for the beach outfit. The score:

Santa Monica.		L. A. High.
Amo	L.E.R.	O'Haver
Sale	L.T.R.	O'Brien

START WORK ON NEW ARENA IN PASADENA

Ground was broken yesterday for a $10,000 boxing arena in the city of Pasadena. The plans call for a building with a seating capacity of 5500 persons. Morrie Cohan of Pasadena is the promoter and "Pop" Hanlon well-known handler of boxers, will be the matchmaker.

Hanlon states that he will give the boxing fans of the Crown City bouts that will be on a par with those of Vernon, Hollywood, San Pedro and Wilmington.

SLATTERY GETS NOD OVER JACK DELANEY

SALVADORE SUPPORTED

Many Local Fans Back Phil to Take Measure of Sammy Mandell in Vernon Main Go

Phil Salvadore gets another chance to shine among the top notch lightweights of the Pacific Coast Tuesday night when he meets Sammy Mandell of Rockford, Ill., in the main event of Jack Doyle's weekly party at the Vernon Coliseum. The announcement of the match was a big hit with boxing fans of the Southland, hundreds of whom believe that Phil is the only man in Southern California ranks who has a chance to beat the flashy 135-pounder who lowered Johnny Adams's colors in the Vernon arena last week.

Salvadore, long considered one of the most spectacular boxers ever developed in the rings of Southern California, is given the best chance with Mandell by reason of his flashy glove work. Mandell's fights against battlers like Dick Hoppe, Billy Wallace, Frankie Burns and Johnny Adams have shown that the Rockford boy cannot be beaten by an aggressive, tearing-in style of fighter. In other words, experts say it will take a boy with a snaky left hand and crushing right hand push to beat Mandell, and when Phil is right he has all these requirements.

The semi-wind-up goes to Tony Fuente and Jim Goddard, the latter a big 200-pound San Francisco heavy, who is said to be a terrific hitter but not so good on boxing. Fuente, who is rapidly developing into one of the biggest cards in the Southland, will attempt to punch the northern entry into dreamland to cinch a match with Floyd Johnson later on.

Jimmy McLarnin, diminutive bantamweight of Oakland, draws another special-event racket, this time with Frankie Dolan, a tough youngster, who has made a lot of goof fights here. McLarnin made himself solid with Vernon patrons last week when he whaled Benny Diaz for four rounds.

The balance of the card has many new faces for Col. Doyle's patrons with indications of not a great deal of class, but plenty of socking ability.

Alhambra Bows to Huntington Park Gridders

Huntington Park's football squad defeated the Alhambra pigskinners, 13 to 0, in a practice game played yesterday on the Spartans' gridiron.

Kastelowicz, Spartan fullback, plunged over for the first Huntington Park touchdown early in the opening period. He also kicked goal. The final touchdown also was scored by the Spartans in the initial period, a pass from Reed to Brigben doing the trick. Goal was not kicked.

After the first period Alhambra held the Huntington Parkers fairly well in check. Both sides used numerous substitutes. Line-ups:

PASADENA TO HONOR SCIENTIST

Plan Community Reception as Tribute to Head of Technical Institute

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Oct. 3.—All of Pasadena will take an active hand in the community reception and banquet in honor of Dr. Robert Andrews Millikan, head of the California Institute of Technology and winner of the Nobel award, that is planned for the 7th inst., at the Hotel Maryland. The purpose of the affair will be to welcome back the noted scientist to Pasadena from Europe, where he has spent the last few months in officially receiving the coveted prize.

The dinner, which will be informal, is sponsored by the Pasadena Chamber of Commerce and Civic Association. Representatives from every organization will be in attendance. Capt. Paul Perigord of the institute will preside as toastmaster.

Dr. Walter S. Adams, director of the Mt. Wilson Observatory and world-renowned astronomer; Hiram W. Wadsworth, chairman of the Board of City Directors of Pasadena, and Dr. Arthur A. Noyes, director of the Gates Chemical Laboratory at the California Institute of Technology, will be the principal speakers of the evening.

The banquet hall of the Hotel Maryland will be gayly decorated for the occasion with orange and white, colors of the school. Dr. Millikan is the executive head. Henri J. van Praag and orchestra will provide the music.

The committee of local citizens making the arrangements for this complimentary affair are Franklin Thomas, S. D. Uhrich, Dr. Russell Simpson and E. H. Munson.

Refuse License for Pool Room in Porterville

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 3.—The Eagle pool hall has been closed by action of City Councilmen last night, who denied a license to T. H. Burgess, proprietor. This action was based on the result of a recent raid by officers in which six men were found playing draw poker. The case was bitterly contested.

John T. Fuller, attorney for Burgess, pointed out common practice of society women playing bridge for money, declaring gambling was done more or less over the city. Rev. J. T. Milligan made a strong plea for a "clean city."

Burgess tendered a fee for his cigar stand which was accepted.

Police Chief Reynolds declared the ordinance against minors visiting pool halls would be "strictly enforced." City Attorney Guy Knupp expressed opinion that Porterville would be prevented passing a "little Volstead Act" as contemplated by Trustees, as a city could not legally handle violations of a law of the State which involves fines of more than $500.

ARREST TRUCK DRIVERS

Officers Enforce Law Protecting Road Paving

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, Oct. 3.—As the first fruits of a campaign just launched here to check violations of a provision of the State Motor Vehicle Act designed to prevent operation of heavy trucks with defective tires to the detriment of pavement over which they travel, two drivers are slated to appear in the Police Court here before Judge George R. Holbrook the 9th inst., it was announced tonight. Of twenty-four trucks examined by Traffic Officers Frank Freeman and George Carpenter two were found to be operating with the rubber on their tires so worn that the heavy steel rims were riding on the pavement. As a result T. Klaver, 832 Ohio street, Redlands, driver for the Rex Transfer Company, and J. N. Breaux, 1127 Santa Fe avenue, Los Angeles, driving for the C. C. Davis Company, were placed under arrest. The State law provides that there must be at least one inch of rubber between the steel rims and the pavement.

TAX DUPLICATE IS PROOF OF GROWTH

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 3.—County Auditor Harry Raymer announced today that the grand total of taxes charged to Tax Collector C. R. Stibbens for 1924 is $2,955,183.73, approximately $1,500,000 larger than the figure of five years ago and $339,000 larger than the taxes levied from the 1923 assessment rolls.

A comparison of these figures shows the tremendous growth and development of Riverside county during the past five years. The above figures include municipal, county and special district taxes, and the Auditor pointed out that district taxes, representing improvement projects, have been in a large way responsible for the large increase in the tax totals.

In 1919 the tax total was $1,461,585.77, and in 1923 it mounted to $2,615,609.50. Thus, it may be seen, there has been a steady increase in the taxes and a corresponding increase in the growth and development of the county and its improvements.

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, Oct. 3.—That construction on the $1,500,000 amusement pier to be built on the site of the old Sunset Pier will be started early this fall was intimated when officers of the company moved their general headquarters from the Merritt Building, Los Angeles, to the Sunset offices.

With the completion of plans and specifications for the unique pleasure-producing devices and the successful consummation of preliminary items, work will be started at once on one of the largest amusement ventures in Southern California, officials stated this morning.

MONROVIA ADDS TO FIRE PROTECTION

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

MONROVIA, Oct. 3. — The city of Monrovia has purchased a new American La France fire engine at a cost of $12,4000. The old engine is to be overhauled by the La France company, thus giving the city two fire engines. The City Trustees and the fire department have been inspecting fire engines for the past six weeks. During the recent forest fires the La France company and a rival company brought their fire engines to Monrovia and stood by for several days when the fire was at its worst and extra fire engines were needed for protection.

ANGEL'S ADVICE NOT SO GOOD

Writers Find It Hard to Avoid Paying Their Bills

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

INGLEWOOD, Oct. 3.—Two sisters came to Inglewood to write a book. This volume, they claimed, is being dictated to them by an angel. This angel apparently dictated to them not to pay their bills and the sisters and also the angel, have decamped, leaving their bills behind them.

The supernatural friend of the literary sisters is down on the books of the Inglewood Retail Merchants' Association as bad pay, according to Secretary Newcomb Condee of that organization. The sisters have moved to Los Angeles, where, under an alias very similar to the name used here, they have sought credit. Inquiry from the Los Angeles Retail Merchants' Association has, however, put a stop to the "angel" and his friends, so far as charge accounts are concerned, as the Inglewood organization has identified them as the same who operated here.

San Diego Sets Date for Water Bond Election

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 3.—Following promptly upon its approval of Manager of Operations Fred Rhodes's, recommendations for the construction of a 150-foot concrete dam at El Capitan, the City Council this afternoon voted unanimously to call a special election on November 18, when the voters will be asked to approve a $4,500,000 bond issue for the project.

The El Capitan dam site, approved by the Council after several other sites had been considered and rejected, is in the San Diego River Gorge and construction of a dam at this point not only will conserve billions of gallons of water which go to waste in normal years, but will prevent floods in years of excessive rainfall. The cost of the dam includes construction of a pipe line to the University Heights reservoir, a filtration plant, and purchase of the dam site and reservoir site.

Plans for the dam, which will be the fifth unit in the municipal storage system, provide for eventually raising the structure an additional fifty feet.

The proposed purchase of the Cuyamaca Water System from private interests, which Rhodes recommended, was not considered by the Council.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OXNARD, Oct. 3.—Dairy Day will be observed here the 15th inst. Plans are being made by local dairymen for a big day's program. George Harlan is chairman of the general committee in charge; J. W. Snodgrass and E. H. Agee are in charge of the business session in the morning, and E. G. Laubacher and Frank McGrath are taking care of barbecue arrangements.

The dairymen will gather at the Community Center at 10:30 in the morning. Invitations have been sent out by the local Chamber of Commerce to 600 dairymen and members of the live stock association. It is expected that the attendance will be large. Three speakers of State-wide note will be here.

A trip to dairies in the Oxnard territory will be made in the afternoon by the visitors and a call has been issued here for 400 automobiles and drivers to take the visiting dairymen about.

PREPARE TO PLANT TULARE LAKE BED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, Oct. 3.—There will be large acreage seeded to grain again this year on the Tulare Lake bed despite continued drouth. Grain operators are sure that a weather change is due, the seasons of light rains being over, to be followed by bountiful rainfall this winter.

More than $400,000 worth of grain was harvested last year on the bed of the big lake. Approximately eighteen sections of land which was overflowed in the spring of last year produced the crop. Lake land is still too dry to plow, but with the first rain thousands of acres will be seeded.

WINS FAVORS FOR GROWERS

Raisin Organization Gets Concessions

Stops High Tariffs Against American Fruit

President Discusses Methods of Association

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

FRESNO, Oct. 3.—Sun-Maid has been fighting a battle for the raisin growers of the State for many months in foreign countries where tariffs threatened to hinder the increasing sales of California raisins, it was said today by President Ralph P. Merritt when shown an Associated Press dispatch from Ottawa announcing that Canada and Australia had concluded a preferential tariff agreement for the benefit of Australian dried fruits.

"A preferential tariff was ready to be promulgated by Canada last spring," Mr. Merritt said. "Sun-Maid is always watching such developments throughout the world and protest was quickly started. Government officials in Washington proved splendidly helpful and the schedule, which I believe would have put 3 cents per pound duty on California raisins, was not promulgated.

"In some of the European countries, notably Denmark and Austria, we also had some success in obtaining modifications of tariffs which were harmful to the raisin industry. We regard it as one of Sun-Maid's duties to the growers and to the State to afford such protection. Without Sun-Maid, there would be no organization of such power or having broad enough interest in the growers as a whole, to go into foreign countries and obtain better trade conditions.

"Incidentally, we don't rely entirely on diplomatic procedure to protect Sun-Maid raisins in the Canadian market. As this tariff matter keeps bobbing up, we are prosecuting in the Canadian market what we call a brand conviction campaign. I don't mean a legal procedure, but an advertising and selling campaign to convince Canadian buyers that Sun-Maid raisins are the best on earth, to familiarize them with our trade-marks and packages so that even if the duty on raisins should be increased, they would be willing to pay the differential to obtain the superior Sun-Maid goods. In short, we are building permanently for the future."

Mr. Merritt declined to indicate what steps are being taken to protect Sun-Maid against the proposed preferential, but indicated Sun-Maid's confidence that Washington officials and others would be alert to protect California interests. It was pointed out that the agreement just concluded requires Parliamentary approval. Canada has the right to put into effect by proclamation, if desired, such preferentials as the one proposed last spring without waiting for further action.

The plight of Australian dried-fruit growers has attracted much attention in world markets. Australia is now going through what the San Joaquin Valley went through two years ago and which the San Joaquin Valley conquered through the Sun-Maid organization. Large numbers of war veterans went into the dried-fruit business at the time of high prices, overproduction has resulted, and they cannot sell their product for enough to pay expenses. The Australian government recently granted subsidies to enable the growers to "hang on" until conditions were more favorable. Strong efforts have been made to obtain preference for Australian fruit in British Empire markets, but despite this disadvantage and the lower prices, Sun-Maid has steadily increased its foreign sales.

COTTON BUYERS BUSY IN KERN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 3.—Kern county cotton growers and numerous buyers crowded the office of Eugene Martin, Kern county cotton classer, today preliminary to the opening of the first regular cotton market in Bakersfield. At a committee meeting it was determined to sell cotton on sealed bids, which will give the growers the option of either rejecting or denying the bids as they may desire.

It is estimated that more than 100 bales of fine Kern county cotton were sold this afternoon at the classer's office to buyers representing southern and eastern houses.

Another estimate today was that the total amount of Kern county cotton ginned to date this year is 2450 bales.

T. F. Kelsey, prominent member of the Kern County Farm Bureau, is responsible for the inception of a cotton market in Bakersfield.

ALL SET FOR YEARLY HUNT FOR LOBSTERS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 3.—The lobster season in California and Mexican waters will open on the 15th inst., and keen competition is expected among the scores of fishing boats, which are establishing camps along the lower coast, to land the first load of this delectable shellfish on the local wharves.

Something like 100 camps, it is reported, will be established along the coast from Point of Rocks, fifteen miles south of this port, to Turtle Bay and Cedros Island. Last year San Diego distributed more than 1,000,000 pounds of shellfish to the lobster palaces of California and Eastern States.

The Mexican government this year will impose a tax of 3 cents a pound on all lobsters caught in the territorial waters of Lower California.

ESCAPES ON BICYCLE OF DEAD VICTIM

Murderer of Ontario Man Gets Away from Scene of Crime on Wheel

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, Oct. 3.—That the slayer of K. W. Park, ranchman, whose bullet riddled body was found beneath an orange tree on the N. G. Pehl ranch, Fourteenth street and San Antonio avenue, on September 19, last, hastened from the scene on his victim's bicycle was indicated today when the Upland police found the wheel half a mile away from the spot where the body was discovered. The wheel was standing beneath a tree on the E. T. Jordan ranch, Twelfth and San Antonio streets.

The murdered man, who had been engaged in irrigating on the Stewart ranch in West Twenty-fifth street, is believed to have been riding his bicycle to his home in town when waylaid near the spot where his body was found. He is thought by the police to have been overpowered, then dragged into the orchard and shot. Four bullet wounds were found in his body.

Mrs. C. Park, widow of the slain man, who is the mother of six small children, has sworn to a complaint charging Tom Guiterrez, a Mexican, with the murder.

Guiterrez, who has fled into Mexico, according to information secured by Sheriff W. A. Shay, is said to have been angered because he believed Park responsible for the deportation, some months ago, of the Mexican's sister and niece.

The police are of the opinion that the murderer, fearing detection, because of the bicycle, decided to hide it under an orange tree after getting a half-mile from the scene. The slayer also robbed his victim of a watch and a small amount of cash.

BAD CHECKS BY WHOLESALE

Long Beach Officers Find Gigantic Swindle

Accuse Man of Being Master Forger

Had Special Blanks Printed, Police Assert

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Oct. 3.—An organized campaign to flood Southern California oil-producing centers with bogus Standard Oil Company checks was declared by Detective Sergeants Fridley and Blunt to have been unearthed today with the arrest of Frank E. Fitzgerald, 33 years of age, of 1736 Second street, Long Beach, on suspicion of forgery.

More than 100 of the asserted valueless checks, out of 1000 which are said to have been printed, have already been passed on merchants in the Compton district, the detectives assert. They were for various amounts, it is charged, and totaled approximately $3000.

A warning was issued to merchants to watch for the checks, which were of serial numbers A 32051 to 33051, inclusive, the officers said. The detectives stated they have learned that others of the 1000 printed have been circulated, raising the amount obtained in the asserted fraud. They are drawn on the First National Bank of Los Angeles.

The scheme was discovered, the detective said, when the checks began to come in to the bank. Tracing the checks, the officers declared, it was found they were printed in a local establishment.

The suspect was taken before the printer today and identified, according to the detectives, as the man who ordered the checks. The printer declared, the officers said, that Fitzgerald came to the shop a few days ago and asked to look at samples of check. He is said to have obtained samples printed for the Tremayne Refining Company, Hancock Refining Company and the Long Beach Steamship Company, a defunct concern. These checks, the detectives assert, were filled out for small amounts and cashed by local merchants.

Police are looking for two men who are declared to have been associated with Fitzgerald. Detectives said the man will be formally charged today with numerous counts in connection with the asserted scheme.

FIRE AGAIN HITS NEWCOMB PASS

Flare-up in Spot Thought Cold Two Weeks

New Flames Between Mt. Wilson, Monrovia Peak

Fighters Slowly Gaining in Mt. Waterman Section

A new flare-up in the San Gabriel brush fire occurring at Newcomb's Pass on the ridge between Mt. Wilson and Monrovia Peak last night added new worries to the weary fire fighting, who have been fighting the flames on a far-flung front.

The new flare-up came about 8 o'clock last night in a sector that that has been considered "cold" for many days. It was near this point where the fighters two weeks ago headed the fire off from slopping over into the head of the Big Santa Anita Canyon and from moving on toward Mt. Wilson.

A crew of men under the direction of Assistant Federal Forester Anderson and Ranger Schoffield were rushed to the new outbreak of the fire and unless an unfavorable wind springs up, hope to head the thing off before it makes any great headway. Additional men were being recruited by the Pasadena police last night to be sent into the hills via Sierra Madre.

RAGES UNCHECKED

The fire in the Mt. Waterman section raged unchecked yesterday, but with Federal and county fire fighters slowly but surely gaining control. The fight chiefly centered on the north side of the mountain. Conditions were favorable, it was reported, and unless the wind springs up the fire will be checked within twenty-four hours. The Buckhorn Flats region was still being menaced but the danger to Cloudburst Canyon is practically over.

Thirty additional men were sent to the fire zone last night from the office of Federal Supervisor Charlton, who now has more than 200 men on the fire line. County Forester Flintham has established a second camp at the top of Mt. Waterman with Assistant County Forester Merril and his crew fighting the flames at an altitude of more than 8000 feet and in a region where the rocks, pine trees and almost inaccessible passes make the task of the fire fighters a difficult one.

NEAR CHILEO RANCH

In this section, it was reported, the ground is almost covered with thick layers of tinder-like pine needles and flare-ups are constantly being fought. Assistant County Forester Davis declared yesterday that it will require from two to three weeks to fully stamp out the fire there.

The flames yesterday were within a mile of Chileo ranch and were burning west in the direction of Pine Flats to the dividing ridge between the watershed at Alder Creek and Devil's Canyon. The forces of Assistant County Forester Turner have been united with the crews under Merril. Assistant County Forester Graves and his men yesterday were holding the line and gaining on the fire in the vicinity of Little Rock Creek. Mr. Graves reported that if conditions remain favorable the fire will be under control there within a few hours.

COUNTY HAS 500

According to Mr. Davis the county forces now number in the vicinity of 500 men. The Federal fire fighters are working under the direction of Mr. Charlton and fifteen rangers.

The Federal crews are centered chiefly in the Buckhorn Flats district, where the sweep of the flames inclines to the north. The rangers and their men are patroling a wide area throughout the fire zone. Their chief difficulty, it was pointed out, is the arduous task of bringing up the necessary supplies. This entails a trip of twenty-five miles, often over steep trails and winding paths difficult to ascend for both animals and men. Mr. Charlton has established two big supply camps and many smaller ones in the fire zone. Both Federal and county officials yesterday reported the situation as being favorable all around. The greatest danger lies in a sudden wind, it was said.

RATTLER IS MERE DETAIL TO FIRE-FIGHTER

The warning hiss of a large rattlesnake startled James A. Spears, a member of the fire-fighting crew battling the flames in the Angeles National Forest, as he toiled up the side of Mt. Waterman yesterday. Spears, confused, took a sideward step, but in the direction of the reptile. The snake was quick but Spears the quicker. Both struck at about the same time—the snake with its poisonous fangs and Spears with a spade. Nothing much happened and both struck again and missed. The round was even.

The snake, apparently heeding the old adage that "he who fights and runs away will live to fight another day," began a hasty retreat. Mr. Spears got mad and brandished his spade in full pursuit. Then came another hiss. Mr. Spears, who says he is from Crowley, La., and therefore knows all about snake hisses, avers that it was the mate of the first snake. Round two ended abruptly when the intruder was briefly removed from this value of tears via the spade route.

The lust of battle being upon him Spears hunted for the first snake—and found it. Much grief for Mr. Snake. One snake bore thirteen rattles and the other nine.

What's a rattlesnake or two to a forest-fire fighter?

"Nothing," says Mr. Spears.

MORE OF FOREST IS CLOSED TO PUBLIC

The Angeles National Forest has been closed to the public, except for resort traffic, it was disclosed yesterday. The action was taken by Federal Forest Supervisor Charlton because of the serious situation created in the forest by the fires raging there for some weeks.

Only those who can show a legitimate reason for entering the forest will be permitted to do so, it was stated. Settlers going to and from their homes, however, will need no permit and travel over the State and county roads will not be interfered with, but the travelers will not be permitted to camp along the road on government land.

Guests at the various summer camps and resorts will be permitted to enter the forest only on the understanding that they remain at their camps or on the property without leaving it.

Camp fires are prohibited under the order, as is smoking. Those desiring to smoke can do so only at improved camp grounds in the forest or at improved places of habitation. Supervisor Charlton has instructed all rangers and guards in the forest to enforce the order to the letter.

FLAMES IN PLUMAS PERIL SWAYNE HOLDINGS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—A fire on the Swayne Lumber Company holdings in the Plumas National Forest is burning along a twelve-mile front today, directly toward the Palmetto logging camp, which is threatened with destruction, according to a message to the United States Forest Service headquarters here. The fire is between Buckes Creek and Big Bar Mountain, and is being driven by a strong wind. There are 650 men on the fire lines.

The fire had burned over 10,000 acres, according to the message.

The settlement of Graniteville in the Tahoe National Forest, which narrowly escaped destruction by fire a few weeks ago, is again threatened today by a new fire. Eighty fighters have been recruited to save the settlement.

NOVELIST OFF TO STUDY MEXICO

Englishman's New Story to Give Data

[P. & A. Photo]

Somerset Maugham and Family

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Oct. 3. — Somerset Maugham, the noted English playwright and author of a number of the best sellers of modern fiction, is shown in the above photograph bidding good-by to his wife and young daughter at Waterloo station as he leaves for Mexico for the purpose of writing a novel dealing with conditions in that troubled country.

Maugham is author of the story, "Miss Thompson," upon which the play "Rain" was built; "Our Betters," "The Circle," "The Camel's Eye," and others.

He expects to remain in Mexico for some months gathering the data for the new story.

Local Laundry Man Is Elected National Officer

William L. Stevens, vice-president of the California Laundry Owners' Association, yesterday was elected one of three vice-presidents of the National Laundry Owners' Association at the organization's convention at Atlantic City, N. J., according to information received here.

Mr. Stevens is secretary-treasurer and manager of the Crown Laundry of Los Angeles and of the Crown Laundry of Redondo. He formerly was president of the Southern California Laundry Owners' Association. The laundrymen's convention in Atlantic City adopted a resolution against national and in favor of State regulation of child labor.

TIGER OF REPTILE WORLD

The turtle is the tiger of the reptile world, for it is well-nigh impossible to tame him.

One kind, the great snapping turtle, always has its jaws aggressively open, is quick as lightning in its movements, and can bite off a man's arm quite easily.

Even the common soft-shelled turtles, those that figure on the menu at city banquets, appear to recognize in man their enemy, and it is not easy to pick one up without being bitten.

Tortoises, on the other hand, are quite affable creatures, and easily tamed. Even the gigantic land tortoises of the Gallapagos Islands, of which there are specimens in many of the zoological gardens of the world soon learn to distinguish between individuals.

Double-Decked Bridge of Concrete

Over the Elorn, near Brest, a new reinforced concrete viaduct with three large spans of 590 feet six inches each recently has been started. These are the largest spans so far attempted in this type of bridge construction. The bridge consists of a double-floor bridge, having a total length of 2625 feet. The top floor will carry a roadway and the lower one a railway. Each end has two separate approaches, and these will be 426 feet six inches long each. The bridge will be supported on two piers built in the stream and two abutments on the banks of the river.

FLAXSEED PRICES TAKE WIDE SWING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DULUTH, Oct. 3.—Wide price swings featured the trade on flaxseed here today. Advances up to 3¼ cents were set in the early deals, which brought out large offerings from speculators desirous of collecting profits, which caused a maximum break of 11¼ cents. After the sharp decline the market became steadier and part of the loss was recovered. It was reported that 750,000 bushels of seed changed hands on the day. Close: October and November, off 7¾ cents to 2.35¾; December, off 9 cents to 2.30; May, 8¼ cents down to 2.39; track, 2.35¾; arrive, 2.34¾.

Minneapolis flax demand slower. No. 1 seed on spot quoted at 2.30@2.43¾; to arrive at 2.30@2.41. Receipts, 74 cars; last year, 47 cars.

PORT NOTES

The big purse seiner Labor, owned by the Van Camp Seafood Company, was reported still hard on the rocks on the south end of Anacapa Island late yesterday afternoon, where she went aground early Thursday morning. Her crew of seven were reported in no danger. The Red Stack tug Pilot has proceeded to the scene, carrying a number of oil drums and an effort was to be made at high tide last night to float the craft. The Labor is of forty-nine tons net and estimated to be worth $10,000 to $12,000.

Bert E. Haney of Portland and Meyer Lissner of Los Angeles, members of the United States Shipping Board at Washington, are expected at Los Angeles Harbor Monday for a thorough inspection of the harbor. They will be escorted over the port by W. E. Bemsberg, district manager of operations for the board.

The Red Stack tug Sea Prince, damaged to the extent of $40,000 by fire at the Associated Oil station in January, when burning oil boiled over on her from the tanker Alden Anderson, was returned to local duty yesterday, after undergoing repairs at San Francisco. Her engine and boilers had to be taken out and a new house and additional wheelhouse built, according to Capt. William McGillivray, local manager.

The Dutch steamer Aalsum arrived on her first trip to this port yesterday afternoon from Newcastle, and is discharging 3800 tons of silver sand and pig iron. James Flood and the firm heads of Meyer, Wilson & Co. were down from San Francisco to supervise handling of the cargo.

The British tanker San Dustano of the Eagle Oil Transportation Company, due to arrive this afternoon from Newcastle, is the first of eight of the Eagle tank fleet coming to load oil at the General Petroleum station. Heretofore the Eagle tankers have called at the Shell dock.

More than a score of vessels are due at the harbor tomorrow, including several flying foreign flags, such as the French steamer Indiana from Antwerp; Danzig tanker Baltic from Halifax; the Norwegian steamer Hanna Nielson from British Columbia, and the Japanese freighter Takaoka Maru, on her first trip here from New York.

A. E. Fleury, supervising quarantine inspector for the State Bureau of Plant Quarantine, visited A. P. Messenger, in charge of the local office, yesterday, on his swing around the State. He left specimens of insect pests with several County Horticultural Commissioners to aid them when acting as State quarantine guardians, and departed last night for southern border stations.

Capt. Johnnie O'Brien arrived from San Francisco on the liner H. F. Alexander yesterday to sail with the steamer Orleans for Puget Sound today. He has been four years Coast pilot for the Williams Line, which has just chartered from the Oriental Navigation Company, the Orleans, the Orinoco and the Orient, giving them seven ships in the intercoastal service. The captain is a little but dynamic sea salt, known up and down coast for his rhymes and his decorative expletives since he landed in San Francisco on the Liza from China in 1888. He had been sailing several years even then, and must have been more than sixty years at sea.

Herbert Rothschild, owner of a number of theaters in San Francisco, was a passenger yesterday on the H. F. Alexander, which brought 253 passengers from Seattle and the Bay City.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—In August 478 vessels arrived at the port of Oakland, according to figures from W. J. Masterman, city wharfinger of Oakland. The report showed that the net tonnage of the vessels arriving in August was 436,298 tons. Cargo discharged for the month amounted to 74,161 tons and cargo loaded for the same period totaled 103,188 tons. In addition, 15,935,800 feet of lumber was handled.

SEATTLE, Oct. 3.—After five months of extensive operations in Alaskan waters, during which a number of dangerous pinnacle rocks and other dangers to navigation were charted or obliterated, United States Coast and Geodetic Survey steamers Pioneer and Discoverer, arrived here today, are to be retired shortly to winter quarters.

The steamship President Jackson shifted from here today to the Todd dry docks, where the vessel is to be overhauled and repainted.

Lack of cargo space prevented the loading here of several large freight consignments on the steamship Jane Luckenbach when she sailed tonight for Gulf of Mexico ports, via San Francisco.

Withdrawn from service to Southwestern Alaska during the winter, the Pacific Steamship Company's liner Admiral Evans departed today for Portland, Or., where she is to ply in the coastwise passenger and freight traffic between that port and California points.

J. J. McGowan, general agent here for the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company, today announced the appointment of T. G. Pewgord, formerly in the passenger traffic business in Minneapolis, Chicago and San Francisco, as a member of the local staff of the company.

When the freighter Admiral Peary docked here, two land owls, picked up at sea after they dropped on the deck limp with exhaustion, were in possession of Capt. O. M. Hansen. The owls were picked up in a dense fog several score miles offshore from Point Arena. They are to be presented to Golden Gate Park when the ship reaches San Francisco. They have been christened "Port" and "Starboard."

B. P. Erckenbrack, who leaves Seattle Wednesday for London to assume the duties of director of the United States Shipping Board for Europe, was the guest of honor at a dinner given last night at the Arctic Club by the Seattle staff of the United States Shipping Board.

Damages of $5000 were awarded Margaret Sutton, 15 years of age, an Indian girl, by a jury in Federal Judge Jeremiah Neterer's court here today for injuries received when she was attacked by two negro waiters on the steamship Admiral Evans, en route from Alaska to Seattle a year ago.

After Louis Dotson and Haffel Brown, the ship's employees, were convicted of the charge and sentenced to life imprisonment in the McNeil Island penitentiary, Miss Sutton sued the Pacific Steamship Company, operators of the vessel, for $35,000. The action was brought through her guardian, Harwood Hall, superintendent of the Chemawa Indian School at Salem, Or., where the girl is enrolled.

PORTLAND (Or.) Oct. 3.—Portland domestic water commerce for the first nine months of 1924 shows a substantial gain over that of the corresponding period of 1923.

To September 1 of this year, total of 2,097,410 tons of cargo, valued at $142,348,033, moved between Portland and other domestic ports. During the same period of 1923 the movement was 1,813,937 tons, with a value of $124,590,111.

Shipments moving to Atlantic seaboard ports climbed from $13,331,236 in 1923 to $19,741,822 in 1924.

Cargo moving from Pacific Coast ports (California largely) to Portland this year totaled $46,366,319, as against $37,145,449 for the nine-month period of 1923. Portland's shipments to other Pacific Coast points climbed from $20,467,067 in 1923 to $23,515,031.

Foreign exports for the nine-month period also show a heavy increase, with 1,014,227 tons for 1924, valued at $31,354,571, as against 736,744 tons, valued at $24,476,983 for 1923.

Total entrances for 1924 to October 1 were 1083 vessels, with an aggregate tonnage of 3,007,344 tons, as against 1080 vessels with a combined tonnage of 2,979,963 in 1923.

TACOMA, Oct. 3.—The Emma Alexander arrived from California ports early this evening with considerable general freight to discharge and load. The vessel is to sail for San Francisco early tomorrow morning.

The Rotarian arrived this morning to complete loading Puget Sound cargo.

The Commercial Spirit of the Moore-McCormick Line and the Munindies of the Munson-McCormick Line are due to be loading lumber Saturday for the Atlantic Coast. The Commercial Spirit arrived early this evening and the Munindies is expected tonight or tomorrow morning.

To load for east coast ports, the Melville Dollar arrived this afternoon. The Pacific Shipper shifted this afternoon to downsound ports on her way to Europe.

ASTORIA (Or.) Oct. 3.—Reports for the past week's business at the Port of Astoria show 6197 tons loaded and 283 tons discharged. Carriers were: Wheat, 118; lumber, 18; flour, 5; salmon, 2.

The steamer Brookings is loading 300 tons of flour and feed for the east coast at the port terminals.

The steamer Iowan sailed today for British Columbia.

The steam schooner F. S. Loop sailed for California points today with a cargo of lumber.

COOS BAY (Or.) Oct. 3.—The steamer F. A. Warner, which loaded a lumber cargo here, sailed for Los Angeles this afternoon.

Arriving from Portland today, the steamer Griffdu is discharging at the Ocean dock. She will carry a number of pedigreed sheep when she leaves here for California points.

The gasoline schooner Point Reyes, which loaded here, departed for Rogue River this afternoon.

PAST MONTH IS FAVORABLE ONE

Era of Stable Property in Store for District

Business Level Compares to That of February

Economic Adjustment Carried on During Summer

Economic developments during September in the Pacific-Southwest territory have been more satisfactory than at any time during the past year, the monthly summary of conditions compiled by the research department of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank and the First Securities Company, and released today, reveals.

The summary, in general, places business on the highest level it has been on since February and indicates that the outlook for the next several months is better than at any time since the fall of 1923. It is further held that there is every reason to believe that the adjustment to a level of prosperity, exceeding that of any year prior to 1923, but upon a somewhat lower plane than that year, has been largely accomplished between March and September, a tremendous achievement and a tribute to the basic economic strength of this district.

The report continues:

"As the season progresses harvests show that the quantity of agricultural output will be definitely below normal, due to weather conditions. However, it is only in exceptional cases that quality has been noticeably reduced and it now seems certain that the total monetary return for the agricultural crops of this economic area will exceed that of 1923, and that of any year following the reduction in agricultural prices shortly after the close of the World War. On the whole, agriculturists may be expected to have higher purchasing power during the balance of the fall months than at any time since 1919 and 1920.

CITRUS ON PAR

"The citrus fruit markets have remained about on a parity with those of August. The 1924 Valencia crop is rapidly disappearing and there is promise that next year's Florida orange crop will probably offer no more serious competition than has been met this year. Lemon prices are good, with the condition of the new crop about equal to the average at this season for the past ten years. Deciduous fruit crops are largely out of the hands of producers. Prices are stiff and give indications of strengthening. The walnut crop will be about the same as last year, with prices probably in excess of previous seasons. The short grape and raisin crop is strengthening the market and removing many market problems which would have been in evidence with a normal-sized crop. Prices in this agricultural field appear to be reaching a fairly stable post-war level and the outlook is exceedingly encouraging.

"While the production of the various varieties of beans will not exceed from one-half to two-thirds that of last year the strong market insures profitable production for growers. The sugar-beet industry continues to suffer from competition with other crops, but recent action by the American Beet Sugar Company in purchasing acreage, presumably to insure beets for its Oxnard factory at all times, indicates that production which has been declining steadily for the past several years will now tend toward stabilization in the future.

"Alfalfa growers are reaping the benefits of a short-feed year and in some cases are securing one more crop than was anticipated earlier in the season when the water situation threatened more serious interference with production. While the estimates on the cotton crop have been slightly reduced 1924 promises to be the banner cotton year of the Pacific-Southwest territory, with picking slightly ahead of last year and with prices such as to insure profits to growers."

BIG CROP FORECAST

While no attempt is made in the summary to estimate the probable crop acreage or production during the coming year, satisfactory weather conditions during the winter months, coupled with the agricultural progress of the present year, is taken as an augury of large crops during 1925.

The report adds:

"The live-stock industry has shown comparatively little change during the month. The feed situation remains serious, although cattle are doing better on short-feed than had been expected. The market remains clogged with half-fat stock, and prices are very weak. It is hoped in some quarters that the co-operative marketing movement now under way in the cattle business will furnish the necessary relief to the industry.

"The weather situation continues to be a topic of general discussion. While official forecasts as to the probable water and weather situation during the winter months cannot be made upon a scientific basis, the climatic situation during September has been of a character which is accepted by many as a forerunner of a wet winter.

"The beginning stimulus of fall trade has been felt by the commercial community. Retail trade has been satisfactory in the metropolitan district and the receipt of crop money has augmented turnover in the agricultural territory. The wholesale and jobbing trade is feeling the stimulus of fall buying.

BUILDING ACTIVE

"Building activities have remained at approximately the August level, which exceeds that of any period prior to 1923. Analysis indicates that with the completion of downtown office buildings now under course of construction some excess of office accommodations in the downtown business district in Los Angeles will develop during the first half of 1925. There is continuing evidence that there is still an important need for new single family dwellings easily accessible to transportation to business districts. The real estate market, particularly on improved, comparatively close-in property, has shown some signs of strengthening during the month."

Special stress is placed on the power situation improvement and the fact that industrial production has continued on an even schedule, even though during the early summer some of the manufacturers were somewhat inconvenienced.

The analysis concludes:

"The petroleum output in the Los Angeles Basin remains practically constant, with the declining output in the older fields being about offset by the leisurely development in the Dominguez field.

INVESTMENT MARKET

"The investment market has been active with increasing prices. The banking and financial situation has reacted to the seasonal trend. Calls for funds for crop-moving purposes have been promptly met by banks of this territory, and seasonal liquidation of agricultural loans is commencing as crop returns are received by producers. The money situation is comparatively easy, although with the Pacific-Southwest territory financing its own business operations without outside assistance the turning of any considerable sums into speculative operations could very easily create a tighter money situation.

"In other words, the fall season of 1924 in the Pacific-Southwest economic zone opens with business generally upon a stable, prosperous level, and with the outlook for the fall and winter months decidedly promising.

"Seasonal factors have continued to dominate the banking situation. Present indications are that indebtedness incurred for the prosecution of production during 1924 will be generally liquidated out of this year's returns, and that, in addition, some frozen loans carried over during the agricultural adjustment period of this district will also be cleared away. The credit situation has followed the general conditions in the country and money is somewhat easier. The normal fall expansion in deposits may be anticipated in about a month."

TRUST MEETING ATTRACTS

Thirteen Los Angeles Bankers to Attend Second Annual Regional Conference at Salt Lake

Thirteen Los Angeles bankers and several from Long Beach have arranged to attend the second regional trust company conference of the Pacific Coast and Rocky Mountain States in Salt Lake City on the 7th and 8th inst. The most important question to be discussed at the meeting is whether or not small banks can enter the trust field.

The first conference took place last year in San Francisco. A. L. Lathrop, trust officer of the Union Bank and Trust Company was chairman.

A list of those who have arranged through J. Veenhuyzen, vice-president, Guaranty office of the Security Trust and Savings Bank, who is in charge of arrangements, for the trip from here to Salt Lake City by special car follows:

Healthy Strides in Business Are Noted by Dun's

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Dun's tomorrow will say:

"It is natural to look for expansion of business at this season and reports and statistical records disclose increased activity in different lines. The movement is still marked by much irregularity and results in some quarters have not met expectations, but the main trend is upward. Notwithstanding price uncertainty, demand for steel, especially from the railroads, is larger; pig-iron output rose 10 per cent in September, the textile trades are recovering gradually and dealings in hides and leathers have broadened further. These are some of the concrete evidences of revival and they are supplemented by another weekly statement of freight car loadings which shows conclusively there is a notably heavy distribution of merchandise. Bank clearings, moreover, are unusually large, with a gain this week of 11 per cent over last year's figures and a new low monthly total for this year has been reached in the number of commercial failures.

"Weekly bank clearings, $8,318,953,000."

BANKERS VIE FOR FOREIGN CLIENTS

Growing Chinese Population Brings Business

Local Shoe Factory Declares Dividend Payment

Mining Assessment; Bond Man Returns to Desk

Increasing diversity in the nationality of the population of Los Angeles is presenting opportunities to the larger banks to obtain the specialized business created by the presence of these elements. Several of the banks are conducting vigorous campaigns through their foreign departments to demonstrate to foreign business men the wide range of services they are in a position to offer.

The Bank of Italy, through its foreign department, is making a special effort to serve the Chinese population in Los Angeles and the Pacific-Southwest. From headquarters in San Francisco the bank has sent Nelson Yue, a native of Canton and a graduate of Stanford University, to this city to develop business among the Chinese. He estimated the Chinese population in Los Angeles at close to 7000, with about 1000 more in Southern California.

In Texas where the Bank of Italy is also handling business for Chinese, it is estimated that the population is approximately 1500 and in Arizona about 2200. Mexicali and the vicinity just across the international boundary has about 8000 Chinese, many of whom the bank is now serving.

The services rendered consist mainly in the sale of drafts of Hongkong currency to be forwarded to China, and in the financing of imports from the native country. Merchants here import a considerable quantity each year of Chinese rugs, furniture, curios and foodstuffs, all of which represent business for the banks. The Bank of Italy, in analyzing the extent of the Chinese business, found that in the neighborhood of Ninth and San Pedro streets alone, there are about seventy-five merchants in active business.

A further cross section of the cosmopolitan aspect of this city is presented by R. E. Dorton, assistant manager of the foreign exchange division of the Bank of Italy, who is in charge of the foreign operations here. He states that the increase in the number of foreign residents and visitors is reflected in the sale of a widely diversified list of coins and currencies to the bank and its branches. In one day recently an important branch bought $434.12 in foreign coins and currencies from customers and visitors.

The list included Mexican pesos, Canadian gold, Philippine currency, Argentine currency, Austrian currency, Belgian currency, Swiss currency, Irish currency, Samoan currency, New Zealand currency, English Silver, Mexican silver, French silver, Chilean silver, Colombian silver and Canadian currency.

DIVIDEND DECLARED

A dividend of 2 per cent on all outstanding preferred stock has been declared by the Elias-Katz shoe factories, 132-36 North Los Angeles street, according to an announcement made yesterday by W. H. Daum and Staff, who are financing an expansion program for the concern. The Elias-Katz shoe factories specialize in the manufacture of women's stylish shoes.

MANAGER RETURNS

D. T. Babcock, manager of the local branch of Blyth, Witter & Co., is back in Los Angeles, after an absence of about nine months. Last spring Mr. Babcock was forced to spend several months recuperating his health after an operation. In August he left for a six weeks' eastern trip, visiting the company's offices at San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Chicago, New York and Boston en route. His itinerary also included Canadian points and just before returning he attended the Investment Bankers' Association convention at Cleveland.

DOHENY REPORTS OIL BUSINESS EXCELLENT

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The sales department of the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company marketed 90,000,000 gallons of gasoline in the first half of 1924, Edward L. Doheny, chairman, stated on his return from the Pacific Coast. Considerable money was being spent on extensions in Mexico, he said, including a new plant to handle 25,000 barrels daily at the Tampico refinery. He said oil conditions on the Pacific Coast were excellent at the Los Angele refinery, now turning out 30,000 barrels of crude oil daily. He considered the fuel oil market in New York and California better as a whole than the market for other oil products.

Wheat Strong After Violent Gain and Drop

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Grain values advanced violently early today, with all deliveries of wheat, rye and oats at a new high for the season. May wheat sold up to 1.55⅝, rye to 1.40 and oats to 65 cents, wheat showing 2⅝, rye 3 and oats 3 cents over the finish of Thursday. However, the market was called upon to absorb immense profit-taking sales, and with a decline in the aggressive buying, a reaction as sharp as had been the advance came toward the last. The undertone remained strong to the close, even though wheat was off ⅝@1⅛c and oats ⅞@1c at the last, while rye was ⅛@⅜c higher. Corn dropped 3@3⅝c for the day, after a range of 4⅛@5⅜c.

News of individual operations counted for little throughout the day. Trade was of immense proportions at times, with millions of bushels changing hands. Fluctuations were extremely rapid and the execution of buying or selling orders at the prices shown on the blackboard almost impossible.

Violent as were the fluctuations here they were totally eclipsed by the action of the Winnipeg market, where wheat had a bulge of 5@5⅜c, October touching 1.62, with a break of over 6⅛ cents and at the close being only ⅝@⅞c lower for the day. October barley thereafter advanced 8⅝ cents, broke 11⅝ cents and finished at 94 cents, a net loss of 3 cents.

Technical positions of the markets were entirely responsible for the reaction. Foreigners were free buyers of wheat futures here and at Winnipeg early and later there was considerable selling, part of which was said to be short selling.

Export demand for wheat and rye was again active, with sales of 1,000,000 bushels of wheat, 500,000 bushels of rye and 250,000 bushels of barley, with some oats sold. However, there were some offers to resell wheat abroad, which tended to check buying to some extent and it was very noticeable that the late reaction in wheat failed to catch resting orders. Cables said Germany was holding off in buying, waiting for lower prices. December wheat here sold up to 1.49, and was 1.45⅝@1.45¾ at the last, with May 1.50@1.49¾ and July at 1.37, the latter selling at the almost unheard of figure at this season of 1.40⅛ at the top.

Corn broke badly after showing moderate strength early, the advance being entirely in sympathy with other grains. The upturn brought in heavy profit-taking, and with a lack of aggressive demand, speculative interest being centered in other grains. December dropped from 1.14½ to 1.10⅜ and was 1.10⅝ at the last, with May 1.13⅝@1.13 and July 1.13⅝@1.13¼. Country offerings to arrive were fair.

There was aggressive buying of oats by commission houses early, but profit-taking and hedging sales proved too heavy and May, which sold up to 65 cents at the opening, was down to 61⅛@61c at the close, the inside figure of the day. December finished at 56⅝@56½ and July 50⅜.

Rye was the only grain to close higher for the day, and at times the market acted congested. There is a large-sized line held here and in Winnipeg for a local operator that is bought at very low prices, and with the foreign and export buying, the surplus has been taken off the market. December sold at 1.31@1.31¼ and May at 1.35.

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

Reports of oil production in the Seal Beach district which have been current for more than a week received their first official confirmation yesterday, with the announcement by Shell company officials that the Bryant No. 1 wildcat well, is making about forty barrels of oil a day, with about 1400 barrels of water. A trap has been installed, and the oil, after separation from the water is being run into two 2500-barrel tanks, it is said. Even after separation the oil is still dirty, and will require treatment before it can be utilized, it is said.

At present the Shell is allowing the Bryant to flow without further interference, because the mechanical condition of the hole makes it unlikely that the well can be properly completed. Bottom is a 4620 feet, with four-inch pipe landed at 4600 feet. Several attempts have failed to shut off the water, and the size of the hole makes it inadvisable to try to set another string of casing.

The Shell's Bixby well in the same area, is now receiving most of the company's attention. This well is stratigraphically deeper than the Bryant, according to geologists, and the hole is in good shape for further work. Eight-inch casing was set at 4723 feet, when the bottom was at 4760 feet. No shutoff was made at 4723 feet, and the well is now being drilled ahead to explore the formations. Showings in the Bixby have been similar to the Bryant showings, and it is understood that the Shell expects to make a producer of the Bixby, provided the water can be shut off.

The area, classed by most geologists as probably productive in the Seal Beach district, is held mostly by the Shell and the Hellman interests. The latter interests have not leased their holdings to any operator, although it is understood bids have been made by most of the large companies. Henry R. Dabney, and the Seal Beach Oil Company are other operators interested in the district, both of these interests having drilled unsuccessful wells.

Get Water Shutoff

The Union Oil Company has made a successful water shutoff in its Chandler No. 1 east of Main street in the Rosecrans field, according to official reports. During the water test the well made several flows, the oil testing over 35 degrees gravity, it is said. As soon as the shutoff was approved, the well was killed, and will be drilled deeper. Casing was set at 3890 feet.

Still Flows

The Union Padleford No. 1 east of Main street in the Rosecrans field continues to flow by heads, in spite of the drillers' attempts to pull the liner, in order to complete the well properly. The well made eight flows in twelve hours, according to official reports, but showed evidences of heaving sand, which was one of the original causes of trouble. Eight-inch casing was set in this well at 3730 feet, the bottom being at 3753 feet. A water shutoff has been made in the Padleford, and if the fishing job, which already has extended over several weeks, can be successfully terminated, operating officials of the company are certain that a good producer can be brought in.

Getting Deeper

The J. B. Dabney test well in the Athens district, north of the Union Oil Company's Athens No. 1 in the Rosecrans field, was drilling ahead in hard sand at 5133 feet, it was reported by officials of the company yesterday. Showings are expected within another 100 feet, it was said.

The Dabney well is located a few hundred feet east of the Julian Austin well, which is idle at 4396 feet.

Starts Second Well

The General Petroleum Corporation is preparing to start its second well on the Vaughan lease in the Rosecrans field immediately, according to reports. The new well will be one location north of Vaughan No. 1, in the southwest corner of the lease, which was completed last Thursday.

Vaughan No. 1 was still flowing at the rate of about 1000 barrels of better than 35 degrees gravity oil yesterday, officials said.

Behr Starts Well

Charles A. Behr is rigging up to start a well in the Rosecrans field between the Bankline Oil Company's Gordon well and the Star Petroleum Company's well, according to official reports. Behr has been operating in the Huntington Beach field for some time.

Abandon Wildcat

The Olive-Ventura Oil Company has officially abandoned its wildcat well about one mile east of Olive, it was reported yesterday by officials of the company. The well was drilled to 4710 feet, where the hole caved and it was decided to abandon the project.

The Olive-Ventura Oil Company was largely financed by J. W. Jameson, the well being drilled on a lease acquired from the Eskridge and Craise Oil Company. This company holds several hundred acres in this district, and may drill another well to test its possibilities, according to officials. R. S. Eskridge, president of the company, and F. A. Craise, geologist, will decide this matter at a conference which is being held in Denver this week.

Big Petroleum Project

It was reported yesterday that a syndicate of Monrovia and Arcadia capitalists composing the Savage Oil Company has purchased 826 acres of land two miles north of El Monte for a consideration of about $1,000,000. The tract lies six miles northeast of the Montebello oil fields, and will be prospected for petroleum in the near future, reports say. Officials of the company are Harry Vosburgh and Arthur W. Savage of Monrovia, H. S. Sargent, C. T. Magee and David Ray of Arcadia, Willed Andrews of Los Angeles and W. H. Taylor of South Pasadena.

MARKET REVIEW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Culmination, for the moment, of the violent advances in grain prices, was the noteworthy incident on today's markets; but on this occasion the stock market also moved with some definiteness. Its course was downward, and a pretty long list of stocks which lately have been subject to the bidding up process, declined 2 points or more. This occurred on the basis of the largest total transactions in more than a week.

Probably most of the selling pressure came from professional groups whose plans had been blocked by the apathy of the general public, but there was some indication also of an effort to depress the market on the ground of "political uncertainty." Of this it may be observed, first, that in so far as the political situation is uncertain, it is in no respect any more so than it was when the stock market was rising in the last half of September.

But, second, absence on the stock exchange up to election day of any commotion, real or simulated over unpleasant electoral possibilities would be at least surprising. It is perhaps safe to say that the best financial judgment has already drawn its conclusions as to the Presidential result and is not disturbed about it. But there will remain until the vote is in a very large body of people who will be able to see only an "election thrown into the house." Such apprehension, especially if based on only vague knowledge of the facts, will necessarily grow as the third party managers progressively increase their claims between now and election day.

No one expected that the mercantile agencies would report any change this week from their recent uninspiring picture of general trade conditions. The week-end reviews are again colorless. That "results in some quarters have not met expectations" is now a familiar story and that such improvement as has occurred "is being accomplished despite very evident disinclination to undertake forward operations" might have been said of any week in the last three months. The statement that "a distinct recovery from the low point of last summer has been recorded" will not be disputed, but it is the slowness of the movement which seems to make impressions. These reports will perhaps, be read in the light of the monthly "index numbers" which have shown that outside of products of the farm there was practically no advance of prices last month in any group of commodities.

Merchants are rather apt to see "good trade" only when prices are rising.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Stock prices reacted sharply in today's market on what was widely described as a "political scare." Recessions in standard issues ran from 1 to 2 1-2 points with losses of 3 to 5 1-2 points in some of the high-priced specialties.

Senator Brookhart's speech attacking President Coolidge provided bear traders with an excuse for an attack on the general list. This selling was augmented by the extensive liquidation of pools and professional traders apparently prompted by a desire to lighten their commitments pending further indications of the drift of political sentiment.

Commodity markets again attracted the major interest of the speculative element. Further advances in wheat and rye were followed by extensive profit-taking sales, bringing about substantial recessions from the high prices.

There was nothing in the day's trade news to account for the selling of securities. The weekly mercantile trade reviews reported further irregularity but stated that the main trend of business was upward with the decline in September commercial failures the largest in several years.

United States Steel common fluctuated within a range of about 1 point, closing 3-4 lower at 107 7-8. American Can, American Sugar Refining, Baldwin, Cuba Cane preferred, Du Pont, Studebaker, United States Cast Iron Pipe, United States Industrial Alcohol and Utah Copper were among the many hammered down 1 to 2 1-2 points.

Despite the marked heaviness of the general list, nearly a dozen issues, most of them obscure specialties, attained new high prices for the year.

Selling pressure in the railroad group was directed chiefly against Lehigh Valley, which was forced down to 60 1-2 and then rallied to 61 1-4 off 1 3-4 on the day. Lackawanna selling ex-dividend $1.50, made up its dividend on the first sale, advanced to 140 and then fell back to 137.

S. S. Kresge broke 10 1-4 points to 425 on one sale. Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, which enjoyed a sensational advance earlier in the week, fell back 5 1-2 points. Other weak spots were General Baking, Goodyear Tire, preferred, Pierce Arrow preferred, Nash Motor and Railway Steel Spring off 3 to 5 points. Fisher Body was one of the few strong spots, gaining 3 1-2 points.

Call money held at 2 1-2 per cent all day. Time money displayed a firmer tone, and although rates held steady, offerings were in smaller volume. The commercial paper market was quiet with rates unchanged.

Foreign exchanges were firm with business quiet. Demand sterling rates held around $4.46 and French francs were quoted just above 5 1-4. A further advance in South American rates was based on the expectation of an increased foreign demand for grain, due to the high prices prevailing here.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Prices Slip Lower

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Bond prices drifted irregularly lower today in sympathy with the reaction in the stock market. Scarcity of time money offerings and waning public interest contributed to the easier tone.

Many semispeculative railroad issues which have displayed independent strength in recent sessions, yielded to profit taking today. Frisco adjustment and income 6s attracted buying orders in the early trading but were unable to hold their gains, closing the day with fractional net losses. Other rail issues which lost ground included Denver and Rio Grande refunding 5s, St. Paul convertible and refunding 4½s, Seaboard refunding 4s, International and Great Northern adjustment 6s, and Western Pacific refunding 4s, which showed average declines of about a point.

The keen investment demand for railroad obligations was reflected in the ready absorption of [illegible] Pennsylvania Railroad bonds, offered today. Books were closed on the offering a few minutes after the opening, which indicated oversubscription.

Foreign bonds held relatively firm with Swiss 5½s and Dutch East Indies 5½s of 1953 representing the chief points of strength. French bonds were depressed by the easier money situation. Prices of public utility and industrial bonds were little changed.

Following are yesterday's high, low and closing prices of bonds on the New York Stock Exchange, [illegible]

Total sales of bonds yesterday were $13,273,000, compared with $12,922,000 previous day and $9,762,000 a year ago.

NEW YORK CURB

Pipe Line Stocks Drop

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Stock prices received a sharp setback in today's curb market, net losses in the active issues ranging from 1 to 3 points.

Pipe line shares were the hardest hit in the oil group. Buckeye, Cumberland and Prairie Pipe dropped 1 to 2½ points. Producing and refining company stocks offered better resistance to pressure, Vacuum sagging 1¼, Standard Oil of Kentucky 1 and the others yielding only fractionally.

Public utilities were in free supply with some of the selling traceable to banking sources.

The feature of the industrial group was a drop of 11 points to 434 in Ford Motors of Canada, reflecting speculative disappointment over the failure of the directors to increase the annual dividend to $15. Other weak spots in this group were Gillette Safety Razor, Grand Stores and National Tea, off 2 to 3 points. Jones Radio touched a new high at 9⅛ and then fell back to 8⅝.

Following are the closing quotations on the New York Curb Market, furnished by Logan & Bryan, members of the New York Stock Exchange, 636 South Spring street:

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

News of the appearance before the grand jury of C. C. Julian, head of the Julian Petroleum Corporation, came yesterday after the close of the market and the price of the stock did not register the effect of the announcement, although both issues felt the pressure that has existed for the past few days. The preferred sold off 1 point to 13 and the common declined 5-8 to 8 7-8.

Los Angeles Investment advanced 2 cents in yesterday's market on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, selling up to 3.88 at the finish. United Oil slipped back 3-8 to 38 5-8 while U. S. Royalties was moderately active at 5 cents. Globe Petroleum reappeared on the tape after a prolonged absence and sold up to 2 cents.

A rise of 3 points to 81 by Goodyear Textile featured the dealing in the industrial shares. San Joaquin prior preferred moved up 1-4 to 97 and Los Angeles Gas preferred advanced the same distance to 89 1-4.

A gain of 3-8 of a point was registered in Edison 6s of 1944 at 102 3-8. The 6s of 1943 were unchanged at 100 1-4, while Pacific Gas 5½s of 1952 sold up 1-4 to 97 5-8. Associated Oil 6s of 1935 were quoted at 101.

DAILY MARKET LETTER OF THE NEW YORK COMMERCIAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3. — There is little excitement in dried fruits. Prunes are not attracting anything but a passing interest in this market. Offers by either the association or independent factors bring forth little response from buyers who are satisfied to sit back and watch late developments. There is enough stock available to satisfy whatever call is evident during the beginning of the heavy sale period. The coast is very firm.

Raisins are not neglected now that the opening day, or what is generally supposed will be the opening day is drawing near. There is every indication that buyers feel that the new prices will show advances and reports from the association show heavier placements in both package and bulk lines of the old crop than have been made for some time. Independents are not important factors in the market for old crop as the bulk of the carryover is in the hands of the Sunmaid. New crop offerings by outside factors have been light.

SELLER'S MARKET

Apricots and peaches show little activity in this market.

While buyers in a general way are not pressing bids on tomatoes there is little doubt but what the great majority are closely watching the market.

Corn is likewise watched with interest by those who did not cover completely. All reports from the Middle West indicate short packs there. Early buyers of major lines are concerned now about deliveries. In the South there is a firmness on the surface of the market born of diverted call and full quota bookings.

Tomatoes are firm at the source with no easier tone noted. The market is very strong, canners are not open to bids unless top prices are mentioned. The market is the seller's.

Alaska salmon continues firm. Spot offerings are not heavy and future positions left uncovered are liable to be interesting if reports from the Coast on the scarcity of reds hold true. Maine sardines show no change in the matter of movement; California ovals continue scarce and white tuna is firmly held.

FRUITS ARE FIRM

California fruits are as firm as they have been for the past month or more. There is little encouragement in late reports for the buyer who has not covered. Canners are short in some important lines and in all probability will not be able to make deliveries on 100 per cent basis. There is a noticeable scarcity of low-grade peaches. Second hands are getting a rather indifferent reception to offers here, as many buyers who did not make heavy placements have enough stock coming in on early arrivals to fill immediate and immediate future call.

The raw sugar market was quiet and disappointing. Refiners were disposed to buy had sellers been willing to take 4 1-2 cents cost and freight but there was nothing offering all day at less than 4 3-8 cents. Up to late in the afternoon no business has been uncovered.

There has been little better demand for refined sugar during the past two days and as the bulk of it went to the Federal at from 7.15 to 7.20 the latter has become well sold and has declined to confirm a number of orders which were placed at 7.40 cents. Export business was taken by second hands at 5.25 cents; refiners are still firm at 5.40. Domestic prices are still unchanged at from 7.15 to 7.50.

There was rather a heavy undertone to the futures market, but the opening was steady at 4 points advance for December and other options at 1 point advance to 1 point decline. Prices closed at a net decline of 5 to 2 points.

COFFEE ADVANCE

Another sharp advance in Brazilian exchange and in the value of the milreis helped to advance coffee prices at the call 31 to 40 points. The buying was largely on Brazilian account and the selling by local longs. The market remained active all day. The final prices showed a net gain of 40 to 70 points.

The spot market was quiet but firm.

The rapidly growing strength of the position of tea is shown in a considerable business in all grades of congous, but particularly in teas of United States government standard and slightly better grades for immediate export to Europe. As a result the local spot market is advancing quite rapidly, so that it is now practically impossible to secure any quantity of even the lowest grades under 20 cents.

LIMAS FEATURE

The domestic crop of rice has been retarded by unfavorable weather. The offerings of blue rose have been slightly in excess of demand and somewhat easier in consequence. For shipment this grade has been offering at 5 5-8 cents ex-mill and full fancy at 5 3-4 cents interior mill basis. Long grain rices are not so plentiful and firmly held.

Limas are featuring the bean market. This type is scarce, in few hands and strong at 14 1-2 cents with all indications pointing to higher prices in the near future. Small white beans are selling fairly well and at sustained prices. Red kidneys are doing much better than last week.

The tone of the butter market is much firmer than it was yesterday but there were no important price changes. Six fifty-tub lots extras went to 39 cents; three 100-tub lots ninety-score in storage seller Saturday at 35 1-2 cents.

Eggs are firm on high-grade fresh but prices show no material change. December options were weaker and were freely offered at 38 cents at which price nine cars were bought.

METAL MARKET

Copper is much stronger due for the most part to the rally in prices abroad and at the close electrolytic was quotable at from 12 7-8 cents to 13 cents a pound delivered with the market slowly approaching the upper limit of this range. London cables standard as advancing 2s 6d with spot closing at £63 and futures at £63 5s, while electrolytic spot made a gain of 5s at £66 5s and futures an increase of 10s to £66 15s.

Lead is unchanged at 8 cents New York, but stronger at 7.80 to 7.82 1-2 cents St. Louis. London spot advanced 2s 6d to £33 12s 6d while futures rose 12s 6d to £33.

Zinc is firm at 6.17½ cents St. Louis, and 85 points higher New York. In London prices were firm and unchanged at £32 17s 6d for both spot and futures.

Tin prices have reacted again, with Straits here registering a drop of ⅝ cent, while the London list fell £3. In the domestic market practically all deliveries and positions of Straits and Straits shipments closed at 48⅝ a pound. London cables the list as declining £3, with standard spot closing at £243 5s; futures, £244 10s, and Straits £248 5s. Straits in Singapore showed a gain of £5 5s at £249 5s c.i.f. London.

GAS PRICE CUT

The Standard of Kentucky announced a reduction in gasoline prices in the Southern States, which ranged from 1 to 3 cents a gallon. These cuts were made following similar reductions by other companies. In Louisville a cost reduction put the price to 17 cents a gallon. The Texas Company has advanced prices of Smackover crude of less than 26 gravity to 85 cents a barrel, the range running from 5 to 25 cents a barrel. Smackover crude of above 26 gravity is still unchanged at 95 cents. The Texas Company had previously posted a quotation of 60 cents a barrel for under 24 gravity, 70 cents for 24 to 24.9, and 80 for 25 to 25.9 gravity. Two lower gravities have been eliminated, and the new price is 85 for under 26 gravity.

Liberty bonds were under moderate pressure in trading on the stock exchange. Offerings were light but continuous. The selling suggested routine liquidation, such as the market is called on to meet every day rather than any special movement. Some switches from long to short term bonds is still doubtless going on. Belgium 7½s were active among the foreign government issues. Japanese 6½s were also relatively active.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE: Liberal receipts, estimated around 2300, including 1581 held over from yesterday, met a slow, draggy trade and less than half of the offerings had sold at a late hour. Strictly good steers and cows held about steady, while the in-between grades of both classes were unevenly lower. One good 1616-pound steer realized 9.00, while a five-car string of good 1212-pound northern steers topped at 8.85. Common and medium steers were most numerous from 6.00 to 7.13, with more desirable kinds from 7.50 to 7.75. Light Arizonas in a small way sold from 3.90 to 6.25. Good 835-pound spayed heifers topped at 6.00. Cows, excepting canners and cutters, were very slow sellers and the price spread of 3.50 to 4.50 took the bulk of fat she stock. Canners and cutters were active and ruled about steady, sizeable strings of New Mexico and Arizona canners going over from 1.60 to 2.00, with cutters fairly numerous upward to 2.60. Bulls lost around 25 cents, most bolognas going over from 3.00 to 4.00, with emaciated range bulls downward to 2.00.

CALVES: Comparatively narrow demand developed for vealers at rather uneven prices. Handpicked lots of handy weight range calves cleared for 8.00, while the bulk, mostly commons and heavies, turned from 3.25 to 5.00.

HOGS: Moderately active demand at about steady prices developed for the fairly liberal supply. The extreme top on desirable weight butchers was 11.50, while the bulk of good and choice 165 to 190-pound weights cleared from 11.25 to 11.50. Light lights averaging 140 to 160 pounds were fairly numerous from 11.00 to 11.20. Packing sows sold largely from 8.00 to 8.50, while light pigs averaging 110 pounds made 9.00.

SHEEP: None. In the general opinion of trade, strictly choice handy weight lambs are quotable upward to 13.00.

MOTOR DRIVERS PSYCHOLOGIZED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Oct. 3.—Experience has demonstrated that automobile drivers can be selected with such accuracy that the careless, the incompetent and the nervous can be eliminated. Prof. A. J. Snow, psychology department, Northwestern University, outlined today his experience in tests conducted with 2000 drivers for a Chicago taxicab company to the 3000 men and women attending the thirteenth national safety congress of the National Safety Council in this city.

"The difference between a safe and an unsafe driver lies either in his nature or his training," Prof. Snow stated. "There are two ways in which an individual may be unsafe by nature: first, because he is mentally subnormal, and second, his nervous system does not permit normal rapid reaction to outside stimulants. Or it may be a combination of the two. An individual by birth may be incapable of common good judgment; he may be an imbecile or an idiot, and also may not have the capacity to act rapidly enough in a normal situation, much less in an emergency.

DRIVERS ARE BORN

"Where a fast reaction would prevent an accident, his reaction, a second or two late, would lead to a catastrophe. Such individuals, when applying for a driver's position, we can pity, but we dare not employ them—training, advice or good intentions will not remake their natures.

"Other individuals are unsafe because of bad training. They have formed habits which are bound to lead them into difficulties. New applicants or employees, who have developed habits which make them unsafe can be broken of them by proper training. A habit can be broken only by a proper change in the nervous system of the individual."

Prof. Snow outlined his tests as follows:

"The first test is much like that employed in the Army. It is a written test designed to ascertain the applicant's powers of attention, observation, memory and ability to follow directions. He is asked to divide lines into various portions, to look at a sheet full of different objects and describe them, to recognize opposite and similar problems. The applicant does not need to be an intellectual giant to pass these tests, but he must be able to carry out simple directions, recognize objects under unusual conditions, learn simple things and have a normal memory. The moron or person of low intelligence is very quickly discovered and eliminated.

TEST OF CAUTION

"But intelligence is not the only qualification of a safe driver. A man may have a very alert mind and at the same time be habitually careless and reckless. These two failings are largely a matter of habit and training—or, rather, lack of training. To test the driver's bump of caution he is taken into a room and told to handle certain objects and to perform certain operations. The manner in which he follows directions and the time he takes to do it are carefully noted.

"But even if a man is naturally careful he may lose his head when confronted with an emergency. To determine his presence of mind he is told to operate an electric board which may give him an unexpected scare. He is cautioned beforehand to shut off the switch and step on which corresponds to the brake of an automobile if anything happens. This test is known as the 'fear-time reaction' test. The driver's quickness and steadiness under this test gives an accurate estimate of his ability to meet the emergencies of modern street traffic."

Foootball is supplanting bull fighting in the Canary Islands, and a project is under way at Ternerife to replace the bull ring that was destroyed by fire, by a stadium with grand-stand seating capacity of 15,000.

The Wrath to Come

By E. Phillips Oppenheim

"Mr. Gurlenheim from the new London Steel Company is waiting to see you, sir," she announced.

A shadow of anxiety rested for a moment on Blunn's face.

"I will see him at once," he decided. "Count Itash too, immediately he returns."

Mr. Gurlenheim was a short, rather pudgy man, with flaxen hair streaked with grey, a guttural voice, and a fussy manner. He accepted a chair, but got up again directly.

"My friend," he exclaimed, as soon as he had shaken hands, "it is a serious matter on which I have come to see you. We have received a communication signed by the Secretary of the Limitation of Armaments Conference requiring a statement of all steel sold to Japan for the period of the last two years. We are asked to prepare it at once, as it may be referred to at the next meeting of the conference."

"Nothing to worry about," Blunn declared, pushing a box of cigars across the table. "The conference have accepted the position so far as the steel supplied from Germany is concerned—faulty plates. Our people conceded—on paper—an enormous reduction in price. As regards the steel from America—well, Japan overbought. That's all she can say. There seemed a possibility of shortage in steel and she decided to cover herself. We're only limited to building, not to making provision for building."

"But what about the building, my friend?" Mr. Gurlenheim inquired anxiously. "Japan has gone a little beyond her specified limit, eh?"

"We are not fools, we and those others," Cornelius Blunn told him calmly. "What has been done in Japan it is better for you not to know. But whatever has been done has been accomplished in such a manner that it would take a year to discover anything, and before then the time will have arrived."

Mr. Gurlenheim drew a very large silk handkerchief of florid design from his pocket and mopped his forehead.

"This year will seem like ten to me," he confessed. "It is all very well for you, my friend. You will be in Germany when the storm bursts. Supposing the people should take it into their heads to wreak vengeance upon us here? They might—if they knew."

Cornelius Blunn smiled scornfully.

"If you feel like that," he said, "you'd better go to the Riviera for a few months, and leave some one else your share of the plunder here. Only you must let me know quickly. You are down for very unimportant work, nothing that exposes you to the slightest risk, but I want to be sure of even the weakest link in the chain."

"I shall stay," Gurlenheim declared. "I know what I have to do. But, supposing—supposing for one moment, Blunn, that anything went wrong. Say, for instance, that things came out at the Limitation of Armaments Conference and that America decided to join the Pact?"

"In that case there would be a postponement," was the grim acknowledgment. "The end might not come in your days or mine."

"No fear of the whole scheme leaking out with names and that sort of thing?" Gurlenheim persisted.

"There is no fear of that," Blunn assured him. "The only complete list of names and stations in this country never leaves my possession. I have been looking at it tonight. No one else ever sees it."

Mr. Gurlenheim began to feel a man again—or as much of a man as nature intended him to be. He accepted the cigar which he had previously ignored, pinched it carefully and admired its quality.

"It is a great thing to be a very rich man like you," he sighed. "Money comes fast enough over here, but not fast enough for the years. I am fifty years old and I have barely a million."

Blunn smiled.

"Before this time next year you can call it ten," he promised. "The wealth of the world is coming to us, Gurlenheim. It is coming because we're going to take it. Tonight, at dinner, drink a glass of wine to the memory of the men who drew up the Treaty of Versaillies, and who thought that war could only be made with ships and men."

"That war could only be made with ships and men!" Gurlenheim repeated, as he rose to his feet. "Good! I will drink that glass of wine. I will drink that toast."

Grant drew a little sigh of relief as, in response to his invitation the door of his room was opened and his long-expected visitor arrived. He rose at once to his feet. For a person whose enthusiasms were chiefly latent, his manner was almost exuberant.

"Colonel Hodson," he declared, "you're the one man in the States I've been longing to have a chat with ever since I landed. I'm afraid I'm responsible for bringing you back from your vacation."

The newcomer smiled slightly as he shook hands. He was a tall, fine-looking man, with strong features and a dignified carriage. His eyes wandered from Grant to Stoneham who was seated at the table writing a letter.

"This is my friend, Mr. Dan Stoneham, late editor of the New York," Grant explained. "He is with me up to the eyes in this business. Dan, come here and shake hands with Colonel Hodson, head of the—well, what do you call your department now, Hodson? Home Secret Service it used to be before the word 'Secret Service' became taboo."

"'Service A' we call it now," Hodson confided. "Nothing much in a name, anyway. And nothing much in the job lately. I'd been over in Honolulu a month when they cabled for me."

Grant pushed up an easy-chair, produced cigars, whisky and a syphon, and rang for ice.

"I was afraid they weren't going to send for you after all," he observed. "They didn't seem in any way anxious to put me in touch with you. Tell me honestly, Hodson, what do they think of me in the department?"

"They are interested," the latter acknowledged, stretching himself out and lighting a cigar. "They have a great respect for your insight on all ordinary matters, but in the present instance they are inclined to think that you have a bee in your bonnet."

"I was afraid so," Grant admitted. "I'm not surprised at it."

"They think that you've been mixing with the foreigners, and especially with the British, pretty freely, over on the other side," Hodson continued, "and that you've got a lot of un-American stuff in your blood. You know Secret Service and foreign plots and all these 'German cum Japanese' scares don't cut much ice in Washington these days. You should hear Senator Ross on the subject."

"I've heard him," Grant groaned. "I know the spirit, too, and I know perfectly well, Hodson, that if I'd been living in America for the last twenty years and hadn't been out of it except as a tourist, I should probably be feeling exactly the same way. Ross is wrong. I should have been wrong. There's a very terrible crisis looming up before us. You and I, Hodson, are going to avert the greatest calamity with which the world has ever been threatened."

"Let me warn you," Hodson said, "my instructions are to go dead slow with you. I am to do nothing which will make a laughing stock of the department or which will evoke even questions from nations with whom we are upon friendly terms."

"I quite understand your position," Grant assured him. "When you're convinced, as you will be soon, you'll be with me body and soul. Until then, I'll take you by the hand carefully."

"Let's go to work then," Hodson suggested. "Give me an outline of your suspicions and show me the loose threads that you can't lay hold of yourself."

"Right!" Grant declared. "First of all then. In Monte Carlo I came across a plot to prevent that invitation being sent to America to join the Pact of Nations. I frustrated it. Over dinner some time I'll tell you how. That doesn't matter for the moment. The information upon which I acted came partly from the Princess von Diss, who was sent from Berlin to Monte Carlo to see what I was up to there, and partly from a dancing girl, the sweetheart of Count Itash, a young man who has held various diplomatic positions in Japan and whom I should describe as Japan's arch intriguer, just as Cornelius Blunn is Germany's. The information she gave me was correct."

"Is this man Itash the sort of person who gives away his secrets to his feminine companions?" Hodson asked quietly.

"Not in the least," Grant acknowledged. "As a matter of fact, we have only just discovered the truth. He talks in his sleep. The girl unfortunately is madly in love with him and only gives him away piecemeal. A few days ago in a fury of jealousy—Itash has brought another woman out here—she told me that he was worried about Japan's contracts with the steel houses here, in addition to their importations from Germany. I spoke to Washington on the telephone. They have agreed to take the matter up. They have already applied to their own steel companies for particulars of steel supplied to Japan during the last two years.

INCOME STATUS AS RELATED TO AGE

BRITISH ECONOMIST CITES CHANGES FOR WORSE AS YEARS PASS

The British economist Rowntree in his classic study of poverty in York, Eng., found the life of the laborer was marked by "alternating periods of want and comparative plenty." In early childhood, unless his father were a skilled worker, the typical laborer, Rowntree found, would probably be in poverty. This would last until he, or some of her brothers or sisters began to earn money and so augment the father's wage.

Then would follow a period in which the worker would be earning money and living under his parents' roof. This would be his chance to save. This period of comparative prosperity might continue after marriage until he had two or three children, when poverty would again overtake him. Poverty would last perhaps for ten years, or until the first child was 14 years of age and began to earn wages. While the children were earning, and before they left home to marry, the worker would enjoy another period of prosperity—possibly, however, only to sink back again into poverty when his children had married and left him and he himself was too old to work.

On the basis of his studies Rowntree constructed a chart, which showed the worker's economic status at its lowest point at the age of 13; at 20 to 25 it was high; by the age of 37 it had fallen sharply again; from the age of 50 to 60 it was as high as from the ages of 20 to 25. Beyond 60, however, the income again fell off sharply.

Rowntree's results are now strikingly confirmed by a direct study of American conditions just completed for the United States public health service. In the families of 3884 women in twenty-four South Carolina cotton mill villages the investigators find that in the first few years of married life the family income is relatively high, for in the cotton-mill villages it is customary for both the man and wife to work.

With the coming of children, however, there is not only a reduction of earnings but an increase of expenses. The economic status of the family rapidly falls to a relatively low level and remains there for about ten or fifteen years until the children begin to work in the mills.

The investigators for the United States Public Health Service, however, found one important difference from Rowntree. They found the economic status of the cotton-mill worker to be decidedly higher between the ages of 50 and 60 even than between the ages from 20 to 25. This is largely the result of the facts that in the late middle years the heads of a considerable proportion of families are in the best paid occupations, and that in these years one or more of his married children live with the head of the family, forming a single economic group which has a large proportion of wage-earning members.

While it does not follow that the economic cycle passed through by persons of a different and higher economic status corresponds in its ups and downs with that of York workers or South Carolina cotton-mill workers, these studies do show clearly not only that such regular ups and downs occur, but that they are highly important for at least one class of the population.—[New York Sun.

BOGUS LIQUOR GOES BEGGING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—A three-masted schooner laden with 12,000 cases of synthetic Scotch, "Long Island brand," is lying off Jones Inlet on the south shore of Long Island, its cargo going begging at $5 per case, according to a story told by agents of the staff of Divisional Prohibition Chief R. Q. Merrick.

The agents say the whisky was madet on Long Island, the ship was chartered, loaded and anchored off Jones Inlet. According to the agents, bootleggers did an excellent job of counterfeiting labels and were able to dispose of some of the liquor priced at $20 to $30 per case, until the first batch was tasted. Then the price promptly dropped and has been dropping ever since.

Agents report they recently raided thirteen speak-easies and roadhouses in Nassau and Suffolk counties, and confiscated quantities of liquor. They report the rum fleet has moved from off Atlantic Highlands, and now lies off Atlantic City.

The squadron which was anchored off Montauk Point has dwindled, they report, until but a single large vessel is left. On this vessel, they estimate, are approximately 25,000 cases of genuine Pilsner beer. Near Freeport the agents have seen for the last three nights a seaplane cross the town and head out into the sound. The plane has made four trips every night.

London now claims to be a health resort, following the report of the medical officer that Falmouth, the Cornish resort famed for its climate, has an infantile mortality of 2.6 per thousand more than that of London.

CANADA SELLS OATS TO CHINA

Dominion Diet Thought to Speed up Ponies When Racing

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Oct. 3.—Canadian exporters of oats are having no difficulty in selling this commodity in any form in China. Buyers take the oats in rough for ponies, and in meal form for their own consumption. A few months ago when racing was at its height in China three ponies fed on Canadian oats took almost all the honors. This caused a superstition among the Chinese that oats were speed givers. From that day there has been an ever-increasing demand for Canadian oats and oatmeal.

OCCIDENTAL KLAN TAKES NEW NAME

Change to Inquisition Made to Distinguish it from National Order

Freshmen at Occidental College need no longer quake at the name Ku Klux Klan. The college organization which, under the name, has defended college traditions for twenty-five years will hereafter be known as the Inquisition. So that it may not be confused with another and larger order of the same name.

Frank Bradshaw, president of the Associated Students of the college, announced that this decision was reached by the executive committee of the student body at the solicitation of parents who could not be disabused of the idea that there was some mysterious connection between the college tribunal and the national Klan.

"The Occidental Ku Klux Klan cared for the finer points of freshman education long before the modern national Klan was dreamed of," said Bradshaw. "Nevertheless, we cannot afford to risk what seems a prevalent confusion in the minds of friends of the college. Our Klan has nothing whatever to do with the Klan of sheet-and-pillow-case fame. As the Inquisition, however, we will continue to make life interesting for underclassmen."

It is understood that Dr. Thomas G. Burt, dean, and Dr. Robert G. Cleland, dean of men, advised the change of name.

Youths Sighted in Desert May be Lost Artists

Deputy sheriffs seeking Humbert Haug and Leonard Borman, youthful artists, who disappeared from their Sierra Madre studio, September 15, were informed yesterday that two youths answering the description of the artists had been seen sketching and painting in the desert country between Blythe and Mecca.

The report was brought to the Sheriff's office by Fred Mercer, an insurance adjuster. He said he was on his way from Arizona to Los Angeles by automobile when he noticed the two youths. They were in a new automobile, he said.

Search for the two youths has been in progress for several days as the mother of Haug expressed fear that they may have met with an accident or that they had been waylaid by thugs.

WARDEN DENIES GARDNER OPERATION

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LEAVENWORTH (Kan.) Oct. 3. Roy Gardner, Pacific Coast bandit serving a twenty-five-year sentence at the Federal penitentiary here, is not to undergo an operation to relieve brain pressure, it was said this morning by Warden W. I. Biddle, so far as he is informed. Reports here that Gardner was to undergo such an operation are credited to Mrs. Gardner, his wife, in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Gardner was in Leavenworth ten days ago on her way from Los Angeles to Washington and visited her husband at the prison. While here she said she was going to Washington to appeal to Atty.-Gen. Stone to order such an operation. Mrs. Gardner had made frequent appeals to Atty.-Gen. Daugherty to order the operation. Following Gardner's arrival at the prison he made application for an operation to re-

VOTE TODAY ON LUDLOW'S FATE

Meline Will Cast Deciding Ballot at Noon

Harbor Commissioner Asks Time to Reflect

New Board War Seen Likely Whatever the Decision

Harbor Commissioner Meline at noon today will announce the fate of J. W. Ludlow, former harbor engineer, who yesterday at an open meeting of the Board of Harbor Commissioners, answered the charges placed against him by Commissioner Allen which resulted in his discharge by the board on July 18, last.

The vote of Commissioner Meline will decide the former engineer's plea for reinstatement, as it is known that Commissioner Allen, who brought the charges, will vote against reinstatement, while President Colden, over whose protest Ludlow was discharged, will vote for favorable action.

ASKS FOR TIME

Commissioner Meline announced his intentions of waiting a few hours before casting his vote on the matter at the close of what proved to be one more chapter of internal strife among harbor officials. He stated following the meeting that he wished to go into conference with President Colden and Commissioner Allen at 10 o'clock this morning and that he would be ready to cast his vote after the meeting. He stated that he believed his announcement would be ready at noon. He gave no indication of how he will vote today.

The Ludlow hearing yesterday, no matter how Meline votes today, adds another troubled incident to the already muddy harbor mess which may again divide the Board of Harbor Commissioners into warring camps and prevent that body from carrying out future plans for the proper development of the harbor.

KIBELE APPEARS

Yesterday many faces flitted through the office in the Byrne Building, where the official meetings of the Board of Harbor Commissioners are held, that have been the center of past eruptions in the board. Former Commissioner Richards appeared and addressed the board. Former Commissioner Kibele, who was the center of much of the strife and trouble on the last harbor board, also appeared and held the floor for some time denouncing Ludlow. It was one of Kibele's last official acts to vote with Commissioner Allen to discharge Ludlow.

Emil Cykler, head of the Pan-Pacific Construction Company, who figured in the recent grand jury probe of the harbor mess and who was a friend of Edgar Mckee, discharged president of the board, also was among those present but did not address the board during the hearing. He left the building after the hearing with Commissioners Allen and Meline. Capt. Lewis Hansen, who during the recent investigation of the actions of Edgar McKee testified tnat the former president forced him to present McKee with a $100 suit of clothing, also was there and addressed the board in behalf of Ludlow. Others also were present but had nothing to say.

NEW CHARGES

Actual hearing of the charges against Ludlow was not begun yesterday until some time after the meeting was called to order by President Colden. It was after bids for various construction work at the harbor had been opened and read that President Colden announced that the Ludlow matter was next in order.

Commissioner Allen then asked Secretary Starr to read a great mass of letters which he had gathered regarding Ludolw. The letters addressed to the board were from numerous business houses located in the harbor district and the downtown section of the city. Most of them denounced Ludlow, but a number of them simply urged the harbor board to appoint a well-known engineer to fill the vacant position. In all, twenty-two letters were read. After the letters had been filed Commissioner Allen stated to the board that he had not sought the letters but that they had been sent to him by persons interested.

After the reading of the letters Secretary Starr was asked to read

Tot That May Heal Tuckers' Breach With Boy's Father

Baby Violet Tucker's First Portrait

The 5-months-old baby and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burton S. Tucker, whose so-called 17-51 wedding last year caused angry words and court action by Tucker's father, are shown above in photographs taken this week.

MRS. BOYLE MOVED OUT OF HOSPITAL

Woman, Who Fails to End Life, Says She is Second Wife of Author

Reported to be considerably improved, but still ill enough to need attention, Elsie Thomas Boyle, who declares she is the second wife of Jack Boyle, author of the "Boston Blackie" magazine stories, and who twice tried to take her life Thursday night, was removed from the General Hospital by friends yesterday afternoon

The suicide attempts came on the night of the same day that Violet Charlotte Boyle, first wife of Boyle and who claims that she was never finally divorced from him, filed suit in the local courts here for separate maintenance, naming Elsie Thomas as an impostor to the claim of Boyle's wife.

Locking herself in a gas-filled room at 675 Franklin avenue, Elsie Thomas Boyle was found unconscious by Hollywood police officers and taken to the Receiving Hospital. Partially revived, she is said to have declared that a quarrel with Boyle over the affection he showered on two pet bears was responsible for the suicide attempt.

In her suit for separate maintenance, Violet Charlotte Boyle declared that she had filed suit for divorce in Colorado in August, 1921; that the court had granted her first papers on the grounds of extreme cruelty and awarded her $150 a month alimony, but that the final decree had never been granted. A sum of $5000 was also paid her when the final decree was granted, she averred, and asked the local court to award her $2350 back alimony.

Boyle is reported to have told the police that the woman who attempted to take her life is really his wife. He declared that ill health prompted her action. Mrs. Boyle the second, a former Ziegfeld Follies dancer, said she married the author in Greenwich, Ct., on July 12, 1922. She is 32 years of age.

TRUCK OF EGGS STOLEN

A new and profitable kind of piracy appeared here yesterday. Modern disciples of Capt Kidd, with a fondness for hen fruit, stole a truck loaded with forty-four cases of eggs from R. A. Puffer & Co., 1560 Industrial street. The truck was found later without the eggs, the value of which at current quotations is $712. Detective Lieutenants Carr and Whaples are investigating.

FAMILY REUNION HERE SOON

Child of April-November Wedding, Father Hopes, Will Draw His Angry Parent to California

Baby Violet Tucker may turn out to be a tie that again will bind Burton S. Tucker to his parents back home in New Jersey. Last year when Tucker, at 17 years of age, was married to his wealthy widowed grand aunt, about three times his age, his father was so angry that court action against the two resulted. Tucker and his wife came to Southern California and out in Flintridge, where the two have a $60,000 home, they are happy with Baby Violet, now 5 months of age.

"This is our home for all time," young Tucker said proudly. "We are going to stay in California. There is a greater hospitality in California than in any place in the world."

Then he added significantly:

"There is only one thing needed to complete our happiness. When my people come out to California to live where they can see Baby Violet, we will be happy, because there will be left no ill-feeling."

When Tucker was married to the wealthy widow, his parents were startled. So was a large portion of the newspaper-reading public. He was said to be 17 and she 51. It was too much for Joseph Tucker, the boy's father, staid old New Englander, the postmaster of his New Jersey village. He caused the two to be indicted for violating the New Jersey marriage law. The indictment still is pending in the court. Meanwhile Baby Violet came—and the three are supremely happy after more than a year of marriage, they assert.

Mr. and Mrs. Tucker bought the beautiful Earl Barker home, exclusive of furnishings, for $56,000, it was reported, and are said to have spent $40,000 for the building and furnishing of a room, where the little one coos, gurgles and smiles just like any ordinary baby instead of one whose parents union set the country to talking.

"This is a big place to look after," commented young Tucker, "almost too big for us. Maybe some day there'll be more of us—my father—maybe!"

Otherwise the slim, handsome youth and his adoring mate seem supremely happy. Their home overlooks the Flintridge golf course to the Hollywood Mountains and in it live Mr. and Mrs. Tucker; Baby Violet; Mrs. Tucker's 8-year-old daughter, Peggy, who was born of a former wedlock; Constance Storey, 11-year-old cousin of Peggy, and the servants—gardener, cook, nursemaid and house maid.

The Tuckers are completely refurnishing their new home, which is regarded by some as one of the most artistically planned and constructed homes in Southern California. It has ten rooms, including a Spanish dining-room, a French room, a Queen Anne room and the Chinese room, the last of which Baby Violet has all for her own.

The Chinese room is reached through a short hallway, the walls, ceiling and door of which are paneled with Chinese lacquer and decorated with hand carving. The door opening into the room is richly lacquered and carved and is overhung on the inner side by an elaborate arch in Chinese design.

The walls and ceiling of the room are brocaded with a specially made Chinese brocade, reputed to have cost $75 a yard, and are heavily splashed with gold leaf. At each side of the room is a big mirror which slides back through the operation of an electric motor, revealing a shrine for a Chinese god. The furniture is all imported from China and is rich in carving. One piece, a four-foot cabinet of drawers, is carved from a single piece of wood. Draperies, brocade and bed coverlet are reputed to be copyrighted as to design.

LIFE OF JUDGE THREATENED

Ex-Convict Held as Suspected Maniac; Menace to District Attorney and Others Reported

Accused of threatening the lives of Superior Judge Willis, Dist.-Atty. Keyes, Attorney Frank Dominguez and others who he charged "railroaded" him to prison on a murder charge in 1911, George W. Ranck, 67-year-old ex-convict, was arrested late yesterday on an insanity complaint and was lodged in the psychopathic ward of the General Hospital.

Ranck was taken into custody by Deputy Sheriffs C. A. Patton and Luker. The complaint was signed by James F. Smith, investigator of the District Attorney's office.

The complaint against Ranck and his arrest followed threats said to have been make against Judge Willis and the others which came to a climax Thursday night when Ranck is declared to have offered John Dymond, former investigator for the District Attorney's office, $500 if Dymond would persuade Dist.-Atty. Keyes to go a block away from his home one night next week. Dymond was sent to talk with Ranck by George Pross, local manager of the Burns Detective Agency, to whom Ranck is declared to have bared his enmity against the court officials and attorney.

Ranck, who was convicted on November 18, 1911, of a charge of second-degree murder in connection with the slaying of C. L. Wilbur in a hotel on East Fifth street, and sentenced to ten years in San Quentin, returned here about a year ago, according to the authorities. Shortly thereafter he appeared before the county grand jury and asked for an investigation of the circumstances under which he was convicted, asserting that he had been "railroaded." The grand jury declined to take action.

Recently he appeared again and asked the present grand jury for an investigation, which request was again denied.

Shortly thereafter he appeared at the office of Dist.-Atty. Keyes and talked with Keyes and Asst. Dist.-Atty. Fricke, repeating his charges that he had been the victim of injustice.

Following this Ranck interviewed Pross and told him of his desire to see Dymond. This conference was held in a room of a hotel at 532 East Fifth street, a short distance from the scene of the murder in 1911.

The complaint against Ranck charges that he "had a delusion that he had been unjustly convicted of a crime for which he served a sentence in San Quentin. He accused the court of 'railroading' him to prison and threatened extreme violence against Judge Willis, Dist.-Atty. Keyes, his own attorney, and the court officials and

Husband Sues Wife's Kin for Her Departure

Charging three of his wife's relatives with inducing his wife to leave him, John H. Brown of Long Beach yesterday brought suit for $50,000 damages against Vernis, Floyd and Lena Turton.

Brown said he and his wife and baby were living happily together at 369½ Obispo street in the Beach City when the defendants, Vernas and Floyd Turton, acting for themselves and as agents for Lena Turton, enticed his wife to take her baby and go to a separate residence. The separation, according to the complaint, occurred September 19, last.

PASADENA PETITIONS FOR MAYOR

Manager Rule Does Not Represent All Parts of City, Opponents Declare

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Oct. 3.—A campaign by opponents of the present city manager and director form of government to reinstate the Mayor and Council form was under way today with the circulation of more than fifty petitions requesting the change.

Charges that the present form of municipal government does not provide proper representation of the northern and eastern sections of the city are made by Jesse M. Davis, chairman of the committee heading the campaign. They contend that the Mayor and Council form is better and that present unrest demands a change.

The petitions urge the adoption of an amendment providing for a Mayor at $5000 a year salary and seven Councilmen at $2400 a year each. The petitioners will seek to obtain the signatures of 15 per cent of the voting strength at the last gubernatorial election.

If the petition gets the required signatures, it will be presented to the city directors. The directors in turn will submit it to the State Legislature, which will authorize the placing of the proposition on the ballot at the primary election in March, 1925, as an amendment to the city charter.

It is proposed that the officials shall be elected in April, 1925, and take office on the first Monday in May.

Under the proposed plan, the Mayor will hold office four years. Members of the Council shall decide by lot which three shall hold office two years and which four shall hold office four years. The Mayor is to be elected at large. One Councilman will be elected from each of seven districts. The Mayor will be required to give all his time to city business.

STREET PLANS PUT ON BALLOT

Council Votes Unanimously on Two Propositions

First is Part of $100,000,000 Improvement Program

Second Proposes Issuing of $5,000,000 in Bonds

The City Council yesterday, by unanimous vote, formally ordered placed on the November 4 general election ballot two municipal propositions to start under way the $100,000,000 major traffic street improvement plan.

The first proposition, to be designated "A" on the ballot, is a "straw" vote and will read as follows:

"Shall the city of Los Angeles adopt as the basis of a comprehensive city-wide plan for its future street development and for the relief of vehicular and pedestrian traffic the major traffic street plan for Los Angeles prepared by Messrs. Bartholomew, Olmsted and Cheney and submitted to the City Council of the city of Los Angeles by the Major Highways Committee of the Traffic Commission of the city and county of Los Angeles and now on file with the City Clerk of said city, subject to such alterations as to detail of said plan and such additions thereto as from time to time may be adopted by the City Council of the city of Los Angeles?"

SECOND PLANS FUND

The second proposition, to be designated "B," is a $5,000,000 bond issue to create a fund from which the city will contribute toward the $30,000,000 expense for the twelve or more street openings and widenings together with elimination of "jogs" in through arteries, and will read on the ballot as follows:

"Shall the city of Los Angeles incur a bonded debt in the sum of five million ($5,000,000) dollars, for the purpose of acquiring and constructing a certain municipal improvement, to wit: The establishing, laying out, opening, widening, extending, straightening, constructing, improving and altering of streets, highways, boulevards and public ways, and the establishing, modifying and changing the grade thereof; the construction of the necessary pavements, curbs, sidewalks, culverts, bridges, tunnels, viaducts and other structures, also including the acquisition of any lands or rights of way and other property necessary for such purposes?"

PLAN COMMENDED

The major traffic street plan was declared by the Councilmen to be the greatest street improvement plan ever prepared and embarked upon for the orderly development of streets by any American city, and on motion of Councilman Wheeler, the Council extended a vote of thanks to the Traffic Commission, its major traffic street plan committee and other citizens supporting the work for their service to Los Angeles in securing the services of the experts and for preparing the plan. President Paul G. Hoffman thanked the Council for its cooperation in the work and for carrying it forward by ordering the two propositions placed on the November 4 election ballot.

The twelve through street openings and widenings and the other smaller improvements recommended by the Traffic Commission as a $30,000,000 start toward carrying through the entire program are subject to change, modification and additions, Charles F. Stern of the Major Street Program Committee declared to the Council yesterday. He said:

MRS. HANLEY'S RECORD HIT

Woman Charging Attack to Steen is Accused by Defense Witness of Improper Conduct

An attack on the reputation of Mrs. Helen Hanley was made by defense attorneys yesterday in the case of Robert D. Steen, charged with attacking Mrs. Hanley. The testimony of Earl Murch, a floor worker, was that Mrs. Hanley had been indiscreet in her relations with men.

The case took this turn immediately after the State rested at 4:20 p.m. Murch followed Walter Dodge, a fellow workman, on the stand. Dodge admitted knowing Mrs. Hanley since 1920 but denied he had ever had improper relations with her.

Murch said he and Mrs. Hanley became acquainted in 1920 and that he and Dodge had visited her on several occasions and that he (Murch) had improper relations with her. On one occasion, Murch said, they had drinks and put Mrs. Hanley to bed. Murch said he suggested that he and Dodge match dollars to see who would stay. Murch will be cross-examined by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Ostrom Monday.

The State completed its case with the testimony of several police officers who were called to Steen's residence three days after the asserted attack on June 29, last. They said they were called by Steen following an altercation with Cal Hanley, husband of the complaining witness. Mrs. Hanley, they testified, was nervous and her neck was discolored as though she had been choked.

On cross-examination, Mrs. Hanley admitted she knew Dodge, Murch and another man named Hap Hannon but denied she had intimate relations with any of them.

Hanley followed his wife on the stand. He told how she arrived at home at 4 a.m. on the morning of the asserted attack and of the events leading up to Steen's arrest.

Mrs. Alice Lee Walker, asserted intimate of Steen, was the last State's witness. Through her the State sought to show that Steen was not at home on the night of the asserted attack. She testified she retired about 10 p.m. that evening and did not know what time it was when Steen came home.

NEW OFFICERS OF CLUB ARE GIVEN RECEPTION

The committee on permanent organization gave a reception last night at the Biltmore to the newly elected officers and board of directors of the Southern California Athletic and Country Club. Officers and members of the board of directors stated the aims and policies of the club and several addresses were made by members who pledged the complete co-operation of the club membership. Stereopticon views of the club properties and recreational activities were shown during the evening.

It was decided to rush the building of the new clubhouse at Wilshire and Carondelet to completion. The Elsinore clubhouse will be formally opened in thirty days.

SNOW QUEEN'S ENTRY THRILLS

Lipschultz Leads Her Train of Entertainers

Stars From Harry Carroll Show Shed Luster

Talk-of-the-Town Comedy and Songs on KHJ

BY CLAIRE FORBES CRANE

Just when everyone was despairing of the unbroken warm spell, the majestic Snow Queen and her train of entertainers swooped down upon Radioland and swept it from end to end with breezes that at once cooled the brow and warmed the soul. Those who remember her last visit to Radioland recognize the title as belonging to the Globe Ice Cream Company, a name which has become synonymous not only with factors of comfort to the epicure, but with a character of music that finds response in a great variety of tastes.

Not content with its previous triumphs the Globe Ice Cream Company brought to KHJ last night an ensemble of performers headed by a personality new to the followers of Radio, but posing figure in the musical world—by name George Lipschultz, by reputation one of the finest American violinists.

TONE AND BOWING FINE

His program last night consisted of works which inhabit the borderland between the orthodox and lighter classics. Seated in the critic's seat at a recital given by Mr. Lipschultz, I would find myself torn between wonder at the amplitude of his tone and undisguised admiration for the felicity of his bowing. Complete in theory, superb in execution, deep in color and broad in interpretation, Mr. Lipschultz makes his instrument a medium of expression to which the most calloused and jaded listener must bring tribute. The sonority of his harmonics is no less amazing than the intonation of his double stopping. His engagement at Loew's Theater has created considerable stir among the large audiences who daily are conquered by this artist and many are the wishes that Mr. Lipschultz will add another jewel to the city's coronet by remaining here. Vaudeville makes no pretense at competition with the concert stage, but in Mr. Lipschultz it can lay claim to an artist who has sacrificed to his talents muse, none of the finesse nor artistry with which his work is ever invested. The auspicious debut of this virtuoso offers much promise for the future relative to broadcasters giving their auditors the highest type of music.

OLD FAVORITES BACK

The other members of the Globe Ice Cream Company program were Uncle Remus, the Orpheus Four, Hatch Graham and Anton Chris. All these names have become bywords to the followers of KHJ and to give description of their respective talents or add praise for their efforts would be a repetition of the encomiums which these gentlemen have received in the past and which they have unquestionably earned. Uncle Remus contributed his patter which though usually extemporaneous, is never without a goodly share of humor. The Orpheus Four upheld their portion of the program in their usual manner. You may be sure that Hatch Graham was compelled to sing "The Ladies" and, in fact, several requests were made to repeat it in the same evening. Anton Chris and his Hawaiian guitar are a combination that takes you from the material things and leaves you delightfully suspended.

Prof. Walter Sylvester Hertzog opened the children's program by delivering his daily lecture on American history. Too much importance cannot be attached to the good that has been wrought by Prof. Hertzog.

CHILDREN GIVE PROMISE

Richard Headrick gave the lads and lassies a surprise with an especially arranged program. Gertrude Cappiino, child soprano and pupil of Gilda Marchetti, in the few numbers she rendered, evidenced a bright future. Florence McNally, 9-year-old reader, pupil of Marshall Stedman, has in a remarkably short space of time become one of the popular members of our family of child entertainers. Her diction and poise portend a great actress in later years.

Some of musical comedy's leading lights shed their luster at KHJ yesterday noon, coloring the studio with humor and song that one only hears in long-run, successful stage attractions. Many of the stars of Harry Carroll's "Pickings" from the Orange Grove Theater, gave excerpts from various numbers of the musical revue which is "packing them in" at the new Eighth and Grand-avenue showshop.

MORRISSEY APPEARS

Will Morrissey, who staged the show and is its brightest star, made the special announcements for each member of the company appearing on the air, and also gave his inimitable "Give 'Til It Hurts" monologue.

Midgie Miller, star comedienne of the revue, who formerly twinkled in the Winter Garden shows and was the star of "The Gingham Girl," which toured the country last year, gave several of her songs, including the famous "Chop Sticks," which is making such a striking success at the Orange Grove Theater.

Eddie Lambert, the big comedian of the company, whose piano number all "By Himself," is one of the bright comedy spots of the show, was on hand at the microphone.

Song excerpts by other members of the company were given for the inhabitants of Radioland.

THREE SCORE, BUT SPRY

Wife Charges Mate Pursued Jazz Life and Other Women

Charles E. Lampman was spry for his 65 years, according to the divorce suit filed yesterday by Ella M. H. Lampman. Lampman stayed away from home nights and pursued the jazz life with other women, she said. Also, she declared, he took advantage of her deafness to confide to others right in her presence, that he had "made the mistake of his life when he married her." They were married December 12, 1921.

Hollywood districts have not yet been determined upon. The detailed cost of the East Fourth-street and the East Washington-street project are not included. This work will shortly be completed, as well as that in reference to Hollywood, at which time an addenda to the list of recommendations will be forwarded.

"Further than this, it is entirely possible that the program committee, to meet the circumstances which might arise, might desire to make some slight alterations in these recommendations.

"Specifically, expert appraisers might determine that property benefits would so overbalance damages on certain of the recommended projects that it would not be equitable for the city to participate in the cost.

"In this connection, there are certain very worthy major projects now under contemplation, which, if carried forward, will result in the increasing of adjoining property values from 100 to 1000 per cent. and obviously, in the case of such a project, city participation is neither needed nor desirable."

WILSHIRE BOULEVARD REFERENDUM ON BALLOT

The City Council yesterday ordered placed on the November 4 ballot a referendum on the ordinance adopted by the City Council months ago placing Wilshire Boulevard from Westlake Park to Western avenue in Zone "C," thus opening both sides of the street for the location of business buildings. The boulevard is now zoned "B," being restricted under this zoning to single family residences, flats and apartment-houses.

After the Council had adopted the zoning change, as requested by property owners representing a majority of the frontage on Wilshire, objectors filed a referendum petition, which was declared sufficient to place the ordinance before the people for decision and meanwhile block the taking effect of the measure until the desire of the voters had been registered at the polls. Those favorable to the "C" zoning attacked the legality of the referendum in the courts, but were defeated. City Attorney Stephens supported the position in the courts of those who maintained that the ordinance should be referred to the people and this view of the law was sustained by the Superior Court.

The proposition on the ballot, which will be designated "C," will read as follows:

"Shall ordinance No. 48132 (new series) placing property fronting on Wilshire Boulevard, between Park View and Western avenues, in zone "C," as described in Ordinance No. 42666 (new series) thereby permitting the use of said property for certain business purposes, be adopted?"

The Wilshire zoning referendum makes a total of three city proposition on the November 4 ballot. Proposition "A" will be the "straw" vote on the Major Street Plan and Proposition: "B" will be the $5,000,000 bond issue to open and widen a number of streets as a start on the $100,000,000 street plan improvements. Yesterday was the last day for placing propositions on the November 4 ballot.

ARCHITECTURAL CLUB BACKS PROPOSITIONS

Los Angeles' $5,000,000 bond issue and the proposition to adopt the major traffic street plan prepared by the Traffic Commission, which go on the ballot November 4, were unanimously indorsed last night by the Architectural Club of Los Angeles at a meeting at the University Club. Charles H. Cheney, one of the board of three engineers who prepared the major street plan, explained the general scheme adopted, and the necessity for the immediate improvement under this bond issue.

Jess E. Stanton, president of the Architectural Club, today pledged the full strength of the club to put these measures over in November. He said that traffic conditions here have become intolerable and that it is only by following such a comprehensive and well-thought-up major traffic street plan that any real solution of Los Angeles' problem can be had. He pledged the support of every member of his club, and of the architectural profession and building material men in general, and said they would be out 100 per cent strong to vote on election day.

CHURCH TO HOLD JUBILEE

First Baptist Observes Golden Anniversary Sunday; Costly House of Worship Planned

Organized in 1874 in the old Courthouse in the Bullard Block, with eight members, the First Baptist Church, with a present membership of 1923, tomorrow will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of its founding with Golden Jubilee services in the morning and evening. A feature of the meetings will be the presence of Mrs. Anna E. Rose of Los Angeles and Mrs. Eugenie Cooper of Alhambra, the only two living members of the original congregation.

Every Baptist Church in Los Angeles established prior to 1906, including Temple Baptist, which depleted the roll of the First Baptist Church by 1000 members, was an offshoot of the "Mother Church." The first permanent home of the First Baptist Church was erected at Broadway and Sixth streets in 1884, at a cost of $26,000, including lot and building. In 1897 this lot and building were sold for $45,000, which amount, with an additional $5000 for furnishings, was used to build and equip the temple long occupied at 727 South Flower street.

The recent sale of the Flower-street property enabled the congregation to purchase a lot at West Sixth street and Benton Way, upon which a temporary structure has been erected and upon which an edifice to cost approximately $750,000 will be built.

Dr. James A. Francis, eleventh pastor of the church, who succeeded Dr. Cassius M. Carter in 1914, has been influential in adding greatly to the church membership and his pastorate has been marked by the complete reversal of ratio of current expenses to benevolences. In 1914 the church devoted $15,000 to current expenses and $5000 to benevolent work. The budget of the current year calls for $34,755 for current expenses and $45,000 for benevolent purposes.

Continuing his series of sermons on the theme, "A Personal God," Dr. J. THE EXPOSURE

Women are having their hair bobbed now so as to show their ears. After all, there is nothing inherently terrifying about a girl's ear. It is even possible to become quite accustomed to it.

MAKES THE WORLD GO CRAZY

The specialist who says that love is a form of insanity may be leading up to the employment of alienists in divorce cases. But Bill Shakespeare said it long before the alienist had been invented

LOOKING BACKWARD

The skeleton of a rhinoceros 3,000,000 years old has been discovered in Wyoming. Why the discoverer is so sure of the age is not made known. Possibly the animal carried a nose ring and a birth tag.

AWAITING THE RETURNS

Chairman Shaver of the Democratic National Committee says that at this time no candidate has enough votes to assure election. Possibly he is right. There are no votes now. However, the Democratic chairman may speak for his candidate in conceding that there are not enough votes to elect. Chairman Butler, in the Republican camp, doesn't feel a bit that way.

DEMOCRATIC HINDSIGHT

William J. Bryan says that the Democrats are the only progressives. They have always been progressive—from the rear. Investigation of American history will demonstrate that, from its earliest organization, the Republican party has been the party of progress and the Democratic party has uniformly dropped into line on great moral and economic reforms within the next decade following the nation's indorsement of Republican foresight and courage.

FOR WIDER ROADS

Connecticut highway commissioners are insisting that no roads be hereafter laid out unless there can be provision for a full 100 feet in width. The immensity of modern traffic problems may be heavily blamed upon the narrow streets. If our forefathers could have set their vision beyond the wheelbarrow stage the frightful congestion that is found in the big cities would not be so impressive. Trying to run a million cars down a sixty-foot street is a hair-raising problem.

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE

So far as Los Angeles is concerned marriage is still ahead of divorce at the ratio of better than five to one. According to the returns from Sacramento, there were 16,987 marriages in Los Angeles county last year to 3010 divorce cases. This constitutes nearly one-third of the business of the State in both lines. Last year in Mono county there was neither a marriage nor a divorce. There aren't a whole lot of girls in Mono county, anyhow, and when they do have a wedding it is quite an event. In Los Angeles county they will run nearly fifty a day. Neither a marriage nor a divorce makes much of a stir here unless Charlie Chaplin or somebody like that is mixed up in it—and even then the excitement is manufactured.

MONEY FOR SCHOOLS

According to charts prepared by the American Educational Review, the average citizen spends less than 2 per cent of his income for schools. Other taxes take nearly 5 per cent and he loses 8 per cent through crime. Actual living costs take 25 per cent; luxuries 22 per cent and investments 11 per cent. The citizen wastes 14 per cent and spends an equal amount in legitimate miscellaneous items. Of course, the point intended to be made is that the money spent for schools is small by comparison with the income and also small for the importance it bears to the future of the nation. However, the 2 per cent amounts to a very large sum and it is much more proportionately than is garnered for educational purposes in any other country. We are doing fairly well by the rising generation and it is hoped that it will amply justify our attention and expenditures.

IN DAYS OF OLD

Footprints of a dinosaur have been found in a Utah coal mine. Possibly when the glacial period came on the massive beast stepped into the coal mine to get its feet warm. The tracks it left are about the size of a wheelbarrow and the geologist who reconstructs the creature from the impress of its toenails declares that it was twenty-two feet high and forty-seven feet from the point of its sniffer to the tip of its tail. It could lean its breastbone against the Mormon Temple and eat its lunch from the third-story window. Some of the dinosaurs were vegetarians, but this ponderous specimen could either take meat or leave it alone. At Christmas time, however, it did expect a mess of sturgeon or a couple of stuffed dodos. It is a mighty good thing that these dinosaurs are not wandering over our fair land today. If one should suddenly come upon a flock of dinosaurs trailing through a swamp he would be scared back to preprohibition days.

"DELIVERING THE LABOR VOTE"

Of the many false claims and exaggerated statements made by Senator La Follette and his managers in connection with his attempt to throw the Presidential election into the House of Representatives, one of the most preposterous is the assertion that La Follette has "the solid backing" of labor.

No accurate estimate, of course, can be made as to what proportion of the total vote for President in November will be represented by a so-called labor vote, but developments throughout the nation plainly indicate that labor, both organized and unorganized, is, to say the least, as divided on the Presidential contest as any other group of citizens.

The La Follette radicals, who make great fuss over the fact that a majority of one of the United States Supreme Court can commit that body to a formal decision and who are now crying for sympathy because the California Supreme Court, by a majority of one, refused to permit La Follette to override the election laws of this State, have carefully avoided mention of the fact that the action of the executive committee of the American Federation of Labor indorsing La Follette's candidacy was determined by one vote.

In this instance the deciding vote was cast by Samuel Gompers when the ten members of the federation executive committee were divided, five to five, on the question

The five opposed to committing organized labor to the La Follette movement were: Green of the miners, Rickert of the garment workers, Valentine of the iron moulders, Duffy of the carpenters and joiners, and Duncan of the granite workers. Those favoring La Follette's third party were: Morrison of the typographical workers, Woll of the photo engravers, Ryan of the railroad carmen, Fisher of the barbers, and Tobin of the teamsters.

Gompers was the "one man" to decide in that instance, but it does not logically follow that in casting his own vote for La Follette and thus committing the executive committee to the action it took he likewise cast the votes of the millions of workers whom the ten executive committeemen are supposed to represent.

In fact, the contrary seems to be the case.

Richard J. Powers of Chicago, first president of the American Federation of Labor and the predecessor of Gompers, is vigorously advocating the election of Coolidge. Powers says that "labor leaders who attempt to sell politicians the idea that they are able to deliver or influence to any extent the vote of organized labor are merely kidding themselves."

W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, active Coolidge supporter, has led his organization in refusing a La Follette indorsement. Charles J. Mahoney and C. H. Kelley, influential officials of the trainmen's organization, have not only repudiated La Follette, but have taken the stump for Coolidge. John L. Lewis, vice-president of the Federation of Labor, has indorsed Coolidge and accepted a place on the Republican National Advisory Committee. President Hutcheson, representing 315,000 organized carpenters, has indorsed the Republican ticket. T. V. O'Connor, former president of the organized longshoremen, and the present officers of the organization, have come out for Coolidge.

W. L. McMenimen, former national officer in the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and now one of the California representatives of the United States Railway Labor Board, is actively supporting Coolidge and Dawes.

Commenting on the La Follette attempt to pose as the chief friend of labor and the sole beneficiary of labor, McMenimen recently said in San Francisco:

"No nominee for President by the two great parties at any time ever had the fine labor record possessed by Calvin Coolidge. The claim that Senator La Follette has ever been a better friend to labor than the President is utter nonsense. The impression sought to be given out here in California that union labor is a solid phalanx behind the Wisconsin man is entirely erroneous."

Possibly the 5,000,000 men and women who were desperately seeking work when the Republican administration began to function and who are now gainfully employed may have something to contribute to the "labor vote." Also it is a logical supposition that the thoughtful citizen may discover other reasons than are given here for doubting that any individual or committee of individuals can "deliver" the labor vote.

One of the most cogent reasons is found in the fact that never in the history of this nation or of the world has the wage-earner received higher compensation for his labor or enjoyed a higher standard of living. This condition has been created during the last three and a half years by the Republican administration and represents a condition exactly the opposite of that which existed in this country when the Democrats surrendered the affairs of government.

FIRE-PREVENTION WEEK

October 5 to 11 has been designated by the National Board of Fire Underwriters as "Prevention Week." This should apply weekly instead of but one week in the year. Daily would even be better.

The people of the United States seem to require a specific period set apart during which to concentrate on the practice of a desirable thing in the hope that it will become a habit.

The general public would encounter many surprises if it would study a tabulation statement prepared by the national board showing the number and causes of fire in the United States, all of which, with possibly one exception, are preventable or could be greatly minimized. For instance, an average of 359 dwelling houses a day are destroyed in this country, mainly due to defective chimneys and flues. An average of ninety-six farm buildings are destroyed every day of the year, lightning being the most frequent cause.

Last year the fire loss in the United States was $508,000,000 and the number of fatalities and injuries approximated 30,000. Nevertheless, for the first time in several years, the rate of increase in number and loss diminished slightly and this fact encourages the underwriters to feel that even a week's intensive study of fire-prevention methods may result in a better record for the coming year. California has many fires, resulting frequently from carelessness; and it would seem that we of California should profit by past experience.

ILLITERACY

Literacy has spread slowly, but India and China alone contain half a billion illiterates. Russia has a hundred million. In Africa another hundred million and in Latin America fifty million.

The total of illiterates in these lands is approximately nine hundred million, to which must be added the considerable illiterate minorities of the United States and Europe.

These statistics bring to light a rather interesting phase of school and collegiate life here in the United States.

That only one out of every 100 boys entering the graded schools goes through college is the rather startling statement made by the United States Bureau of Education. The bureau states the situation in a nutshell as follows:

One hundred boys in the fifth grade dwindle to Eighty-three in the sixth. They shrink to Seventy-one in the seventh. This leaves but—

Sixty-three to complete the grammar school or eighth grade.

Economic conditions are such that only—

Thirty-four start the first year in high school—

Twenty-four finish the year as sophomores—

Eighteen qualify as juniors—

Thirteen secure a diploma—

Seven of these enter college—

Five return and finish the second year—

Three are able to qualify for the junior year—

One out of the original hundred is graduated from college.

This showing is far from a satisfactory one for a supposedly educated and enlightened nation.

Recently some teachers taking a normal-school examination gave the following answers to their questionnaire:

Oberammergau—A great German politician.
Teapot Dome—An old Egyptian tomb.
Herrin—A title used in Germany.
Pinchot—A race horse.
Frances E. Willard—American pugilist.
Obregon—A province in Germany.
De Valera—A bandit in Mexico.
Lloyd George—King of England.
Helen Keller—A great airplane flyer.
John Wanamaker—A watchmaker.
Tariff—A city in France.
Leonard Wood—An aviator.
Steinmetz—A certain kind of piano.

Many other answers were given along these lines. Funny? Yes, possibly, if it did not have a serious side to it. These questions were not given to fifth-grade scholars, but to prospective teachers.

SEX-MURDER SCOURGE

The alarming list of murders ever continues to grow and grow, longer and more confounding, the circumstances surrounding them more detestable and inexplicable. That the vast majority of them has its origin in the sex complex is sufficient to perplex all the forces of good ever set to defeat it and to make the dire result incomprehensible from every line of reasoning. One cannot but wonder what must have been the moral attitude of those persons who were responsible for rearing the debauched principals in these disgusting and regrettable tragedies years before their lives had developed into the tragic stage.

However lowly the birth, however uninspiring the environment, the results of right living and Christian example in early life will almost inevitably tide men and women over the shoals of destructive passion in their later years. The seeking of high places in the synagogue by persons who have not had the benefit of ennobling example or who have despised its tenets will in no whit change the decree that like begets like, unless there be a transformation of the soul.

The fatal virus of illicit attachment knows no social lines, and murders, high and low in the scale of life, follow closely one upon another. The place to attack the scourge of moral leprosy is in the home, teaching clean living along with honesty, truthfulness and sobriety.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

Study the Classics

Here is a worth-while announcement, really greater in significance than it appears on the surface. More students are taking Latin in the United States schools and colleges than all other foreign languages combined. To the rank materialist it means nothing, but to the man who realizes the value of stored-up culture and knowledge and the grandeur of the treasures which are unlocked through acquaintance with the tongue of Latium it means that America is admitting new values to its national life. Happy is the man who has such resources within himself. He faces old age and lonely hours quietly and serenely, knowing that nothing can rob him of contemplation and enjoyment of the classic. Or as Lucretius of old put it: "But nothing is sweeter and nobler than to occupy the high and peaceful temples of the wise, well fortified by learning, whence you can look down upon others and see them wandering hither and thither and seeking the path of life, straying in all directions.

While Albion Deliberates

Riding on Mecca with 10,000 Arabs in flowing white garments, armed with 10,000 excellent, long-barreled rifles, is Sheik Iba Saoud, Shah of Nejd. His Excellency comes to the Holy City of Islam to tell King Hussein of the Hedjahs that he will not abide by the latter's claim of being the successor of the Prophet himself and Caliph of the Mohammedan religion. Sheik Saoud says he himself is the shadow of God upon earth and he is prepared to back his assertion with the rifles of his 10,000 faithful. Now King Hussein was a very acceptable candidate for the supreme religious office of Islam in so far as the British are concerned. Hussein is their friend and does as he is told. Moreover, he gets an annual stipend from the British Parliament for this very purpose. Through him, as religious head, the English hope to influence the 200,000,000 Mohammedan subjects they have in India. They selected Hussein when the Sultan of Turkey fled after the liberal republic of Kemal Pasha was proclaimed in Constantinople. But now comes the denouement. Sheik Saoud is also a war darling of England. He also gets a little royalty to keep the peace on the deserts of Sinai and Arabia. While the British Colonial Office deliberates on the perplexing question Saoud rides on Mecca.

RIPPLING RHYMES

CAR IMPROVEMENTS

I go forth to beg and borrow coin to buy a modern wain, but I'm only buying sorrow and nine kinds of convex pain, for they'll spring a car tomorrow that will make mine look insane. Engineers and great inventors would improve the choo machine; every passing day there enters some new marvel on the scene, and the world's attention centers on the latest bus, I ween. Only plutes with piled-up millions can keep up and pay the freight; autos tooled by plain civilians look as badly out of date as the palfreys and the pillions, on the which our forbears sate. My large bus was thought a wonder just a few brief weeks ago, as it split the breeze asunder, as it swaggered to and fro, and I felt as big as thunder when I made the blamed thing go. And my neighbors used to view it with some envy in their gaze; "If we owned that car, beshrew it," would remark those jealous jays, "with what honest pride we'd choo it up and down the crowded ways!" Still it's new and still it glitters, it is still a sight to see, but the talk I hear embitters every hour and kills my glee; "It's a has-been," say the critters who but lately envied me. For the later cars have splendors which to mine are quite unknown; they have richly inlaid fenders, they have horns of dulcet tone and the sight of them engenders in my breast much grief and groan.

The battle of Germantown, Pa., was fought in the year 1777 and resulted in a technical victory for the British, though the fight was very inspiring to the American cause. Washington, with 12,000 men, attacked a British army of 16,000 under Gen. Howe. After a ding-dong conflict that lasted all day Washington ordered a retreat and the British were too exhausted to follow. The battle was important, as it compelled the British commander to hold the defensive at Philadelphia and made it impossible for him to send aid to Gen. Burgoyne.

A bitter post-election contest was waged over the counting of the votes in Louisiana, South Carolina and Florida.

LETTERS TO The Times

Lest We Forget

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have discovered since coming to live in California that many are misinformed as to the real character of Senator Robert La Follette. I ask permission to relate a little incident that took place during those anxious days of the World War that may prove illuminating to others at this critical time in our country's history.

When our gallant Minnesota boys had just left for France and no one would conjecture what the end might be there was called a nonpartisan convention in St. Paul, at which Senator La Follette spoke. In rules of civilized warfare the idea is to fight fair. Striking a man when he is down is not permissible, but Senator La Follette ignored this rule of fair play at this convention and gave our soldiers a stab in the back. The city of St. Paul was aroused and in order to counteract the evil of the Senator's speech sent an urgent message to Theodore Roosevelt to come and make a reply.

I went over to the auditorium and witnessed one of the most spontaneous, enthusiastic, patriotic meetings I have ever been privileged to attend. When Roosevelt appeared men stood on seats and chairs, waving their hats and hurrahing, women waved their handkerchiefs and we all joined in giving him a wonderful welcome. Finally the crowd subsided and paid respectful attention to his speech. Thus did St. Paul answer Senator La Follette!

Had our soldiers "followed La Follette" during the World War what would our condition be today? So I am asking the mothers of our soldiers and every patriotic man and woman to rise to the defense of our country in this critical hour and defeat for all time such a man as Senator Robert La Follette, who, had it not been for the courtesy of our returned soldiers, would now be a man without a country.

MRS. HARRIET UPTON REID.

Intimidation

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] An editorial in the Examiner last Monday severely criticises four fearless justices of our Supreme Court, insinuates, if not directly charges, them with being favorable to "big interests," being unfair, unjust, un-American, insinuates malice, Kaiserism, violation of the law and follows with a statement that "the revolution has already occurred, it was proclaimed . . . from the bench." All these things for what? Because the decision does not meet with the approval of the editor, who possibly forgets that the decision was rendered by these able justices in strict accordance with the law as laid down and adopted by the people of the State of California and not made nor laid down by these said four justices.

Does the editor of the Examiner desire to have weak-kneed men on the bench who are afraid to render a decision according to the law just to please some of the public? Would the editor criticise in the same language the justices of the United States Supreme Court and of our local District Courts because they enforce the Eighteenth Amendment, which is so disliked by many of our citizens? WEARS FLOWER

"Then the Federal agents began sending letters to our stockholders telling them why they should be dissatisfied, and I brought a suit for damages based on one of these letters which Mr. Madeira had written at the instigation of Mr. [illegible] and Mr. Narcop. I am sure this action is the result. We did not want to give up the corporation books, for it will raise the question with the conduct of the company, but we did not fight it; we do not think it right to [illegible] the syndicate books."

The oil promoter appeared in the Federal Court as debonair as ever. He wore a red carnation in his buttonhole and a bright yellow tie, which stood out boldly on the background of a dark blue suit. He was so hoarse, due, he explained, to his speaking engagements before his multitudinous stockholders, that he could not speak above a whisper.

The books ordered turned over to Federal authorities will fill several trucks, Julian said.

The Julian oil interests some months ago had a somewhat similar [illegible] in the State courts over the possession of the company books and at length obtained possession of the books. The Julian [illegible] against the Federal [illegible] begun in the State Courts, have been transferred to the Federal courts, where it is now pending.

This is the first Federal action against Julian or his corporation. [illegible] of the oil cases that have been conducted by Mr. Cahill are under the Federal law providing against using the mails in schemes to defraud. All deliberations before the Federal grand jury are secret and, until indictments are returned their nature is not known. Any comprehensive investigation of the Julian books would take many weeks, it is believed.

JULIAN "NOT DEFYING"

After spending all afternoon in the Federal Building, Julian and other officers of the corporation returned to the company's offices and there Julian issued an informal statement in which he said he had no intention of defying the Federal authorities, but only sought to protect his rights, as advised by his attorneys.

"I am ready to co-operate with the Federal government in every reasonable way. I do not feel, and my attorneys advise me that my position is correct, that the government should seek to embarrass the Julian Petroleum Corporation while the investigation is in progress. To take all our books away from the office would work unnecessary hardship not only on the officials and employees of the company, but on the stockholders as well.

"My attorneys will seek tomorrow morning to arrive at some understanding with the court that will place the books in the custody of the court, if that is necessary, but will leave them in the office where we can use them in the conduct of our business and take away such books as are needed," Julian declared.

SEES OIL TRUST PLOT

According to Julian and J. H. [illegible], vice-president of the Julian Petroleum Corporation, it will take [illegible] trucks to remove the books to the Federal Building.

"I have been investigated so many times and by so many persons and departments that I am used to it and do not mind this latest excursion," Julian added. "While I was before the grand jury no questions were asked of me and I am still in the dark, as seems to be every one else, on what it is all about.

"However, it looks like retaliation to me. Don't forget I brought [illegible] action against the men who are now forcing this latest investigation against me."

He also charged that the move against him is the result of an oil trust fight against the Julian Petroleum Corporation.

The decision to drop the investigation, Lucas said, was based on statements obtained from Fair[illegible] Dillon and Basil D. Miller, two of the young men named by Smith. he is believed to be a menace at large." The complaint was signed by Superior Judge Archbald.

Recalling the case, Dist.-Atty. Keyes declared there was a certain amount of mystery connected with it, because of the inability of the investigators to determine the motive. According to Keyes, Ranck rushed out of the hotel in which the slain man was found, crying he had been hit on the head. Ranck pleaded self-defense, declaring he had been assaulted by the other.

Ranck will be arraigned before the Lunacy Commission Monday.

the charges against Ludlow and then it developed that, instead of the three charges upon which Ludlow had been discharged without hearing by Commissioners Allen and Kibele, the complaint lodged against the former engineer by Commissioner Allen covered three pages and contained eleven separate charges covering years of work and touching on almost every important piece of development work in the harbor.

LUDLOW EXPLAINS

The first three charges which were filed with the board at the time of the Ludlow discharge last July covered the wrecking of a city barge at Cabrillo Beach. Commissioner Allen at that time charged Ludlow with having ordered the barge outside the breakwater without authority, with having failed to notify the board of the accident, and with having disobeyed orders by not turning the barge over to another department of the harbor when ordered to do so.

Commissioner Allen commented on the charges as they were read and then from the back of the crowded room Ludlow came forward to answer them.

One by one the former engineer explained his version of the various things charged by Commissioner Allen. He explained why he had done the things that Commissioner Allen in his additional charges stated were cause for not reinstating him. Attacked by a running line of questions put to him by Commissioner Allen while he was attempting to explain his position, Ludlow was often forced to stop in his explanations and wait for the Commissioner to get through. Commissioner Meline asked the former engineer a few pointed questions and there let the matter rest.

DEBATE BITTER

Following Ludlow's explanations the hearing developed into an open debate with those favoring Ludlow having much the best of it by force of numbers, if nothing else. Former Commissioner Kibele came forward at Allen's request and opened a bitter attack on Ludlow. John F. Booth, who announced that he was the president of the Longshoremen's Union, then took the floor and denounced everybody, making his attack general on all civil engineers. He ended his address, however, with stating that Ludlow was fired and had better stay that way.

Clarence Matson of the Chamber of Commerce; Col. George Sydney Binckley of the American Society of Civil Engineers; H. C. Ferry of the American Association of Civil Engineers; Richard Lacy of the Chamber of Commerce; Maj. Charles T. Leeds of the Greater Harbor Committee of Two Hundred, and Capt. Lewis Hansen took the floor for Ludlow.

Capt. Hansen, who was one of the last to speak, declared that if he had a son who had acted in the manner in which Commissioner Allen had acted in the Ludlow matter he would throw him across his knee and spank him. After this outburst the captain sat down and glared at Commissioner Allen, who seemed about ready to spring from his official seat at the harbor board table.

Following the public debate President Colden explained to all present that he had attempted to give everyone interested in the matter a hearing and that he trusted that the affair would end today with the reinstatement of Ludlow. Then the meeting was adjourned.

MAYOR IS EXPECTED TO VETO ZONE SHIFT

STRONG OPPOSITION VOICED TO AMUSEMENT PARK ON MISSION ROAD

Mayor Cryer is expected to send to the City Council today a message vetoing the ordinance adopted by the Council changing the zoning regulations at Manitou avenue and Mission Road opposite Lincoln Park so as to permit the location there of a $2,500,000 amusement park, sponsored by Fred Miller and associates. Strong protests against the location of the park on the proposed site had been filed with the Mayor and the Council by the Board of Education and other adjacent property owners. The Lincoln High School and the Gates-street school are within a few hundred feet of the proposed park.

The votes of six Councilmen are required to adopt the ordinance over the Mayor's veto. Councilman Allan was absent when the ordinance was adopted, and he said yesterday that he would vote to sustain the Mayor's veto. This makes a total of three known votes to sustain the Mayor—Councilmen Allan, Criswell and Sanborn. If one other Councilman should join these three, the Mayor's veto would be sustained.

Herbert Bridgeman, known to police as one of the "tape bandits," was convicted on a charge of robbery in Judge Hardy's department of Superior Court and will be sentenced Monday. The jury deliberated but ten minutes before returning the verdict.

Carlos Madrid and Jess Martinze, asserted accomplices of Bridgeman, will go on trial on the same charges in a short time. The three are accused of having held up and robbed more than twenty-five oil stations in and about the city in a short time. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Works prosecuted the case against Bridgeman.

DOCTOR IN DRUG CASE WILL BE TRIED AGAIN

The jury failed to agree in the case of Dr. George E. Malsbary, physician, who had been on trial before Federal Judge McCormick on a charge of violating the Harrision Narcotic Act. The case will be set for retrial next month. The police made the raid on the physician's offices in the Pacific Mutual Building.

RIGHT TO OPEN GRAVE GRANTED

Mother Wins Long Fight to Move Son's Body

Believes Stranger Interred in Place of Her Boy

Judge Rules Removal Will be to Woman's Benefit

Mrs. Pauline Korsch yesterday won the right to remove the body of her infant son, Leo Korsch, from the Mount Zion Cemetery when Judge Frederick C. Valentine granted a writ of mandate directing the Jewish Reburial Association and others to permit Mrs. Korsch to open the grave.

The decision marked the end of a long court contest, concerning the disposition of the body, instituted several months ago by Mrs. Korsch on the ground she believed the body of another had been buried under the name of her son. This petition was dismissed by the court on the ground that Mrs. Korsch's theory was not substantiated, and she then filed a petition asking for the removal.

Mrs. Korsch declared she had obtained a permit for the removal of the body to the Evergreen Cemetery, but that the defendants had refused to recognize this authority.

The defendants answered the son was born into the Jewish faith and that prior to his death both he and his mother had been the subjects of Jewish charity. The son was declared to have died at a time when Korsch was confined to the State Hospital at Norwalk as an incompetent, and the burial was said to have been conducted by the Federation of Jewish Charities in accordance with the Jewish faith. The removal of the body was opposed on the ground that Evergreen Cemetery was reserved for the interment of those belonging to the Christian faith.

Judge Valentine held, however, that it would be to the mother's benefit to have the removal of the body carried out according to her wishes. He granted a ten-day stay of execution at the request of the defendants.

The Elks are furnishing two rooms, and the General Petroleum Oil Company is giving us a benefit on the 17th inst. to supply dining-room furniture," declared Miss Shontz, president of the club. "Our new clubhouse will accommodate about twenty-two girls. These girls are being inspired and trained to fit into the better paying positions, and in that way make room for other young girls."

Officers of the club are planning a house warming just prior to Thanksgiving Day, at which time they hope to have the new clubhouse completely furnished.

PORT HAS BEST ANCHORAGE

Battleship Taking Supplies from Naval Transport in Roadstead, Graphic Proof of Placid Harbor

Graphic evidence of the placid anchorage afforded by Los Angeles' outer harbor was presented yesterday by the sight of the super-dreadnaught New Mexico, flagship of the battleship divisions, with the naval transport Arctic moored alongside while discharging supplies into the storerooms of the battleship.

Los Angeles is the only port on the Pacific, said naval officers, where a vessel may be moored alongside a battleship in the roadstead without damage to one or both from seas and swells.

The Arctic came in from northern ports yesterday with approximately $600,000 worth of food supplies for the 12,000 officers and men of the battle fleet units in port here. The U.S.S. Sirius is due next week from the east coast with a similar load of provisions and stores.

It was announced on the U.S.S. California, fleet flagship yesterday that the U.S.S. Shenandoah will fly over the battleship divisions here before daylight on her first visit to the local port, some time during the next fortnight. Atmospheric effect on the helium of the giant bag offer more favorable conditions for ascension at night, and she will therefore leave the North Island Air Station for Camp Lewis, Wash., at 2 a.m. The Shenandoah will circle the fleet here shortly after 3 a.m., while the searchlights of the dreadnaughts are played upon her.

The only other naval craft visiting the local base yesterday was the destroyer Litchfield, stopping in for two hours while en route to her base at San Diego after its annual overhaul at the Puget Sound Navy Yard.

The petition was filed for her by her mother and guardian, Mrs. Faye Williams, formerly Mrs. Sankey. Sankey was an oil operator of Los Angeles and Fort Worth, Tex. He died November 30, 1921, at Fort Worth.

By his will $25,000 each was bequeathed to his widow, a sister, a brother and his mother, and the balance was left in trust to a daughter, Eleanor Ruth Sankey of Detroit. Little Jacqueline's petition was based on various asserted irregularities in the probate of the will. WAR ROMANCE FINE

"BARBARA FRIETCHIE" CHARMS AT CALIFORNIA

By Grace Kingsley

It seems that Barbara Frietchie wasn't an old, gray-haired lady, after all, but a beautiful young girl. Anyhow, that's what the stage play and the picture say.

The picture, admirably made by Thomas H. Ince, is on view at the California, where it opened to a brilliant audience last night, with many picture stars present. Lambert Hillyer directed, and he and Agnes Christine Johnston made the film adaptation.

It seemed to be the aim of the picture people to wring every drop of drama possible from every situation. Hero and heroine suffer in every way they could be made to suffer before the happy finale, even to our being caused to think (unless we were very movie wise, which we are) that the hero was dead. We knew very well that even if his heart wasn't beating he would hop up just before the final curtain. And so he did.

The story deals with the Civil War, and a really impressive reflection one gains from it is the terribleness of brothers of a nation fighting one another. This impression is merely incidental, but is perhaps all the more forceful for that reason. This comment may seem like a bromide, but sometimes, we must confess, it takes a motion picture to drive home a sentiment that we thought we had entertained all our lives until we see it exemplified in some film.

The incident of Barbara spreading Old Glory to the breeze is ingeniously used here, even if they did have to kill the hero temporarily to do it! When Barbara, who is a southern girl, in love with a northern soldier, finds her lover apparently dead, she exclaims: "The flag he loved shall honor him!" and, as Stonewall Jackson is passing the house with his army, she flings the flag out from the upper portion of her home.

The production, continuity, tempo and cutting of the picture are satin smooth, as most Ince productions are. And hardly anyone but will get a vast deal of entertainment from it, even though there is nothing original in idea or theme. The acting is very good, indeed.

Florence Vidor with her cameo beauty and her fine sincerity is a lovely Barbara, and ideally suited to the role. She looked so pretty in those period costumes that I'm afraid all the flappers will be wanting to go back to those styles when they see her.

Edmund Lowe is a dashing soldier and lover, and I'm sure the handholders in the audience are going to get a lot of enjoyment out of the love scenes between him and Florence. As a romantic hero, Lowe cannot be beaten.

Charles Delaney is charming and convincing in the role of the southern boy, brother of the heroine; Gertrude Short is a born little comedienne, and I think it's a shame if somebody doesn't find a starring vehicle for her; Joe Bennett gave a peculiarly vivid and convincing portrayal of the difficult role of Barbara's unhappy suitor, crazed with love, sustaining with nice balance a part that might easily have been made unreal, overplayed and absurd, and Emmett King was good as the slightly bombastic southern man.

Carli Elinor's musical score is excellent, as usual.

HARRY CAREY WILL HAVE "SOFT SHOES"

Hunt Stromberg and Harry Carey have had a little surprise up their sleeves for several months and they are about to spring it in the form of "Soft Shoes," the final Harry Carey production of the present Stromberg series.

"Soft Shoes" is to be totally different from any picture in which the Western star has ever appeared. Although opening as a typical Carey action drama in the West, the majority of the picture is straight comedy laid in San Francisco's underworld. Carey has long held the desire to shine as a comedian and as "Soft Shoes" is an original story of his own, he will be given the very opportunity he has been seeking.

Another highly interesting feature of "Soft Shoes" will be the appearance of Lillian Rich as Carey's leading woman. Miss Rich proved her talents as a comedienne in "Never Say Die" with Douglas MacLean, but in "Soft Shoes" she will have an opportunity for real characterization in the role of a feminine crook whom Carey reforms. It will be distinct from any role this meteoric baby star has yet had.

Francis Ford, Stanton Heck, Tom O'Brien, James Quinn and So-Jin, the Chinese prince of "The Thief of Bagdad," are other members already engaged for the supporting cast. Lloyd Ingraham will direct and many of the scenes will be filmed under Stromberg's supervision in San Francisco.

Pola Negri's New One

Pola Negri's next picture will be a film version of Somerset Maugham's novel, "East of Suez." Raoul Walsh will direct and Sada Cowan is making the adaptation.

The story will be lavishly mounted, and, it is said, will provide the exotic Miss Negri with the best vehicle she has had since coming to this country.

Edward LeSaint Directs It

Ben Verschleiser announces selection of his cast and director for "Three Keys," the Frederick Ormond novel, and that production started yesterday at the F. B. O. studio.

Edward LeSaint was his directorial choice and a glittering array of stars in the cast includes Edith Roberts, Jack Mulhall, Virginia Lee Corbin, Stuart Holmes, Gaston Glass, Miss Dupont and Charles Clary.

Margie Coate a Bride

Margie Coate cannot really be meaning a word she says in those cynical songs about the men and matrimony which she is warbling at the Orpheum this week. Because she is a bride herself!

The young vaudevillian was wed last week in San Francisco to James Migliore, a business man of Buffalo, who, it is romantically related, followed the young woman all the way across the country to get her consent to marry him.

Special Performance

Manager Louis Macloon of the Playhouse has announced a special performance of "The Clinging Vine," to take place tomorrow evening.

Hattons Write Subtitles

Having established a reputation for snappy dialogue, those indefatigable playwrights, Frederick and Fanny Hatton have been widely sought of late to title pictures. They have just completed titling "Mrs. Paramor" for the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer company. This is the picture which Robert Vignola directed, with Pauline Frederick as star.

This is the fourth recent titling assignment for the Hattons, the others being "Circe," "Mae Murray's new background: "Her Marriage Vow," for Warner Brothers, and "The Madonna of the Streets," the First National))Edwin Carewe production which is bringing Mme. Nazimova back to the screen.

Ethel Wales Goes North

Ethel Wales has left for San Mateo, where she will be busy for the next two or three weeks in a Frank Woods production bearing the working title "On the Shelf." She recently finished another old maid characterization in "The Monster," a Roland West production, with Lon Chaney and Johnny Arthur.

Helen Lynch in It

Helen Lynch is now playing the role of a society flapper in "The Tom Boy," the current Mission Film Corporation production being directed by David Kirkland.

This role is the fourth in which she portrays the social butterfly, the first being her well-remembered part in Marshall Neilan's "Bits of Life." The present role promises to be somewhat less strenuous than Miss Lynch's recently completed featured role in Universal's "Oh, Doctor," in which she ran the gamut of things athletic from boxing, swimming and baseball to esthetic, toe, oriental and Indian dance pantomime.

Lou Tellegen Comes Home

"Picture making in New York is carried on under difficulties," declared Lou Tellegen upon his return to Los Angeles.

During his brief stay in Gotham on business concerning the National Academy of Motion Pictures, Tellegen observed that production in the East is more expensive and laborious.

"As a veteran actor and director, it actually pained me to see them struggle with things that can be done here quite effortlessly."

Tellegen starred in two pictures for the Romance Productions during his eastern stay. The first was "Greater Than Marriage," and so impressed were the producers that they retained him for a second, "Those Who Judge."

A third offer was rejected by the actor because of his anxiety to return to Los Angeles with the corrected plans of the National Academy of Motion Pictures.

ITALIAN SPECTACLE

"Messalina" to be Screen Attraction at Pantages Next Week

"Messalina," the story of the Roman empress who outclassed Cleopatra, comes Monday to Pantages for one week, and, if reports are verified, should set the style for future film spectacles, just as Guazzoni's first success, "Quo Vadis," did ten years ago. In Messalina" the Italian director has attempted tasks that can only be described as stupendous, as for instance, the reconstruction of the Circus Maximus of Rome. This structure, the greatest in the Roman Empire, was three times the size of our Coliseum in Exposition Park, with four times the seating capacity, and Guazzoni rebuilt it to stage the chariot race that concludes the action of "Messalina."

The Forum, the Rostrum, the Arena and other monuments of ancient Rome were also rebuilt, making "Messalina" an educational film as well as a thrilling romance of Rome's vampire empress.

COLLEGE MUSICIANS ENTERTAIN TONIGHT

The faculty of the College of Music, University of Southern California, will hold a housewarming in the form of a reception at their new headquarters, 2601 South Grand avenue, tonight, inviting as their guests the faculties of the university and its affiliated colleges. A program has been arranged by Miss Ivy Goade which includes a violin solo by Dorothy Cameron, a piano number by Eva McNeill, vocal selection by Robert Corbin Lackey, and a piano solo by Miss Dorothy Bishop.

Those in the receiving line will be Dr. and Mrs. Rufus Von KleinSmid, Harold J. Stonier, Dean and Mrs. Walter F. Skeele, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Perry, Lillian J. Backstrand, Mrs. Annie Mottram Craig, Mabel Culber, Dwight L. Defty, Leila Ellis, Marguerite Hauber, Ivy Goade, Julia G. Howell, Charles E. Pemberton, Mrs. Betty Perkins, Davol Sanders, Alexander Stewart, Max Van Lewen Swarthout, Dorothea Stuthman, B. J. Teazle and Arnold Wagner.

LLOYD FOLLOWS SAME PRODUCTION POLICY

Two pictures a year will continue to be Harold Lloyd's contribution to the screen under his new affiliation with Paramount. This announcement follows Lloyd's decision to release his comedies through the Paramount organization—the arrangement to take effect after the release of "Hot Water," the comedian's recently completed picture, which will have its world premiere at the Metropolitan Theater a week from today, and one other picture yet to be made under the Pathe contract.

The new Lloyd comedies will continue to be made of the feature length type, such as "Hot Water," it is said.

NEW COMEDY SHARES HONORS WITH RUDY

In addition to the return of Rudolph Valentino in "Monsieur Beaucaire," the Miller Theater tomorrow will also offer the first of the Richard Harding Davis "Van Bibber" stories to be produced as a high-class comedy. It is called "The Hunt," and stars Earle Foxe, famous young comedian who made a hit here as the original star of the stage play "White Collars," which is still drawing crowds to the Egan Theater.

CONFIRM OPINION OF PREMIER AUDIENCE

Los Angeles has indorsed the verdict of the first-night audience regarding Peggy Wood in her musical comedy success, "The Clinging Vine," which Louis O. Macloon is offering at the Playhouse. With charm of face and figure and an engaging personality, she combines intelligence and culture and in addition to all this a glorious singing voice.

The comedienne, Trixie Friganza, shares honors with Peggy.

LYMAN AND BAND ON ORANGE GROVE BILL

Abe Lyman and his jazz bandsters will transfer themselves temporarily tomorrow night from the Ambassador Cocoanut Grove to the Orange Grove Theater, as the principal dish of the Sunday night "Surprise Night" performance of Harry Carroll's "Pickings."

The "Pickings" company will return the compliment on Tuesday night when they put on a portion of their show at the Cocoanut Grove, following the regular performance at the theater.

LOCAL-COLOR SEEKERS FIND IT

Kelly Wants to See What Two O'Clock in the Morning Looks Like; So Does Officer Kobbler; Their Paths Cross and Police Station Is Terminus

At 2 o'clock yesterday morning William Kelly, so he told police later, set out in search for local color. At the same time Officer Kobbler left Central Police Station also in search for local color.

Fifteen minutes later Kelly reached a point in front of a market at 555 South Vermont avenue. He stopped, looked quizzically about him, and—

At exactly twenty minutes after 2 o'clock Officer Kobbler rounded the corner of Sixth street and Vermont avenue. His search was rewarded. He found his local color in the form of Kelly, who sat in front of the market, according to the officer, silently contemplating the debris of a large glass window which had been kicked out of the front of the market. The officer approached Kelly, shook him gently, sniffed several times, and then called for the patrol.

A few minutes later Kelly was haled before the desk sergeant at Central Police Station. He said he resided at a downtown hotel. He was booked as being intoxicated. He attempted to explain to the desk sergeant that he had wanted to know what it felt like to wander about the city at 2 o'clock in the morning.

She Criticises His Driving; He Leaves; Divorce

Eileen Sedgewick, film actress, did not like the way her husband drove the family car and she exercised her wifely prerogative of frankly saying so.

He did not like her remarks, and he, too, said so. And thus one thing led to another until yesterday Judge Summerfield entered an interlocutory decree of divorce in McCloskey vs. McCloskey.

For that, it was disclosed, is Miss Sedgewick's name in private life—Mrs. Justin H. McCloskey.

"He was a terrible driver. Honest, judge, I was afraid to ride with him," Miss Sedgewick declared. "He'd been in several smashes. I finally just told him I thought he ought to quit trying to drive.

"Well, it seems like nothing makes a husband so mad as any criticism of his driving. Mr. McClosky became furious. He went away and never came back."

Mother Injured as She Hurries to Son's Sickbed

Instead of being aboard a train speeding to the sickbed of her son in San Raphael, Mrs. Eleanor Davis, 29 years of age, last night was at Receiving Hospital to which she was taken following the overturning of a taxicab in which she was riding to the Southern Pacific station. She suffered cuts and bruises and a broken arm. The taxicab was driven by Clarence W. Fisher.

Mrs. Davis was notified by telegram yesterday that her son was seriously ill. Receiving Hospital physicians doubt that she will be able to make the trip for several days.

WOOLWINE REPORTED AS GAINING GROUND

The condition of Thomas Lee Woolwine, former District Attorney of Los Angeles county, was reported to be improved yesterday following his removal from a private sanatorium to the former residence of Charles McCann, 814 South Lorraine Boulevard, which has been taken by Mr. and Mrs. Woolwine. Mr. Woolwine is said to have been convalescing satisfactorily since his return from Europe several weeks ago.

Water Cure Works

So successful has the "water cure" proved to be for prohibition violations in Cleveland that this sentence is being meted out frequently. The sentence calls for twenty glasses of water daily for thirty days in lieu of a thirty-day sentence in jail. One offender so punished declared he was cured of the drink habit for life at the end of his first twenty glasses.—[Capper's Weekly.

CHILDREN'S SHOW WINS APPLAUSE

"Times" Junior Players Entertain Square and Compass Club

Fifteen members of the Times' Players, juvenile performers of The Times Junior Club, last night entertained almost 200 members of the Square and Compass Club of the Southern Pacific, a Masonic organization, at East End Hall, North Broadway and Daly streets. Music was furnished by The Times Junior Club Dixie Revelers, of which Hartwell Jones is leader. In addition to the applause, which greeted every act, the club tendered the young vaudeville performers a rising ovation and vote of thanks.

The performance opened with a jazz number by the orchestra, followed by little Vera Webster, song and dance artist. Next came Georgie Ward, known as "Freckles of the Movies." Georgie sang and executed an eccentric dance. The Keever Kiddies, Lucile Dunn and Elizabeth Ann Keever, staged a Bowery song and dance act.

Marjorie Montgomery was called upon for an encore to her clever toe dancing and Dorothy Farrell, who sang "Juanita," was obliged to repeat it several times. Herman Title sang jazz songs and ballads equally well and proved one of the big hits of the show. Other performers were Evelyn Adams, song and dance; Cathleene Beesette, dance; Madeline Thomas, Rumanian dance; Martha Melekova, sang; Clara Wallucks, dance and acrobatics, and Bernard Keever, dance.

Aunt Dolly of The Times Junior Club, which has more than 200,000 members, was in charge. The performance marks the first of a series to be given before various fraternal organizations and business clubs. Following the performance refreshments were served by the Square and Compass Club.

Beauty Contest Winner Sues on Canceled Picture

Pretty Ethyl Wade of Long Beach won a beauty contest which was to result in her being starred in motion-pictures, but after holding herself in readiness for sixteen weeks to appear before the camera she was informed the picture in which she hoped to be featured would not be produced.

Such was the allegation made in a complaint for $4600 damages she filed yesterday against the Midwest Feature Pictures Company and the Daily Telegram Company of Long Beach.

The defendants were said to have agreed to conduct the beauty contest July 1, last, the winner to be selected from a group of five receiving the highest number of votes. Under the agreement, the complaint recited, the winner was to play the leading feminine role in the picture, "Start Where You Are."

Miss Wade said she was apprised of her victory August 29, 1923. March 1, last, she says, she was informed the picture would not be produced. She asked $1600 damages for waiting, $2000 for salary and $1000 damages for the loss of publicity.

FALL FROM CRADLE FATAL TO BABY BOY

COMPANY IN PLEA TO END DAM WORK

San Francisquito Project Will Affect Water Flow, is Injunction Charge

Removal of the San Francisquito dam project, now under construction by the city, was asked in a petition for an injunction filed in Superior Court yesterday by the Newhall Land and Farming Company.

The request was based on the theory that the dam and reservoir would prevent the natural outflow of the waters of San Francisquito Creek into the Santa Clara River and alienate the plaintiff's riparian rights to the waters of the stream.

The petition, which was sworn to by George W. Newhall, pioneer landowner and president of the plaintiff company, recited that the plaintiff is the owner of several thousand acres of land adjacent to the San Francisquito Creek and the Santa Clara River at a point below the site of the dam project.

The contention was made that if the city were allowed to complete the dam project the waters of the creek would be diverted to the city of Los Angeles at the pleasure of the defendant.

In addition to asking removal of the concrete wall, the plaintiff asked an injunction forever prohibiting the city from completing the project. The petition was prepared by Attorneys A. B. Shaw and I. B. Stewart of Los Angeles.

BOULEVARD NAME SHIFT IS SOUGHT

Chamber Files Petition to Have Whittier Changed to Beverly

A petition that Whittier Boulevard be renamed Beverly Boulevard and made the outlet for the latter highway on the East Side has been submitted to the City Council, Board of Supervisors and the Beverly Boulevard committee by the Greater Whittier Boulevard Chamber of Commerce. Beverly Boulevard, when completed, will run from the sea above Santa Monica through Los Angeles.

In support of the petition, P. G. Tompkins, president, and Bruce M. John, secretary of the Whittier Boulevard Chamber, have begun circulation of other petitions among the property owners along Whittier Boulevard seeking their support for the change in the name of this thoroughfare.

Secretary John said that the great majority of the property owners are heartily in favor of changing the name and of making Whittier Boulevard an outlet for the traffic artery across the county. It is expected that a greater part of the new thoroughfare will be completed by spring.

Arnold Kruckman, executive secretary of the Beverly Boulevard committee, has announced that the use of Whittier Boulevard as the East Side outlet for the new thoroughfare would be acceptable to his organization.

MORE OR LESS TRUE

Some women want equal pay with men, but what most wives want is the pay their husbands get.

It seems when they marry, a lot of people think number one is the wrong number and insist on calling for number two, three or four.

We are convinced a family budget would get along swimmingly if the members of the family didn't all need so darn many things all the time.

We guess if girls were privileged to do their own choosing instead of having to take the man who asks them, a lot of these married men would still be bachelors.

We see—by the show windows—that garters are being parked half-way between the knee and ankle, and they must be about as efficient in supporting the hose as a $10-a-week clerk would be in supporting a woman whose gowns all have to come from Paree.

One reason why some men are such tightwads around home is because they are such spendthrifts when they are out with the boys.

The long hair they now say is coming back probably is on the men, who haven't any more chance than a rabbit of getting a haircut in the bobber shops any more.

The reason we put the abbreviation Hon. in front of some names instead of spelling it out is because we mean honery and not honorary.

At that we guess a campaign to have the housewives buy cheaper cuts of meat would be a heap more successful than a campaign to get them to buy cheaper styles of hats.

It begins to look as if the modern idea of a tender-hearted woman is one who sues for divorce instead of resorting to a six-shooter.

What a peaceful old world this would be if the nations would disarm as completely as the women have disleeved.—[Sam Hill in Cincinnati Enquirer.

LIGHT ON EARLY RACES

New light on the old mystery of the origin of the Pacific Island races may be shed by recent discoveries on two tiny islands belonging to the United States—islands whose existence, let alone their ownership, was unsuspected by most Americans. The Bernice P. Bishop Museum expedition, working in co-operation with the United States Navy, has spent many months in a scientific reconnaissance of the chain of small islands extending a thousand miles northwestward from Hawaii, and discovered on the islands of Nihoa and Necker the remains of ancient dwellings. These two islands are eroded remnants of volcanic masses, cliff-bound and without water. The settlements must have been made when life was possible there, and have been abandoned when conditions became unfavorable, no one knows how long ago. Preliminary clearing has brought to light old walls, house platforms, burial grounds and terraced fields. Further excavations are planned.

Explanation

We suppose perhaps the reason why a man always seems to win the fastest-stenographer contest is because he doesn't have to stop to powder his nose.—[Ohio State Journal.

DUNLAP SAYS FATE SEALED

Badge Bandit Releases Counsel, Declaring He is Ready for Trial; Silent as to Appeal

Declaring that his fate is "cut and dried" and that there is no further use of taking up valuable time of his attorney, Harry J. Dunlap, convicted badge bandit, at his arraignment yesterday before Superior Judge Crail on a new indictment of five counts returned Thursday, released his counsel, Milton M. Golden, and announced he would henceforth act as his own attorney.

This announcement followed the refusal by Judge Crail to sustain a demurrer and a motion for change of venue filed by Attorney Golden.

The latter motion was asked on the grounds that Dunlap could not receive a fair and impartial trial here because newspaper articles have caused the public to prejudge him. Judge Crail declared that local newspapers circulate generally throughout Southern California and, if such grounds were recognized, it would be difficult to get a jury anywhere in the Southland. Judge Crail, however, stated he saw no reason why Dunlap could not obtain a fair trial in Los Angeles.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Burke asked Dunlap when he would be ready for trial.

"Tomorrow," said Dunlap. He appeared much different from the sneering badge bandit of his previous court appearances. Mr. Burke declared he could not be ready that soon and Judge Crail set the case for the 14th inst.

The indictment charges one count of attack, one of attempted attack and three of robbery. Dunlap is in jail awaiting the outcome of an appeal from his recent conviction. He did not state yesterday whether he would conduct his appeal battle nor did he indicate that his action meant that he will drop his fight for an appeal.

ISLAND NEWLYWEDS ARRIVE

Son of Santa Barbara Millionaire and His Bride, Daughter of Hawaii's Governor, on Liner

The principals of the romance that set Hawaiian society astir this fall arrived at the port yesterday on their honeymoon, aboard the liner City of Los Angeles. They are John R. Whittemore, Jr., of Santa Barbara, and his bride, who until five weeks ago was Miss Frances Farrington, youngest daughter of Gov. Wallace R. Farrington of Hawaii.

Three months ago, at an Army dance at Schofield Barracks, Honolulu, young Whittemore first sighted Miss Farrington. He didn't know who she was, he said, but he knew she was going to be his wife and so he cut in on her during the next dance.

WEDDING SOCIAL EVENT

She did not accept him that night. However, he gave up his plans for returning to the States and prepared for the siege. They were married on August 28, last, at Washington Place, the Governor's mansion. The wedding was the biggest event of Honolulu's social year.

The bridegroom is the eldest son of John R. Whittemore, Santa Barbara millionaire, and a graduate of Leland Stanford University, class of 1921. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity and was nationally prominent in athletics during his college years.

Mrs. Whittemore, who was born in Hawaii, is one of the most expert horsewomen and swimmers in the islands and an alumna of the University of Wisconsin.

TROPIC FRUIT IN HOLDS

The City of Los Angeles, completing her twentieth voyage to Hawaii, yesterday brought back 121 passengers and 3000 tons of pineapples, bananas and other Hawaiian products.

Other prominent passengers were Dr. John Willis Baer, Pasadena capitalist, and Mrs. Baer; A. Gilchrist Hatch, former commander of the submarine U.S.S. R-18; William Dodd, local architect, and Rudolph Bukeley, prominent in Hawaiian politics and commercial circles.

The steamer will sail outbound at noon on the 11th inst., with the fourth Hawaiian trade excursion of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, carrying a total list of more than 300 cabin passengers. Special arrangements are being completed for the voyage for the entertainment and also for an exceptionally interesting sight-seeing program among the islands.

Ability Shown In Maazel Piano Recital

Maazel, pianist, was heard for the first time in Los Angeles yesterday evening in the Friday Morning Club Recital Hall. He played a program predominating Chopin, also Godowsky's numbers or arrangements, a couple of Liszt and Liadow and Mozart numbers.

The young artist is equipped with a splendid technic (not a marvelous one, however,) and has fine musical sense, and likewise shows himself to be well studied. For the most part he appears to follow the beaten trail, and for this reason is to the writer just that much less interesting than the musician who is also an innovator.

However, we must concern ourselves in this instance, as in most every other dealing with piano recitals, with Chopin and Liszt. Several of the Waltzes (Opus 64,) he did with charm. In point of real beauty of piano tone and feeling, his rendition of the last Nocturne was outstanding, for here his pianissimo was exquisite. Much Chopin, such as the Butterfly Etude, and the A Flat Polonaise, he played quite loudly—it is a matter of personal taste. The Godowsky arrangement of the Butterfly Etude, which he also played, was of real interest; it was well played and masterfully arranged.

He does not have the technique for such numbers as the "Campanella," by Liszt, and the A Flat "Polonaise" (Chopin) to stand the comparison of such pianistic giants as Paderewski, Rosenthal and others whom we have heard and, while he played with brilliance, the tendency is always to compare a composition with the best rendition which one has ever heard of the number. As for the "Valse de Mephisto," for the most part of it, it is a mystery to the writer how Liszt could ever write it or any other artist play it, but Liszt was a great composer and Maazel shows many evidences of artistry, so again — personal taste—.

The numbers from Godowsky's "Triakontameron" are clever bits from the pen of a composer of extraordinary ability, and were performed with imagination.

Maazel does not deserve yet to be widely heraldede, but it is safe to predict that he will go far. Certainly he might enjoy some of the mistaken praise that was heaped upon the youthful shoulders of Nyireghazi in his first recitals here several seasons ago. Maazel is a most extraordinary student-artist, and musicians will watch his development with interest.

Have to Make Allowances

The tired Saturday night patron at the Elite lunchroom in Hicksburg had made up his mind to get some action. "Where's that coffee I ordered?" he thundered to the waiter.

GRAFT LAID TO FIREMAN AND OFFICER

Pair Charged With Selling Tickets to Baseball Game Never Scheduled

A policeman and a city fireman were arraigned before Police Judge Richardson yesterday on a charge of petty graft—the sale of 50-cent tickets for a baseball game which never took place. They were given until the 8th inst., to enter their pleas.

The two men are Officer S. B. Jacobs of the Lincoln Heights Division, and Inspector Paul N. Shapiro of the Fire Prevention Bureau of the fire department. Both are charged with obtaining money under false pretenses.

Detective Lieutenants Harris and Elsner made the arrests after an investigation in which they reported that the tickets had been widely circulated in certain sections of the city. The tickets bore a legend announcing a baseball game between the "Police and Fire Department" baseball teams to be played at Exposition Park September 28, last. The police department does not have a baseball team and there was no game of similar character scheduled at Exposition Park, according to the officers.

The specific charge against Officer Jacobs is the sale of a 50-cent ticket to J. W. Plame of 336 East Fifth street. Inspector Shapiro is charged with selling a ticket to Mrs. J. Teranoto of 235 Jackson street. The arresting officers are attempting to get into communication with other purchasers of tickets.

EVANGELINE MEMORIAL

During the summer a vast number of people, interested in the "Land of Evangeline" and the pathetic romance of the 6000 Acadians who were deported from Grand Pre in 1755, visited Evangeline Memorial Park in Nova Scotia. This park, only a few steps from the Grand Pre station of the Dominion Atlantic Railway, covers about nineteen acres, as well as the original center of the town of Minas, where Evangeline's people dwelt. In the park is a chapel and museum built and paid for by the descendants of the expatriated Acadians at a cost of $24,000, a $5000 Carrera marble statue of the Virgin, a bronze statue of Evangeline by the Acadian sculptor, Philippe Hebert; Evangeline's well, a cross marking the spot of the old Acadian cemetery, and the Acadian willows, planted nearly two centuries ago.—[Indianapolis News.

Parrot's Inference

An elderly woman had a talking parrot which was free to roam where it chose in the house. Polly was often in disgrace and had damaged some onions which had been tied up in bunches to dry. For this Polly was caged and severely reprimanded by the owner, who said in the course of her remarks: "If you do that again, Polly, I will pull every feather off your head."

The day following the old lady was called upon by the clergyman, who was bald, and on being shown into the room the parrot greeted him with: "Hello! Here's another been at the onions!"—[Exchange.

Largest Vessel Ever in Harbor to Anchor Here

The largest steamship which has ever put into Los Angeles Harbor will arrive on December 20, according to L. E. Archer, newly appointed Pacific Coast manager of the International Mercantile Marine, who arrived in Los Angeles yesterday to take over the duties of his new position. The steamship is the Red Star liner Belgenland, a 45,000-ton vessel, making an around-the-world cruise with a full passenger list of 500.

A fourth ship will soon be added to the fleet of the Panama-Pacific Line, operating a passenger and freight service between New York, Havana and San Francisco, according to Mr. Archer. The Panama-Pacific organization is part of the International Mercantile Marine Company.

Mr. Archer has been connected with the International Mercantile Marine for twenty-six years, but this is his first visit to Los Angeles Harbor on business. He has previously been stationed on the Atlantic Coast and on the Mediterranean.

Circus Horses Sent to Replace Carload Burned

A carload of educated horses that have been in training at the winter quarters of the Al G. Barnes circus near Culver City, was forwarded yesterday on a fast passenger train to replace those recently suffocated in a fire of the circus train at Nord.

Official investigation by the management of the circus has disclosed that the fire was caused by the explosion of the watchman's lantern and the hay in the mangers became ignited.

The replacing of the horses that were burned by the new ones will enable the circus to fulfill all its fall dates and return to the winter quarters at Culver City the last of November at the usual time.

Rapid approach toward the $1,000,000 goal is being made in the campaign of the Federation of Jewish Welfare Organizations.

Yesterday, Dr. Boris D. Bogen, executive director of the federation, reported the total had mounted to $700,000.

The campaign is scheduled to end the 7th inst., just before the Jewish Day of Atonement, Yom Kippur. Marco H. Hellman is honorary chairman of the campaign and Henry W. Louis is chairman of the executive committee.

RABE HEARS CHARGES OF FRAUD READ

Beach Promoter Answers Indictment; Hearing Set for the 7th Inst.

Paul B. Rabe, promoter of the Long Beach Dock and Terminal Company, was arraigned before Superior Judge Avery yesterday on a grand jury indictment charging him on four counts with obtaining money and property by false pretenses. Judge Avery set the 7th inst., as the date for hearing.

The indictment accused Rabe of misrepresentation in connection with his soliciting of preorganization subscriptions to the stock of the dock and terminal company. The promoter is asserted to have told his clients that the company had acquired a large tract of land adjoining Long Beach; that plans had been completed to float a $4,000,000 bond issue; and that Gen. George W. Goethals, Senator Shortridge, Congressman Lineberger and City Manager Windham of Long Beach were to act as directors of the corporation. All of these asserted representations were false, the indictment stated.

Rabe is asserted to have used these tactics in exchanging shares in the terminal company for several thousand dollars worth of property and securities belonging to Henrietta McGaw and Elmer E. Owen of Long Beach.

Children's Cash Safe With Wife, Judge Decides

Charging that his attractive young wife, Margaret Haldorn, lent a part of the estate of their two minor daughters to "a New York friend" to gamble in the stock market, George Haldorn, elderly retired lawyer, yesterday asked Judge Willis to discharge Mrs. Haldorn as guardian of the children on the grounds that she is not a proper person to control their estate. Haldorn and his wife are said to be estranged. The estate is valued, according to the motion, at $15,000.

Judge Willis denied the motion, stating that Haldorn failed to prove that his wife had lent any part of the estate to the "friend." The judge also refused permission to Haldorn to read into the record several letters said to have been received by Mrs. Haldorn from the New York man. The children, Georgine and Frances, are said to be living with their mother.

Failure to Hang Up Is Costly

Telephone subscribers in the State of Virginia lost 67,000 hours of service, or 2780 days, during the past eighteen months—because they forgot to hang up their receivers fater finishing conversation. This estimate of time lost is compiled from official figures in the headquarters office in Richmond of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

During the year, 1923, 134,000 receivers were left off the hook, and in the first half of 1924, 67,000 more were added, making a total of 201,000 cases. As the average time required to correct each case comprises about twenty minutes, the total of 67,000 hours of lost service is reached.

When a receiver remains off the hook it is impossible for an operator to call a subscriber.

Simpson and Stimpson had been great friends in the earlier years of their lives, but not long ago Stimpson married and now Simpson proposed to follow the noble lead.

The approach of Simpson's triumph drew near. On the morrow he intended to propose to the girl, but, first of all, he had decided to have a chat with Stimpson.

Stimpson sighed. "I wasn't," he admitted. "But if I could have foreseen the future I should have been!"—[Exchange.

His Own Petard

A distinguished old English clergyman had received tickets for the opera from a kindly parishoner.

Finding that he was unable to go, he called up some good friends and said: "An unfortunate dinner engagement keeps me from attending the opera tonight; could you use the tickets?"

"We should be so glad to, dear sir," was the reply, "but we are your unfortunate hosts."—[Life.

It Started Out Fine

"What did you have to eat at the banquet?" members of Georgie Thurston's family asked when he returned from the dinner held in honor of Jackie Coogan who was visiting this city recently.

"Well, first we had a pineapple foxtail," began the youngster and was much put out because the grown-ups laughed and would not listen to the rest of the menu.—[Indianapolis News.

Not A Case for Sympathy

An old farmer went to the dentist to have an aching molar removed. The operation was completed and the patient then instructed the tooth drawer to remove the next one.

"It isn't necessary," explained the dentist. "That one only aches in sympathy."

"Yank it out, then," growled the farmer. "Darn such sympathy as that."

PROSPECTIVE

POULTRY RANCHERS

If you have $1500 in cash and a REAL desire (I mean a sincere willingness to work and learn) to own an honest-to-goodness poultry breeding farm and make some of the REAL profits from poultry, I'll furnish you a fully improved and equipped poultry ranch and LOAN you a mated breeding flock of 200 wonderful White Plymouth Rocks from the famous world-known White Rock Breeding Farms of my father, U. R. FISHEL, of Hope, Ind., and

CONTRACT

TO TAKE YOUR

EGGS AT $7

PER HUNDRED

I have come to California to establish a Western breeding farm of my father's (U. R. FISHEL) great White Plymouth Rocks, in order to more conveniently fill the ever-increasing demand for our stock on the Pacific Coast.

I expect to bring six thousand of these White Rocks out here from my father's farm, as I believe best results are obtained by handling breeders in small individual flocks. I have made arrangements with the owners of a large tract of land here whereby they will furnish land, buildings and equipment for a complete poultry breeding farm on payment of only $1500 cash and I will LOAN each purchaser of one of these completed poultry farms a mated breeding flock of 200 of these wonderful birds and contract to buy his eggs at $7 a hundred, which I will use in filling the demand on the Pacific Coast for hatching eggs, baby chicks and breeding stock of FISHEL White Rocks. In addition I will live on the colony and give my entire time and attention to the personal supervision of these small breeding flocks. This is one requirement I will, of course have to insist on in order to protect the birds from misuse and insure the upholding of the FISHEL standard of quality.

These wonderful birds have (in the more than thirty years my father has bred them) won over 3000 ribbons and hundreds of silver cups and special prizes. At my home here in Los Angeles I have a number of these trophies, as well as a flock of sixty of these fine birds in my back yard, which I have been showing at State Fairs and Poultry Shows all over the country this summer and fall, winning everything offered in the White Rock class. If you are interested in my proposition, come out to my home and see these fine fowls and talk it over with me personally. You are cordially invited to go with me Sunday and see the property, leaving my home at 8:30 in the morning.

Sir John Sutton Comes to New Bedford

Sir John Bland Sutton, president of the Royal College of Surgeons of Great Britain, and Lady Sutton achieved their purpose in a flying visit to this country when they visited the Old Dartmouth Historical Society's whaling museum in New Bedford, Mass., recently.

Sir John said his long admiration for Herman Melville, author of "Moby Dick," and the interest in whaling this admiration had inspired, had prompted him to spend his annual three weeks' vacation on a trip solely to visit the museum.

He told Curator Frank Wood he was the first president of the Royal College of Surgeons to visit the United States in his term. The visitors inspected the Lagoda, the miniature model whaler that is the pride of the museum; the collection of whales' teeth and other relics of old whaling days. The jawbone of a sperm whale, teeth and all, that is suspended from the rafters of the museum rooms particularly fascinated Sir John, who has in the Anatomical Museum in London, of which he is curator, a life-size model of a whale. He was impressed, too, to see the old crew list with Herman Melville's name on it that is one of the museum's choicest possessions.

"'Moby Dick' is my favorite book," Sir John said, "and I have always wanted to see these whaling relics."

The British visitors went through the seamen's hotel and Sir John said it seemed exactly like the one described in "Moby Dick."—[New York Evening Post.

Marian Nixon, leading lady with Fox, finds an excellent make-up mirror in the smooth glossy finish of a Studebaker Special Berline model, which may be seen at any of the four display rooms of the Paul G. Hoffman Company.

The latest lines are displayed in this exclusive three-piece golf suit, consisting of coat, vest and knickers of imported English tweed, from Mullen & Bluett, worn here by Arthur Reed, who needs no introduction in film circles.

HAROLD LLOYD and Buster Keaton seem to be running neck and neck.

Lloyd's "Hot Water" and Buster's "The Navigator" are two of the funniest pictures either of them have ever turned out.

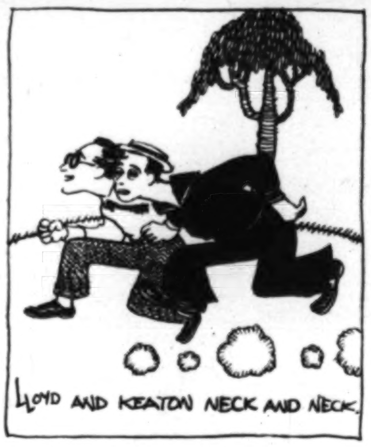
A Man's Comedian

Buster will never be the terrific box-office attraction that Lloyd is.



LLOYD AND KEATON NECK AND NECK.

The reason is that he is essentially a man's comedian. Women laugh at his comedies, but he is no inducement to them.

The manager of Loew's Theater put on a fashion show the week he had Buster so that wifey would consent to go with hubby to see the Keaton comedy.

Lloyd, on the other hand, is a comedian for the whole family. Generally speaking, I think he is an even greater favorite with women than men. I will go further: Lloyd has the strongest appeal for women of any comedian in screen history. This is because of a certain wistful sympathy.

Lloyd's a Millionaire

Lloyd's career is an Aladdin's lamp fairy story.

He and Hal Roach started out only a few years ago as two boy producers with a few hundred dollars and a lot of iron nerve.

Roach is now a millionaire and Lloyd makes the most money any person ever made in the history of the world out of any profession allied to the world of art.

Caruso was a piker compared to him. Even Doug and Mary and Charlie Chaplin are not in his class at all.

Those with weak hearts are advised not to read the rest of this.

But the fact is that Lloyd's income from his comedies is said to be between $25,000 and $40,000 a week.

The charming part is that he is still a modest, unassuming boy, terribly excited about his wife and baby.

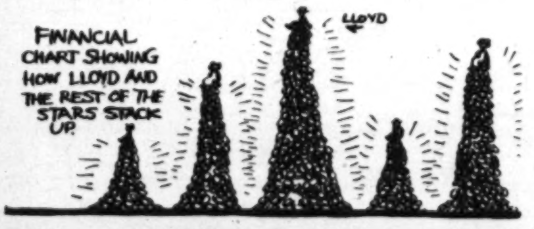
The Gag That Flopped

"Hot Water" couldn't compare in the matter of "class" and general merit with some of Lloyd's other comedies; but it was the funniest of them all.

You will remember that in "Hot Water" he won a live turkey in a raffle and took it home after many adventures in a street car.

I always wondered why he didn't do something funny with it after getting it there.

The other day I asked him about it.



FINANCIAL CHART SHOWING HOW LLOYD AND THE REST OF THE STARS STACK UP.
LLOYD

His answer illustrates one of the peculiar difficulties of comedy-making.

Lloyd said that they worked out a very elaborate series of gags about that turkey. The young husband tried to kill it for dinner, but couldn't muster up his nerve.

Finally he administered an anaesthetic to the doomed bird.

In the projecting-room even the blase studio help screamed with laughter. But when they got it into the comedy and tried it out the gag fell flat.

The trouble was that it was a subtle, intricate bit of fooling following a fast, riotous gag about a traffic cop. The audience couldn't quiet down to give it the necessary concentrated attention.

Mary's a Hard Audience

Lloyd says that his hardest audience is Mary Pickford.

He takes every comedy out for Douglas and Mary to see.

Doug is an easy laugher. Mary sometimes smiles and at the end, if she likes it, she says, "Very good, Harold."

But if she really laughs, he knows he has a knock-out.

Chaplin's New One

Those who have seen Charlie Chaplin's new comedy—as yet unfinished—say it is the best one he has ever made.

The locale of it is in Alaska during the gold rush. Chaplin doesn't appear until after the first 500 feet of the picture.

The scenes of the gold rush are said to compare in thrill and magnitude with "The Covered Wagon."

Charlie is still working on it and probably will be for a long time.

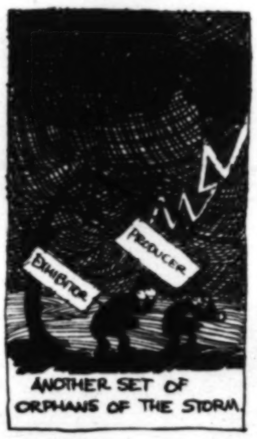
A Hard Job

The business of making motion pictures and getting folks to pay money to see them after they are made is becoming almost insupportably difficult.

This has been one of the toughest years in the history of the industry. And that's not the worst. It looks very much as though still tougher years were coming.



ANOTHER SET OF ORPHANS OF THE STORM.

The exhibitors say that it is the fault of the producers; that they lack courage in not branching out after new stories. They keep putting out the same old stuff. One producer makes a killing with a flapper comedy; the others make a frantic rush after flapper stories until the public groans in agony.

Big Names

There is much that could be said in behalf of the producers and their problems; but I want to talk about the exhibitor and his difficulties right now.

The trouble is, right now, that a good picture will no longer sell on its merits.

What the exhibitor has to have now is a picture with a "selling point."

It is no longer so much a matter of pleasing them after they get in. The problem now is to get them into the theater. To tease them in.

Any picture with Rodolph Valentino playing the lead would make money—no matter how bad the picture.

On the other hand, an exhibitor could put on the best picture ever made in the world. It would "flop" unless it had either famous names in the cast, a suggestive and risque title like "Her Night of Romance," or some sensational selling point.

Of course, they all realize that they are headed straight for a precipice.

There aren't enough famous names to go 'round. By constant use, they are wearing out the appeal of these famous names.

Not only this; but each sensation that attracts the crowd to a picture makes the next sensation harder.

For instance, Elinor Glyn put some hot love in "His Hour" and made one of the few great box-office pictures of the year.

But the love in her next picture will have to be hotter and more blistering.

The Electric Signs

In putting on a spoken drama, the theater manager who knows he has a good play can afford to run it at a loss until the folks find out about it. The manager of the average picture house has only a week—sometimes only a day. He has to knock 'em dead with the few words he can get into a newspaper ad or the electric sign at the front of the house.

The Writers' Show

The Writers' Club Revue this year promises to be the best one they have ever given. Mae Murray is going to take part, among other big stars; this will be the first time she has been seen on the stage since the old Follies days.

Alfred A. Cohn, who helped to make the first revue such a success, will be in charge.

A Critical Fan

Pre-View, Los Angeles Times:

I write simply as a member of the "great unwashed"—the stupid, uncritical, narrowly prejudiced mob of small-town middle westerners and eastern Puritans, who either swell your moving-picture audiences or don't, to tell you why we aren't coming to pictures so much any more. You speculate about it from your necessarily biased viewpoint. But you must let us give you the real answer.

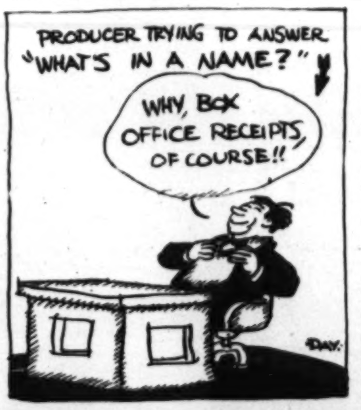
Three causes: Their high cost, the decline of the outstanding star as chief advertised attraction, and salacious titles.

Only the last is under discussion at present in your columns, so I will confine my remarks to it.

Producers and displayers are cutting down their profits by the wholesale through the use of the suggestive title. Personally (and I speak for my thousands) I avoid sexually exciting pictures like the plague. I don't like them. They leave me unstrung for days. Of course, your Freudians will tell you I really do like them and am only kidding myself into thinking that I don't. But, nevertheless, my self-deception is potent enough to keep me away from the box office. "Repression," no doubt, but the great majority of the American people is repressed.

Naturally, not caring to sit through a salacious picture, I avoid salacious titles. In this way I miss many fine pictures which had in them no objectionable matter whatsoever. I missed seeing "The Admirable Crichton," a story I would have given much to have seen pictured, because it appeared as "Male and Female," a change for which I have never forgiven its producers. I found out its true identity when it had been off the boards some weeks in our town.

Furthermore, we are getting so skittish that we shy at titles which would have attracted us were we not so on our guard from the flood of suggestion thrown at us from every billboard. "Foolish Parents" would have appealed had I any notion it might be a treatment of parenthood. Also "Unguarded Women." Also "Flaming Youth." I should have gone to see a picture entitled "Spring Cleaning," but not "The Fast Set," had not Pre-View informed me in time that they were the same.



PRODUCER TRYING TO ANSWER "WHAT'S IN A NAME?"
WHY, BOX OFFICE RECEIPTS, OF COURSE!!
DAY.

By the same token it would have cost the producers of "Cytherea" thousands to have changed its name. Not only would they have lost most of its thousands of readers, but they would in all probability have given it some salacious expletive which would have driven all of us prudes away from the door and caused us to miss one of the strongest and most moral plays of the year. I do not know what the subconscious suggestion to "The Covered Wagon" may be—it is too deeply imbedded to be dragged up from my sublimal self as yet—but I do know that it consciously suggests something very noble and brave and fine that our ancestors did. What were the Freudian suggestions behind "The Kid," "The Miracle Man," "The Birth of a Nation," "Humoresque"? Get the subconscious suggestion strong, if you must, but be sure you have got the conscious suggestion good at the same time, and you have the magic combination. JUNE NELSON.

ANTONIO MORENO was born with a flair for the picturesque. You have just to mention his name and instantly there is a vision of Sunny Spain, with its twanging guitars and lace mantillas. About him there is the romantic idealism of the Harlequin and the substantiality of a Don Juan, as the specially-posed art photographs on this page would indicate.

Yet in spite of this he has done very few such portrayals. The only picturesqueness his roles have had has been that which Tony's personality has lent them.

Now, however, he is to have a real opportunity. He has been named to play the leading role in Blasco Ibanez's novel of the sea, "Mare Nostrum," which Rex Ingram is to produce.

Undoubtedly it will be one of the most intensely dramatic and forceful characterizations that Moreno has been called upon to offer. Not picturesque in all particulars, but nevertheless a really colorful hero. The character is that of a Spanish captain, but the setting is comparatively modern, for the plot concerns itself chiefly with the destroying of German submarines during the war.

"THE CLEAN HEART"

reach the danger point almost as quickly as she, but not with sufficient speed to rescue her. She hangs for a moment to his hands while he makes confession of the fact that he really loves her and then she lets go her hold for fear that she may drag him to death.

It is the two sacrifices, one made by the boon companion, the other by the girl, that bring Wriford to a belated realization of his own selfishness. And the apparently fateful culmination at the end of the film turns into an eventual happiness.

For all that Marmont gives a finely-balanced interpretation of his role, I cannot quite feel that he is adapted to it. Yet again he may be, because this, at least, stands out: That, for all its deficiencies, the character that he draws manages to be appealing. In a way, it may seem apparent that this is the essence of that character.

There is too much foreground for the real story from a picture standpoint. It is difficult to become interested in a set of people and then completely forget about them as you have to do in viewing this production. The interest in the individual is raised above the plot itself, and even that is scattered. Dramatically, therefore, "The Clean Heart" is unsound; but as a novelty it may hold very fair attractions.

Life on the bounding main evidently is a pleasant relief from studio humdrum. At least, Viola Dana and her director, Irving Cummings, seem to enjoy the "location" work for "As Man Desires."

Marguerite De la Motte's performance as Essie is much more vivid than any of her former work. She is turning into a very clever little character sketcher.

Otis Harlan as Puddlebox is also plentifully amusing and merits much of praise for his effort in visualizing an unusual type.

Violet La Plante, George Ingleton, Martha Petelle, Andrew Arbuckle and Anne Lockhart are others of whom flashes are obtained that are effective for what they are; but the real opportunities all center around Marmont.

The adaptation was made by Marian Constance and the picture photographed by L. William O'Connell and Ernie F. Smith. They did much to bring out the excellence of the very effectual settings, adding much to the atmosphere of the film.

For those who are unacquainted with the writings of Hutchinson it might be well to mention that he has drawn unusual interest in his novels by his careful etching of people, especially those who dwell in the less familiar localities of England, and in many respects these types are very fairly matched in the casting of the production of "The Clean Heart," and more possibly even in certain individual performances. This is, by right of birth, most true perhaps in the case of Marmont, who proved his adaptability to such characterizations, generally considered, in the humanness of his work last season in "If Winter Comes."—[Edwin Schallert.

Babe London promises to be very much in evidence now that William Fox is featuring her in Lloyd Hamilton comedies.

"THE SILENT ACCUSER"

How the one who originated the idea of communicating with the other by means of messages carried in the lining of the dog's collar makes known the system to the other is not explained and rather taxes the credulity of the spectator.

The nightly process of Peter eluding the watchful sentry that he may visit his master in his cell is most amusing, to say the least. On these occasions the dog acts almost humanly. It is not fair to Peter, though, to make this statement only at this juncture. It includes his acting from the moment he flashes on the screen until the picture ends. However, the specific bit of acting mentioned is perhaps the most striking evidence of his seeming powers of reasoning.

By means of the series of communications between the boy and girl, escape is arranged for the convict, and he and the dog meet the girl at a prearranged location. From this spot the three make their way to Mexico, which is a short distance from the prison.

A decided rift in the story is apparent at this point. It is to find the actual murderer that the three cross the line, but again an inconsistency arises. That the girl could have learned of the ex-boarder's presence across the line is exceedingly doubtful, especially when it is stated that she knows the exact town in which he is hiding. As for the action of the plot, an entirely different story seems to be picturized from the moment the three arrive in Mexico.

Of course, the murderer is found and through fear of the dog he confesses his crime. But not before a fight takes place between man and dog sufficiently thrilling to satisfy the most avid fight fan.

The human interest of "The Silent Accuser" is far above the average.

Chester Franklin is deserving of high praise for his deft directing of Peter, the star. This is not Mr. Franklin's first attempt at making such a film, and the quality of his work as disclosed in "The Silent Accuser" causes one to hope that it will not be his last. —[W. W.

he left Los Angeles that he was merely going to New York. However, maybe he won't get overseas after all, as I believe he is to do a picture in the East."

I stopped Stella to ask for the toast, and also to tell me who that cute-looking girl with Jimmie Adams was.

"Why, that's Virginia Warwick," answered Stella. "They were married a couple of weeks ago. Talk about your faithful couples! Say, dearie, there are just as many of them in pictures as anywhere else. Jimmie has loved Virginia for six years, but her mother thought she was too young to marry, so they made her wait. I never heard of either of them looking at anybody else."

No half-way measures here! Raymond McKee, now appearing in Sennett comedies, depends on the law of averages to insure a good marksmanship record.

Evoking the Sea's Enchantment

Billie Dove has the leading role in "Follies of Vanity," a fantastic tale based upon a legendary theme.

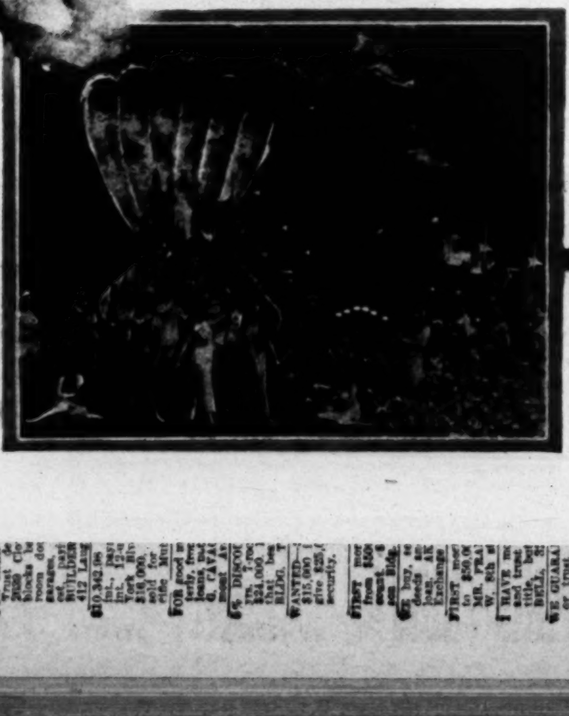
The legendary Father Neptune, portrayed by Robert Klein, in the fantasy of the sea, "Follies of Vanity."

Ailene Day and Harold Day lend Terpsichorean flavor to many of the scenes in the mythical spectacle.

MERMAIDS swimming among moss-covered boulders, or stretched lazily upon rocks in the afternoon sun; painted caves winding back into the jagged, barren sea walls; water gardens with their swaying plant life and myriads of fishes; Neptune in a great seashell as a throne, surrounded by dancing nymphs! And mermaids everywhere!

The enchantment of the sea, the mystery of the imagined beings dwelling therein and the legendary life surrounding the god of the waters and his kingdom are the high lights of "Follies of Vanity," a Fox production being made on Santa Cruz Island by Henry Otto. Much of it promises to be bizarre and spectacular, and the ruggedness of the natural setting will be in sharp contrast to the picturesque costumes of the mermaids and dancers. Many of those who take part are among the very cleverest of Southern California swimmers, and do some extraordinary aquatic stunts.

Billie Dove portrays the role of Alice, the girl who dreams of a shipwreck from which comes a supply of the pretty things that the earth maids wear and adore, and Robert Klein enacts the part of Father Neptune.



Stella, the Star-Gazer

"MY DEAR, there's Seena Owen, and she says she was never so happy in her life as she is out here in California this time. She is being sought by film society, and already has had a big party given in her honor out at the Plantation Club, which is the place you go Sunday nights if you are in it at all. She says it doesn't seem as though she had ever been away from Hollywood, she meets so many people she knows.

"Isn't it funny what being things-in-law to people does to you? For Seena is looking up Miriam Cooper. You know they used not to be such good friends when they were married, respectively, to George and Raoul Walsh, but Seena says that now she is divorced from George she and Miriam are the greatest friends in the world.

"Seena is looking lovely these days. She is engaging a house and a cook, so that she and her brother, her mother and little girl may keep house out here. Yes, her little daughter calls her 'Seena Owen!' It sounds cute, and then you know when anybody looks as young as Seena she has no right to have a daughter as old as that—no, I don't know how old, but about 6, I guess.

"She is the only girl in Hollywood who is trying to get fat, so all the girls she knows that are trying to get thin know what to do with the boxes of candy that are bestowed on them. They send them to Seena."

STELLA paused to take a sip of tea, and continued:

"Mary Philbin! She is learning to ride horseback for Rupert Julian's 'Phantom of the Opera,' these days. She is to ride a great big beautiful black horse. He has such a sleek coat, though, that I didn't blame her when she looked at him ruefully, exclaiming: 'Oh, dear, I do wish they'd sand-paper him! He does look so slippery!'"

STELLA ordered some more cinnamon toast, and declared:

"Speaking of 'The Phantom of the Opera,' I was talking to Lon Chaney. His boy has left high school, and Lon is going to set him up in the haberdashery business! Isn't Lon the wise boy! That will make Lon's clothes for pictures more reasonable, won't it?

"Oh, say, I just got a postcard from Bess Meredyth, over in Rome. She says the 'Ben Hur' company is at Livorno working on the galley sequence—using seven large galleys, with the Mediterranean living up to its sapphire reputation."

"LOUISE FAZENDA gave the funniest present to a friend, the other day. What do you think it was? An order for an electric treatment, a Turkish bath, and a hair-cut! No, I don't think the friend was offended about the bath part of it.

"Oh, there are Florence Vidor and Corinne Griffith—just back from New York! They are great chums, you know. They were in New York at the same time, and did all the shows together, besides shopping and buying some awfully pretty clothes. Corinne bought her "Declassee" wardrobe there, or at least a part of it, though she says she thinks Los Angeles clothes are really just as smart."

STELLA paused to admire Miss Vidor's new tunic afternoon gown of black charmeuse, and then her eyes lighted on about the best-looking thing in a masculine way we had seen in some time.

"Orville Caldwell, as I'm alive!" exclaimed Stella. "He has been making such a big hit on the stage in 'The Czarina' with Doris Keane, up north, and was to have played it at the Biltmore here, but there seems to be some sort of hitch about the production. Too bad, for everybody was crazy to see her in that play. But maybe it will be fixed up all right.

"Orville seems just to miss out on pictures all the time, on account of his stage engagements. It's fate, I suppose. Anyhow, it's always a comfort to think it isn't our own miscalculations that put us out of things. Anyhow, the loss is all ours."

Stella, the star-gazer, finds nothing alarming in the fact that Mae Murray is living at the Ambassador, while her husband, Bob Leonard, keeps up the family manse in Beverly Hills.

"THERE'S Bob Leonard with that girl in black, again. Mae Murray is living at the Ambassador Hotel now, and Bob has the Beverly Hills house. Mae looks as pretty and smart as ever. After all, there is no one quite like her.

"Oh, I hear, dearie, that Conway Tearle is going to Europe! Oh, yes, his wife is with him. I don't know whatever started him on that tour, because he said when

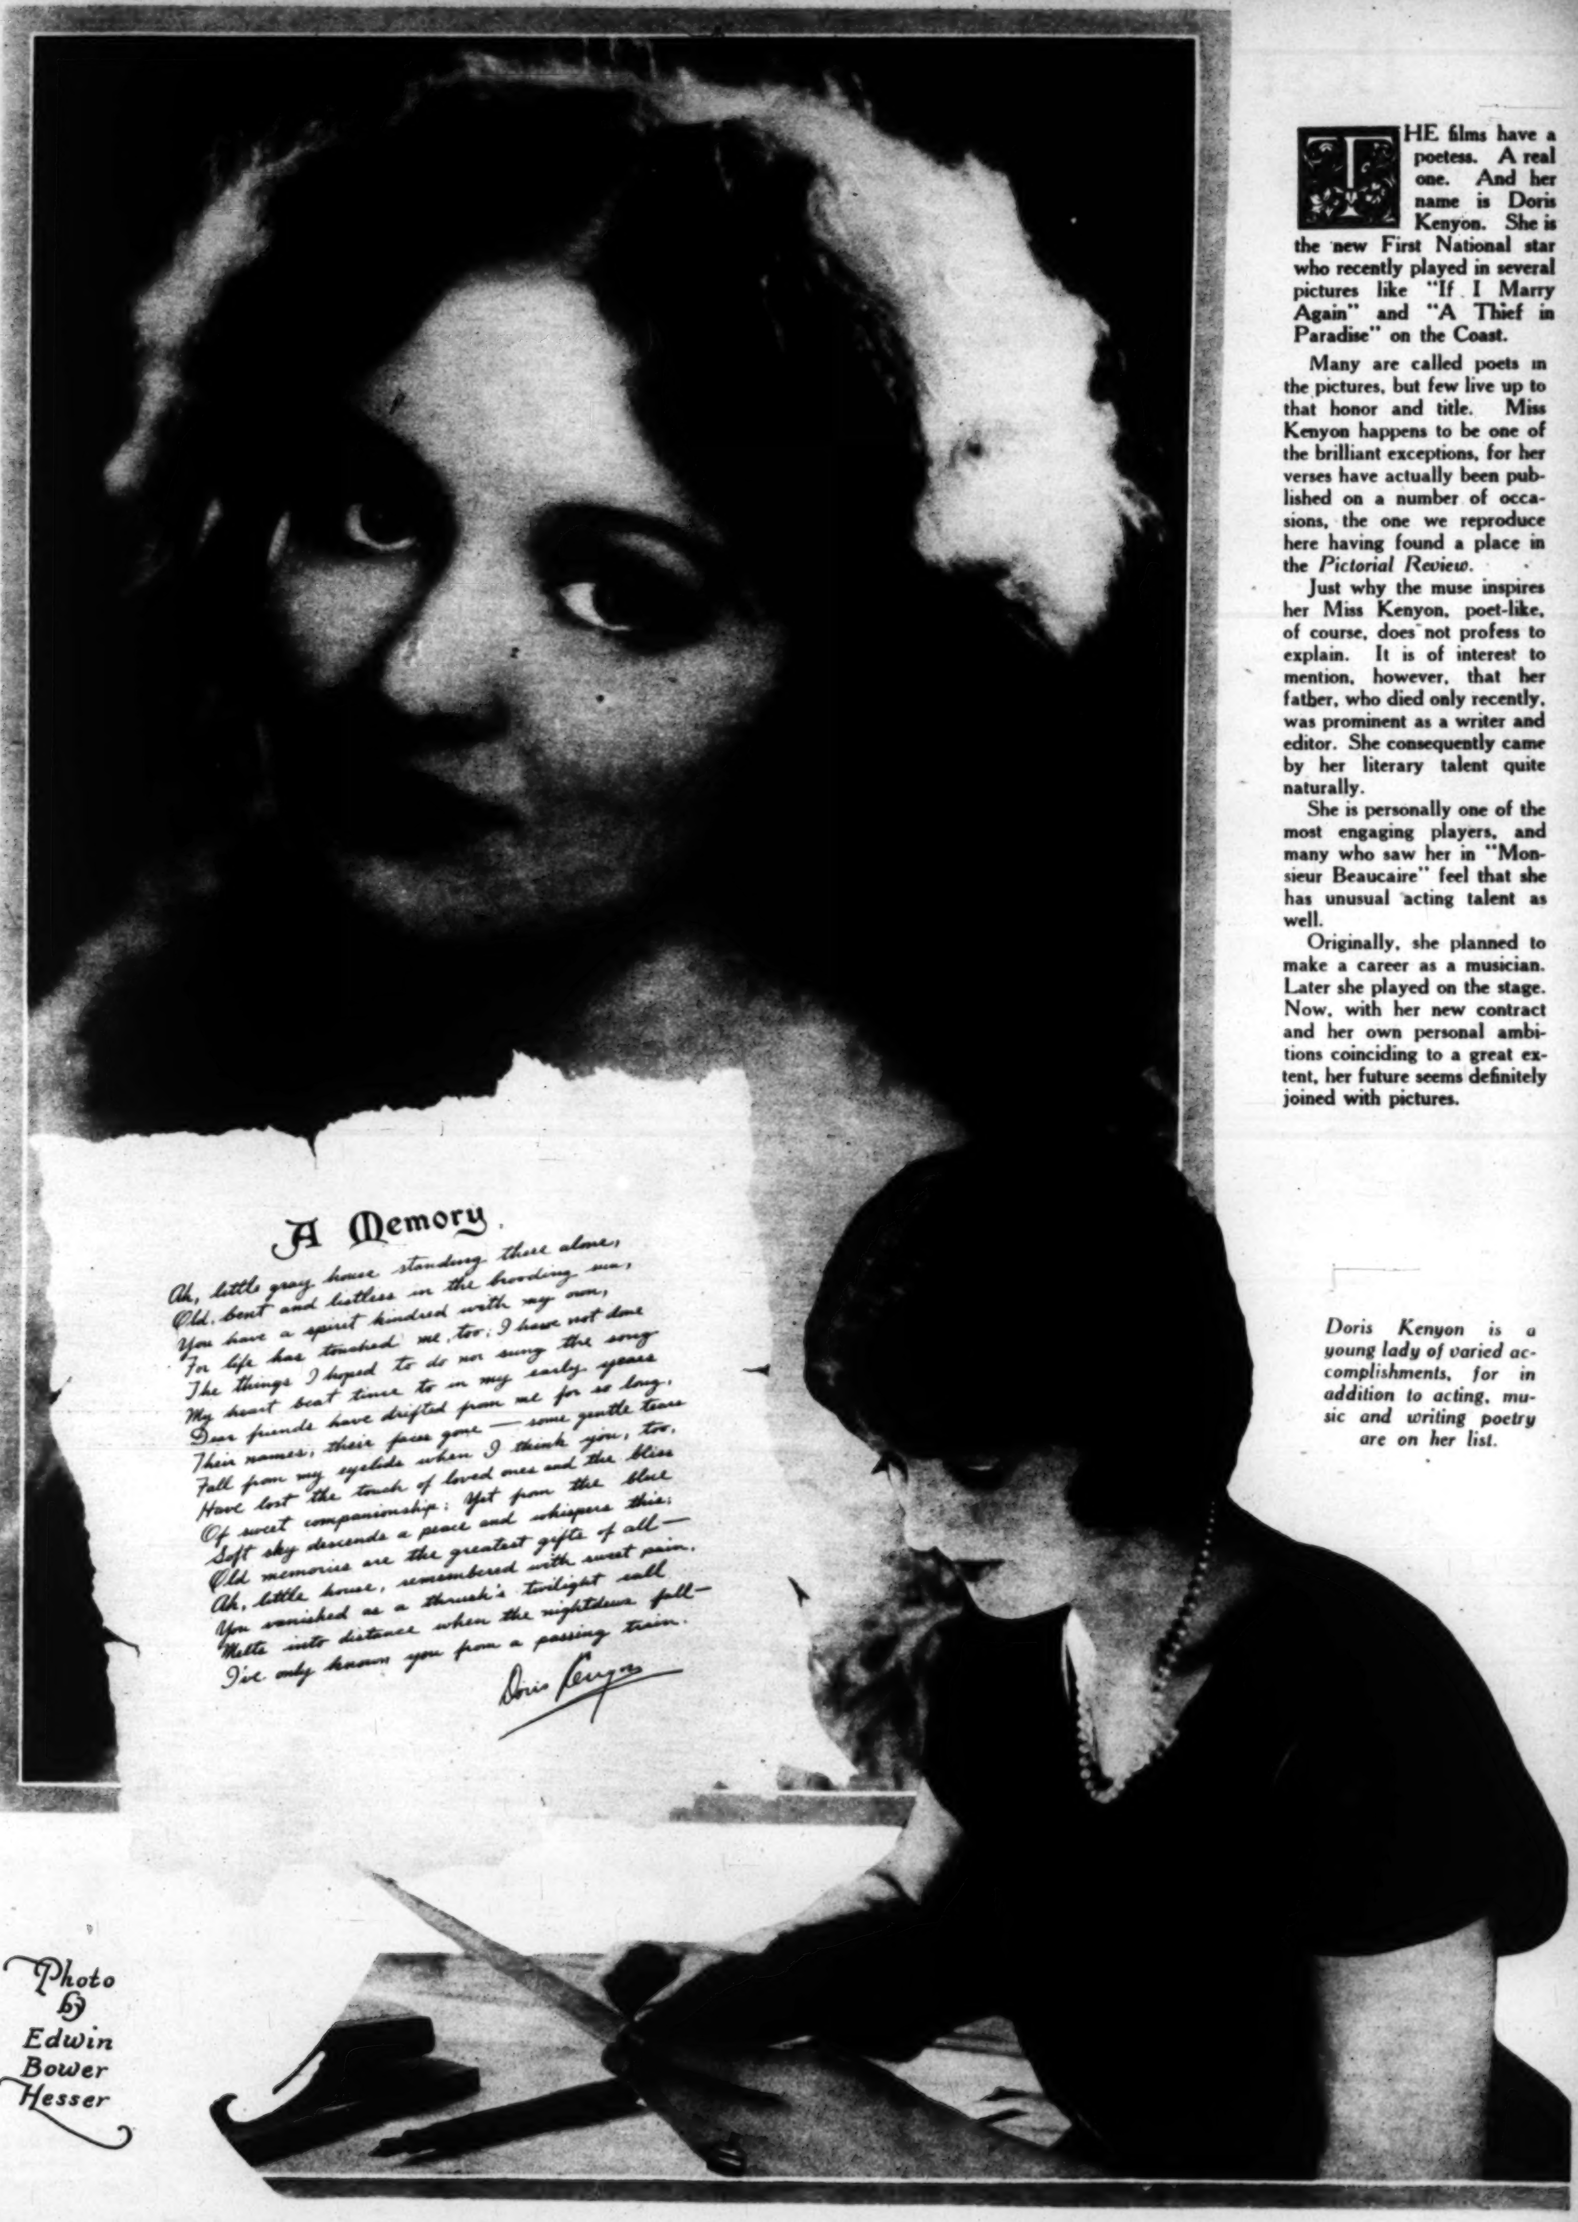
THE films have a poetess. A real one. And her name is Doris Kenyon. She is the new First National star who recently played in several pictures like "If I Marry Again" and "A Thief in Paradise" on the Coast.

Many are called poets in the pictures, but few live up to that honor and title. Miss Kenyon happens to be one of the brilliant exceptions, for her verses have actually been published on a number of occasions, the one we reproduce here having found a place in the Pictorial Review.

Just why the muse inspires her Miss Kenyon, poet-like, of course, does not profess to explain. It is of interest to mention, however, that her father, who died only recently, was prominent as a writer and editor. She consequently came by her literary talent quite naturally.

She is personally one of the most engaging players, and many who saw her in "Monsieur Beaucaire" feel that she has unusual acting talent as well.

Originally, she planned to make a career as a musician. Later she played on the stage. Now, with her new contract and her own personal ambitions coinciding to a great extent, her future seems definitely joined with pictures.



A Memory

Ah, little gray house standing there alone,
Old, bent and listless in the brooding sun,
You have a spirit kindred with my own,
For life has touched me, too; I have not done
The things I hoped to do nor sung the song
My heart beat time to in my early years.
Dear friends have drifted from me for so long,
Their names, their faces gone — some gentle tears
Fall from my eyelids when I think you, too,
Have lost the touch of loved ones and the bliss
Of sweet companionship; Yet from the blue
Soft sky descends a peace and whispers this;
Old memories are the greatest gifts of all—
Ah, little house, remembered with sweet pain,
You vanished as a thrush's twilight call
Melts into distance when the nightdews fall—
I've only known you from a passing train.

"THE SILENT ACCUSER
(Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer)

The screen has a new canine actor who looks like a winner. He is a police dog possessed seemingly of almost human qualities. In "The Silent Accuser" this dog, Peter by name, presents a performance so appealing that human players might well be jealous of his ability if they were called upon to compete with him. His work in this picture makes the production one of the most entertaining of the season, considering him as the center of attraction and stressing not too strongly the story.

Dog lovers will be more than satisfied with the performance given by Peter, the screen's newest canine star, who not only appears to especial advantage in "The Silent Accuser," but makes also a strong bid for the popularity which hitherto has gone to his film rival, Strongheart.

EVERY true dog lover, and even the majority of those who are not, will leave the theater after seeing "The Silent Accuser" with a distinct feeling that the screen can always rely on animal actors to give performances that sustain a lively interest and even greater conviction. At the same time, the spectator will be refreshed by the viewing of a picture essentially different from the general run of the present-day films—one in which a dog is represented in a role that tugs at the heart-strings.

In starring the dog, Peter, the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer organization presents an animal which may in time take Strongheart's position in the interest of the film public. In some respects he is already superior to the "wonder dog," and if his future performances are as well executed as in this present picture he will have no peer.

In addition to Peter, there are only three characters in the cast of the play—Eleanor Boardman, Raymond McKee and Earle Metcalf.

I strongly suspect that Miss Boardman did not relish being cast in support of a dog star, for her work lacks any suggestion of the enthusiasm or vivacity which she displayed so brilliantly in "Sinners in Silk" and "Wine of Youth." In all justice to her, however, it is necessary to point out that the part is far from colorful, as was her role in the two above-mentioned productions, but, taking this into consideration, the quality of her performance seems much below par.

As if to make up for any shortcomings Miss Boardman might have in the picture, Raymond McKee does some of the best work in his career. True, there is not so much for him to do and the flashes of him are short in comparison to the footage given to Peter, but the evident sincerity of his performance sustains to a surprising degree the quality of the production. Earle Metcalf, too, is quite adequate.

In the beginning of the story two lovers—Eleanor and Raymond—plan to elope, knowing that the girl's grandfather will never give his consent to their marriage. A boarder at the grandfather's house, Earle Metcalf, is also in love with the girl.

As Eleanor is preparing to leave Metcalf forces his way into her room and attacks her. The sound of the scuffle is heard by the grandfather, who surprises the boarder coming out of the girl's room. In the ensuing argument the boarder strikes the old man with a cane and pushes him down the stairs, resulting in the other's death.

The assailant is surprised by McKee's dog, Peter, who arrives on the scene a few minutes in advance of his master. Summing up the incident in a manner quite human, the dog makes for the man, but the murderer stuns him with a chair and escapes from the house.

When McKee reaches the scene of the murder he is accused of the death of the old man and is sent to prison. And Peter, knowing who the actual murderer really is, but unable to tell and save McKee, vows in his own fashion to avenge the injustice dealt his master.

In a very plausible way Peter follows McKee to the prison and makes his way inside. Instead of merely presenting a series of actions no dog could possibly accomplish, Chester Franklin, who wrote the story and directed the picture, has in each instance induced Peter to do the logical thing always at the logical time, so that none of Peter's actions have the semblance of being impossible.

Quite naturally, hokum is bound to appear in some measure. While the action is quite consistent, the most serious fault in this line lies in the somewhat improbable sequence in which the dog acts as messenger between the boy in prison and the girl at her home, several hours apart.

Peter provides much humor in his first starring picture, revealing, among other emotions, those of pride, surprise and perhaps—jealousy

In a very plausible way Peter follows McKee to the prison and makes his way inside. Instead of merely presenting a series of actions no dog could possibly accomplish, Chester Franklin, who wrote the story and directed the picture, has in each instance induced Peter to do the logical thing always at the logical time, so that none of Peter's actions have the semblance of being impossible.

Quite naturally, hokum is bound to appear in some measure. While the action is quite consistent, the most serious fault in this line lies in the somewhat improbable sequence in which the dog acts as messenger between the boy in prison and the girl at her home, several hours apart.

Old Mexico is the background against which the concluding sequence of "The Silent Accuser" is depicted, with the hero and heroine, portrayed by Raymond McKee and Eleanor Boardman, appearing as fugitives from justice.

Peter provides much humor in his first starring picture, revealing, among other emotions, those of pride, surprise and perhaps—jealousy

Real Tears Are Best! But Are They?

TEARS are a hectic thing in pictures. They have to be ready at a moment's notice, and without any adequate prelude of "working up" to a scene such as obtains on the stage.

Consequently crying episodes are not always what they seem. Glycerine and the eye-dropper help out on occasion; the player registers the necessary expression of grief and some glistening globules are then nicely distributed on his or (chiefly) her cheeks.

The ablest troupers of the films avoid such expedients, however, whenever this is possible. In fact, they have grown to disdain them, and weeping before the camera has become a very fine art with the best emotional virtuosi. What is more, these have also learned the secret of looking photographically attractive while playing in such emotional scenes.

Colleen Moore became quite an expert at weeping when she played sad roles a few years ago. Consequently she has tears at her ready command even in the comedies that she does today.

Pathetic feeling has characterized the work of Ruth Clifford in her recent roles in "Lincoln" and "Butterfly."

Oh my! Oh my! What a terrible tantrum we have here, as expressed by little Jane Hughes, who took part in "His Hour."

Marie Prevost's comedy training hasn't interfered in the least with the remarkable tragic emphasis that she has been able to give to her role of the heroine in "The Lover of Camille."

Anna Q. Nilsson in "Inez from Hollywood" does some of the most convincing weeping seen in any recent film.

Real tears or glycerine—guess! But remember Viola Dana's acting experience enables her to suggest a wide range of emotional expression.

MARMONT'S PICTURE

(Vitagraph)

To those who were susceptible to the poignant appeal of Percy Marmont's work in "If Winter Comes," his presence in the outstanding role of another adaptation of a story by A. S. M. Hutchinson, no doubt, will prove of very agreeable interest. The feature, this time, is "The Clean Heart," directed by J. Stuart Blackton.

To measure the picture's qualities briefly is difficult, because in theme and character it is remote. Many will doubtless approve it very much indeed, because it is out of the ordinary. To others, however, there may be a degree of perplexity in the episodic working out of the plot, as well as the general nature of the ideas embodied.

Percy Marmont and Otis Harlan take part in some amusing scenes in the vagabondia portion of "The Clean Heart."

I DO not know that I can call up any resemblances or parallel for what happens on the screen during the unfolding of "The Clean Heart." The title even is very vague in its application, and is practically only sustained by developments toward the close of the film.

In a sense the story aims to penetrate rather deeply into psychology. As a consequence, the picture is more of a character study than anything else. The really dramatic incidents hover chiefly in the background; but what does go on is fascinating to an extent because of its erratic whimsy.

Marmont, as the central figure, plays a writer and editor who is at odds with life. In various stages at the opening of the picture we behold him gaining his first recognition, then sacrificing himself for apparently selfish relatives, then becoming by degrees a super-egotist, hating and battling with the world around him. He is pursued by phantoms and hallucinations and finally might be said to slip into actual madness when he takes desperate flight from the turmoil.

Of course, it may be surmised from this much of the story that the film attempts to bring out a sort of rebellion against the pressure, the struggle and grind of modern life. At the same time, this is hardly the real thing emphasized. The main motif, vaguely suggested, dwells rather on the effect of environment on the hero's frenetic egotism. But the change of his character develops only after he has in a peculiarly fateful way demanded of others immense sacrifices for himself.

It must be said, in this connection, that the motivation of the play and its development are inclined to be obscure, if not actually chaotic at times. While I have not read "The Clean Heart" in the original, I suspect that some of the thought therein contained has not been any too clearly brought out in the film, and doubtless this is partly owing to the difficulties attending the visualizing of the peculiar viewpoint of the author.

To continue the sketch of the plot: After the sudden and precipitous flight of the principal figure of the story, by name Wriford, from the mill of work, a new character is introduced in the person of the genial vagabond. He has lived through a variety of vicissitudes, according to the information in the subtitles, and seems especially destined to bring about the hero's recovery of his distorted view on life. With him Wriford takes up a genial tramp life.

Then comes the first really dramatic touch in the picture, the episode where Puddlebox, the vagabond, sacrifices his life for Wriford. This is during a sea-coast storm, when both are marooned in a narrow cove. It becomes incumbent because of the lack of room in this place of safety for one of the two to attempt a swim, and as Wriford has been injured by a fall, Puddlebox, despite a native dread of the sea, makes the attempt.

In effect there are to this point two distinct episodes begun and completed in the picture. The only circumstance that ties them together at all is the presence of Wriford.

Still another set of characters, and virtually another plot, engage the attention during the latter part of the film. Prominent from here onward is the nurse in the hospital where Marmont is taken following his rescue by some coast guards.

This girl, known as Essie, represents a type not totally unlike the Effie of "If Winter Comes." She is a provincial British girl with, however, very strict ideas on the subject of morals.

After his return to health Wriford proposes to her something less attractive than marriage. The result is that she takes hysterical flight from his presence, and in her momentary madness runs too close to the edge of a cliff overlooking the sea. Driven on by sudden regret he has been able to Marguerite De la Motte draws an attractive character as a provincial British miss.

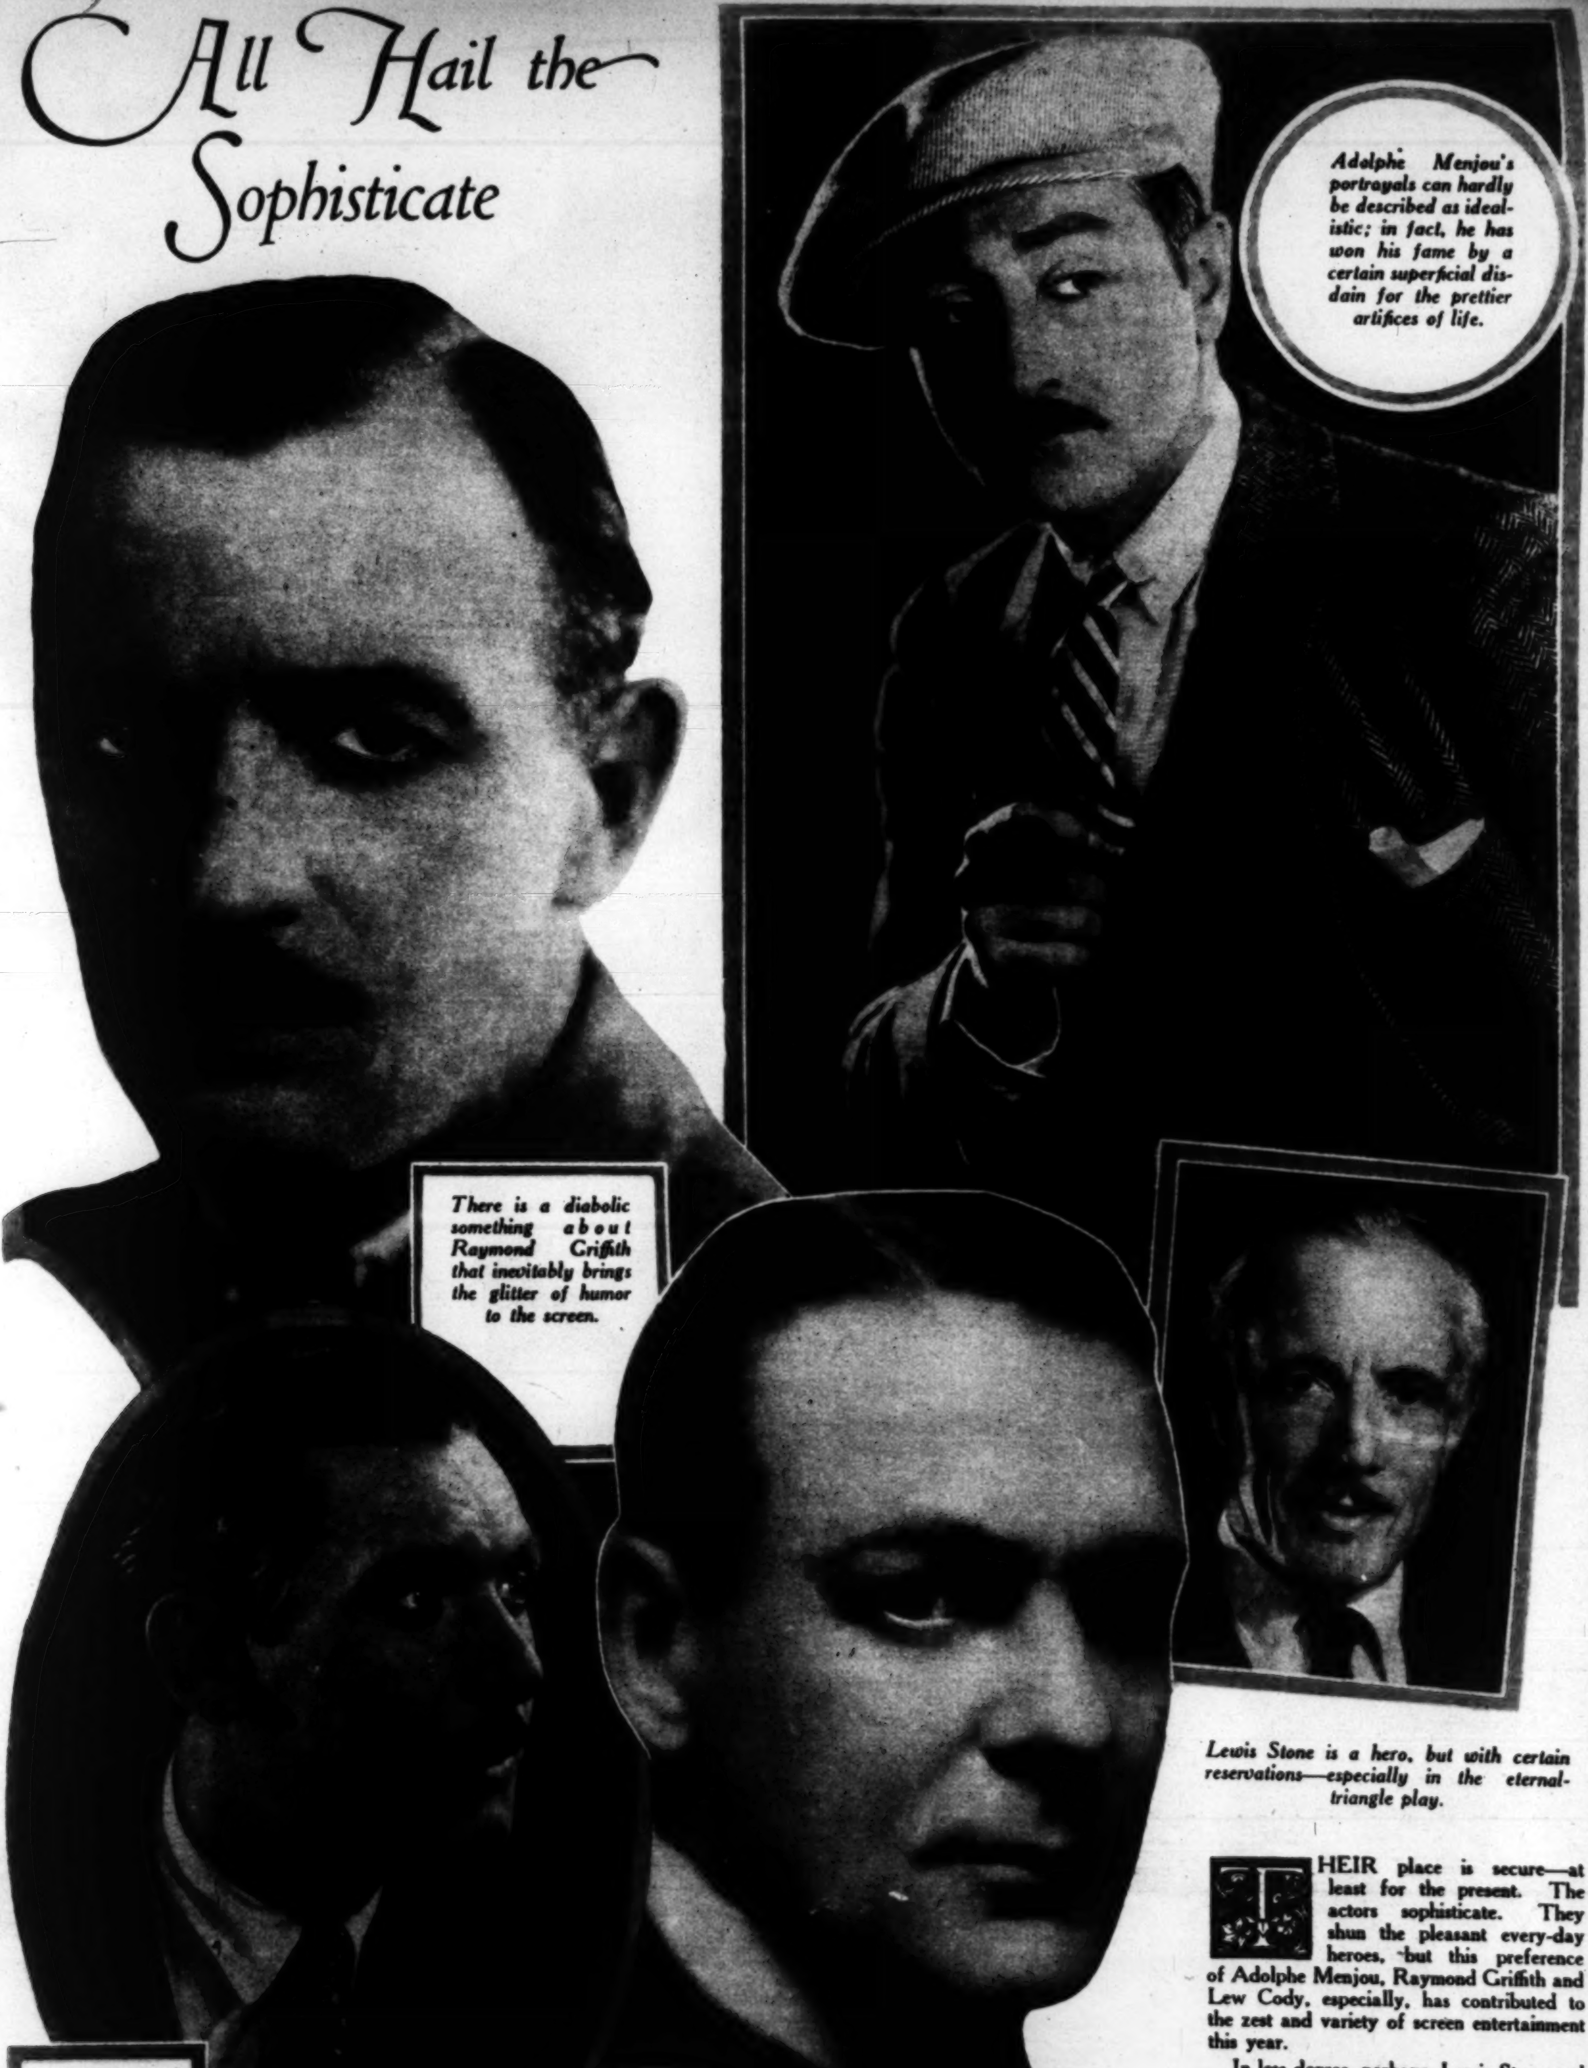
The pressure of newspaper life is depicted with greater or less accuracy in the early part of the film.

All Hail the Sophisticate



Adolphe Menjou's portrayals can hardly be described as idealistic; in fact, he has won his fame by a certain superficial disdain for the prettier artifices of life.

There is a diabolic something about Raymond Griffith that inevitably brings the glitter of humor to the screen.

Lewis Stone is a hero, but with certain reservations—especially in the eternal-triangle play.

Lew Cody is always a trouble-maker domestically, but is nearly always likable just the same.

Huntly Gordon embodies the characteristics of the experienced man of the world, and makes you thoroughly approve of his presence while so doing.

THEIR place is secure—at least for the present. The actors sophisticate. They shun the pleasant every-day heroes, but this preference of Adolphe Menjou, Raymond Griffith and Lew Cody, especially, has contributed to the zest and variety of screen entertainment this year.

In less degree, perhaps, Lewis Stone and Huntly Gordon have been of this group. At any rate, they avoid the heroics so often associated with leading men. They interpret their characters naturally and believably, even at the risk sometimes of sacrificing some traditional sympathy. They are a real phalanx of sterling and capable actors who have advanced much in prominence this year.

Beauty Has Its Doubles, Too.

Shapeliness and Bodily Perfection, Which Augment Physical Attractiveness of Many Feature Pictures, Are Chief Requisites.

By HERBERT MOULTON

THE screen double is usually regarded by the picture-going public as an acrobatic individual who risks his life and limbs in order that the high-salaried hero may appear as a daredevilish sort of person without jeopardizing his life-insurance policy, his contract or his neck.

Obviously, these "stunt doubles" receive but little if any publicity from the producers by whom they are engaged. Motion pictures are illusions to begin with, they argue, and if the illusion is spoiled so is the picture. But despite their efforts to maintain a discreet silence, the stunt men of the movies have broken into print on numerous occasions and are now to some extent recognized as necessary adjuncts—or evils—of the industry.

However, the hardy individuals who hang over precipices or jump from moving automobiles to trains for so much money per diem are not the only doubles in the business. There is another group, generally unknown, whose performances as substitutes are, if not as hazardous, equally as important as the acrobatic kind.

They are the "beauty" doubles, and for the most part they are women whom nature has endowed with bodies of charm and grace. There are not many of them in the film colony, and none, as far as can be ascertained, makes her livelihood in this manner.

Lila Lee is famed for graceful hands, and what could be more natural than to substitute them in close-ups for others not so pretty?

She's neither extra girl nor actress, but her hands and feet have appeared in many pictures. Rose Levee, secretary to Pete Smith, publicity man, "doubles" in this manner in many First National releases.

'Tis a dark secret—but you've probably given several of your favorite screen heroines credit for shapely—er—limbs that really belong to Cecille Evans.

No "doubling" necessary here. The feet of Patsy Ruth Miller and Jack Mulhall depict the obvious in Schulberg's "The Breath of Scandal."

Paradoxically, Andree Lafayette was cast as Trilby because of her beautiful feet, but they used those of an unknown player in close-ups.

For the most part these spare-time workers are extra girls, although some are employees of the studio offices. The camera photographs them, but their faces seldom appear on the screen. It isn't that they are not pretty—many of them could walk off with beauty prizes—but if their faces were shown on the screen embarrassing complications might develop, for while everyone can recognize the star by her face, a close-up of what are presumed to be her ankles or arms reveals nothing—but a pair of slender ankles or arms.

Renting Their Figures

In other words, the girls who "double" in the matter of beauty permit various parts of their anatomies to be photographed and then very discreetly avoid asking for screen credit. They rent out their legs, or their backs, or toes, and when a close-up of them appears on the screen the popular verdict of the multitude is that the star has an exceptionally beautiful "understanding," or back—or assortment of toes.

Of course, there is nothing essentially wrong with this arrangement. It wouldn't be quite fair to ask the cinema to provide us with dramatic queens of physically perfect proportions. It would be as inane to ask this as it would to demand that all our male stars be exactly 6ft. 2½in. in height, and have dark-brown eyes.

Trilby's "Trilbies"

Perhaps the outstanding instance of this form of "doubling" occurred in the production of "Trilby" by Richard Walton Tully last year. Offhand it would seem essential that the title character in the film version have the beautiful feet accredited to her in the book. A search took the producer out of Hollywood's precincts and over to Paris, where he discovered in the person of Andree Lafayette an actress who seemed to suit the requirements.

When filming was started, however, somebody had a change of heart. The cameras clicked on Miss Lafayette in all of the scenes in which Trilby appeared, but when close-ups of the heroine's feet were made the lenses were focused on the pedal extremities of a substitute. It was a case of searching dramatic circles in this country and abroad for an actress with faultless feet—and then, after having apparently found her, substituting the home-grown product for the close-ups.

Beauty Not Sole Consideration

The use of a double of this kind, however, is the exception rather than the rule. Indeed, with nature and the beauty surgeons on their side, most of our feminine stars and leading women are fully capable (or are rapidly becoming so) of "doubling" for themselves when close-ups require a trim ankle or a dainty hand.

In spite of this all-around utility, it sometimes is the case that a substitute is used in place of the principal player, not because of her physical shortcomings, but for economic reasons. Directors and producers accepting the dictum of the efficiency experts, save the time of their high-salaried players by photographing, for example, the hands of a pretty extra girl for "inserts"—scenes which show a close-up view of a letter or newspaper. Ordinarily, the star would pose for these close-ups, from one to a dozen of which are embodied in every picture, but under the more efficient arrangement she works on the main "set" while the substitute player does the routine insert work before another camera.

When Lila "Doubled"

Nevertheless, all is not cold-blooded efficiency in this end of the picture business. When Lila Lee was engaged on the Lasky lot a few years ago, her hands were very much in demand not only on that particular set on which she happened to be working, but also on the stages of other units. She is noted for her beautiful hands, and when the directors on adjoining sets started to film the inserts for their respective productions they made a practice of stealing over with requests that she "loan" them her much-coveted hands.

The Brand New Younger Generation

Barbara Edith Roscoe, daughter of Alan Roscoe and Barbara Bedford, may well be termed a baby star of 1924.

One of the new crop of embryonic leading ladies—or mayhap stars—of tomorrow's screen—Joan Constance Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat O'Malley's children now number three, Mary Kathleen O'Malley being the latest arrival.

Harold Lloyd and Mildred Davis have given to their daughter, born this year, the rhythmical name of Mildred Gloria.

JOAN CONSTANCE, James, Jr., Mildred Gloria, Barbara Edith, Mary Kathleen and Karen Greta—filmdom is nothing if not inventive in the choice of names for the brand-new younger generation, the majority of whom have so recently arrived. Of course, they are all good substantial names, but for the most part they display nice rhythmical combinations that must have been dutifully if cleverly studied out by their parents.

James, Jr., is the recent arrival in the household of James Kirkwood and Lila Lee. It was natural that his fond mother should have acquiesced in the choice of "Junior," considering her husband's pride over the event of the youngster's birth. Nobody in Hollywood has reflected more enthusiasm over newly becoming a father than James Kirkwood. It might be mentioned that he radiated so much optimism over his youngster's future, in fact, that Paramount, for whom he has lately been working, wanted to engage the child for a long-term contract.

Most people are aware that Mildred Gloria is the pretty name given to the daughter of Harold Lloyd and Mildred Davis, born this year, and, of course, the Mildred is for her mother. Joan Constance is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Willliams; Mary Kathleen O'Malley is the newest O'Malley arrival (they now have three children.) Barbara Edith is the daughter of Alan Roscoe and Barbara Bedford, and Karen Greta the second child of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Hale.

Note, important—with only one exception, this group of youngsters are girls, and what a terrible shortage of future matinee idols that will mean!

In virtually every instance these youngsters register their age in months less than twelve, and they are the real delight of Hollywood, as well as the pride of its home-loving colony.

The stork's recent visit to Hollywood brought to Mr. and Mrs. Alan Hale the charming young miss shown above with her mother and brother. Who knows but what a few decades hence her name—Karen Greta—will blaze forth in electric lights?
